HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. AROUND HOME.

The several churches in which services have been suspended for a month or more past will re-open on Sunday next.

The cricket match between Longwood and Portsmouth will not be played this week, because the Longwoods are unable to come.

Mr. Ezra Barker of Stratham has a peach orchard containing seventy fine trees, from which he expects to gather three hundred bushels of fruit.

The excursion train to Fabyan's, on Wednesday morning of this week, left this city with twelve well filled passenger cars drawn by two engines.

The Juvenile Pinafore Company played at Portland Monday and Tuesday evenings, to crowded houses. They will have another big audience to-night, at Music hall.

The crop of walnuts (or hickory nuts) in this vicinity promises to be heavier this year than ever before known. The branches of the trees are already bending low under their burden.

The supreme court for Strafford county commenced a trial session in Dover on the 2d inst., Judge L. W. Clark presiding. Mayor J. D. Guppey of Dover was appointed foreman of the grand jury.

Mr. John P. Cooper gives notice that he will be at the office of W. H. Rollins, Esq., on the 4th inst. and for eight or ten days thereafter, to attend to the executing and forwarding of pensioners' vouchers.

The quarterly supper of the Mechanic's Fire Society will be given at the Rockingham house on Friday evening, with Mr. Stephen W. Clarke as host. It seems that the founders of this venerable society lived to some purpose, and that their successors enjoy the fat of the land.

As Mr. Ed. F. Tobey, of Eliot, was returning from work in the field recently, he was confronted by a black-and-yellow striped snake, which showed fight, rushing at him with a vengeance. Mr. Tobey was armed with a hoe, with which he soon despatched the reptile, which was found to measure three feet in length and to contain fifty-six young snakes, each about six inches long.

During the thunder shower on Tuesday evening of this week a whaleboat belonging to Mr. Benjamin Meloon was struck by lightning, as she laid at her moorings off the foot of Salter street, about a hundred feet distant from Mr. Meloon's house. The mainmast was shattered so as to be worthless, and the foremast damaged, but the boat herself was uninjured, a quantity of water that was in her possibly saving her from harm.

Rev. Joshua V. Himes, now seventy-four years of age, who for more than thirty years was a Second Advent preacher and editor, and for twenty years before that a Campbellite preacher, has just been admitted to the order of deacons in the Episcopal church of Nebraska. Mr. Himes conducted Advent revivals in several towns in this vicinity, twenty-five or thirty years ago, and preached a number of times in this city with much effect. He was an earnest and impressive speaker, and exercised an influence over his hearers which could only be done by a man thoroughly in earnest and fully believing the doctrines he preached.

Milt. Barlow, of Barlow, Wilson, Primrose & West's Minstrels, performing at the Walnut last week, is one of the best end men on the stage. He has a ready flow of wit, always rich and original. As a mimic he is unrivaled, and his impersonation of the aged negro is very fine and life-like. This troupe introduce a great many original features in their performance, making a novelty of an entertainment that is generally considered time-worn and threadbare. George Wilson is inimitable in his role, and entirely different from anything we have seen in comedy line on the minstrel stage, or on the end. Primrose and West are "crowned monarchs" of song and dance, accomplishing the fun with rhyme and song, and free from all vulgarity, which other song and dance men should copy. —Philadelphia Times.

The Somersworth Machine company, of Great Falls, employ about seventy-five workmen, and are doing a brisk business. One of their shops is solely engaged in making cooking stoves, while another is turning out about three tons of clamp pulleys per week. This pulley is fast becoming popular because of its convenience, and the manufacturers are kept busy supplying orders, which come in from all over New England; and it is fast being introduced into the western States.

The Veteran Artillery association's annual reunion and clam-bake will be given on Tuesday, the 9th inst., at Dover point; bake to be opened about 2:30 P. M.

The Sunday school of the First Parish of Dover held a basket picnic at Dover point on Wednesday of this week.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Instruction was held Wednesday evening, the 3d inst. Present, Mrs. Wilson, and Messrs. Locke, Sherburne, Knight, Goodrich, Hoyt, Vaughan, Newton, Gardner and Pender.

Mr. Gardner was elected temporary chairman.

Several changes were made in grade committees; the grammar grade now consists of Messrs. Hoyt, Goodrich and Knight; primary grade, Mrs. Knight, Messrs. Pender and Locke; suburban, Messrs. Vaughan, Newton and Gardner.

Mr. Sherburne moved that the weekly vacation occur on Saturdays instead of on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons; the subject was laid over until the next meeting, and the secretary instructed to correspond with school boards in cities similar in size to this city, and get information on the subject.

Mr. Hoyt spoke of the crowded condition of the Bartlett school, and asked for some action by the board.

Voted that the subject be referred to district one committee, to report.

Intermediate, and second division of grammar: Voted that the schools close a half past four during the months of September and October.

N. H. S. P. C. C.

At a special meeting of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, held on Monday, Sept. 1st, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, This society has been informed of the decease of John D. Wright, Esq., President of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children,

Resolved, That the N. H. S. P. C. C. do hereby record their grief at the death of this eminent philanthrophist, who, through a long life of usefulness, consecrated his talents and his strength to the service of humanity.

Resolved, That hereby also they express their sympathy with the N. Y. S. P. C. C. in the loss of their presiding officer, and with the family from whom he has been taken.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the daily papers in this city, and that a copy be forwarded to the New York society.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE FAIR.

The Granite State park, where the fair of the State Agricultural society is to be held on the 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th days of the present month, is one of the best spots that could be selected for the purpose. It is about equidistant from Dover and Great Falls, and the managers of the fair and the owners of the park are doing all in their power to utilize and improve the natural advantages of the place.

Carpenters are at work erecting numerous very convenient pens for cattle, horses, sheep, swine, etc. These important appurtenances count up among the hundreds, and all of them are located directly upon the banks of one of the most beautiful ponds of pure, clear water to be found in the State, so convenient that stock of all kinds that may be entered for exhibition can "take a drink" without the least difficulty. The pens and stalls are built in a good substantial way, affording shelter for animals in case of storm or hot sun. There are more than two hundred horse-stalls, each provided with a good tight door, and lock and key. The trotting park is just one mile in length, around the outer margin of the park, and competent judges pronounce it as good as any track in the United States, and some say it is the best. It has been put in the best possible condition, and some of the swiftest examples of speed will be displayed during the fair that were ever seen in New Hampshire. To accommodate the people who will want to see this part of the exhibition, there is the regular grand stand belonging to the park, capable of seating about 3000 persons, but it is to be made nearly three times its present size for this occasion, and will be in charge of competent and responsible persons, who will maintain perfect order and see that everybody has a fair chance. The judges' stand is also to be greatly enlarged for the special benefit of the newspaper reporters, who it is intended shall be constantly within plain sight and easy hearing distance of the judges.

The mammoth tent of the exhibition, designed to contain all sorts of industrial and mechanical exhibits, and such smaller tents as it may be necessary to provide, will be located on a level and smooth plat near the centre of the park, and a broad and ample drive-way will be kept constantly open to and from the same. The big tent will be the biggest ever seen at a State fair, and the prospect is that it will overflow with valuable exhibits, as they are coming from all quarters. Special tents or apartments of ample capacity will be provided for the display of all sorts of fruits, flowers, vegetables, etc., and the competition will be lively in these departments.

Victualling and refreshment stands will be provided sufficient for the accommodation of everbody, where hot or cold meals and drinks can be had at all times for all callers; but under no conditions will any intoxicating liquors forbidden by law be permitted to be sold or drank on or near the fair grounds, and if any intoxicated persons shall appear on the grounds, all such will be straightway taken into custody by officers, who will be in continual force to preserve order and decorum throughout.

Arrangements have been made with the railroads for transportation as follows: The Boston & Maine and the Eastern railroads and branches will transport all stock and other articles for the exhibition at one-half rates for one way, meaning thereby one-fourth the regular tariff for the round trip; and they will carry passengers the round trip for fare one way. The Concord railroad will convey stock and other things for the fair, free; round trip passenger tickets at usual reduced rates from all the principal stations. Other railroads have also made equally favorable arrangements for the transportation of passengers to and from the fair.

JOSEPHINE.

Those of our citizens now living who were concert and theatre goers forty or more years ago will well remember the entertainments of vocal and instrumental music given by Mr. Thomas P. Moses, which then for a good many years were an important item in the amusements afforded the people of this city. And not a few of them will recall with pleasure the memory of the late Charles W. Walker's playing of the trombone or violoncello, often heard in concert with Mr. Moses' flute, and the fine voice of Mr. Walker's daughter, Annie L. Walker, who often assisted at the entertainments, and without whose aid no concert, public or private, was then considered quite complete. All whose memories reach so far back will be interested in the statement sent us in a letter from New York, that "the 'Josephine' in the Juvenile Pinafore Company that will appear in your city on Sept. 4th, though she has never before been in the place is a 'daughter of Portsmouth,' for her father was born there, and her grandfather's mill still stands upon the bridge—she is a grand-daughter of the late Chas. W. Walker, and a niece and namesake of Annie L. Walker, whom you no doubt remember as a charming singer, long ago." It will detract nothing from the pleasure of the audience attending "Pinafore" to know that the little damsel who sings the leading part in the opera is almost a "daughter of Portsmouth," and possibly more than one elderly couple who did a share of their sparking at Mr. Moses' concerts forty years since, and now perhaps have grand-children of their own, will be specially interested to know if the little girl gives promise of being as pleasing a singer as her namesake was then.

Political.

The California election took place on the 3d inst., but the result cannot be known for several days, owing to the large number of candidates to be voted for, and the numerous tickets in the field.

The republican State convention of New York met in Saratoga on Wednesday, the 3d inst. Among the delegates were Roscoe Conkling, Thurlow Weed, George William Curtis and Vice President Wheeler.

The greenbackers of Androscoggin county, Me., had a mass meeting in Lewiston on the 2d inst., with Uncle Solon and "them steers" as special attractions. The Boston Globe's correspondent says "there were 15,000 people in town"—not at all unlikely, as the population of Lewiston was over 13,000 by the census of 1870. The Boston Post's correspondent says there were 3000 people at Lewiston park, where the meeting was held.

O. C. Moore, Esq., of the Nashua Telegraph, who has been engaged in campaigning work in Maine for some weeks, writes to his paper under date of Aug. 29th, giving the following as his guess at the vote of Sept. 8th: Garcelon, democrat, 25,000; Smith, greenback, 35-000; Davis, republican, 70,000. This would give the republican candidate a majority of 10,000.

Last week half a dozen Hartford ladies were occupying a cottage alone at Niantic, Conn., the husbands of two of the party having left on Monday for the capital on business, leaving behind them two loaded revolvers, with which they instructed their ladies to defend themselves should they be disturbed. On Friday night the women were alarmed by a man walking on the verandah of the house and opening the blinds of the lower story windows. One of the ladies went up stairs, and, hearing the man thumping the front door, she stepped out upon the roof of the verandah and discharged one chamber of her revolver. The man then ran off the stoop, and two of the ladies, one on the roof and one at a lower window, fired eleven shots at him, bringing him down. The night was light, and he was seen lying on the ground. He had on dark pants, a blue coat and a white vest. He got away before morning.

—The dress circle—The belt.

—An Irishman who had on a very ragged coat was asked of what stuff it was made. "Bedad, I don't know; I think the most of it is made of fresh air."

—"Is it possible, miss, that you do not know the names of some of your best friends?" "Certainly, I do not even know what my own may be in a year from now."

—Mr. Crabb Robinson and lady in the same carriage:—"Oh, Mr. Robinson, you are an antiquarian." "Madame, I am a noun, and not an adjective. An antiquary, if you please."

—Two Meriden men are in trouble over the ownership of a ladder, and are taking steps for a lawsuit. The result of this will be that one will get the rounds, and the other the sides, leaving the holes to the litigants.—Danbury News.

—While a choleric author was reading a tragedy at the Theatre Francaise, he perceived that an actress was fast asleep. Bringing down his manuscript with a bang on the table, he abruptly awoke her and remarked that she could have formed no just opinion of his piece. "Excuse me," she answered dryly, "Sleep is an opinion."

—The young men who stand round the church doors on earth, watching the people come out, and smiling on the girls in an emetic sort of way, will some day hang around the gates of heaven while the decent people go in, and the first thing they know the gate is shut forever and they will have to get accommodations elsewhere.—Steubenville Herald.

—After three medical celebrities had gone from the bedside of a French general, he rang for his man servant: "Well, Jacques, you showed those gentlemen out; what did they say?" "Ah, general, they seemed to differ with each other; the big fat one said that they must have a little patience, and at the autopsy—whatever that may be—they would find out what the matter was."

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, nearly opposite Grand Central Depot. 350 elegant rooms reduced to $1 and upwards per day. Cuticura

BLOOD AND SKIN HUMORS

Speedily, Permanently, and Economically Cured by the Cuticura Remedies when all other known medicine and methods of treatment fail.

Scrofulous Ulcers and Sores, Abscesses, Milk Leg, Fever Sores, Erysipelas Sores, Old Sores and Discharging Wounds, Boils, Carbuncles and Blood Impurities, which manifest themselves by bursting through the skin and eating deep into the flesh, when treated internally by the CUTICURA RESOLVENT and externally with the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, rapidly heal and disappear. Salt Rheum or Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Leprosy, Barber's Itch and all Scaly and Itching Eruptions of the skin; Scald Head, Dandruff, and all Irritating and Itching Humors of the Scalp, in which cause the Hair to become dry, thin, and lifeless and result in Premature Baldness, are permanently cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

SKIN DISEASE.

A Remarkable Letter from J. A. Tucker, Esq., manufacturer of the Bay State Superphosphate.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I think I have paid for medicines and medical treatment during the last twenty years all of three thousand dollars, without receiving any permanent relief.

Last May while taking a Turkish bath at 17 Beacon St., a young man employed there by the name of Wm. Corbett induced me to allow him to apply a preparation that he had upon me, assuring me that it was perfectly harmless, and for a certain consideration he would cure me within thirty days from the time he commenced. In case he failed to do so I was to pay him nothing. I consented and he applied it nearly every day for five weeks, when the disease entirely disappeared. I very cheerfully paid him the amount agreed upon, and then asked him what this remedy was, and he replied that it was no other than CUTICURA.

Since that time I have had no trouble from this disease, and have not had such good health in twenty years as I have had during the last six months.

I have since my recovery bought CUTICURA and given it to friends suffering with skin diseases, and in every instance it has cured them. I believe it to be the greatest discovery of the present century.

J. A. TUCKER.

12 DOANE ST., Boston, Dec. 20, 1878.

NOTE.—Mr. Tucker is a well-known citizen and has served the city in many important capacities. He is at present a member of the Board of Aldermen. He is also well known to agriculturists and farmers as the manufacturer of the celebrated Bay State Superphosphate.

CUTICURA REMEDIES

Have done for me what hundreds of dollars spent on other remedies have failed to do, and I do not hesitate to recommend them as first-class articles.

Yours truly, MARK BRANDAN.
CARBONDALE, PA., Dec. 20, 1878.

Skin and Scalp Diseases should be treated externally with CUTICURA, assisted by the CUTICURA SOAP, and RESOLVENT taken internally, until cured and for some time afterward. Where the Humors are confined to the Blood and do not show themselves on the surface, the RESOLVENT alone will speedily drive them from the system. The CUTICURA REMEDIES infallibly cure the most loathsome cases of Scrofulous and Skin and Scalp Humors, as is attested by hundreds of unsolicited testimonials in our possession.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes, containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from "Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No one of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in regions of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Blotched feeling, Gout Slight Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensative impress. Ago does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and remain in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc; In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear throat, nicuration, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be used with the utmost ease by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood from the directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by Druggists.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCreekin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside one Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

The Code.

Daniel Driscoll and Daniel Murphy, of New York city, rendered each other "the satisfaction due a gentleman, ah!" a few evenings, since. The high-toned gentlemen first had a bout with their fists in a low rum-hole on Baxter street, but at length Murphy got tired of fighting that way for the amusement of the half-drunken crowd in the saloon, and proposed a duel with pistols. Driscoll was willing, and the men took positions promptly without seconds or surgeons, and in a moment two pistol shots were fired in rapid succession. Driscoll fell to the floor. A bullet had struck one of his ribs and glanced upwards. He was in great pain, but said that his antagonist was a "brick," and that he was "satisfied." His bullet had lodged in Murphy's right arm. The latter also was satisfied, and considered himself extremely lucky to get off so easily. The men shook hands, and pledged eternal friendship and secrecy on the subject of the duel. Driscoll was pretty badly hit. The two gentlemen, their honor being satisfied, left the saloon together and walked to the Chambers-street hospital, where their wounds were dressed and where they remained during the night.

"Laugh and Grow Fat."

This ancient bit of advice is well enough for "spare" people, but how about those that are already too fat? What is to become of them? Sit still, and I'll tell you. After many experiments, extending through months of patient investigation and toil, the celebrated analytical chemist, J. C. Allan, has perfected and given to the world Allan's Anti-Fat. Thus far in several hundred cases this great remedy has never failed to reduce a corpulent person from three to six pounds per week. It is perfectly harmless and positively efficient. Sold by druggists.

SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER was enlarged May 1, 1879, so that every bottle now holds one fourth more than formerly, while the price remains the same

Cheerfulness, courage, and activity of intellect are engendered by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and its capacity of imparting power of endurance to the brain and nervous system is shown in its property of sustaining persons through mental difficulties.

—Something to add-mire—A mud puddle.

—Rye by any other name wouldn't smell as wheat.

—A big dog at a Philadelphia brewery drinks from two to four quarts of lager beer every day, and likes it so well that on emptying the dish he licks his chops, and makes a noise that sounds like an "Ah-h" of great satisfaction.

—A lady in White-Hill, Burlington county, is the owner of a dog and dove. Whenever she goes out walking the dove perches itself on the dog's head, and the latter trots off, happy as a lark. The bird holds its position until the party return home, unless Towser is attacked by some of the bad dogs of the borough. Then it flies to a place of safety, returning to its favorite roost when the tussle between the dogs is over.—Indianapolis News.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1879.

New York Republican Convention.

The convention was called to order by Alonzo B. Cornell, chairman of the State committee, and Roscoe Conkling was unanimously chosen temporary chairman, making a brief but ringing speech on taking the chair. Committees were appointed, and a recess taken until three o'clock, when William A. Wheeler, Vice President of the United States, was chosen permanent chairman. The following platform was presented and adopted:

The republicans of New York, pledging themselves anew to National supremacy, equal rights in elections and honest money, declare these principles:

First—The Republic of the United States is a Nation and not a league; the Nation is supreme within its own constitutional sphere; it is vested with power to guard its own life; to protect its own citizens; to regulate its own elections; to execute its own laws. The opposite doctrine of State Sovereignty is the baleful mother of nullification, secession and anarchy. Republicanism stands for National supremacy in National affairs and State rights in State concerns; democracy stands for State sovereignty, with its own twin heresy that the Nation is a confederacy of States.

Second—To refuse the necessary supplies for the government with the design of compelling the unwilling consent of a co-ordinate and independent branch to odious measures is revolution; to refuse appropriations for the execution of existing and binding laws is nullification. We arraign the democratic representatives in Congress as guilty both of revolutionary attempts and nullifying schemes, and we reprobate their action as calculated to subvert the Constitution, and to strike at the existence of the government itself.

Third—The safety of the republic demands free and pure elections. The democratic Congress has attempted dictation by caucus, by threats of starving the government, and by months of disturbing agitation to break down the National election laws. We denounce this effort as a conspiracy to overthrow the safeguards of free suffrage, and to open the ballot box to the unchecked domination of the rifle clubs of the south and the repeaters of New York. We declare our uncompromising opposition to any repeal of these just protective laws; and the republican senators and representatives in Congress for their resistance to this attempt, and President Hayes for his veto messages, deserve and receive our hearty approval.

Fourth—The republican party neither justifies nor tolerates military interference with elections. It seeks only to protect the ballot box from interference of force and fraud. It repels the false charges and denounces the false pretences of the conspirators, who, while professing to uphold free elections everywhere, sustain mob law in the south, and while inveighing against troops at the polls to protect citizens, refuse to prohibit armed clubs from surrounding the ballot box to intimidate them, and who, while affecting that the soldier's bayonet will overawe free elections, remain silent when the assassin's bullet seals the fate of politics and independence.

Fifth—We call upon the people to remember that the democratic party forced the extra session of Congress without warrant or excuse; that it prosecuted its partisan purposes by revolutionary methods; that it most persistently obstructed resumption and still constantly presses disturbing measures; that it reopens sectional questions closed by the National triumph, and threatens to repeal the war legislation; that its southern element answers conciliation only with violence; that its hope of success rests alone on a Solid South, and that its triumph would make the solid south the ruling power of the Nation. We recognize that the great body of the people who defended the Union, of whatever party name, are equally patriotic and equally interested in good government, and we earnestly invoke them to unite in resisting the dangerous designs of a party organization under sway of those who were lately in rebellion, and who seek to regain in the halls of legislation what they lost on the field of battle.

Sixth—The successful resumption of specie payments, despite democratic predictions and hostility, is the crowning element of the republican financial policy, followed by returning National prosperity, improved credit, a refunded debt and reduced interest; it adds another to the triumphs which prove that the republican party is equal to the highest demands. Our whole currency should be kept at par with the monetary standard of the commercial world, and any attempt to debase the standard, to depreciate the paper, or to deteriorate the coin, should be firmly resisted.

Seventh—The claims of the living and the memories of the dead defenders of the Nation conjure us to protest against that partisan and unpatriotic greed which expels old Union soldiers from their well-deserved rewards and advances confederate soldiers to their places.

The remaining planks of the platform are devoted to affairs of the State of New York, and the records of the two parties there.

A ballot for a candidate for governor was then taken, resulting as follows:

Whole number of votes	450
Necessary for a choice	226
George H. Sloane has	2
Frank Hiscoe	34
Theodore M. Pomeroy	15
John H. Starin	40
William H. Robertson	146
Alonzo B. Cornell	231

And Hon. Alonzo B. Cornell was declared the nominee of the convention, the nomination being made unanimous on motion of Gen. James W Husted, only a single voice being heard in dissent.

George C. Haskins was nominated for lieutenant-governor on the first ballot, the nomination being made unanimous.

James Wadsworth was nominated for comptroller, Joseph B. Carr for secretary of State, Nathan D. Wendell for treasurer, Hamilton Ward for attorney-general, and Hamilton Soule for State engineer.

The convention was one of the most harmonious and enthusiastic ever held by any party in any State, and is a good beginning toward the securing of a glorious republican victory on election day.

California Election.

The California election passed off very quietly, according to the first reports, in San Francisco and the State at large. The complete vote of the city footed up 41,459, with indications that the "Rev." Kalloch was chosen mayor, and the rest of the city ticket carried by the republicans. The democrats voted with the republicans to a great extent, and the city ticket of the democrats and honorable bilks cut no figure at all. At midnight of the day of election it was thought in San Francisco that the republicans had re-elected Davis to Congress in that district, and that the republican State ticket was generally ahead.

The Business Revival.

It is only the business of greenback stump speakers that is not looking up—all other branches of industry are rapidly growing better, and most of them are already in a better condition than at any time since 1873.

At a meeting of representatives of every Bessemer steel manufactory in the country, held in Philadelphia on the 3d and 4th insts., for the purpose of adopting measures for the regulation of the trade, the delegates unanimously agreed that the iron trade is more active than for several years. Without an exception, every rail-mill in the country has orders for more than it can produce up to the end of the year, and many have taken orders for several months in the ensuing year.

News and Notes.

The transfer books of registered bonds of the United States four per cent loan are now closed, and will remain closed during the present month, preparatory to the payment of October interest. The registered four per cent bondholders, whose names appear on the books of the department, now number about 70,000.

Lizzie Shepard, a good-looking young mulatto woman, has been arrested at Springfield, Mass., charged with poisoning a little boy named Smith, in whose father's family she was at service. She prophesied the child's death before he was taken sick, and arsenic was found in his stomach. Her object is supposed to have been to gain among the negroes a reputation as a prophetess.

In Ashburnham, Mass., a family of eight persons, named Sherbert, have been prostrated by diphtheria; three of the children have died within a week, and the parents and remaining children are in a critical condition.

Burglar alarm bells have been fixed at all the stations on the Boston & Maine railroad. The least disturbance of any of the lower doors or windows rings a bell in the house of the station agent. The act of cutting the wire that connects the bell with the ticket office also causes the former to ring.

Luke Daily, a porter, and Thomas Callahan, the steward at the Lincoln hotel in Worcester, Mass., had a rough and tumble fight in the hotel office on the afternoon of the 3d inst., Callahan being worsted. He went out, procured a revolver, and returning to the office, deliberately shot Daily, two out of four shots taking effect. Daily died the same evening. Callahan did not attempt to escape, and was soon arrested and locked up. He claims to have acted in self defence, but landlord Tower and Elliot Brigham, a call boy, who saw the shooting, say that Callahan did not give Daily a chance for his life. The trouble grew out of rivalry for the affections of one of the servant girls in the hotel.

Joseph W. Hunt, president of the Toledo, Delphas & Burlington railroad, while attempting to cross a side track where an engine was shifting cars at Delphas, Ohio, on the 2d inst., was caught between the bumpers and crushed to insensibility. He fell to the ground, when several cars ran over him, causing instant death. Deceased was quite prominent in railroad circles.

Revenue agent Latham, at Huntsville, Ala., reports the seizure and destruction of several distilleries and the capture of the parties operating them in Cullman, Marion, Lamar and Winston counties. He says that on the seizure of Jo Bensfield's distillery in Winston county, the revenue officers were followed twenty miles by Bensfield, J. M. Wilson, J. D. Miller and others with double-barrelled shot-guns, who made various attempts to ambush the officers.

At West Winchester, Ont., on the night of the 3d inst., an unknown man entered the house of Robert Brown, a farmer, and with an axe murdered his wife and twelve-years-old daughter.

An unsuccessful attempt to abduct Hon. George Brown, head of the Dominion government and editor of the Toronto Globe, and the abduction of Robert Jaffrey, a prominent wholesale grocer, identified with the government, were made on the 2d inst., at Toronto. The latter was taken to Dismal Don marshes, and had a desperate fight for his life. He escaped, and his assailants made their way by means of a sail boat to the American side. Jaffrey was enticed from his home by a forged order from Judge Wilson, who was represented as acting by command of the minister of justice.

AROUND HOME.

The U. S. S. Wachusett has been ordered to the Boston navy yard to fit out for Brazil.

Elbridge Remick fell from a staging in Thompson's ship yard at Kennebunkport, on the 3d inst., and was killed.

Civil Engineer B. F. Chandler, of the New London naval station, was in this city on Thursday, with his daughter, and registered at the Rockingham.

Mr. Sylvester Barlett, of Eliot, on Monday of this week picked thirty-five bushels of pickling cucumbers from his vines, and on the Wednesday following picked forty-eight bushels more from the same vines.

St. Paul Commandry of Knights Templar, of Dover, with Hugh de Payens Commandry of Melrose, Mass., as their guests, have a clam-bake at Dover point to-day. Landlord Saville, of the Dover point hotel, gets up a famous clam-bake, as all agree who have ever "assisted" at one of [them.

The schooner Velocipede arrived at Doane's wharf on Thursday with one hundred and fifty barrels of mackerel, mostly number twos. Mackerel are improving in size and quality, but the easterly winds which have prevailed for the last month prevents them from schooling, making the catch light.

Mr. Isa H. Leveen, a graduate of Portsmouth high school and of Andover, Mass., academy, will leave this city for Providence, R. I., next Friday, to enter Brown University. On his examination for admission he received the highest rating on languages—Greek, Latin and French—there being between one and two hundred applicants.

The schooner yacht Wm. H. Russell, Capt. Drown, leaves this port on Saturday for Boston, with a party consisting of the captain, his wife and a lady friend, Mr. Alpha Senter and sister, and Mr. Horace W. Moses. The excursionists intend to be absent a week. They have got a good little vessel to go in, and the skipper knows how to handle her.

The proprietors of store No. 6 Daniel street, next door to the telegraph office, announce as the reason why they sell boots and shoes so cheap that their expenses are small. Neatly fitting and comfortable custom made boots are built at the same place for folks carrying their feet there to be measured, the work being done in the best manner and the best of materials used, and only a fair profit demanded.

The schooner Delbi, of Saco, Capt. Lyman, arrived at this port on the morning of the 4th inst. from Richmond, Va., with a cargo of coal. She reports having sailed from Hampton roads Aug. 24th; next day passed a vessel's mast, supposed to be a schooner's mainmast, with boom and fragments of sail attached; took a heavy gale, and was hove-to for fifty hours, in company with several other vessels. Aug. 27th, at noon, latitude 37 25, longitude 73 04, passed a water-logged wreck, of about two hundred and fifty tons, with her bowsprit, about eight feet of the stump of one of her masts, and some of her upper works, showing above water; should have run into her had it been at night. Next day passed through a lot of wreck stuff consisting of large quantities of barrels, painted blue with white heads, supposed to contain petroleum, and much lumber, apparently North Carolina pine from sap trees. Aug. 29th, picked up a vessel's boat; on that date had sailed and drifted four hundred and fifteen miles, but had made only sixty-four miles from Cape Henry. Aug. 31st, latitude 39 40, longitude 72 38, picked up another boat.

The entries for the go-as-you-please foot-race at Biddeford, commencing at eight o'clock A. M. on the 5th inst., and ending at six o'clock in the evening, numbered thirty-seven, the inducement being a purse of $500, divided into eight prizes—$150, $100, $75, $60, $45, $30, $25, and $15—the entrance fee being $15. In the list of persons entered are Peter Lolab and Oscar Newell, Penobscot Indians, and Lewey Mitchell of the Passamaquoddy tribe; eight "Unknowns," three of them being from Dover and one from Keene; Patrick McLaughlin, William Ham, James Burns and Patrick Madden, of Dover; "Fearnaught" and "Buffalo Bill," of Biddeford; Joseph Cross, "champion of York county;" John Meagher of Manchester, Charles Douglas (colored) of Portland, Stanley Chapman of Portland, and J. O'Connell of Lewiston, winners of the 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th prizes in a ten-hours race at Biddeford recently; Charles G. Locke, of Lancaster, N. H., at present a resident of Portsmouth; W. M. Parker, "champion of the Maine State team;" Orlando L. Durgin of Kittery, who won fifth money at the six-days walk in Boston; and other pedestrians more or less known, or totally unknown, to fame.

Mr. James Janvrin has commenced to build as a residence for Mr. Walter L. Brown a cottage on Broad street, on the lot next north of the house he recently finished for Mrs. Bennett. It is to be completed early in October; and this makes nine houses Mr. Janvrin has built at the new west end within as many years.—Weekly.

PORTSMOUTH & DOVER RAILROAD MEETING.

The adjourned meeting of the stockholders of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad was held in the common council room in this city on Thursday, Sept. 4th, agreeably to a vote passed at the annual meeting. The meeting was called to order at three o'clock by Hon. Frank Jones, the president, who stated that an offer had been made by the authorities of the road to submit the disputed question as to whether the loss on bonds sold at a discount should be included in the cost of the road in computing the rental, to a board of reference composed of three judges of the New Hampshire supreme court; and that the Eastern road in return had offered to submit all the questions at issue to such reference, the Eastern road to have the selection of the judges. It was Voted, That the proposition of the Eastern railroad to refer matters in controversy be respectfully declined, and that our attorneys be instructed to proceed with the suit at law to recover the rent now due us.

Voted, That the president be authorized to communicate this decision to the Eastern railroad company.

Adjourned without day.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

Volunteer missionary Loyne's report for the past ten months was presented, accepted and placed on file.

The committee who were appointed to ascertain the number of members of the city government who will attend the dedication ceremonies at Manchester, reported the number ten.

The committee on police, to whom was referred the matter of rules and regulations to govern hackmen and drivers of job wagons, submitted an ordinance in relation to same, which was laid on the table.

Voted, That supernumerary policeman James F. Shannon be stationed at the Creek on Sundays until otherwise ordered.

The request of committee of district number one, for twenty new desks and seats in Walker school; also the consideration of the condition of furnace in high school, were referred to committee on school houses to report.

THE CHILDRENS' PINAFORE.

The performance of Haverly's Juvenile Pinafore Company at Music hall, Thursday evening, drew a very large attendance, as was expected; and the audience, from the first evidently entirely willing to be amused, seemed heartily to enjoy the famous comic opera, whose burlesque is greatly increased when given by such youthful performers, the oldest of whom is not more than sixteen years old, and many of them much younger.

The little girl who takes the part of Josephine has one of the best voices in the company, developing a degree of power unusual in so young a child. With years and cultivation she will become a superior singer. She acted the part of Josephine with a sort of comical dignity which showed a good conception of its requirements.

Dick Deadeye sang his part in an alto voice, and kept the audience much amused with his comicalities and his generally excellent "business," much of which is new. He danced a hornpipe, receiving liberal applause. He is a natural low comedian.

Daisy Murdock, a little shrimp of a thing, made a Hebe attractive enough to justify Sir Joseph's final surrender; and Frankie Bishop, whose mother is the "mother" and governess of the whole brood, was a very nice Little Buttercup.

The full chorus numbers about forty voices, and the good time kept, as well as the precision of movements on the stage, showed careful drilling of the company. A very pretty feature of the performance was a grand review in the first act, wherein complicated figures in marching were made to the singing of what are probably supposed to be sailors' songs.

Of course no just comparison can be drawn between this performance and that of a company of adult operatic performers who have spent years on the stage and in musical studies; but it was very enjoyable, and the audience had a real good time over it.

Taxation of Railroads.

The State board of equalization on the 3d inst. completed the work of taxing the railroads, and adjourned sine die. The taxes assessed upon the several railroads in this State are as follows, and as a matter of public interest the rate of last year is also given:

	Tax, 1878.	Tax, 1879.
Eastern	$ 3,060 92	$ 3,046 69
Boston & Maine	1,473 52	16,855 75

Mount Washington	.....	1,530 00
Total	$191,578 34	$215,694 12

The increase of taxation is due mainly to the different principle of valuation established by the law of 1878.

New Hampshire Items.

The shooting into S. H. Hastings' bedroom, at Bath a few nights ago, was done by two young men of the town who were on a drunken spree. They have settled several suits brought against them.

Hon. J. N. Blodgett, as commissioner, on the 3d inst. commenced the taking of evidence on the suit in equity of John H. Pearson against various railroads in this State and against the directors of the Concord railroad. J. W. Hildreth, master of transportation on the Concord road, made a deposition.

The St. Mary four-oared crew of Charlestown, Mass., have challenged the Shamrocks of Manchester to row a three or four-mile race for $150 a side, the race to occur within ten days after signing the articles.

A half-breed Indian tramp, a native of Chili, who has lately been the terror of women and children in the adjoining towns, was arrested on the 3d inst., in Goffstown, and attracted a thousand curious visitors at the police station. He will doubtless be sent to the State prison under the tramp law.

A portion of the hod-carriers at work on the new Amory mills at Manchester struck for $1.25 per day on the 3d inst. They have been getting $1 a day.

Taxes on Nature.

A Boston paper picks out a few of the impositions to which Americans submit, as follows:

Niagara falls is the grandest cataract in the world. Half of it belongs to the United States, yet it is not possible for an American citizen even to look at the falls unless he pays at least twenty-five cents. Watkins glen, New York, is a wonderful chasm, wild and picturesque, but the free American people must pay fifty cents to enter it. It is hard to fence in Mount Washington, and it has not yet been accomplished, but as the fares are much higher than the mountains the free American citizen may think he can save money by walking to the top. He is mistaken. He will have to pay eighty cents to walk up. The Au Sable basin is gloomy and grand, but it costs the American citizen fifty cents to see it. The flume of the Franconia notch is worth seeing—seventy cents' worth. The whirlpool at Niagara is sad and sombre; at least it makes the American citizen feel so when he goes there with a party of ladies—fifty cents each. The falls of Montmorency are romantic, historical and beautiful—twenty-five cents admission and fifty cents toll. If American speculators could only erect a wall along the sea-coast so that no one could see the ocean without paying a dollar, it is quite likely the free American citizen would go to see it without a murmur, and take his children, if they were allowed to go for half price.

—The charge against the prisoner was larceny, and he had made a desperate effort to prove an alibi. One of his neighbors was called to the stand to bear witness to the worth of the prisoner's word. "What," asked the judge, (it was in Arkansas,) "is the prisoner's reputation for veracity?" "Wal, middlin' fair, jedge, middlin' fair," replied the witness; "he's always had the same wife ever sence he lived in Pike, though I believe he did hev a couple over in Tennessee last winter, but—" And then the court kept him quiet long enough to explain to him just what they were talking about.—Hawkeye.

—A young lady who teaches Sunday school (in the summer) at Swampscott is in the habit, after the regular lesson is ended, of asking questions in natural history. Last Sunday she asked: "What bird is large enough to carry a man?" A little girl held up her hand and said: "I know; a lark." "Oh, no!" said the teacher. "Larks are not large enough to carry men." "Yes, they are," said the youngster. "My papa goes away for two or three days, and my mamma says he's gone off on a lark."

—A little child, whose parents were employed in one of the most respectable families in Jacksonville, was in the habit of playing upon the piazza. Near by a mocking bird had its nest in the orange trees and sang most beautifully, and the little child would throw crumbs to the bird daily. Ere long the child was taken sick, and the bird was forgotten in the anxiety for the sick one; and, notwithstanding all was done that could be done, the child died. While the child's body was lying upon the cooling board, the bird was seen to perch upon the slat of the window blind, pour forth one of its most thrilling songs, and then flit away. Sometime after this the body of the little bird was found dead upon the floor, and, we are informed, was placed upon the coffin of its little friend and interred with it in the same grave.—Jacksonville Breeze.

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. How to Prepare Fruit for Preserving.

The following tables, which seem to have been prepared with considerable care, will be found of value, about this time, by house-keepers, who are intending to can fruit, etc., for fall and winter use. A number of ladies have been governed, the year or two past, by the information here imparted, and have been very successful in their canning operations.

In preparing fruits for preserving:—Boil cherries moderately, five minutes; raspberries six minutes; blackberries six minutes; plums ten minutes; strawberries eight minutes; whortleberries five minutes; pie plant, sliced, ten minutes; small sour pears, whole, thirty minutes; Bartlett pears in halves, twenty minutes; peaches eight minutes; pineapple, sliced one-half inch thick, fifteen minutes; Siberian crab apples, whole, twenty-five minutes; sour apples, quartered, ten minutes; ripe currents six minutes; wild grapes ten minutes; tomatoes twenty minutes.

The amount of sugar to a quart jar should be:—For cherries six ounces; raspberries four ounces; Lawton blackberries six ounces; field blackberries six ounces; strawberries eight ounces; whortleberries four ounces; quinces ten ounces; small sour pears, whole, eight ounces; wild grapes eight ounces; peaches four ounces; Bartlett pears six ounces; pineapples six ounces; crab apples eight ounces; pie plant ten ounces; sour apples, quartered, five ounces; ripe currants eight ounces.

It is said the President has reasons unknown to the public for not exercising the same executive clemency in the case of "Cupid's Yokes" Bennett as he did in the case of "Cupid's Yokes" Heywood. In fact, it appears that Bennett is an old scamp. He is a married man, and a pretended foe of free love, but a lot of his letters have recently come to light—letters addressed to a young woman in New York, a former employe of his in the office of the Truth Seeker—which not only reveal marital infidelity on his part, but a moral nastiness which cannot be glossed over by pretensions of a philanthropic purpose.—Boston Herald.

—"I'll join you presently," said the minister to the young couple, as he went for the church key.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE of PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is reversal, not a gland or tissue coming their active impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick, mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, nausea, nose from nostrils, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is plain and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $27.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an economic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 3d.

Secretary Sherman is probably the most enthusiastic man in the country on the subject of our national progress in the future. He believes that our credit is firmly and finally established, that our debt will be rapidly reduced after this year, and that hereafter the United States will have an enormously increased influence in the affairs of the world. He believes that emigration—and emigration of a superior character—will be greater than ever during the next few years.

The President yesterday "struck the first spade" in the work of preparing the new fair grounds and race course at Ivy City, adjoining Washington. It is the intention of those in charge of these grounds to make them an attraction for people of all parts of the country. They proceed under a charter from Congress, have abundant capital, and are among the best business men of the district.

It is rumored that J. A. Bentley, commissioner of pensions, will resign as soon as the annual report is made from that office. I am unable to determine how much foundation there is for this rumor, and doubt the truth of it. There have been, it is safe to say, thousands of complaints against the commissioner, made by claimants and attorneys, but so far Mr. Bentley has seemed to retain the confidence of President Hayes and Secretary Schurz.

A new and enormous sewer is now being built to carry off the filth of the capital. It is devoutly to be hoped that this operation will be eminently successful, and the Capitol thoroughly drained. Nobody knows how much vicious legislation the bad sewerage and ventilation of the Capitol are responsible for. A member out of health will vote against anything but the payment of his own salary. KNOX.

Political.

That the republican State convention of New York did good work is shown by the fact that the Springfield Republican is disgusted with the ticket presented.

In Defiance county, Ohio, every township treasurer, with a single exception, is a defaulter. The one honest treasurer is the only republican treasurer in the county.

Rich Speculations.

A brakeman on a Western railroad placed $50 in a combination, which turned a profit of 3 7-8 per cent., equal to $387.50 per one hundred shares, netting a profit of $193.75 in addition to the $50 he invested. A conductor made $1,276.24 in two combinations. The superintendent of an Eastern railway made $16,310.13 in three combinations. Others have also made large profits. This system of stock speculations consolidates the interests of thousands into one whole, dividing the profits pro rata every thirty day. The combinations handled with the best skill and experience, attain great success in the stock market. From $25 to $10,000 can thus be invested with vast advantage. The new explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

—The Japanese premier, Prince Kung, addressed Gen. Grant in English, so called. Trying to compliment him by assuring him that he was born to command, he said: "Sire! Brave generale! You vos made to order!"

CAUTION.

Do you wish to have your hair cauterized from the scalp? No! Then beware of the new brood of vitriolic and caustic dyes got up by nostrum-mongers, who bear the same relation to the responsible chemist that bear to honest merchantmen. Remember that the experience of years and the very highest scientific endorsement guarantee the superiority of

Cristadoro's Hair Dye

SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER

Enlarged May 1, 1879. Price unchanged.

The only combination of the true Jamaica Ginger with choice aromatics and French brandy, for correcting intemperate habits, regulating the stomach and bowels, breaking up colds, chills and fevers, is SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER. For relieving gouty and rheumatic pains, preventing malarial fevers, and promoting sleep it is truly wonderful. Ask for SANFORD'S. tsept1

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1879.

California Election.

San Francisco advices of the 4th inst. say that the election of Perkins, the republican candidate for governor, is conceded by a handsome plurality. Stoneman, who was on all the tickets except the republican, for railroad commissioner, is elected, and the workingmen and democrats have probably elected Morrison as chief justice; "with these exceptions the republicans have undoubtedly elected the whole State ticket, and probably four Congressmen, though the third district is still in doubt." A later report (at six o'clock P. M.,) says: "All returns to date emphasize the previous report that the republicans have elected the entire State ticket by a plurality of probably not less than 15,000. Page and Pacheco are elected to Congress, and probably McKenna also. The contest between Davis and Barbour, in the third district, is doubtful."

A San Francisco despatch of the 5th, dated at two o'clock P. M., says: "There is no reason to change the previous estimates of the results. Perkins keeps gaining on Glenn and White in the interior, and is likely to have 20,000 plurality over either."

Prominent New Yorkers.

No one more prominent than the Rev. Morgan Dix, Rector of Trinity parish and son of the late Governor Dix. At heart he sympathises with the ritualists, but his natural bent of mind is jesuitical, and therefore what encouragement he gives to the innovators just mentioned is rather covert than open. If he were to go to extremes, his vestry though "high church" might bring him up short, and thus he might lose a position which besides yielding a neat ten thousand a year, gives him great influence and enables him in many ways to extend aid and comfort to more open partisans of the new doctrines. So he trims his sails and like the skilled pilot that he is, avoids difficulties, and steers his bark safely among besetting theological shoals and quicksands. He is tall and thin; a nervous looking man; his face clean shaven; complexion sallow, eyes gray and set deep in his head, nose of medium size, but far from classical, his lips thin and compressed, hair originally dark, now turning gray. Expression that of a man who has much to revolve in his own mind, which outsiders are not to know anything about. A face not illumined by a broad sunshiney look—a look in sympathy with human nature and mankind in general. Yet he is a polite and courteous gentleman, but this is of course a result of education. One might have supposed that by this time the influence of his handsome young wife would have produced some modifying results, but however this may be at home, to the world at large there is still the same jesuitical, ascetic appearance.

St. Thomas (Episcopal) is par excellence the fashionable church of the city; having somewhat outstripped Grace, which used to carry off the palm. No greater contrast could be found than that which exists between Rev. Wm. F. Morgan, the rector, and the worthy individual of whom I have just endeavored to give you some idea. Dr. Morgan's face is filled with sunshine; his manners though extremely elegant, yet so kindly sympathetic that one feels instantly at ease. He is above medium height, rather broad, his complexion clear, side whiskers and hair a pure white. His features are irregular, but he is so eminently gifted with the rather inexplicable something that we call "presence," that one is astonished afterwards on a critical survey, to find some imperfections. His voice is remarkably good, and fills from end to end the spacious edifice where on Sundays he lays down the law to listening sinners.

'Tis a wide jump between doctors of divinity and newspaper men, but you see I write these little sketches as the spirit moves me, and without any set plan or special study. Just at this moment I happen to think of Charles A. Dana, the well known editor of the Sun. His face hardly shows that bitterness of resentment which causes him to pursue so relentlessly those unlucky individuals who may have offended him. Like all acrimonious people he has plenty of enemies, but the positiveness of his nature has caused friends also to rally around him. He is a commanding looking man; tall, rather spare; having quite regular features, and searching eyes; apparently between fifty and sixty; with long grey beard. He is restless and quick in his movements, and gives you a "yes" or "no" in answer with such a look of sharp decisiveness, that you knew instinctively there is no use contending the matter against so imperious a will.

James Gordon Bennett of the Herald is also a tall man. His figure is good, but his face is long and out of all proportion, and thus he is debarred from winning the prize for beauty. His eyes are blue, his hair light, and his complexion florid.

Mis Mary Booth, the editress of Harper's Bazaar, is not so much a woman of positive talent, as of excellent judgment, and entire reliability. Her father was a professional man of Brooklyn, and she therefore comes justly by her inclination toward books. She is said to be handsomer now than she was as a young lady. Of that I cannot speak with a certainty, but she is undoubtedly at present a fine looking lady, tall, somewhat portly and with white hair. She is very popular with persons of all ages, and her receptions are usually well attended.

LUCY CARTER.

News and Notes.

Anderson Carver, a young farmer of Allen county, Kentucky, who was insanely jealous of his wife, a handsome young woman and the mother of three children, shot her in the head Friday, and taking his three children to the neighborhood of the school-house sat down in full view of the teachers and scholars and sent a bullet through his own brain, dying at once.

Archibald Roane fell dead in the city hall at Washington on the 3d inst. He was the man to whom Caleb Cushing gave the letter of introduction to Jefferson Davis, which prevented Mr. Cushing's confirmation as chief justice. Mr. Roane, it will be remembered, went south with that recommendatory letter, and organized the confederate department of justice. He afterward became the rebel assistant secretary of State, and since the war has practiced law in Washington. Apoplexy was the cause of his death.

Gen. Grant and party sailed from Yokohama for San Francisco on the 3d inst., per steamer Tokio.

The London Times' Berlin correspondent says that an Odessa newspaper, the Pravda, accuses the Porte of violating the treaty obligations in allowing an armed vessel, the United States steamer Wyoming, to cruise in the Black sea with the American ambassador to Turkey on board. The American consul at Odessa admits that the Porte at first refused permission, but yielded on the landing by the Wyoming of a part of her armament.

The acting commissioner of internal revenue reports that on the 20th of August a deputy collector in the fourth North Carolina district seized a team of mules and a wagon, and nine boxes of tobacco, from a tobacco peddler. The cause of the seizure was re-used stamps upon the boxes and the peddler's failure to comply with the law in regard to peddling tobacco. On the 2d inst. this property was forcibly taken from the deputy collector and delivered to the claimant by a sheriff, under an order of the clerk of the State court. The United States attorney has been instructed to use all legal means to obtain possession of the rescued property, and to bring to punishment the persons engaged in such rescue.

Thomas Coney, of Ware, Mass., a farmer who lived alone in a secluded spot, recently died, and the heirs sent Otis Lane to the place to look after property which it was believed Coney possessed. He found and brought away in gold, silver, government bonds, greenbacks and national bank notes, nearly $10,000. Much of the amount Coney had probably on hand for many years, as Mr. Lane found packages of bills nicely put up and marked 1863 and 1870. All this money was in a trunk that Coney had kept in a room occupied by himself.

Lige Frost, Bige Gibson and Tom McCracken were taken from a constable at Ukiah, Mendocino county, Cal., on the night of the 3d inst., and hanged by a mob. They were under arrest for the larceny of a saddle and some harnesses.

"Laugh and Grow Fat."

This ancient bit of advice is well enough for "spare" people, but how about those that are already too fat? What is to become of them? Sit still, and I'll tell you. After many experiments, extending through months of patient investigation and toil, the celebrated analytical chemist, J. C. Allan, has perfected and given to the world Allan's Anti-Fat. Thus far in several hundred cases this great remedy has never failed to reduce a corpulent person from three to six pounds per week. It is perfectly harmless and positively efficient. Sold by druggists.

Cheerfulness, courage, and activity of intellect are engendered by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and its capacity of imparting power of endurance to the brain and nervous system is shown in its property of sustaining persons through mental difficulties.

At a caucus of the republicans of Kittery, held on the evening of the 4th inst., Dr. M. F. Wentworth was unanimously nominated as a candidate for representative.

Capt. Wm. M. Hussey having resigned the charge of the United States life-saving station at Biddeford pool, Capt. James Goldthwaite has been appointed to that position.

The contractor who is to build the Newcastle breakwater, has bought the right to blast stone from Mr. Thomas Murphy's island in "the pool," and will have less than half of a mile to move the material.

Shipbuilding has been carried on at the Thompson yard in Kennebunkport for thirty years or more, and no fatal accident ever occurred there until Elbridge Remick was killed by a fall from a staging on the 3d inst.

United States Deputy Marshal Joseph P. Morse, of this city, on Friday attached the Manchester & Keene railroad, and trusteed the city of Keene, on a suit in favor of Joseph Wharton of Philadelphia, Pa., for the sum of $20,000.

One of the largest and most influential sidewalk committees ever assembled in this city was in position on the north side of the custom house Friday evening, superintending the hoisting of a safe to the second story of the building.

The Journal in its last issue says: "Joel H. Norton of Kittery has been selected to represent that town in the legislature." Not quite; the election hasn't come off yet, and when it does Gen. M. F. Wentworth, the republican candidate, will be the man "selected" for the purpose named.

The fifty-fifth annual meeting of the Newmarket manufacturing company took place last Thursday, when the following officers were elected: Directors, William D. Pickman, Benjamin W. Stone, Benjamin H. Sillsbee, John D. W. Jay, Benjamin W. Crowninghield, John Webster, George W. Kittredge; treasurer, John Webster; clerk, O. M. Jay.

Mr. James Drew, toll keeper at the Dover point bridge, gives the following statistics: During the month of August ninety vessels passed through the draw, which was opened seventy times. Amount of money taken in August, $172.32. The largest number of craft passing through the draw in any one month since the bridge was built was in the month of June, 1877,—two hundred and ten, during the building of the foundation of the new mill in Dover.

The following were the bids for furnishing 12,000 tons of stone, 2240 pounds to the ton, for the construction of the breakwater at Newcastle: Hiram Hamilton, of Knightsville, Me., sixty-nine cents per ton; Joseph R. Holmes, Portsmouth, eighty-two and a half cents; Charles A. Trumbull, Boston, eighty-nine cents; David N. Hill and Joseph F. Curit, Chebeague island, ninety cents for granite grout, and seventy-five cents for black stone; Isaac A. Sylvester, Boston, ninety-five cents; Derry & Edwards, Boston, ninety-three and a half cents; Cape Ann Granite Co., Gloucester, $1.17; Charles H. Bragdon, Biddeford, $1.25; Frank A. Christie and William H. Flynn, Dover, $1.75 for black rock. Contract awarded to Hiram Hamilton.

James Neeson, a tramp who broke into a schoolhouse at Lee some time ago and stole books, etc., therefrom, was sent to State prison for fifteen months, by the court now sitting at Dover. Henry Hanson, Thomas James and Henry Waters, three Boston sharpers who were arrested at Rochester some months since for swindling a passenger on the cars at three card monte, were indicted for larceny and for gambling; failing to appear when called, their bonds were forfeited. The fellows secured no sureties when committed by the lower court, but deposited money to the amount of bonds demanded, which now goes to the county. Many liquor indictments were found by the grand jury.

Speaking of the big minstrel company which will perform at Music hall on Monday evening, the Indianapolis Sentinel says they give "splended music, delightful singing, new and laughable jokes, artistic songs and dances and clog exercises, and funny and genteel sketches. Milt. Barlow has no superior as an end man and delineator of negro character. He is an educated gentleman, and is one of the finest performers in the profession. George Wilson is a popular performer, and always presents something new and novel. He is the essence of fun, and never offends. Primrose and West are the best song and dance men who have appeared here, and were recalled several times during the performance. This troupe have met with great success throughout the season, and have now the title of the best company traveling." The Columbus, Ohio, Journal says "the company is undeniably one of the best in the minstrel line, and is a decided favorite in Columbus, which is noted the country over for knowing a good minstrel company when it sees one, and for promptly discouraging indifferent talent. As promised, the programme last night was entirely new, including the comedy efforts of the end men, which bristled with new and incisive points, and plenty of them. During the first part, the audience divided the time about equally between enthusiastic commendation of the vocal and instrumental music, and convulsions over the fire of witticisms and comicalities at the extremes of the semi-circle."

The splendid steamer Empire State will make an ocean excursion from this city on Thursday, Sept. 11th, leaving the Gas Co.'s wharf at 10:15 o'clock A. M., and running down the coast of Maine as far as Old Orchard. During the trip Capt. Paul Boyton, the famous rubber-suit navigator, will give one of the exhibitions which have proved so remarkably attractive on the steamer's excursions from Boston. Fare for the trip, $1. The American brass band, C. H. Thompson leader, accompanies the excursion. The mammoth steamer will leave this city for Boston at six o'clock Thursday evening, and will take such passengers as may offer, at one dollar each.

The East Rockingham Bible society, at the meeting in Hampton last week, chose officers as follows for the ensuing year: Hon. Amos Tuck of Exeter, president; Rev. Mr. Burgess, of Hampton Falls, and Rev. E. Owen, of Portsmouth, vice presidents; G. E. Street of Exeter, secretary; Geo. E. Lane of Exeter, treasurer; Rev. Mr. Scott, of Hampton, and Josiah Stearns of Epping, executive committee. Delegates to the State society, Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., of Portsmouth, and Deacon Joseph Kimball of Plaistow.

The Exeter Gazette says: "The widow of Eli Lamprey, of Hampton, whose son was killed in the army and upon whom she in a great measure depended for support before his death, has been trying for several years to procure a pension, and has just received an order for $1500 as back pension, and is to receive eight dollars per month during her life."

The York county agricultural society will hold its 32d annual exhibition at Berwick, Sept. 23d, 24th and 25th.

Household Recipes.

Canned Tomatoes.—Do not scald the tomatoes, but put them in bake-pans just as they are. Wash and dry them first. Let them bake fifteen minutes, then take them out and pour off all the fluid which has come from them; throw this liquor away. Peel the tomatoes when they are cool; cook them in a large kettle for a full hour and a half. Warm the cans, and when the tomatoes are scalding hot pour them in the cans and solder. Put no seasoning in them. They should be fully ripe.

Green Tomato Soup.—Two gallons green tomatoes sliced without peeling, twelve large onions also sliced, two quarts best cider vinegar, one quart brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls ground mustard, two tablespoonfuls salt, two tablespoonfuls ground black pepper, one tablespoonful allspice, one tablespoonful cloves, both ground. Mix all together and stew until tender, stirring often to prevent scorching. Put up in small jars for convenient use. A nice sauce for all kinds of fish and meat.

Cold Catsup.—Take half peck of ripe tomatoes; cut fine; one small cup of grated horse radish, and the same of salt and black and white mustard seeds mixed; two tablespoonfuls of black pepper; two red peppers, without the seeds, and three celery stalks all chopped fine. If celery seed is preferred it can be substituted; one cupful of nasturtiums and onions, mixed and chopped; one tenspoonful of ground cloves; two teaspoonfuls cinnamon; one teaspoonful mace; one teacup brown sugar; one quart best cider vinegar; mix well and put in air tight jars; not to be heated.

Sweet Tomato Pickle.—Seven pounds ripe tomatoes peeled and sliced, three and a half pounds brown sugar, one ounce powdered cinnamon and mace mixed; one ounce powdered cloves, one quart vinegar. Mix and stew one hour.

Picklette.—Take tour large, firm cabbages, chopped fine, one quart onions chopped, two quarts vinegar, or enough to cover the cabbage, two pounds brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls each of ground mustard, black pepper, cinnamon, tumeric and celery seed, one tablespoonful each of allspice, mace and alum, pulverized; pack the cabbage and onions in alternate layers, with a little salt between them; let it stand twenty-four hours; then scald the vinegar, sugar and spices together, and pour over the cabbage and onions after draining them well; do this three mornings in succession, and on the fourth put all over the fire and boil five minutes; pack in jars and keep cool.

The Utility of Lightning-Rods.

Farmers are so frequently imposed on by the lightning-rod venders, who show their very nice-looking things which they call first-rate conductors, with their gilt tops, etc., accompanied by an elaborate and glib explanation—that we have from time to time taken occasion to give them some facts concerning rods which would be of use in protecting their buildings. The best rod is made by a good blacksmith. It ought to be about an inch square, and the pieces should be hooked firmly and tightly together, leaving no space. It should have a good and genuine platinum point, or points, which are better, and should run from the roof, and be of such height that it will protect the whole building, if not too large. The rod will draw the lightning from a radius twice its height above the roof. It should never run level on the roof, but at an incline always. It should penetrate the ground at least four feet, and end in a body of from two to four barrels of charcoal. The end should be heavy and bent at an angle of forty-five degrees, on which a stone, weighing from one to two hundred pounds, should be placed, which will keep the rod always taut. Glass insulators are of but little or no use. These are simple directions, and if strictly followed will protect any building against being what is called "struck" with lightning. Such a rod will attract the fluid for the radius named, and will pass it down into the earth without noise or danger.—Germantown Telegraph.

—It is a mean man who would fool a fish by wearing a white choker and clerical coat when strolling along the bank of a brook on Sunday.—Boston Post.

—Down south they call it the Yazoo logical system of argument. You can vote the democratic ticket or be shot, Yazoo please.—Fun.

—When the batteries at Montretout were shelling the communists in Paris, M. Thiers frequented the spot, encouraging the sailors that manned them. As he was talking there one evening the thunder of a big gun fired just beside him made him jump. The commander apologized and said: "This noise must annoy you." "Not at all," replied M. Thiers; "It's rather soothing compared with the assembly debates."

Figures taken from the diary of Matthew Patten, of Bedford, kept in 1779 and 1780, show that the price of rum was $16 a quart, sugar $6 a pound, coffee $4 a pound, new cider barrels $10 each, board nails six cents each, tobacco $7.60 a pound, newspapers $27.50 a quarter, and corn $40 a bushel. Money was plenty enough then, the only trouble being that it was not worth much more than the modern greenbacker's "fiat" article would be a week after its issue. It was about that time that wheel-barrows were invented, to enable women bound on shopping excursions to carry money enough to last them through an afternoon.

While Deputy Collector J. Ray, with two assistants, was attempting the capture of an illicit distillery in Barren county, Ky., a few days ago, six or eight men rose from ambush and with shot guns and pistols commenced firing on the officers. The latter returned the fire, killing one man and badly wounding another. The remainder of the attacking party ran off.

—A little man had threatened to horsewhip a big man. Whip in hand, he entered a restaurant where the big man was eating, but after a short survey of his enemy, he retreated, and when asked why he had not carried his threat into execution, he replied: "Oh, hang it, that fellow is twice as big as he was yesterday."

—"Pshaw," said Czardine, as he seated himself in the Times sanctum, "the snake stories that are going about are all too thin. Why, just look here. Last spring I went into the woods. I took along an umbrella, which I laid down onto some rocks. Well, sir, about an hour afterwards I went to get my umbreller, as it had begun to rain a little. I took hold of the handle, and as I give it a shove, something began to tear, and as the umbrella flew open a live black snake fell to the ground split in two from its head to its tail. The confounded critter had actually swallowed my umbreller, and I never noticed it until I shoved up the dumb thing and split him from stem to stern."—Whitehall Times.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any CUTICURA performance by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with scaly, Liching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Cuticura on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales and off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I unreservedly recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, R. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA REMEDIES. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS,

Druggists and Booksellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and we unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We think this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ringworm, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, dark, gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from "Torpid Liver," or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which million, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

BELFAST, ME., Sept. 5th.

Never in the political history of Maine has there been such deep, wide spread enthusiasm and intense interest manifested in an election as in the campaign now closing. The war meetings of '61 dwindle to insignificance when compared with the immense throngs addressed by the leading republican speakers that have stumped this State. Towering above all other orators in the minds of the people, and foremost in demand, has been Maine's "Idol son," James G. Blaine. His popularity is simply astonishing; wherever he has spoken the meeting has had to be an "open air" one, as no hall could hold the crowds that flocked to hear him. Blaine's wonderful recollection of faces and events is the key to his success; not unfrequently does he stop short in his addresses, and catching the eye of some farmer whom he has not seen for years, calls him by name, and relates some incident in which the old farmer is the prominent figure; of course the audience is carried by storm, and the devotion of that farmer, and also of "his sisters, and his cousins, and his aunts," secured. It is Blaine's master-hand that has moved the machinery in this unprecedented campaign. Not a republican speech has been made, or subject discussed, which he was not beforehand cogizant of. In the library of his residence at Augusta is a telegraph instrument which connects him with all parts of the State; and his son, an expert operator, has kept him informed of the minutest detail of the campaign. His eldest son, Emmons Blaine, has been addressing the people of the French settlements on the Madawaska, in their native tongue, and been everywhere received with rupturous applause. Aroostook county will show heavy republican gains.

I saw Solon Chase and "them steers" the other day in Lewiston. It was on the occasion of the great greenback demonstration, which had been extensively advertised and was expected to be the largest gathering of the clans yet held in the State. The managers were wofully disappointed; instead of the 12,000 expected to be present, not more than 2000 or 3000 put in an appearance. The men had nervous, dejected-looking faces, which the eloquence of Solon, the "Whoa Emma" strains of the two country bands in attendance, or the booming of the solitary gun of the Androscoggin artillery, could not light up. Even the "steers" were with difficulty kept in the procession, after scratching of their glossy black necks by Solon and their driver. One old farmer, more pungent than respectful, exclaimed, "Solon, black is a d—n bad color for steers."

There was another gathering in Lewiston that day, the reunion of the veterans of the 1st Maine cavalry; 250 strong they gathered, "Corporal Davis" among them. The enthusiasm of the men as they grasped the hand of their comrade and next governor, was exhilarating to see. From every county in the State were representatives, and all spoke with wonderful unanimity of the great gains and brilliant prospects of victory in their respective localities. It was a little significant that among all these veterans, not a greenbacker was to be found; and I have yet to meet a soldier who is imbued with this heresy.

Mr. Davis has made more speeches and over a wider area of the State, than any other orator on the stump. Monday evening he spoke at Bangor, Tuesday at Lewiston and Brunswick, and on Wednesday at two o'clock P. M. was addressing the citizens of Houlton, Aroostook county, 250 miles distant from his rostrum of the evening previous. His tireless energy, pleasing address, and candid and eloquent speeches have done much to swell the republican vote.

That Daniel F. Davis will be elected by the people no sane republican doubts, but in the matter of majority there is a wide divergence of opinion. An enthusiastic republican of Bangor, exultant over the general stampede of greenbackers to the republican fold, said to me yesterday, "We'll lick 'em by 30,000 majority." When anxiously asked if he wouldn't take off a thousand, he replied, "Not a d—n thousand." Most republicans, however, are more modest in their claims, setting the majority anywhere between 2000 and 12,000. The lowest estimate I have from republicans of Waldo county, who feeling the full force of the greenback influence (this county was swamped by the flatists last year) are disposed to be cautious; nevertheless Belfast will be handsomely redeemed, and large gains made in representatives throughout the county. My own opinion is that the republicans will carry every county but two, (Aroostook and Waldo,) have a majority in both branches of the legislature, and elect the governor by 8,000 majority.

ROLERSON.

Portsmouth Chronicle

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1879.

California Election.

Advices from San Francisco, dated on the night of the 5th, say that the plurality for Perkins, the republican candidate for governor, will reach 23,000, and that the republicans have probably elected all four Congressmen.

A Funny Fiatist.

One C. C. Straun, of Illinois, addressed a greenback meeting in Portland one evening last week, and an explanation of what the Greenbackers propose to do with the four per cent bonds into which the 5-20's have been refunded was given as follows: Supposing the greenbackers get control of Congress and the executive, they will immediately pass a bill declaring the payment of these four per cent bonds unconstitutional, and say to the bond holders, "We are sorry for you, but we can't help you. You entered into this contract with the entire facts before your eyes, and the ruinous financial legislation of the present government staring you in the face." In speaking of the bulldozing in Mississippi, he said he could offset the Yazoo murder by the San Francisco affair, and made the extraordinary statement that Kalloch was shot by two republicans simply because he was a greenbacker!

News and Notes.

The grand jury in Boston last week found indictments against the five Italians in custody for complicity in the murder of Joseph F. Frye. "Nick" and "the Greek" are indicted for the murder, and the other three for being accessory before the fact.

The wife of Lew Benedict, the negro minstrel, has obtained a divorce in Milwaukee. She is the daughter of a Methodist minister, and lately inherited $10,000.

The New England straw works at Medfield, Mass., were destroyed by fire Friday morning; loss, $15,000.

An excursion steamer, the Alaska, exploded the dome of her boiler on lake Erie, near Detroit river, Friday morning, killing both engineers and one deck hand, and badly scalding ten other deck hands, two fatally. Only one passenger was hurt, and he not seriously.

The yacht West Wind capsized at Henderson's bay, Sackett's Harbor, N. Y., Friday, and seven men were drowned, five of them leaving families. Two others of the crew were saved by clinging to floating spars.

Clark Brown, son of the Mrs. Brown who with his twelve-years old daughter was murdered at West Winchester, Ont., one night last week, has confessed having committed the crime. He says he does not know what impelled him to commit the deed—a clear case of "had to do it," a la Pomeroy.

Colonel Smith, who married Horace Greeley's eldest daughter, has entered this season's field with a lecture on "The true ideal for American youth." In one of the advertising notices of him occurs this passage: "He has been styled the handsomest man in America, the queen of England going so far, it is said, as to pronounce him the handsomest man in the world."

The British embassy at Cabul, the capital of Afghanistan, has been attacked by several regiments of Afghan troops, assisted by the entire populace of the city. British troops are hurrying to Cabul, but it is feared cannot arrive in time to save the lives of the Europeans.

Richard Smith, a young man of Brooklyn, N. Y., who possesses a million dollars and apparently very inferior brains, spent a thousand dollars on a spree, Thursday, and then tried to kill himself with Paris green. His wife had him arrested and cared for.

Charles E. Elwell, a Boston horse-car driver, was assaulted by an unknown ruffian Friday night, and knocked down, receiving fatal injuries. The assault was entirely unprovoked.

Theodore Daniel, colored, was lynched at Union, Ky., Thursday night, for attempted outrage on a young white woman. He was taken from jail by a mob, tied to a tree, and shot.

David Collins, James Greer, William Spencer and W. N. Smith, farmers of Carthage, Mo., have been arrested on warrants charging them with murder in the first degree. The alleged offence was the killing of John Bass Jones, a somewhat noted rebel leader. Jones, it is charged, had been threatening to drive all Union men out of the country at the close of the war. One night, fourteen years ago, a party of men called him out of his house and killed him. For supposed participation in this affair the four farmers have been arrested, the warrants being sworn to by a woman named Lize Ody. The arrests have political significance, and there is considerable excitement in the vicinity of Carthage. Bonds of $10,000 each have been accepted for the further appearance of the defendants.

A seventy-five-hours go-as-you-please race ended in Boston at half-past eleven o'clock Saturday night. The race was gotten up by Ennis, one of the contestants for the Astley belt the last time it was tramped for in New York, the first prize being $200, and a gold medal valued at $100; 2d, $150; 3d, $100; 4th, $50. Among the tramps were Hanson, of Dover, Harriman and Driscoll. The winners were as follows: First prize, Lacouse, 281 miles; 2d, Hanson, 272 miles; 3d, Colston, 255 miles; 4th, O'Connor, 252 miles.

The seventy-five-hours go-as-you-please race, between Campana and Hughes, for $200 a side, which took place at Allston hall, Boston, last week, was won by Hughes, he beating Campana four miles.

New Hampshire Items.

Dudley P. Warner was arrested at Manchester, Thursday, for attempting to pass forged checks.

The semi-annual meeting of the New Hampshire State medical society will be held at Hanover, opening Sept. 13th.

Gov. Head was in Rhode Island last week, with his staff, and visited the military encampment near Providence on Thursday. On Friday, in company with Gov. Van Zandt, the New Hampshire officials visited the city and State institutions at Providence.

Henry Cole, the man who was arrested on suspicion of murder in Springfield, and discharged a few days ago when the supposed murdered man turned up alive, arrived in Concord on Friday morning in search of his wife, who left her home in Springfield on the previous Tuesday evening in company with a Frenchman, seventeen years old, who swore against Cole in the suspected murder affair, and had him arrested. The eloping couple were traced as far as Hooksett. They travelled on the railroad track and probably went to Manchester. The woman is but fourteen years old, and left a child at home.

AROUND HOME.

Another juvenile Pinafore company, Bennett & Moulton's, is coming to this city, on Tuesday evening of next week.

Mt. Sinai Encampment, I. O. O. F., on Friday evening unanimously voted not to accept the invitation from the Manchester brethren to participate in the dedication of the soldiers' monument in the latter city on the 11th inst.

The Eastern railroad station at Kennebunk Depot has been repaired to some extent. A new platform has been laid, new steps built, two new side lamps put up, and the place improved generally—not before improvement was needed, it is said.

The afternoon train from Boston over the Boston & Maine railroad narrowly escaped being wrecked just below Exeter and about a mile from the depot, Friday. A sleeper had been thrown across the track, and the engineer managed to stop the train at less than half a car's length from the obstruction.

The U. S. S. Wachusett, while leaving the navy yard Friday afternoon, managed to get foul of the sheers, bending the davits to which were hanging two new boats, and crushing in the sides of the boats and badly injuring them. Had the ship gone five feet further than she did before being stopped, she would have carried away her maintopgallant mast.

W. T. Perkins of Dover has been appointed station agent at the Eastern railroad depot in this city, in place of Thomas J. Goodwin, who has performed the duties since Mr. Barrett resigned to accept a similar position on the Concord railroad, has given general satisfaction to the patrons of the road, and is highly spoken of by all who have had business relations with him.

The dwelling house recently occupied and owned by Dana Hutchins, in Kennebunkport, was burned Sunday night, the 31st ult., the fire being the work of an incendiary. Hutchins being unable to pay the claim which a firm of contractors had on the house as builders, they warned him to move out, which he did some time ago, and the house has not been occupied since.

The regular meeting of the city government this week will be held on Wednesday evening, instead of Thursday, to allow the members to attend the dedication ceremonies of the soldiers' monument at Manchester. At this meeting a new proposition from the management of the Eastern, to the directors of the Portsmouth and Dover railroad, for reference, will be presented to the city councils for their consideration.

On Saturday the brick house No. 35 Daniel street, belonging to the estate of the late John Walker, was sold at auction by Messrs. Morse & Tisley for $1725, to Mr. Charles H. Mendum. After this sale the following floating property, belonging to the same estate, was disposed of: Three thirty-seconds of schooner T. J. Trafton, to Robert Roberts, for $483; one thirty-second of schooner Union Flag, to Thomas S. Gay, for $40.

The arrangements for the fourth annual clam-bake of the Veteran Artillery association at Dover point on Tuesday are completed. The cars leave the Eastern depot at 12:30 and three o'clock P. M., with fare for the round trip at only twenty-five cents; tickets for the bake and dance seventy-five cents, to be procured on the grounds. The uncovering will take place immediately on the arrival of the 3:30 train. Harlow's orchestra is to furnish the music.

The new safe which was put into the custom house on Friday weighs a little less than four tons. To transport it from the Eastern depot to the custom house a heavy dray was first employed, and stood the load well enough until a start was attempted, when the hind axle broke in two places and let the ponderous mass down. There being no other vehicle in the city so strong as the one that was broken, Collector Howard applied for a team to Capt. Young of the navy yard, who permitted one of the heavy government trucks to be brought over, and the safe was transported without further difficulty.

The young ladies and gentlemen of the archery club—the "Piscataqua archers" we believe is the name of the association—went to Newcastle in a big team on Friday afternoon to draw the long bow for two handsome prize-badges presented by Mr. Alfred O. Larkin, one to go to the young lady making the best score, and the other to the best marksman of the young men. The target was set up near the Wentworth, and the ladies' contest resulted in a tie between Miss Norah Bartlett and Miss Eastman, daughter of Comdr. Thos. H. Eastman, U. S. N.; in shooting off the tie, Miss Bartlett won. Edwin R. Pearson won the gentleman's badge. After the archery exercise there was a supper at the Wentworth, succeeded by a dance, the party returning home by coach shortly before midnight.

The republicans of the classed towns of Eliot and South Berwick nominated as their candidate for representative in the Maine legislature Mr. John Gray; North Berwick and Berwick, Samuel Hall; Wells, George Getchell; Kennebunkport, Seth H. Pinkham; Kennebunk and Alfred, John T. Hall. In Kennebunkport the greenbackers nominated Moses Harriman, and the democratic caucus "endorsed" the nomination; ditto in Wells, where the greenbackers nominated William Waterfield. Biddeford having two representatives, the greenback caucus nominated Rev. A. H. Wales and "endorsed" Carlos Heard, and the democratic caucus nominated Carlos Heard and "endorsed" Rev. A. H. Wales. The democrats of Kittery nominated Joel H. Norton, but no "endorsement" was reported in his case; the republicans of Kittery nominated Dr. M. F. Wentworth, whose endorsement at the polls was a matter of course.

MINSTRELSY TO-NIGHT.

Of Barlow, Wilson, Primrose & West's Minstrels, who show at Music hall this evening, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat says:

Their entertainment is first-class in all respects, and we predict for them a brilliant feature. Their part first is entirely new, with excellent music, songs, jokes, talk, puns, etc., and Wilson and Barlow are the "conquerors of blues" on the ends. Primrose and West in their two song and dance acts seemed as though they were automatons worked by hidden springs. In all styles of dancing, from the silent and gliding step of the pantomime clog to the double-forte trip-hammer and sand chorus movements, they were the embodiment of grace and the "poetry of motion." Throughout the entire performance the audience were kept in roars of laughter. If the object of negro minstrelsy is to please, commend us to the "B. W. P. & W." combination.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Sept. 6; Batchelder, J.

A young man belonging in Rye was examined on a charge of larceny. Complainant inadvertently laid his pocket book down, and on returning for it could not find it. The magistrate considered the evidence insufficient to connect defendant with the loss of the complainant's money, and the complaint was dismissed.

Charles S. Walker of Newington, recently of this city, was complained of for committing a felonious assault upon his seven-years-old step-daughter, Augusta J. Roberts. Committed without bail to await the action of the grand jury. The maximum punishment for the crime of which he is accused is thirty years in State prison.

Louisa M. Walker, wife of Charles S. Walker and mother of Augusta J. Roberts, was held in $200 to answer before the supreme court to a charge of keeping a disorderly house.

PORTSMOUTH & DOVER R. R.

Mr. Editor: At the time the stockholders of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad were called upon to throw the last $100,000 into the votex which had swallowed a vast sum, to the benefit of a few individuals only, a public meeting was called to see if the citizens would advise our city authorities to pay its quota—some $45,000. At that meeting it was stated, by authority, that $20,000 of the sum to be raised was to be applied to the building of a depot at Dover, and the remainder to the payment of debts, due as was understood to the Eastern railroad; and we were told at that meeting, by three attornies in behalf of the road, that unless this great sum was paid forthwith, the Eastern road could not be held to its contract. Per contra, the writer offered a resolution that, "as the Eastern road was bankrupt and had changed hands, guarantees should be required from its trustees before this money was paid, that they would carry out the contract," etc. The lever was then in the stockholders' hands. We were told they would not do it; a very sufficent reason to suppose they then meant—after they got the cash—to repudiate the contract, as they have done. The money was raised, but the Dover depot has not been built. This city paid in July the previous six months interest on its bonds, and will have to continue to do so, so long at least as the costly lawsuit upon which it has entered shall remain undecided. "It may be for years, it may be forever." How do the tax payers like this condition and the prospect? Meantime the Eastern has full possession of the Portsmouth & Dover road, and is deriving its full benefit from it; the road of course being used up all the time.

Now why did not the directors of the Portsmouth & Dover road receive (under protest if needs they must) the July interest then offered by the Eastern? Their case would not thereby (at least so the writer thinks) have been in the least degree weakened, and the initiation, the onus, would have been thrown on the Eastern to recover it.

Why now enter upon a lawsuit which will cost thousands, which will doubtless turn upon law points to be decided by the very judges to whom it appears it could be now referred? On the first of next January, unless settled, this city will have to provide for its interest, making say $23,000, for this year.

Is any responsibility to attach to anybody in this whole matter? Will any one tell us what became of the $20,000 which was paid that the Dover depot should be built? To many, every step taken in this matter by those in control seems a blunder. "Personally the directors court investigation as to all their doings, and will meet any responsibility which may justly attach to them." See report to stockholders of Portsmouth & Dover railroad, signed "Frank Jones, in behalf of the directors." W.

THE BIDDEFORD FOOT-RACE.

Of the thirty-seven men entered for the contest twenty-five started, the race commencing at twenty minutes before nine o'clock in the forenoon, and closing at twenty minutes to seven in the evening. Of the starters, six dropped out of the race before the end of the seventh hour, at which time the leaders were as follows: Patrick Madden of Dover, forty-seven miles; James Burns, Dover, forty-five; Patrick McLaughlin, Dover, and Timothy Shea, Manchester, each forty-four and a half; Henry Hartwell, Auburn, Me., forty-three and a half; Wm. Ham, Dover, forty-two and a half; John Meagher, Manchester, and Joseph Cross, Biddeford, "champion of York county," each forty-two; Charles G. Locke, Portsmouth, forty; all others less than forty miles. Wm. Ham made nine and a half miles during the first hour, James Burns nine, and John Meagher eight and a half.

At the end of the race the winners were declared as follows: First prize, Patrick Madden, 64 miles; 2d, Patrick McLaughlin, 63 miles; 3d, Timothy Shea, 63 miles; 4th, John O'Brien, 62 miles. Charles G. Locke was ninth on the list, making 54 miles.

Taxation of Expresses.

By the law of 1878 express companies were required to make to the board of equalization a return of their gross receipts for the year ending Aug. 1st, for all business done in this State, and a pro rata return for all business beyond the State, on which they were to be taxed two per cent; or they were to return the number of miles in the State over which they did business, and were to be taxed five dollars a mile. In case any of the companies failed to make either return by Aug. 15th, the board were empowered to tax such companies at the rate of ten dollars a mile. Following is a list of expresses, and tax of each:

Perkins & Co., Exeter	$ 30.80
David Lawrence, Alton	49.00
Goodwin & Co., Salmon Falls	25.00
Hussey & Co., Rochester	27.28
David B. Smith, Exeter	6.00
Frye & Co., Portsmouth	50 19
Brickett & Co., Great Falls	8.75
O. W. Little, Newton	1.36
N. C. Smith, Newmarket	26.60
Niles & Co., Dover	94.34
Morrill & Co., Nashua	155.00
Hill & Co., Manchester	115.00
U. S. & Canada	5000.00
Eastern	1680.00
Canadian	920.00
American	230.00
Jackson & Co., Portsmouth	200.00
Brooks & Davis, Greenville	90.00

The first ten companies in the above list returned their gross receipts, and Morrill & Co. and Hill & Co. the number of miles run. The last six companies made no returns of either gross receipts or miles, and hence were doomed by the board.

The Northeast Passage Successfully Made.

The Swedish exploring steamer Vega, belonging to the Nordenskjold expedition, arrived at Yokohama, Japan, on the 2d inst., having successfully accomplished the northeast passage. The expedition sailed from Gothenburg, July 4th, 1878, and on August 19th reached Bejdskin, the extreme northern point of Asia, where a short rest was taken. They were not much troubled with ice until September 28th, when they were enclosed in a pack of ice about a mile from land, where they wintered, near Atchukhi, a settlement of 4000 inhabitants, who supplied them with game. The ice detained them there 244 days. They were released July 18th, and arrived off Yokohama on the evening of September 2d. There had been no case of scurvy or death, and all are well. Professor Norkenskjold thinks the voyage from Europe to Asia by Behring's straits is certain and safe. Much valuable scientific information was obtained by the expedition. They will tarry at Japan a fortnight before sailing homeward.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tissues with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, B. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago invited several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JOS. K. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms coming within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NEEDLESSLY TO BE PATENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "Dispensary Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Youth's Guide" (168 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Cancers in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, in having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single female lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely on those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach persons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $5.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 6th.

The return of Mr. Welch, late minister to England, and his presence in this city, revive the story, told sometime since, that General Grant's name had been mentioned at a cabinet meeting as Mr. Welch's successor. There are persons in the city who affirm that the fact was stated to them by a member of the cabinet. Probably the place will not be offered to him, and certainly he would not accept it if offered.

A. M. Kenaday, secretary of the Mexican war veteran's association, will issue in this city early in October the first number of the "Washington City Vedette," to be conducted in the interests of the veterans.

It is said that the generous Washington, millionaire. W. W. Corcoran, will contribute very liberally to the fund for the late General John B. Hood's family. He is all the time doing kind and liberal things.

The President goes away next Monday on his round of visits to fairs in the northwest. Secretary Evarts will join him late in the month. The accomplished secretary of State was announced to speak during the campaign in Maine, but evidently changed his mind, if he ever consented to the announcement.

The impression that generally prevails among the people that the Indian race in this country is rapidly deminishing is an erroneous one, and it doubtless will be surprising to many to learn that there are actually a larger number of Indians in the country at this time than twenty years ago, which facts we have from reliable sources. The whole number of "wild" Indians in the United States, exclusive of those in Alaska Territory, is 256,864; number who wear citizen's dress—male 61,497, female 65,983; making in all 378,314. KNOX.

Remedy for Drunkenness.

The physicians and temperance men of Chicago are very much interested over a new remedy discovered by a Dr. D'Unger, which, it is asserted, not only cures intemperance, but leaves the drunkard with an unconquerable aversion to spirituous liquors. The medicine is red Peruvian bark, (cinchona,) called by druggists "quill bark," because it comes from twigs about the size of a quill. A pound of back is powdered and soaked in a pint of diluted alcohol. It is then strained and evaporated down to a pint, so that it is in fact a pound to a half pint. The drunken man is given a teaspoonful of the medicine every three hours, and his tongue is occasionally moistened between the doses, during the first and second days. The third day the dose is generally reduced to a half-spoonful, and then to a quarter-spoonful, and gradually down to fifteen, ten and five drops. The medicine is continued for a period of from five to fifteen days, and in extreme cases to thirty days; seven days is about the average. Dr. D'Unger has cured 2,800 cases of the worst forms of intemperance by his treatment. He takes men "debauched by liquor for years, used up, demented, loathsome sots," and in ten days, as a rule, makes sober, respectable men of them, with a positive aversion to liquor in any form.—Lucknow Witness.

Ocean Races.

The "clipper tea-ship races" from China home to London have become almost obsolete. Great interest formerly attached to them, and large sums of money were wagered on the results. It occurred more than once that two of the magnificent vessels starting from Hong Kong together, would go to sea, lose sight of each other, and finally pass up the Thames within half an hour of each other. The passengers have been known to make up purses for the successful captains of as much as $5000—an agreeable contingency—which was in itself a great inducement to embark in these trials of seamanship, to say nothing of the advantage derived from getting first into the market with their new crop. The great ocean steamers which have succeeded to the tea business since the opening of the Suez canal show the same rivalry, and the excitement and eagerness attending the effort to get to London first would make one think there was a tea famine in England. From Hankow to the mouth of the Yangtze river in China is a distance of 600 miles—in great part a tortuous and dangerous channel, and for this distance these huge steamers are raced night and day. As a result of this practice, a favorite vessel, the "Loudon Castle," was recently driven, in the middle of the night, into a rice field at the rate of fifteen knots an hour. She had 3500 tons of tea on board, which she was to take to London in thirty-nine days at a compensation of $30 a ton, or $21,000 for the voyage. At last accounts the captain was compounding with two river steamers to haul her out of the field, a service for which they insisted on having 30,000 taels.

—A tailor who was asked if the close of the year made him melancholy, said, "until they are settled for."

—The editor of the London Truth says he is not a Freemason, but has often amused himself by passing for one. Yes, he would pass for one about two seconds in the company of genuine Masons. He must be a man who can be amused powerful sudden.—Detroit Free Press

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1879.

MAINE ELECTION.

On Monday the most sharply contested political contest ever fought in Maine came to a close. During its continuance probably not less than two thousand speeches were made on the republican side, many of the best orators in the party being on the stump; the fusionist speakers made more than half that number of speeches, and Solon Chase, "them steers" and other intellectual lights of the greenback party labored mightily with the people. Both parties claimed the victory as being surely theirs, the greenbackers in their estimates leaving the republicans hardly enough of anything to swear by. Each party charged its opponents with a liberal and corrupt use of money. But the election is over, and below we give the result so far as we could obtain it up to midnight:

PORTLAND, Sept. 9th, 12:15 A. M.

Two hundred and four towns give Davis 46,372, Garcelon 14,041, Smith 29,201, scattering 53. The same towns last year gave Connor 38,292, Garcelon 18,658, Smith 24,129, scattering 24. Republican majority in these towns 5077, against opposition majority last year of 4519. Republican increase twenty-one per cent, indicating a total republican vote of 68,500 in State. Opposition increase one per cent, indicating a total vote of 70,000.

The following shows the vote of some of the towns in York county:

	Davis.	Garcelon.	Smith.
Kittery	480	147	24
Eliot	156	163	55
York	286	108	120
South Berwick	280	84	198
Berwick	225	—	207
North Berwick	212	24	292
Wells	378	119	220
Buxton	326	138	165
Hollis	146	74	177
Kennebunk	350	85	132
Kennebunkport	227	187	155
Biddeford	1009	327	779
Saco	843	272	337
Alfred	145	93	42
Cornish	159	45	107
Dayton	55	45	51
Lymington	184	43	170

Berwick made a republican gain of 84 over last year, on the governor vote. In Eliot the republican gain was 14; in York 32; in Kennebunk 150; in Saco 97; in Biddeford 152; in South Berwick 87; in North Berwick 12; in Kennebunkport 26; in Wells 82.

The vote of Kittery was as follows: For governor—Davis 480, Garcelon 147, Smith 24—a republican gain of 64 over the governor vote of last year. For representative—M. F. Wentworth 479, Joel H. Norton, democrat, 147, James W. Brown, greenback, 23.

California Election.

San Francisco advices of Sunday evening say that Kalloch is certainly elected mayor of that city, and the workingmen have also elected a number of their other candidates, for city and county offices.

The republicans have undoubtedly elected all four of the Congressmen. The legislature is still in doubt, but if the republicans do not have a clear majority they will control both branches. It is not certain how the supreme court will stand.

Over Forty Millions, and Not a Cent Lost.

The treasury department furnishes the following: Of the $10 refunding certificates there were sold by the treasury department $40,012,750. For the purpose of sales, 799 government officers, mostly postmasters, were designated by the secretary of the treasury as depositories. But 509 of that number, however, qualified by filing a bond, through whom sales were made to the amount of $28,569,200. One hundred and eighty-four national banks were designated for that purpose; but seventy-six of that numbered qualified, selling $1,197,670. The balance, $10,245,880, was sold by the United States treasurer and assistant treasurers. The accounts of all the depositories have been closed, and the entire proceeds of the certificates sold by them have been deposited in the treasury without the loss of a single cent. Refunding certificates to the amount of $35,860,750 have been presented for conversion into four per cent bonds to date.

News and Notes.

The amount of bullion imported into this country last week from Europe was $8,000,000.

Miss Nellie Thurston made a balloon ascension from the fair grounds at Carthage, N. Y., Friday afternoon. Nothing was heard of her until Saturday at about six o'clock, when she came out of the woods at Lowville, having spent the night seated on a big log. Miss Thurston is the only part of the ascension heard from, as the balloon escaped from her and carried everything else with it. Her clothes were badly torn, and she is somewhat, although not seriously, hurt.

At a meeting of the society of the army and navy of the confederate States, in Maryland, Saturday night, a committee of one hundred persons for Baltimore and a committee for each county in the State were appointed to collect funds for the relief of the children of the late Gen. John B. Hood. At the meeting a subscription was started and a liberal response made.

At Raleigh, N. C., a deputy United States marshal arrested on Thursday a man named Leonard, for alleged violation of the internal revenue laws, without specifying any offence in the warrant. The deputy marshal was then arrested, charged with assault and false imprisonment, and was fined by a justice of the peace. An effort will be made to take the case to the federal court.

Timothy Driscoll, ten years old, was drowned in the Connecticut river at Springfield, Mass., Saturday, while bathing in four feet of water, with a number of laborers looking on.

John Brown Smith, who has lain in jail at Northampton, Mass., for five months for refusing to pay his poll tax, has at last weakened, and now desires to take the poor debtor's oath.

The Samoset mills at Plymouth, Mass., were sold Saturday for $17,000 to Edward C. Hovey of Boston. The property was sold a few years ago for $30,000 to parties who have since put $40,000 into it.

St. Patrick's church at Lowell, Mass., was consecrated on Sunday. The edifice was completed some years ago, but has recently been repaired and beautifully embellished, making it one of the finest churches in the country.

George B. Durfee, late treasurer of the Mechanics' mills of Fall River, Mass., has been indicted by the grand jury.

The body of a man found floating in a pond in North Bridgeport, Conn., last week, proves to be that of Nicholas Helm of Peru, Ill. It has not been determined whether he committed suicide or was murdered, but foul play is strongly suspected.

At Norwich, Conn., Rev. L. W. Bacon has been active in securing the enforcement of the Sunday law. In retaliation, his premises have been maliciously damaged by unknown scoundrels.

The weavers and carders of Fall River have decided not to strike. The striking spinners still hold out, and so do the manufacturers; the mills are all running, and the places of the strikers rapidly being filled. Outrages on "knobsticks" by the strikers are frequent.

Frank C. Lovejoy of Rockland, Me., who has been out of health for several months, and in consequence probably deranged, left home Friday to take a ride. Failing to return, an unsuccessful search was made for him Friday night, but Saturday morning his body was found in the water between Rockland and Camden. A rope halter was tied around his neck and a heavy stone fastened to the other end. Mr. Lovejoy's age was twenty-five years.

John C. Tripp and several wealthy men of Bangor, A. H. Thaxter, the Stricklands, C. E. Hill and others, have opened a silver mine in Corinna, Me., one and three-fourths miles from the railroad station. The first assay of surface ore showed $9 gold, and thirty-seven ounces of silver, lead and copper per ton. The last assay, made since sinking shafts to the depth of eleven feet, shows $10 gold and sixty-eight ounces of siver, beside copper and lead. Parties are prospecting in Corinna and St. Albans with good success. Several farms have been bonded.

The Afghan insurgents at Cabul massacred Major Cavagnari, the British ambassador, and all the members of his suite and escort. The force defending the embassy numbered seventy-nine, and fought with the bravery of despair, killing many of their assailants. After the embassy was fired they sallied, and continued the hopeless fight until all were slain. The ameer declares himself helpless, and asks for British aid.

Forbes Peters, aged fifty-five years, a school teacher near Sussex, N. B., left his home some weeks ago, and Friday last was found dead in the woods a short distance from Penobsquis. The remains bore evidence of having been torn to pieces by wild beasts.

Saturday night, George Folley, a sketcher on the Canadian Illustrated News, left Brockville, Ont., for Kingston, in a small skiff in tow of the propeller Persia. His boat, filled with water, and containing his umbrella and an oar, was found at midnight near Kingston, and his hat was picked up on Sunday, but the body has not yet been recovered.

New Hampshire Items.

The Rochester savings bank has elected the following trustees for the ensuing year: E. G. Wallace, C. K. Sanborn, A. W. Hayes, William Rand, E. J. Mather, John Legro, S. A. Parshley.

The old woman, Katy Waters, who was injured at Bath in a scuffle, is thought to be a little better, although, on account of her old age, her final recovery is doubtful. Her assailant, Davis, has not been arrested. He claims that he was attempting to save her from the attack of his wife when she slipped and fell from his grasp and received the injuries. He had an interview with her and induced her to withdraw the complaint against him, and he will therefore probably not be prosecuted unless she dies.

—"Nothing is made in vain!" exclaims the divine; but the next moment, as an aggregation of silk, lace and feathers, sweeps up the aisle, he realizes that something is malden vain.—Yonkers Gazette.

Wealth Easily Obtained.

Jay Gould, combining vast amounts of money with sereral great capitalists, has frequently made colossal profits in stock speculations, paying millions to each shareholder. The new combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., confers similar benefits on the shareholders who invest small and large amounts, from $25 to $10,000. The money of thousands of customers thus massed in one mighty sum, and operated with the ripest experience and best skill, has secured the most brilliant successes. A hotel keeper in Ohio invested $100 in a combination, which netted $478. Three reinvestments resulted in a total profit of $13,801.18. A Boston gentleman invested $500 in a combination, which yielded a profit of $2,817.04; two reinvestments netted him $8,644.31. A Chicago merchant made $43,510.41 in four months of combination investments. New explanatory circular with "rules for unerring success." Apply to Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

THE WEATHER.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9, 2:30 A. M. Colder, clear or partly cloudy weather, northwest to northeast winds, rising barometer.

AROUND HOME.

The excursion party in yacht Wm. H. Russell arrived in 'Squam river Saturday evening, and stopped over Sunday, attending church—so one of 'em says. They sailed for Plymouth on Monday morning.

Members of De Witt Clinton Commandry of Knights Templar are requested to meet on Thursday morning at 6:30 instead of seven o'clock as notified, the time of leaving for Manchester having been changed from 7:45 to 7:15 A. M.

Do not forget the reunion, clam-bake and dance of the Veteran Artillery Association at Dover point this afternoon. Trains leave at 12:30 and three o'clock; fare for the round trip, twenty-five cents; tickets for the clam-bake seventy-five cents, to be procured on the grounds.

The Advent chapel on Hanover street was packed on Monday evening, when Rev. A. A. Waite preached. Mr. Waite's mother was present, having travelled 1500 miles to see her son; and a large postion of the congregation gathered around at the close of the services, to shake hands with her and Mr. Waite.

A boat-race for all small craft owned on the river is likely to come off soon, a gentleman whose name has been heard before in connection with similar affairs offering to give three prizes to be sailed for, viz.: a silver pitcher, a clock for the second prize, and a yacht's compass for third. Full particulars will be given as soon as the arrangements are completed.

As the wife of Mr. John C. Lewis was proceeding toward Newington in a wagon, Monday forenoon, when at the Vaughan street crossing the horse she was driving was frightened by the blowing off of steam by an engine which was hidden from view by the house of George Lane, and became unmanagable, throwing her out near the residence of Mr. F. W. Rogers, and injuring her severely.

Mr. John Ed. Yeaton, of Newcastle, on Monday handed in a sample of Porter apples raised by him this year. They are all large and fair to look at and very pleasant to devour, and one of them is the largest specimen of that variety that we have seen, measuring eleven and a half inches one way and twelve inches the other, and weighing a good three-quarters of a pound. If anybody has raised a larger and finer apple than this we are ready to inspect the same.

The Lewiston Journal says that Mr. N. M. Perkins, of Auburn, Me., "has been re-engaged as instructor to Glover's band—his fourth engagement. It is needless to say the band reflects marked credit on Mr. Perkins' instruction, and is a favorite institution in these parts. His pupils are taking good and renumerative positions in various places." Mr. Perkins is favorably remembered by many persons in this city, who will be pleased to know that his success continues. He was for several years a member of the old marine band which attained so high a degree of excellence under the direction of Mr. Henry L. Harlow, removing from this city to Auburn when that band was dissolved.

"Marion's Day-Dreams" is the title of a book written by a young lady of this city, and shortly to be published. A well known literary gentleman who has carefully read the manuscript says of it: "'Marion's Day-Dreams' is a work that cannot fail to benefit and interest young men and young women readers, who are entering real life from the dreams of school days. It is pleasantly written, by one who feels that life is real and earnest. The characters are full of earnest desire to accomplish something that shall make the world better for their having been in it; and their earnest resolves, with the doubts, obstacles and temptations which beset them, form the story. There is a sympathy and fellowship in the way the story is told that makes the reader feel its reality and become interested in the lives of those of whom he reads; and in the various ways by which they gain their final victories there are many hints that will inspire emulation and greatly assist not only the youthful, but all, readers, and be of great benefit to them."

Rev. Benton Smith, of Waltham, Mass., has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Universalist church at South Newmarket.

Augustus Schutz, formerly United States consul at Coquimbo, Chili, died at Rye beach on Saturday, at the age of fifty-two years.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Nealley of Kittery will hold a crystal wedding reception at their home on Thursday, the 11th inst., from three to eleven o'clock P. M.

The Oceanic hotel at Star island closed on Monday. On that day about eighty guests remained at the Appledore house. Persons intending to go to the Shoals this year by the steamer must take the trip this week.

The City Guards, Capt. James E. Ford, and the Heavy Artillery, Capt. Shirley B. Cunningham, leave this city this morning for Manchester, to go into camp for four days with the First Regiment New Hampshire National Guard. The Guards go with forty men, and the Heavies with thirty-five.

Mrs. John W. Lear of this city attempted suicide with morphine on Sunday at about noon, but took an overdose, which no doubt saved her life. A physician was called and administered an antidote, and the woman was soon out of danger.

Mr. William M. Hunt of Boston, a well known artist, who has been stopping at the Appledore house at the Shoals for the greater part of the season, committed suicide on Monday by drowning himself in a cistern on Appledore island. He has been suffering for some time with nervous prostration induced by overwork, and has been carefully watched. He was missed Monday forenoon, and search being made for him he was found in the cistern at about one o'clock.

The minstrel entertainment at Music hall on Monday evening, by Barlow, Wilson, Primrose and West's mammoth company, drew a good audience and deserved a larger one, for it was a fine treat for lovers of that class of amusements. There was some nice singing and instrumental music, excellent double-barrelled dancing, new jokes, a few old jokes arrayed in new garments so as to be as good as new, and fun all through the evening. 'Tis a good show.

A horse belonging to a resident of Portland, Me., was driven into this city on Saturday from Sanford, Me., and taken to Stoddard Bro.'s stable in the evening in a sick condition; and in spite of all that could be done for him, the animal died on Sunday morning, a post mortem examination showing that his stomach had burst, there being a slit in it about six inches long. The horse had not been hardly driven nor overloaded. On Sunday night the Messrs. Stoddard also lost a valuable horse named "Pet," a favorite animal with patrons of their stable.

Gus Williams, the "American star comique," will appear at Music hall on Monday evening next, Sept. 15th, in a new three-act comedy called "Our German Senator," which has been played only seven times. Mr. Williams, who is well known as an excellent delineator of "Dutch" eccentricities and character, is supported by a company which is claimed to be one of rare merit. In the second act he introduces his specialties—songs, recitations and odd sayings; and the Springfield and Lowell papers say that one recitation, "Somebody's mother," is the best thing Mr. Williams has ever done on the stage.

The burglars who some time ago stole a number of valuable articles from the residence of Capt. George M. Ball of Greenland, are in custody. Sheriff Kent on Monday afternoon received a despatch from Deputy Sheriff Daniel R. Prescott, of Manchester, saying that the thives had been arrested and all the property stolen by them recovered. The names of the parties are John W. Witham and Charles Webster; the former has served at least one term in the State prison, and has a brother, Charles E. Witham, now there. Considerable other stolen property was recovered, and awaits identification. The robbery at Capt. Ball's house was commited on the 25th of July.

MESMERISM.

This evening, at Music hall, Messrs. Caldwell & Carpenter, mesmerists, will commence a series of entertainments to close Thursday evening. The Fall River (Mass.) Journal says of one of their exhibitions: "The scenes were laughable in the extreme, and shouts and screams of laughter and glee greeted the astonished look of the subjects as they were restored to their normal condition, when in the act of performing some ludicrous order. The evening was enjoyably spent, and the strange power so delicately handled by the mesmerists, which at first cast a feeling of awe over the audience, was soon made to call out generous applause. The exhibition is one of the strangest and most unique that ever visited our city, and those who miss seeing it will regret it when they understand its nature. It is a real power, occult to all but the possessor, and to him it seems to be innate, a natural gift. What it is, seems impossible to tell except by using the old and hackneyed word, mesmerism. For pure and innocent fun, Messrs. Caldwell & Carpenter are the champions." The Gazette, of Pawtucket, R. I., says "Their exhibitions are of the best kind; there is nothing to offend the eye or ear, and one visit is sure to cause a repetition. We speak from our own observation, and advise our readers who may wish to enjoy a delightful evening's entertainment to go and see them."

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Lieut. William H. Turner has been detached from the navy gard, and ordered to the U. S. S. Shenandoah, now at New York under orders to join the South Atlantic squadron.

Mr. William C. Ham has been appointed to a position in the iron-shop at the navy yard.

An invitation for the marines of the Portsmouth navy yard to be present at the dedication of the soldiers' monument at Manchester has been accepted, and they will act as escort to the chief marshal.

His Sisters, His Cousins, and His Aunts.

A joke is told on a certain gentleman which is too good to be lost. Our friend purchased a pair of pants a few days ago, which, upon being tried on at home, he found too long. That night he remarked to his wife that he wished her to take off about an inch from each leg, but being fond of teasing her husband, she told him she shouldn't do anything of the kind, and he retired, finally, without having obtained a promise from her that she would attend to the matter. Soon after he had left for his room, however, she, as a matter of course, clipped off the superfluous inch as she had been asked to do. The family is composed of six female members, in addition to the "good man," and it chanced that each one of the five, who were in adjoining rooms, including the mother of our friend, heard the dispute between man and wife about the pants, and after the latter had taken out the required inch and retired, the old lady desiring to "keep peace in the family," and not knowing what her daughter-in-law had done, cautiously slipped into the room and cut off another inch. In this way did each of the five ladies, unknown to the others, and all with the praiseworthy object of preventing any misunderstanding between the married couple, clip an inch from the legs of the gentleman's trousers. The following morning, all unconscious of what had taken place during the night, he rolled up his pants in a piece of paper and took them to the tailor to be shortened to the desired length. Upon a hasty glance the latter ventured the opinion that they were already rather short; but the owner was too well posted on that score and insisted that they were fully an inch too long. On the following Saturday he called for the pants and took them home, and the next morning, when he came to put himself inside of them, he was supremely disgusted at finding that the legs reached only a trifle below the knee. In other words, they had been altered to the fashion of a century ago when knee breeches were in vogue. He straightway accused the tailor of having ruined his pants, and his indignation was expressed in language anything but mild. His wife heard him, and came to the rescue of the knight of the shears, explaining that she had taken an inch from each of the legs, and her acknowledgment was followed by that of each of the other five ladies, when it was discovered that altogether the legs had actually been shortened to the extent of seven inches.—Allentown (Pa.) Chronicle.

—Confidence game—Decoy ducks.

—His memory deserves execration. His name was Noah, and he once had flies reduced down to two, and failed to annihilate them.

—What the sewing-circle is to the women, the barber-shop is to the men, says the Rome Sentinel. Not quite precisely, says the Philadelphia Bulletin. The woman goes to the sewing-circle when her suit is becoming, and the man to the barber-shop when he's becoming hirsute. The difference, however, is not very great.

—Onion parties are popular in Tuscarora. Six young ladies take an onion with them to a room and one of the number takes a bite of it. Then a young gentleman is admitted, and after kissing all of them if he fails to tell which one of them bit the "ingun," then the girls are all of them compelled to kiss him, or he is compelled to kiss all of them, the chronicler forgets which.—Virginia (Nev.) Enterprise.

—The boat went out a little further and anchored. At one minute the top of her mast was pointed straight toward the Fire Island light-house; at the next she was trying to scratch the clouds with her rudder. When any Sunday school superintendent sings, "It won't be long, we'll anchor by and by," he's a fraud. Sailing before the wind is peace and prosperity, but anchoring in rough water is death, destruction, and anti-bilious pills—Fishing letter.

—Something very like an absolutely indestructible article of millinery has been devised by English women who have the serge hats matching their travelling dresses made up without any wire or any net lining, the shape being given by running an elastic around the crown, and thick piping cords in the shirrings of the brim. A hat made in this fashion can neither be bent nor crushed, and can not be made to look any worse, by any fury of wind or weather, than it does when new.

New Publications.

The Voice of Worship, a collection of music for choirs, singing schools and musical conventions, by L. O. Emerson, contains about 175 psalm tunes, sixty anthems, and about the same number of glees, and a hundred exercises and easy tunes for singing-school use. Mr. Emerson's music books are numerous and all good. This one is somewhat smaller than others he has issued, but is also of lower price, its "nine dollars a dozen" carrying us back to "prices before the war," As in previous works, Mr. Emerson has contributed liberally of new tunes, and the selections are judicious and of great variety.

The Sanitarian for September is especially rich in seasonable articles. The first is "The education of girls, as connected with their growth and physical development," by Nathan Allen, M. D., LL. D., which should not only be read by all educators, but by all parents who would appreciate the importance of physical and mental culture, and their just relations to each other in both the school and the family. Dr. Allen is well known to be among the foremost in social science studies generally, but in relation to the subject which heads this contribution he stands pre-eminent; and he has brought to bear upon it an amount of learning and pratical knowledge of the utmost importance to the rising generation, which no educator who takes pride in his profession can afford to do without. "Liernur's new system for keeping cities clean," elucidated by diagrams and drawings, translated and commented upon by Dr. Laung, of New Orleans, should be read not only, but studied by all sanitary engineers and others interested in the subject of sewage disposal. "Practical sanitation" is the appropriate caption of the rules and regulations recommended by the national board of health for securing the best sanitary conditions under all the varying circumstances of populous communities, traffic, and travel. The "editor's table" is as usual filled with practical matter—all the more valuable for the keen criticism which pervades it. A. N. Bell, M. D., publisher, No. 47 Lafayette place, New York city.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin disease, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and, I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, B. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY,

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our po rhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He has been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

Druggists and Dealers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing more than three times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an experienced specialist.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, cloth, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book," (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Antecedent to Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not call this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 800 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of plants, herbs and barks in their concentrated form, free from every obnoxious contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has risen from its low place in the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been waited upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, at considerable expense and personal trouble, spread its fame throughout the entire Union in which they live. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable.
HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & CO.

IT has cured me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering.
GEO. W. HOUGHTON, WALTHAM, MASS.

I FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure.
D. W. GRAY, M. D., MUSCATINE, IOWA.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.
WM. BOWEN, 3rd, PEAR ST., ST. LOUIS.

AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success.
WM. W. ARMSTRONG, 159 HARRISON AVE., BOSTON.

WE have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year and can say candidly that we never sold a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint.
S. D. BALDWIN & CO., WASHINGTON, IND.

THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so astonishing that it seemed to those who had suffered without relief from any of the usual remedies that it could not be true. I therefore made it my duty to advise Seth J. Thomas, Esq., Justice of the Peace, of the fact.
GEORGE F. DINSMORE, DRUGGIST, BOSTON.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1.00. The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $65.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Mocmacken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, four times as much as this Company, and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8th.

If any nervous republicans have been fearing that the great State of New York was to be thrown away in consequence of division of sentiment regarding the nominees for State officers, the State convention of last week must have had on them a soothing effect. There probably never assembled in this State a convention of republicans of more marked ability as a whole, or containing more shades of opinion. The Conkling-Cornell combination was carried through by sheer force, and no delegate lifts his voice except to heartily endorse ticket and platform. The papers which were most bitterly opposed to Mr. Cornell a week ago, come down handsomely, led by Hugh Hastings and George Jones. In the words of the old widower who was asked if his wife had been "resigned" to death: "Resigned? Mein Gott, she had to be!" So with the anti-Cornellers. They "had to be"—for there is a political crisis ahead, and no true republican can afford to waste time in complaining because the man of his choice was not placed at the head of the ticket.

Three years ago, the State convention refused to accord Mr. Cornell the nomination he has now received, and Thurlow Weed and his associates sprung the name of Ex-Gov. Morgan upon the convention. The ticket went to defeat. The convention jeered when it was proposed to place Mr. Cornell on the ticket for lieut.-governor. Now, in a convention presided over by an opponent, the Vice President of the United States, and with Ex-Gov. Fenton, Geo. William Curtis and many lesser lights whose opposition had been made very plainly manifest, among the delegates on the floor, Mr. Cornell, through the powerful aid of Mr. Conkling, receives the nomination on the first ballot. The cry against "the machine" in politics is always loudest on the eve of a nomination, but when election day comes it is "the machine" that does the work. In 1870, the republicans of this State were beaten 30,000 votes. Last year, with the democrats out in force, united on their State ticket, but sadly divided in city matters, the State was redeemed and a republican plurality of nearly 35,000 rolled up. Mr. Cornell, at the head of the State committee, had put in his best work. President Hayes made him a martyr to the guillotine, and Senator Conkling concluded it high time to come to his friend's rescue.

But back of all this is evident a plan of Roscoe Conkling's to defeat his rivals. It must be a great inducement indeed that will cause Gen. Grant once more to accept a renomination for the Presidency. Without Gen. Grant to rally on, Senator Conkling sees but three men likely to divide the ballots of the national republican convention of 1880—James G. Blaine, who in debate years ago likened Mr. Conkling to a "strutting turkey gobbler," John Sherman, whom Conkling will never forgive for getting the best of him in the Arthur fight in the United States Senate, by democratic help,—and that only "dark horse" that either is afraid of, Ex-Minister Elihu B. Washburne of Illinois. For these three, Senator Conkling has no love. He wanted it distinctly understood that he was "boss" of New York State, and no man felt the importance of that first and decisive ballot at Saratoga as did Roscoe Conkling. The friends of Blaine did not forget that William H. Robertson stood nobly by their favorite at Cincinnati, and by their help his vote was run up to the second place, next to Cornell's. But there was the invincible majority wielded solidly, as it is likely to be next year in delegate convention. The efforts of the Blaine and Sherman men will be guided in the direction of getting as many of the New York State delegates as they can detach from Conkling's grasp and also to avoid instructions for the delegation to vote as a unit in the national convention of 1880. The same question which disturbed the convention of 1876 seems liable to make trouble next year. Conkling's only plan, and confessedly his wisest, is to secure the delegation. And he will head it himself rather than victory should not tend his way. But one man can be swing it for, and that one man is Ulysses S. Grant. Is there any republican left in the whole loyal north who would not rejoice again and again to see Gen. Grant once more called to the Presidency? The New York senator is eloquent, deliberate and impassioned. Out of the field himself, there can be nothing unseemly in his appearing as a delegate from the State of New York, pleading for an old-time victory with an old-time candidate. Blaine, a candidate, with his splendid presence and magnetism, cannot be there to counteract the effect, and were he, what could he say, what could he wish to say against such a candidate as Gen. Grant? In such a contingency, should Sherman, Blaine and Washburne divide the convention so that the friends of all three fear the triumph of one of the others, what more natural than a stampede from all three when Roscoe Conkling throws the seventy votes of New York solid for Ulysses S. Grant?

The elections in Maine and Ohio are to throw a flood of light on matters political and perhaps clear up the hazy atmosphere before the great contest for supremacy takes place in 1880. Let us hope that there will be no republican wounded when the returns are all in. California has spiked one heavy gun by sending a republican delegation to Congress to vote for a republican President should the election go to the House. This secures nineteen of the thirty-eight States, with Indiana tied between democrat and republican, and the Rev. De La Matyr in the balance. If Maine is republican today, and Ohio democratic at her election, Sherman and Tilden stock go down together. If Ohio goes republican, the Sherman "boom" will increase, but Blaine will by no means take a back seat.

There is time ahead and good prospects for republican candidates. The next Congress and President are the last to be chosen on the basis of the present census. The next will add some thirty or forty electoral votes to republican States, and thereafter a "Solid South" will be of no consequence. Just get us over this "ripple" of 1880, and there is smooth sailing beyond. G.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1879.

Maine Election.

The Maine election is over; and though the exact figures are not yet known, and probably will not be for some days, enough is known to show that the greenback estimates and predictions before the election were like the currency they hanker for, inflated and of little value.

The greenback State committee at Augusta gave the following as the "probabilities," a day or two before the voting came off: Total vote for governor, 135,000; for Davis 58,000, for Smith 63,000, for Garcelon 14,000; Davis' minority, 19,000; Smith's plurality, 5,000. For the State Senate, the republicans were allowed five members, against twenty-six opposition; this estimate conceded Sagadahoc, Androscoggin and Hancock counties to the republicans, and gave the other thirteen counties to the trade-and-dicker party. On members of the House of Representatives the greenback committee left the republicans out in the cold entirely, allowing them only forty-three members to the fusionists' 108. These estimates swamped the republicans, in a vote on joint ballot of the legislature, under an adverse majority of eighty-six.

The New Haven Union, whose editor, Alexander Troup, has been stumping Maine for the inflationists, on Friday said "There will be no encouragement in the returns from Maine next Tuesday for the republicans," and that the republican committee in Washington had just received advices which admitted that "the fusionists are likely to elect their governor, and as certain as prediction can make it of controlling the next legislature and of sending a substitute there for Senator Hamlin." On Monday, the day of the election, it said the greenbackers "will probably poll more votes than the republicans and carry both branches of the legislature. This will be a crusher for Blaine. It will result in making Smith governor, and Solon Chase United States senator to succeed the ancient Hannibal Hamlin."

On the 3d inst. the Biddeford correspondent of the Boston Globe wrote: "York county will send two opposition senators sure, and probably the third. We are entitled to fifteen representatives. Last year the republicans had eight and the opposition seven. This year the republicans will be sure of two only, the opposition will have eleven, and two are doubtful. In making these estimates it must be borne in mind that it is the policy of the democrats and greenbackers to unite, and that they will do, throwing up such a majority for the candidates of honesty and economy on Monday next, as old York has not seen for twenty-five years."

The editor of the New Haven Union, in a let ter of the 6th inst., predicted as follows: That Androscoggin county would be carried by the greenbackers, with a gain of two representatives; Aroostook county, greenback majority of last year increased about 400, with possibly a solid fusionist delegation in the legislature: Cumberland county, conceded to the greenbackers by the republicans, with a greenback gain of three representatives; Franklin county, republican majority last year, greenback county ticket safe this year, with a greenback gain of one representative; Hancock county, republicans to "take a back seat;" Kennebec county, very close, but greenbackers confident, and likely to gain at least three representatives; Knox and Lincoln counties conceded to the greenbackers by the republicans; Oxford county, greenback gain larger than in any other county in the State, giving greenback majority, and electing six greenback representatives to one republican, just reversing the figures of last year; Penobscot county, 2200 greenback majority last year, 3000 this year, greenback gain of one representative; Piscataquis county, greenback gain on county ticket, greenback loss of one representative; Sadagahoc county, republican majority, but large greenback gains; Somerset county, overwhelmingly greenback, legislative delegation very likely solid for fiat; Waldo county, eight greenbackers and two republicans in legislature, same as last year; Washington county, fusionists bound to elect their county ticket, with seven representatives to three for the republicans, instead of six republicans and four democrats as last year; York county, greenbackers elect county ticket and ten out of fifteen representatives, a greenback gain of three. He added: "From the above reports from counties you will see the greenbackers expect to carry fifteen out of the sixteen counties," which was putting the greenback expectations pretty well up, to say the least.

Few returns in addition to those given in Tuesday's CHRONICLE were received up to Tuesday night. The indications are that while Mr. Davis has a large plurality, he will lack about 2000 votes of an election by the people. The Senate is in doubt, with the chances favoring a republican majority, as the republicans have carried Androscoggin, Cumberland, Hancock, Kennebec, Lincoln, Piscataquis, Sagadahoc and Washington counties, which have fifteen of the thirty-one senators, the fusionists having carried Aroostook, Knox, Somerset, Waldo, and probably Franklin and Oxford counties, which have nine senators; and Penobscot and York counties are in doubt, with the indications in the former favoring the fusionists and in the latter the republicans, Penobscot having four senators and York three. The republicans appear to have a majority of at least twenty in the House.

News and Notes.

Fred H. Spinney, a young man, was instantly killed at Georgetown, Me., Saturday afternoon, by the accidental discharge of a gun while in a boat with four companions.

There was a great demonstration in Newark, N. J., Monday, against the enforcement of the Sunday laws.

Twenty-five employes of the treasury department at Washington have been discharged.

Forty Indians killed a cavalry guard at Caliente, New Mexico, Friday, and ran off forty horses of Capt. Hooker's company.

Count Amadee de Noe, the well-known Parisian caricaturist "Cham," is dead.

The tug-boat Markle was upset and sunk in New York harbor on Monday while crossing to New York from the Brooklyn side. Two ferry-boats going in opposite directions passed her, one on each side, very close, when the heavy swell caused by the paddle-wheels of the steamers washed over her, rapidly filling the boat and extinguishing the fires in the engine room. The crew escaped.

Photographic counterfeits were put in circulation in New York on Monday as follows: $1 notes of the Eagle national bank of Boston; $5 on the Globe national bank; $5 on the Dedham national bank.

Two colored seamen were washed overboard from the brig Cascatelle on the 22d of August, at Calcasieu Pass. Eight days afterward one of them was picked up off Galveston, Texas, floating on a hatch, by ship Senator Weber. The man was insensible, having been eight days without food or water, but has recovered. The other seaman, who was washed overboard at the same time from the brig, was drowned.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Alert sailed from San Francisco for China on the 30th ult.

Orders have been received at the Mare island navy yard to have the Tuscarora ready for sea on Sept. 15th.

The Constellation arrived at New York on Monday, from Annapolis.

The school ship Salmon P. Chase arrived at New Bedford on Monday from Cadiz, Spain, having made the passage in thirty-nine days.

New Hampshire Items.

In one pew at the Congregational church in Rindge can be seen of a Sunday four generations, represented by Mr. and Mrs. Welton Brooks, their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Towne, their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Towne, with their little boy Archie.

"The Worsted church," of Canterbury, is described in the summer correspondence of the Boston Traveller. The interior is a mosaic of needlework of vines, flowers and decorations of worsted in all colors and designs. Few persons would believe that such charming effects could be produced with such material. Crocheted lambrequins cover the curtains at each window, and baskets filled with zephyr wool flowers hang from the centre. Harps, crosses, anchors, wreaths of flowers and festoons of vines are placed between large tablets of artistic designs gracing the walls like ancient tapestry, and inscribed with scriptural selections. These tablets and inscriptions are composed of various colored crimped tissue papers upon a background of cloth. The lettering is well executed, and no two inscriptions are in the same character. An immense ornament of flowers and drapery is suspended from the centre of the ceiling, with two large arches of flowers spanning the interior of the church. The flowers look so fresh that the beholder is almost tempted to pluck a regal lily, a blushing rose, a radiant dahlia, a modest forget-me-not, or the lily of the valley with its fairy bells. Who has done all this work? A young widow, who made a work-room of an apartment near the entrance of the church, and who not only decorated the walls during the week, but conducted service every Sunday for five years, reading Mr. Beecher's sermons from the pulpit.

—A bouncing baby—A rubber doll.

—A ship ruled by woman—Courtship.

—The man who wishes to hire a hand goes to the livery stable.

—A Michigan tramp, who has been shot at five times by farmers' wives, says he has only to watch the end of the gun to avoid the contents, as a woman always shuts both eyes when she pulls the trigger.

Lightning Strikes a Printing Office.

The papers in the Eastern cities have recently amused themselves with a description of the handsomest entertainment given at a restaurant in Chestnut Street, in Philadelphia, to the compositors of the daily morning papers, at the unusual hour of four in the morning. The entertainers were two compositors on the Philadelphia Morning Record, who were fortunate enough to have an investment of one dollar in the celebrated Louisiana State Lottery, on August 12th, rewarded with a prize of Fifteen Thousand Dollars. Such incidents are quite common with those who write to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or same person at No. 319 Broadway, New York.

THE WEATHER.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10, 2 A. M.

Colder, clear or partly cloudy weather, northwesterly winds, rising barometer.

AROUND HOME.

Senators Rollins and Blair were in this city on Tuesday, and visited the navy yard.

Wm. H. Hacket, Esq., of this city, and Prof. G. A. Wentworth, of Exeter, were registered at the Hotel d' Albe, Paris, France, on Saturday last, Sept. 6th.

The Wentworth at Newcastle closed on Monday, after a season of much greater success than was anticipated. Extensive enlargements and improvements will be commenced immediately.

John Andrew Jackson (colored) from South Carolina, will lecture at Bow mission hall this (Wednesday) evening at 7:45 o'clock. Mr. Jackson claims to have been a member of Mr. Spurgeon's college at London, England. No charge at the door.

We learn that the Great Falls band, twenty-one pieces, said to be a musical organization of no mean ability, have been engaged to accompany De Witt Clinton Commandery of Knights Templar of this city to Manchester on Thursday, Sept. 11th.

George C. V. Downs of Farmington, a boy fourteen years old, for breaking into the depot at Farmington and stealing therefrom has been sentenced to State prison for two years, with the alternative of three years at the reform school, by the court now in session at Dover.

About five hundred persons attended the exhibition of psychology and mesmerism at Music hall, Tuesday evening. It was not easy at first to get enough good subjects, but a number were finally obtained and considerable sport resulted. The entertainment will continue this and to-morrow evenings.

We understand that certain gentlemen interested in the chapel of St. Andrew's-the-sea, at Rye beach, have accepted the bid of a contractor from Haverhill to grade the lot upon which the chapel is built, and to enclose it with a substantial and handsome stone wall. The work will be begun at once.

The reunion, clam-bake and dance of the Veteran Artillery association at Dover point on Tuesday was well attended, about sixty partaking of the bake, which was gotten up in Saville's best style. Everything went off in good shape—particularly the clams—and the affair was greatly enjoyed by all present.

J. Stark Hayes, who is to have charge of the large exhibition hall at the State fair, will be at the Granite State park, Dover, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, and on Monday, the 15th inst., to make arrangements and assign positions for exhibitors in the industrial and trades department.

The store of Benjamin Downing at Eliot depot was burned Saturday morning. Loss $800; insurance $500. It is supposed that it was first broken into, then rifled and afterward set on fire, as a team was heard rapidly driving away not long before the fire broke out. Eliot depot was also damaged to the amount of about $100.

A special train will be run between this city and Manchester on Thursday, leaving this city at 7:15 A. M. and Manchester at 6:10 P. M., to accommodate parties wishing to attend the dedication of the soldiers' monument in Manchester. Stops will be made at Greenland, Newmarket Junction, Epping and West Epping, to take up and set down passengers.

Referring to the appointment of Mr. W. T. Perkins of Dover as station agent for the Eastern railroad in this city, the Dover Democrat says: "Our Portsmouth friends will find Perkins to be a lively, go-ahead business man. It don't take him all day to turn around and make up his mind, but he can see the thing as it is as quick as anybody else, and is always up and coming, ready and resolute. Portsmouth people and others having business with the Eastern road, will find him prompt, straight and competent at all times and under all circumstances."

The friends of Chief Engineer Geo. B. Emmons, U. S. N., who was stricken by paralysis in this city some weeks ago, will be pleased to learn that he has so far improved in health as to be able to leave for Charlestown, Mass., on Monday last.

On Tuesday night at about quarter to twelve o'clock, a marine named John McKenna, attached to the U. S. S. Marion, while in a fit of the "horrors" jumped from a second-story window of the White Hart hotel, kept by George Lane, to the sidewalk, a distance of about fifteen feet, cutting his head badly and breaking one thigh near the hip joint. Dr. Whittier was called and attended to his injuries.

The premises of Mr. George Leighton at Eliot were broken into one night last week by thieves who landed from a boat, and wearing apparel, guns and other things were stolen. An unsuccessful attempt was also made on another night to break into William Wylie's store, by thieves who had a team with them, in which they succeeded in making good their escape when discovered and pursued.

On Tuesday of last week, when the Knights Templar of Dover and Melrose, Mass., had their picnic at Dover point, somebody "went through" the till in the refreshment room of the hotel at the point, and got away with nine or ten dollars. On Tuesday of this week, on the occasion of the Veterans' reunion at the same place, the same operation was repeated on the till, probably by the same person, about six dollars being the amount of plunder obtained on the last occasion. That thief may get his fingers pinched in the till yet.

The trip of the splendid steamer Empire State from this city to Old Orchard, Me., tomorrow, affords an opportunity to make a very enjoyable excursion at a very small cost, the fare for the round trip being only one dollar. The Empire State is probably the largest excursion steamer in the world, and is correspondingly steady on the water. A first class band accompanies the boat, and will give two concerts, besides furnishing music for dancing. Capt. Paul Boyton will also give an exhibition of his wonderful swimming-suit feats. The boat starts at 10:15 o'clock A. M.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Sept. 9; Batchelder, J.

B. Frank Walker, and Amanda Walker, his alleged wife, were before the court on a charge of keeping a disorderly house on Jefferson street. They were ordered to furnish sureties in $200 each for their appearance at the supreme court, and in default were committed to jail.

OUR GERMAN SENATOR.

Of this play and the manner in which it is presented by Mr. Gus Williams and his company, the Danbury (Conn.) News thus spoke on the morning after its first representation in that place:

The chief character in the cast is J. Adolph Dinkel, a retired western brewer, who is married to an ambitious widow determined on making him a senator, and succeeding, as a matter of course. The trials and tribulations of the unhappy Mr. Dinkel in the progress of this project, at the hands of his wife and the firm of Bruce & Spruce, land and pension agents, form the body of the comedy. The play is well written, the situations are grotesque in the extreme, and the dialogue spirited. Gus Williams' "Dinkel" is a faithful portraiture of a wealthy, phlegmatic German, anxious to take his ease, but assailed on all sides by opposing influences. In this character Mr. Williams is a brilliant success. His delineation of its phases is really marvelous, and when he is on the stage it is difficult for the observer to separate him from the character. Scores of times did Mr. Williams convulse the audience with laughter. In fact, it might be said that the merriment was almost continuous during his appearance. The humor of the piece is fresh, its wit bright and keen, and it is free of all vulgarity. It is brought out in an able manner, and Mr. Williams' support is unusually good. Mr. John Rickaby, the manager, is to be congratulated upon both the merit of his piece and the company producing it.

"Our German Senator" will appear at Music hall next Monday evening, with the same support as he had in Danbury.

BENNETT & MOULTON'S JUVENILE OPERA COMPANY.—This company will appear at Music Hall on Tuesday evening of next week. Last week they appeared in Lowell, and the Times of that city says:

The production of the great absurdity, "Pinafore," was certainly a most delightful performance throughout, and drew forth the enthusiastic applause of the audience. The part of "The Right Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B.," was taken by Master Thomas Bennett, who made a great success of it, both in speech and action. Master Harry Bennett was capital as "Captain Corcoran," and Master Elmer Humphrey acted with good taste the part of "Ralph Rackstraw." Master Everett Smith made a good "Dick Deadeye," and acted wisely in omitting much of the burlesque which others associate with the character. Miss Anna Liebsch presented the best conceived and most cleverly executed "Josephine" we have ever seen. She was completely at home, and sang her part with an abandon and grace that was charming. Miss Mamie Upton makes a pretty and piquant "Buttercup," and acquitted herself in such a style as to win the hearts of all. Miss Emma Liebsch was a stately "Hebe," and the other characters were so well rendered as to satisfy and please the entire audience. The company is certainly a carefully selected one, and we see no reason why it should not achieve even a greater success than many of the juvenile companies that have been organized a good deal longer than it, for the company includes among its number some very fine solo singers, while the chorus is quite strong and evenly balanced. The juvenile orchestra are certainly entitled to much praise, for they played the music of the piece in an admirable manner, and elicited many favorable comments. The stage setting was very fine, and the scene "Quarter Deck of H. M. S. Pinafore," was quite realistic.

Political.

The trial of Henry J. Gully for the murder of Cornelia Chisolm in 1877, commenced on Monday at De Kalb, Miss.

Intelligence has been received from So. Carolina of the assassination of Alex. Brice of Wallalla in that State, about ten days since. He was a native, and a pronounced republican. He served in the legislature from 1868 to 1871, and was afterward treasurer of his county. Several weeks since he undertook the task of reorganizing the republican party of his county, with the above result. The jury rendered a verdict of "Shot by persons unknown."

Secretary Sherman having left Ohio after making a few speeches, the democratic and greenback papers instantly proclaimed that he had been "forced to give up his engagements, as every time he appeared on the platform the democrats and greenbackers persisted in asking him questions which he was greatly troubled to answer." Some one having drawn the secretary's attention to these statements, he merely observed that it was as near the truth as those papers usually get when speaking of their political opponents, for he more than filled his engagement in Ohio, as he agreed to deliver but one speech there and actually delivered five, and that not a single question was propounded by any democrat or greenbacker at any one of the meetings.

The late Gen. Hood's financial ruin is credited to his faith in southern honor. He invested his entire fortune in Louisiana bonds after the State was captured by the white league riflemen, and in consequence left his large family of children wholly unprovided for.

A dispatch from DeKalb, Miss., says there is certain to be a serious outbreak if Henry J. Gully is convicted of the murder of Cornelia Chisolm. There is but little danger of an outbreak, probably, as the Mississippi courts and juries are in full sympathy with the Mississippi plan of securing democratic majorities, and the verdict of "not guilty" might have been recorded before the evidence was taken just as well as afterward.

Things in Wall Street.

Good times returned to Wall street long ago. Big barrels of money have been made there lately by the fellows who were lucky enough to be on the right side. Talk about the Grant boom, the Sherman boom, the Blaine boom, or any other boom! The stock boom is the only genuine article that has been seen in Gotham. Jimmey Jones! how some of 'em have gone up to be sure. If I had only known in time how it would be, and found a big-hearted broker to carry a few thousand shares for me on an I. O. U. margin, I might be far enough ahead now to go off to Europe, or Newport, or Coney Island, or somewhere, and have all the fun that a sensible fellow could wish for. But of course that sort of luck wasn't in my line. I remember making a grab for it several years ago, and the blamed thing dodged and left me sprawling among the lame ducks. But some of the big guns have made millions. Those who picked up stocks at the low figures of three or four years ago and had pluck to hold on don't care a cent whether the thermometer goes to 96 in the shade or not. One of my down town friends who managed to save $10,000 out of the wreck of '73, put it into stocks at the bottom prices and has $40,000 to his credit now. Vanderbilt, Jay Gould, Rufus Hatch and some others who know all the ins and outs have been sailing away so many barrels of hard cash that they will soon need new storehouses. The brokers are in fine spirits, and their credit at Delmonico's is greatly improved. They haven't looked so happy since 1872, when stock gambling was at the top notch, so to speak, and everyone felt that the first duty of a citizen was to take a flyer. The mania isn't quite as widespread now, but like that yellow horror at Memphis its circle expands a little every day. Don't think I want to encourage any one to try his luck in Wall street because I think of things down there in this strain. Far from it. If anyone asked my advice about taking a chance there I should say, "My friend, if you have any money that you don't want, give it to your sisters, your cousins, and your aunts, if you have any, and make them all happy; but don't risk a blamed cent in Wall street. If you do it's gone sure." There are lots of good chances under the shadow of Trinity Church, but as a rule they're not for outsiders.—Exchange.

—A western man who went in bathing at Fire island came out of the water with eight lobsters hanging to his legs, and his yells were heard a mile and a half.

—Scene in a Paris restaurant: Customer—"Waiter! I can't get along with this lobster, it's hard as flint." Waiter—"Beg pardon, sir. A slight mistake. That's the papier-mache lobster out of the show-case! Shall I change it?"

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. The Children's Friends.

An important meeting of the board of directors of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children was held Thursday afternoon, Sept. 4th, at No. 50 Union square, New York. Mr. Thomas C. Acton occupied the chair and opened the meeting with a brief address, announcing the death of the late president of the society, John D. Wright.

Mr. Bergh followed, commenting on the good work in which Mr. Wright had been engaged, and in conclusion offered resolutions of sympathy with the family of deceased, which were adopted.

The board then proceeded to the election of a president of the society to fill the vacancy, and Mr. Elbridge T. Gerry received the unanimous vote of the members present. Mr. Gerry was thereupon declared elected.

The superintendent reported the work of the society for the months of June, July and August as follows:—Complaints received, 348; complaints investigated, 341; advice given, 7; convictions, 47; cases prosecuted, 53; children relieved and sent to homes or institutions, 185.

As Alcohol, Tobacco, Opium, Indian Hemp, Chloroform, Hashish, Absinthe, etc., prevent the good effects of Fellows' Hypophosphites, so Fellows' Hypophosphites is an antidote against all these narcotics and sedatives, and will restore to health such as have been injured by them.

The Supreme Court of the State of New York has decided that J. C. Ayer & Co., of Lowell, have the sole right to use the words CHERRY PECTORAL for a medicine, and has issued an injunction against F. V. Rushton, of New York City, for selling Rushton's Cherry Pectoral or Cherry Pectoral Lozenges, or any other use of the name to deceive the public. This decision of the high court includes all dealers who sell any similar article.—Port Jefferson (L. I.) Leader.

An Important Geological Fact.

Geology has shown us that nature accomplishes her greatest revolutions in the earth's surface conformation slowly. Every year the river makes its channel deeper, the glacier wears a deeper gorge in the Alpine rock, and the ocean tide deposits the sand it has crumbled from the rocks upon which it breaks. We note the earthquake and the devastating hurricane; but these changes are so gradual man seldom observes them until the channel has become overhanging cliffs, or a mountain has disappeared before the icy stream, or the ocean has given us a Florida. Thus it is in disease. Our attention is attracted by acute diseases, as fevers, cholera, etc., while chronic diseases (often the most dangerous in result,) being slow in their development, are seldom noticed until they have made an almost ineffaceable impression upon the system. Persons believing themselves comparatively healthful are oftentimes the victims of these diseases, and only become aware of their presence when relief is almost impossible. Diseases of the liver and stomach are the commonest of these chronic affections. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are never failing remedies for these diseases. They produce a healthful secretion of the bile, prevent indigestion by regulating the bowels, and impart a vigorous tone to the whole system.

Fruit of the tropic's burning clime,
The wondrous virtues, fadeless still,
Exert an influence sublime,
In ministering to human ill;
And many a pang along our way
Sanford's Jamaica Ginger doth allay.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

YOURS truly, B. WILSON LORD.
AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our parishioner which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,
DUNNING BROTHERS.
Druggists and Druggists.
ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been consolidated and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V.-Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of our specialist in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele (Swelling and Varicose Tumors, Cutting (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association,
BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician, and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single one of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 300 pages, mailed, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of these affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

SANFORD'S

RADICAL CURE

For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of plants, herbs and barks in their essential form, free from every noxious contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has won its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have testimonials upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have given their unsolicited express and personal profit, spread its good news throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it has an article of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable.

S. D. BALDWIN & CO., WASHINGTON, IND.

THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so remarkable that it seemed to those who had suffered without relief from any of the usual medies that it could not be true. I therefore made affidavit to it before Seth J. Thomas, Esq., Justice of the Peace, Boston.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside one-fourth of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted. Subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

Nell's Ruse.

"Mr. Asher, Mr. Cole; Mr. Cole, my old friend, Tod Asher. And now, gentlemen, that I have broken the ice, you will please excuse me a few minutes, as I am wanted."

And the speaker, Harry Johnson, who was a general favorite, turned smilingly away and crossed the ball room to where a group of young ladies stood gayly beckoning to him with their fans.

"Happy to make your acquaintance, Mr. Cole," murmured Mr. Asher, in a low, musical voice.

"The pleasure is mutual, I assure you," politely replied the gentleman addressed; "besides, it is an odd conceit of mine, but you seem to me like an old friend. Your face is strangely familiar."

"Indeed, no; I think we have never met before. I am a stranger in this part of the country. But, come, if you do not intend to join the dancers, let us go to the piazza, where we can watch them and have a quiet chat."

"Agreed. Dancing is a bore, and a cigar is a better companion than a lady. Do you smoke?"

And as they seated themselves, Cole produced a cigar, and offered one to his companion.

The latter hesitated a moment, as if uncertain whether to accept or decline the invitation, then replied:

"Thank you, I do not smoke at present. My physician forbids. I am in rather delicate health."

"So I should judge. You look anything but strong, and your complexion is delicate as a girl's."

"Indeed!" and the speaker's voice sounded rather contemptuous. "Do you know that I consider that rather a compliment?"

"Umph! Our opinions differ somewhat on that subject, my friend. Now I don't believe women are so much like angels as some people would make them out to be," replied Cole.

The handsome, girlish face of the listener flushed, and he exclaimed in astonishment:

"You cannot have a mother and sisters, Mr. Cole, or you would not possess such an opinion."

"Sisters, no—a mother, yes—up in heaven. She was an angel on earth, Mr. Asher, if ever there was one, but the girls of to-day are not like her. They are but butterflies and care for nothing but flirtations and fashions."

"I hope and believe that you are mistaken, sir. Perhaps you have not sought for anything deeper than what a flirtation would reveal; and if so, how can you blame the ladies for playing the Roland to your Oliver?"

"Well, every one to his liking, of course; the world is made up of opposites. But I freely confess that I look upon the ladies as merely pleasant amusement for an idle hour—nothing more. Why, man, all they want is flattery. But at present I have no time to waste on them, for I have got my hands full in subjugating the proudest beauty of them all—haughty, lovely Nell Atherton. I wish you could see her, really."

His listener smiled sadly, but replied, with eagerness:

"I wish I could. Can you point her out to me?"

"Oh, she's not here to-night; she is off on a week's visit to some relatives. If she were present, I should not be here, you may be sure. No, indeed! Pretty Nell accepts no lukewarm attentions, I can tell you; she would chain me to her side the whole evening. But then she's fond of me; there's no mistake about that."

"You think so?" and Tod Asher's lip curled.

"Think! Why, my dear boy, I'm sure of it. I'd like to see the girl who could withstand me—ha, ha! Why, she cannot bear to have me out of sight, I tell you, Asher."

"Well, and that surely must be pleasant. I cannot imagine any thing more agreeable than to be with those whom we love."

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Cole, in great amusement; "but I don't love her, you see. I have made a wager that I can bring her to my arms, and I can do it, too. I'm sure of my game; but as for love—pshaw! I don't believe in it."

"But perhaps she does," replied Asher, meaningly.

"Well, what of that? Girls have no hearts to break, or if they have, a new silk dress will cure the worst case of heart ache ever known. But in my case, I don't know but what I shall marry Nell. She loves me, and I would be rather proud of such a handsome wife; besides, I should be bitterly envied by the village gallants for carrying off the prize. But I will not marry her for love, but out of consideration for her father's money bags—ha, ha!"

"Really, your ideas are peculiar, Mr. Cole, and I should like to converse farther with you upon the subject; but just at present that is impossible, as Harry and I have an engagement, which he seems to have forgotten; so I must remind him, and therefore bid you good-night."

And, bowing, he entered the parlor, and shortly after his companion saw him issue therefrom with Harry Johnson, and together they walked quickly out of sight.

"Oh, Harry, cousin Harry. I shall certainly die, I know I shall. It was too ridiculous!" cried an unmistakable girlish voice. And again a clear, ringing laugh burst from the lips of the one who was so lately introduced as Tod Asher. And the young man joined in the girl's infectious laugh.

"And to think," cried Nell, still laughing, "of the miserable creature boasting to my face that he would bring Nell Atherton to his arms! Ugh! I could have boxed his ears then and there. The only thing that restrained me was the knowledge that he would have recognized me."

"I'm very glad you didn't, Nell; you would have spoiled our denouement, and as Cole really needs taking down, I'm not sure but that it may be a lesson to him. Oh, by the by, when is the final understanding to take place?"

"Next Tuesday night. And now remember, you are not to be in with the girls, that would make it rather too embarrassing for me. But you can listen in the conservatory, and after the affecting part is over you can make your appearance as quickly as you choose—the sooner the better."

Portsmouth Chronicle

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1879.

The Maine Election—Pride and Fall.

The returns up to the evening of the 10th, indicated that the vote of the 8th was the largest ever thrown in Maine, and gave good ground for hoping that Davis is elected by the people. The republicans have secured the Senate, having eighteen and probably nineteen out of the thirty-one members; and the republican majority in the House will be thirty or more.

York county, which last year gave an opposition majority of 1 42, this year gives Davis a small majority, the senators running about a hundred ahead of the governor vote. The entire republican county ticket is elected. On the Saturday before the election a Biddeford correspondent of the greenback Boston Globe said that York county would roll up an astonishing vote for honesty and economy,—and so it did, decisively repudiating the fulminionists and their wild schemes. The republicans of York county had a heavy majority to overcome, but they did it.

New York Democratic Convention.

The democratic State convention of New York met in the Wieting opera house at Syracuse on the 10th inst., to nominate candidates for governor, and other State offices. The Tammany ring of the party on the 9th endeavored to secure a lease of the opera house, for the purpose of securing the appointment of doorkeepers and police in its own interests; the Tilden wing aimed for the same object, and as usual Tammany was beaten by the cipher reformer, one of whose adherents had secured control of the opera house by telegraphing from Niagara Falls at the time the State committee met there some weeks ago, for a lease of the building to himself personally. The fight is on the candidate for governor, the present incumbent, Lucius Robinson, being Tilden's man, and Tammany, under the leadership of John Kelly, having "resolved" not to vote for Robinson if he should be nominated.

Naval Affairs.

Comdr. E. M. Shephard is detached from the practice-ship Constellation, and ordered to resume his duties at the naval academy.

The Constellation is to go to Europe with a new set of officers and a new crew for the Trenton, and bring back those now on board the latter vessel.

The training ship Portsmouth sailed from Halifax for Hampton roads on the 6th inst.

Commodore Andrew Bryson is ordered to command of the South Atlantic squadron, relieving Rear Admiral Nichols. The latter's flagship, the Hartford, will return to the United States, her place in the squadron being taken by the Shenandoah.

Under date of Cape Town, South Africa, August 4th, Commodore Shufeldt writes to the navy department as follows: "I have the honor to inform the department of the arrival here to-day of the Ticonderoga direct from St. Helena, having left that port on the 19th ult. The voyage here was uneventful, nothing deserving of special mention having occurred. The sick list is now reduced to forty, and there is only one case at all serious and in this a change for the better set in this morning. As there is a weekly mail from this place I will keep the department fully advised while the ship remains here, and of her future movements."

Chronicle Correspondent.

ANDOVER, Mass., Sept. 9th.

This town, famous for its educational institutions, is located in the extreme western section of Essex county, on the line of the Boston & Maine railroad, some twenty miles from Boston and ten from Lowell. Here, as is well known, is located the famous "Theological seminary" where so many Congregational ministers have been graduated, and gone forth to all parts of the earth to preach the gospel, and which is at the present time in a more flourishing condition than ever before, both financially and in point of attendance, it being filled to its utmost capacity with earnest men, whose aim is or will be to bring souls to repentance. During the past year, the institution has received as a gift the sum of $200,000, and Phillips academy $100,000.

This latter seat of learning celebrated its centennial last year, and at the commencement of the term, last week, over two hundred and fifty boys were in attendance, an unprecedentedly large number. These boys come from nearly every State in the Union, and China is represented by a delegation of about a dozen.

The other academy, Abbott, for young ladies, is well along in years, having celebrated its semi-centennial in June last. This is also a flourishing seat of learning, and young ladies here gain all the knowledge and accomplishments that are worth knowing, in a course of three years study.

In general conversation, and for the sake of brevity, the various seekers after knowledge are popular known as "Theologues," "Cademy boys" and "Fem Sems." It may also be remarked, that as a general rule the "Fem Sems" are not allowed to associate promiscuously with everybody, including the "Cademy boys," but when occasion requires may, under proper restrictions, receive attentions from "Theologues." Of course, where there are so many boys and so many girls, pranks will be played. One morning, in front of the door of the "Abbott," was seen standing demurely a deer—or rather a model of one—with a motto round its neck, "I want to be a 'Fem Sem' dear." But he was not admitted, and was taken back to his original haunt, in a gentleman's garden. They also have a skeleton at this female seminary, which probably is used as a model in the study of anatomy, and how in the world it was ever spirited away from its supposed secure niche in that academy, and got transported to the very summit of the new tower of the remodeled chapel, with a bona fide skirt drawn carefully over its shaking bones, no one to this day has ever discovered.

In addition to these well known schools, there is also the "Punchard free school," where any Andover boy or girl can get a pretty fair education if they have any inclination that way. Besides all these there is the town high and grammar school, and the usual number of district schools, so that there is no reason in the world for anybody in Andover to plod through this life without knowing how to read, write, and cypher.

Besides the educational interests by which Andover is best known, there are manufacturing industries which employ a large number of hands. The principal of these are the Smith & Dow company, whose shoe thread is used everywhere. The Shawsheen river, which runs through the town, has four falls in its course through it, at each of which are mills for manufacturing purposes.

Andover is also quite a summer resort, and it is claimed for the "hill," where the seminary is located, that it is the highest inhabited land in Essex county. If the historian of the St. Cloud hotel, of Gotham, thinks that a sojourn of five or six months on "Zion's hill" will prepare one for the trying ordeal of a week's visit to that hospitable house, then perhaps in good time he may see NAT.

News and Notes.

A bale of old paper, being unloaded from the European steamship Castlewood at New York on the 8th inst., suddenly burst into a blaze. The fire was extinguished with great difficulty, and the discovery made that the bale had been prepared with a combustible fluid and friction matches, with the evident purpose of firing the ship. The ship's officers say that had the voyage been stormy and the bale stirred about, the ship must have been destroyed.

The Hop Bitters company of Rochester, N. Y., have offered a prize of $6000 to be rowed for by Hanlan and Courtney; the oarsmen agree to pull far it, and the race will probably come off early in October, on Chautauqua lake.

The Arctic exploring steamer Jeannette, and the United States revenue cutter, were at anchor at Kotzebue sound on the 1st of August, with all well on board.

Two trains on the Third avenue elevated railroad in New York came into collision on the 10th inst., owing to a misplaced switch. The trains were moving slowly from the depot at the same time, and going in different directions, and the engines crashed together before they could be stopped. No person was injured, but the engines were badly wrecked. The switchman fled, and has not since been seen.

A representative of the Hanlan rowing club of Toronto, who has arrived at Sydney, N. S. W., issues a challenge in behalf of Hanlan to row Trickett for the championship of the world and £2,000 a side. Trickett has signified his willingness to make the match.

In seven cases before Judge Depew at Newark, N. J., on the 6th inst., for bonds and interest thereon due by the city of Elizabeth, N. J., verdicts were given in favor of plaintiffs against that city, aggregating over a million dollars. Other suits depending upon these will have the same termination, and will make an aggregate of over six million dollars. The bonds were issued in accordance with orders passed by the common council of Elizabeth.

Collector Thomas of Baltimore has returned from Cobb's island and reports the life saving station there, with all the boats, etc., was burned by incendiaries on the 29th ult. A clue has been obtained to the incendiaries, whose object in destroying the station was to secure a chance to rob wrecked vessels during the winter. The station will be at once refitted.

The reckless captain Goldsmith and wife, who left Boston some months ago for Liverpool in a sailboat called the Uncle Sam, were picked up off Newfoundland, August 19th, just in time to save their lives, their boat having been nearly wrecked and their provisions destroyed.

The healthy condition of the iron industry in this country has been brought to the attention of the officials in Washington in a remarkable way. A number of manufacturing firms have declined government orders on the ground that they have too many private orders ahead to undertake to complete the work offered within the time prescribed.

An old German went to Atlanta, Ga., in 1842, took lodging at the county house and refused to give any name, and has been known ever since as Uncle Henry. He lived as a hermit. A few days ago he said he was getting too old to live. Friday he committed suicide with an old musket. He was cultured and refined, and was seventy-two years old.

A steamship arrived at New York on the 9th inst., having on board twelve men, the crew of the Norwegian barque Columbia, which was lost on the 4th inst. in a remarkable manner. The barque was on the passage from London for Quebec, and on the date named was going under full sail and light breeze, when at about eleven o'clock in the forenoon a heavy shock was felt. On looking over the side of the vessel the captain and crew saw the water discolored with blood, and either a fish or a sea monster making away as fast as he could. The vesssel began to fill immediately, and being unable to stop the leak they took to the boats, and half an hour later the ship went down.

The Russian government has awarded to Alvan Clark & Sons, of Cambridge, Mass., the contract for making the thirty-inch objective of the great refracting telescope for the Imperial observatory at Pulkowa, which is to be the largest refracting telescope in the world. The price agreed upon is $82,000. An agent of the Russian government has been for many months inspecting the manufactories of Europe and America, and it is a source of just pride that America is adjudged to be ahead of all the world in making such delicate scientific instruments as refracting telescopes.

Home-made Bone Fertilizers.

Pick up all the bones you can find, put them under cover and mix with them two or three times their bulk of wood ashes from your kitchen; moisten them with enough water so that the potash may act on the gelatine of the bones; stir them once a week, and in a month or two you will find the bones so tender that you can cut and crush them with a blow of your shovel; beat the whole into a powdery mass, and you will have a manure better than the average superphosphates which you feel too poor to buy. Give a handful of this to each hill of corn and see how it will wave its banner of green, and pour into your basket the golden ears of corn.

Wanted, Immediately.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. Eugene Sanborn left this city for New York on the evening of the 10th inst., to join the U. S. S. Shenandoah, on which vessel he has been appointed yoeman.

The two thieves, John W. Witham and Charles Webster, who broke into and robbed the dwelling of Capt. George T. Ball at Greenland last July, were brought to this city from Manchester on the 9th inst. by Sheriff Kent, and lodged in jail.

A court of enquiry, of which Capt. Edward Barrett is senior officer, convened at the navy yard on the 10th inst., to try an officer on a charge of neglect of duty. Several witnesses have been summoned, and the trial will occupy several days.

This evening the last of Caldwell & Carpenter's entertainments at Music hall will be held. A very interesting lecture on psychology and mesmerism is given, and the performances of the mesmerised subjects create much mirth. Admission twenty-five cents.

By a postal regulation which has been in force now for two months, statements, bills, etc., can be mailed in an unsealed envelope, with a one cent stamp. No writing other than the legitimate bill can be placed upon the statement. No such words as "Please remit" can be inserted, neither can a bill receipted be sent.

Mrs. Louisa N. Walker of Newington, committed to jail on the 6th inst. in default of $200 bonds for her appearance at the supreme court to answer to a charge of keeping a disorderly house, on the 10th inst. procured sureties and was discharged. At a later hour Mrs. Amanda Walker of this city, also in jail on a similar charge, found somebody to go bail for her and was set at liberty.

We have received from Oliver Ditson & Co., the Musical Record for August, containing the usual amount of reading matter, and the Favorite Mazurka song of Julius Eichburg, and short pieces of music from Pinafore. Also from the same the following pieces of sheet music; The Merry Riders galop, by Otto Heyer; Madame Favart quadrille, Albert Vizentini; The Garden Party polka, Chas. Godfrey; London Bridge, song, J. L. Malloy; Unforgotten Days, song, Jos. L. Roeckel; Old Love-Letters, song, Arthur Sullivan.

The magnificent excursion steamer Empire State will leave the Gas Co.'s wharf at 10:15 o'clock this forenoon, for a trip down the coast of Maine, returning at about 5:30 P. M. The American band, of Boston, C. H. Tompson leader, will give two fine concerts during the day, and furnish music for dancers. Capt. Paul Boyton, the "man-fish," will give one of his wonderful exhibitions. Fare for the round trip, one dollar. The steamer will leave for Boston at six o'clock this evening, and will take passengers at $1 each.

The Saturday Magazine is a bright, readable, weekly selection of the best short stories, popular science, and agreeable information from the English magazines, papers, weeklies, and other first-class sources. Its brief and lively papers suit people. It is instructive and entertaining, without being heavy, dry, silly, or sensational. It is now offered to the subscribers to this paper, at the special rate of three dollars a year, (full price is $3.50) payable at this office. As there are no long continuations, subscriptions can begin at any time. But now is the best. Get it.

The following changes of names were made by the judge of probate in this county during the year ending July 1st, 1879: Albert A. Hoag and Fannie A. Hoag, of Starthum, to Albert A. Haven and Fannie A. Haven; George Edward Shaw and Georgietta Shaw, of Hampton, to George Edward Hobbs and Georgietta Hobbs; Susan C. Richardson, of Exeter, to Susan C. Robinson; Mary E. Roberts, of Salem, to Mary E. Morrison; Susan L. Stone, of South Hampton, to Susan L. Currier; Jennie May Crosby, of Portsmouth, to Jennie May Wolcott; Vena S. Hibbert, of Newmarket, to Vena S. Ames; Ella F. Wentworth, of Newmarket, to Ella F. Drew.

Mr. B. Durgin, of Kittery, will lecture on Market square this evening at 7:30 o'clock, on "Science and theology reconciled." If stormy, the next fair evening.

The republicans of North Berwick on the night of the 9th inst. celebrated the recent glorious victory in Maine by the firing of cannon, fireworks, music and illuminations. There was a large gathering.

A number of democrats in Kittery scratched from their ballots before voting the name of every greenback nominee, and voted only for the candidates of democratic caucuses. Others voted the straight republican ticket, we are informed, and the returns certainly look like it.

A slight fire in the attic of the house occupied by Josiah W. Hussey, on the corner of Islington and Parker streets, caused an alarm on Wednesday evening, the 10th inst., but was soon extinguished, more harm being done by water than by the fire, which caught from a defect in the chimney.

Mr. Peter O'Donnell, a member of Kearsarge Engine Co., No. 3, on the occasion of the fire Wednesday evening, while engaged in unreeling hose from the carriage had his right hand caught between the chain and pulley; three fingers were badly lacerated, the flesh of the little finger being torn to the bone. Mr. Michael Gregg, fireman of the Col. Sise, No. 2, also had one of his hands badly hurt after returning from the fire, the thumb being split open.

In one corner of a field near the almshouse is a tent in which are living John Sewall, a colored man, and his family, consisting of a wife and three children. In fair weather they manage to get along pretty comfortably, but in damp or rainy weather they suffer much discomfort, as the tent is thin and the water leaks through it. This is a case deserving of charitable attention, at least in so far as the children are concerned, for it is not right that they should suffer for want of proper shelter. Since writing the foregoing we learn that Mayor Sise, on being notified of the circumstances of the case, made a personal examination into the matter on the afternoon of the 10th inst., and will make what provision is in his power for the family.

Says the Weekly:—The tables of expectations of life,—the basis of life insurance,—give thirty-three years for an average generation, of say a thousand persons, we believe. Dr. S. Gilbert of this city has had the curiosity to copy from the vital records of our city, the ages of 1000 people who died in Portsmouth between 1866 and 1876. We are surprised, both at the very numerous deaths of children, being 269 under five years, and sixty-nine more under ten; and also at the large number who reach seventy years or over, being 272. There were 269 deaths of persons aged five years or under; sixty-nine between five and ten, sixty-two between ten and twenty, 106 between twenty and thirty, eighty between thirty to forty, sixty-six from forty to fifty, seventy-six from fifty to sixty, ninety-seven from sixty to seventy, 101 from seventy to eighty, sixty-one from eighty to ninety, and thirteen above ninety and up to ninety-eight, but none quite up to a century. The above data give as the average of the 1000 persons, thirty-nine years, we believe, rather roughly reckoned—which is, as usual, good showing for old Portsmouth."

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Wednesday evening, 10th inst.:

Benjamin W. Curtis asked permission to open Washington and Charles streets, for purpose of repairing drains; granted. Also to cut down tree on Fleet street; refered to mayor with power.

Communication was received from Aqueduct Co., in relation to furnishing water for drinking fountain on Haymarket square, stating their objections to doing so.

Monthly bills to the amount of $6,748,-66, were presented and ordered paid.

Several bills were referred back to street commissioner for explanation.

The selection of a room for election purposes in Ward 3, was referred to committe on city lands and buildings.

John Sise asked for relay of sidewalk on Court street. Referred to committe, on streets with power.

Joint resolution in relation to the better protection of railroad crossings, and authorizing the mayor to take steps to carry the resolution into effect, was read once, and referred to committee on bills on second reading.

The following statement, from the management of the Eastern railroad in relation to the question in dispute, between the Eastern and Portsmouth & Dover railroads was submitted to the board for their consideration:

Under vote of the directors of the Eastern railroad the exact matters to be referred under the proposed arbitration between the Eastern railroad and the Portsmouth & Dover are to be determined by the president and counsel of the Eastern railroad. We have conferred on the subject, and we have no hesitation in saying that the only subject we propose to refer is the amount of stock legally issuable under the lease of the Portsmouth & Dover to the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire, dated June 1st, 1872, and upon which stock dividends are to be paid by way of rent. We shall not undertake to raise any question respecting the validity of the lease itself.

The matter was deferred until a consultation can be had with the full board of counsel.

Bill entitled an ordinance in relation to licensing hacks and job wagons, was taken from the table and referred to committee on bills on second reading.

Adjourned.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 10; Batchelder, J.

John W. Witham and Charles Webster were before the court charged with breaking and entering the house of George T. Ball at Greenland and stealing therefrom. Case continued for one week, defendants being ordered to give bonds in $1000 each for their appearance at that time. Webster is an old offender, there being now an old indictment hanging over him under the name of Curtis P. Lamos, for stealing a watch at Nottingham, or receiving it knowing it to have been stolen; and he was arrested by Sheriff Kent on a capias, Wednesday, to answer to the old charge. The two thieves went to jail again in default of sureties.

PINAFORE.—Messrs. Bennett & Moulton's company of juvenile performers, which is to appear at Music Hall on Tuesday evening of next week, is strongly indorsed by the press of every city in which they have appeared. The following is from the Salem Observer of the 30th ult.:

Messrs. Bennett & Moulton's Pinafore company gave two entertainments at Mechanic hall, on Thursday and Friday evenings, to audiences which were enthusiastic in their praise of the performances. The juvenile orchestra is a curiosity in itself, and plays exceedingly well. As to the company of thirty children who take the several parts in this amusing opera of Pinafore, their performances are very spirited, and the principal characters are sustained with remarkable success. The singing by Miss Liebsch, as Josephine, is very effective, pleasing and accurate, while Miss Upton, as Little Buttercup, not only sings well, but acts naturally and presents a pretty picture. Master Smith, as Dick Deadeye, was very entertaining, and in one part was twice encored. The whole entertainment is one of unusual excellence.

The sale of reserved seats for the entertainment in this city commences at nine o'clock on Friday morning, at Dr. Preston's. Only fifty cents each.

New Hampshire Items.

The engine of a train on the Ashuelot railroad was thrown from the track on the 9th inst., near Keene, by an ox on the track. The engineer and fireman were badly bruised and the engineer badly scalded, but no passengers were hurt.

The wife of Myron Gray of Laconia dropped dead while hanging out the week's washing.

S. Y. Wallace, an insurance agent from Boston, broke through a bridge while driving from Greenville to Wilton, and received serious injuries.

"I didn't at all expect company today," said a lady to her visitors, with a not very pleasant look, "but I hope you will make yourselves at home." "Yes, indeed," replied one of them, starting off, "I will make myself at home as quick as possible."

Political.

The services of "them steers" will not be required to transport Solon Chase or Eben F. Pillsbury from Maine to the United States Senate for some time yet.

The democrats of Wisconsin on the 9th inst. nominated Alexander Mitchell for governor, on a fraud platform, the resolutions reading as though written by the Great Reformer of Cipher-Alley himself. James Doolittle was president of the convention, and on taking the chair made a speech denouncing the financial policy of the republican party; but his speech apparently did little toward swaying the convention, for the financial plank declares "that the constitutional currency of the country and the basis of all other should be gold and silver coin, and we maintain that all national treasury notes and authorized currency should be convertible into the same on demand." The greenback-inflation-fiat craze is about played out, when a western democratic convention talks that way. They must have heard from Maine.

It took 862 ballots to nominate Col. Hebard for State senator at a republican convention at Red Oak, Ia., the other day.

Cuticura
REMEDIES
Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS
On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, B. WILSON LORD.
AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.
A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,
DUNNING BROTHERS,
Druggists and Bookseller's.
ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

ENCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago indorsed several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms coming within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Tumors in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for those diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the peculiar nature of woman, singled it out as the ultimax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it absolutely fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

RADICAL CURE

For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of plants, herbs and barks in their essential form, free from every form of contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has risen in way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have not rested upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have a consciousness of its merits and capable, spread to good news throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable. HENRY WELLS, OF WELLS, FARGO & CO.

HAS cured me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering. GEO. W. HOUGHTON, WALTHAM, MASS.

I FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure. D. W. GRAY, M. D., MUSCATINE, IOWA.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me the highest estimate of its value and good effects with them. WM. BOWEN, 225 PINE ST., ST. LOUIS.

AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success. WM. W. ARMSTRONG, 159 HARRISON AVE., BOSTON.

WE have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year and can say candidly that we never sold a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint. S. D. BALDWIN & CO., WASHINGTON, IND.

THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so remarkable that it seemed to those who had suffered without relief from any of the usual medics that it could not be true. I therefore made it my duty to before Seth J. Thomas, Esq., Justice of the Peace, Boston. GEORGE F. DINSMORE, DUNGOTSY, BOSTON.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $27.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extensions of the "Mecrack Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which sold, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company. Ten thousand (10,000) shares, of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an economic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. Daily Chronicle.

Concluded from yesterday.

Nell's Ruse.

"All right, Nell, you're a trump. I wish all the girls had your looks and spirits," said Harry, admiringly.

"Thanks, cousin mine; and now, good-night. I'm almost tired to death. I suppose it's from dragging around these heavy clothes all the evening. Ugh! think of having to wear such things every day of one's life."

And with a laugh that had little of weariness in it she ran gaily up stairs.

"You promised me my answer to-night, Nell darling. What is it? Am I to be the happiest or the most miserable of men?"

"Well, really, Mr. Cole, you are so impatient, one would almost believe your heart was concerned."

"Alas! I have no heart. Your bright eyes charmed it from me weeks ago, fair Nell. Why will you torture me thus?"

"I torture you? Positively you amaze me. The idea of a lady having power to annoy you. How absurd!"

And she laughed gaily, apparently at her ease; while her suitor, completely nonplussed at her odd behavior, glared at her wonderingly, then said affectionately:

"What has come over you, sweet one? You were not wont to be sarcastic. Do you delight to see the sorrow you inflict on a loving heart?"

"Ha, ha, ha! Do you know what that is, Mr. Cole? I thought you did not believe in love."

He stared, and gazed at her curiously, then exclaimed, reproachfully:

"How could I be blind to such charms as yours, my peerless Nell? Come, have done with all this irony, and tell me that you will be my own sweet bride."

"Never!"

And her voice rang out contemptuously.

"What, refuse me!"

And he sprang angrily to his feet.

"I do, most decidedly; and more than that, I tell you that I despise you, Mr. Cole."

"Madam!" cried he, in blank astonishment.

"Yes sir, I do. I despise a braggart and a coward. A coward you are, or you would not talk so lightly of the ladies, and win their hearts but to break them. You are a braggart, because even to a stranger you do not hesitate to boast of your conquests, and venture so far as to mention the names of your lady lovers."

"Who told you all this?" gasped the astonished man.

"You did, Mr. Cole! I suspected you, for your flattery was fulsome. I determined to try your fidelity, and disguising myself in male attire, I sought the ball room with my cousin Harry, and was by him introduced to you as Tod Asher. You began conversation on a subject which I had intended to lead you to, and you know the rest."

"Very well, madam, since you are so well satisfied with your achievement, which, permit me to say, was at least unladylike, I will bid you good evening."

"No, stay a moment," cried Nell, as she threw wide open the folding door, near which, by design on her part, they had stood during their entire conversation, and disclosed to the gaze of her disconfitted suitor a smiling circle of the fairest young ladies in the village.

"Ladies," cried Nell, addressing them, "I promised you a novel kind of entertainment, and I think you have had it. Hereafter, we will all know how to value the speeches of this gentleman."

"Sir," and she turned to Cole, who had all this time stood motionless, as if changed to marble, "you can go; we desire your presence no longer. Had you been more of a man, I would have called upon those who had a right to protect me from insult; but as it is, I would not trouble them. I can defend myself. Now go."

And she raised her beautiful arm, and pointed toward the door, out of which her abashed suitor was only too glad to escape. The merry peal of laughter that followed him rang in his ears after the house had been left behind.

"Well, Nell," laughed Harry, as he joined them, "that unfortunate fellow has had a lesson he'll not soon forget."

"So much the better, Harry," retorted Nell. "I did not mean that he should forget it. I've taught him better than to make game of the ladies, at least for a time. And, I'm sure, girls," and she turned appealingly to her friends, "you all join with me in rejoicing that a villian has been unmasked."

An Important Geological Fact.

Geology has shown us that nature accomplishes her greatest revolutions in the earth's surface conformation slowly. Every year the river makes its channel deeper, the glacier wears a deeper gorge in the Alpine rock, and the ocean tide deposits the sand it has crumbled from the rocks upon which it breaks. We note the earthquake and the devastating hurricane; but these changes are so gradual man seldom observes them until the channel has become overhanging cliffs, or a mountain has disappeared before the icy stream, or the ocean has given us a Florida. Thus it is in disease. Our attention is attracted by acute diseases, as fevers, cholera, etc., while chronic diseases (often the most dangerous in result,) being slow in their development, are seldom noticed until they have made an almost ineffaceable impression upon the system. Persons believing themselves comparatively healthful are oftentimes the victims of these diseases, and only become aware of their presence when relief is almost impossible. Diseases of the liver and stomach are the commonest of these chronic affections. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are never failing remedies for these diseases. They produce a healthful secretion of the bile, prevent indigestion by regulating the bowels, and impart a vigorous tone to the whole system.

Portsmouth Chronicle

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1879.

The "Hard Money Democracy" of Maine.

The genial and cheery Boston Post is hardly more famous for carrying elections in favor of the democratic party—before the voting—than it and its correspondents are for extracting sunbeams from cucumbers after the elections have perversely gone the wrong way. One of its contributors, writing from Portland on the 10th inst., says: "But, as the Post demonstrated Wednesday, the result in Maine ensures the election of a democratic president next year, unless a fatal mistake is made in its candidate and platform!"

The correspondent also asserts that the greenback movement in Maine was simply a democratic scheme to weaken the republican party. He says: "The greenback question was simply a convenience to bridge over the chasm between the democrats and republicans, and nothing more or less. You will find the democrats as sound on their financial notions as ever, and next year will show it. They were in sympathy with all who desired to emancipate the State from the old regime, and made common cause for a common purpose. That is all there is of this money question. Greenbackism, as such, has had its day in Maine and everywhere else."

All of which is respectfully submitted to the prayerful consideration of those former republicans who last year aided the democrats to defeat the republican party, and tried to repeat the operation this year.

That "Solargraph Watch."

Lewis A. Kendall and Lewis A. Slocum of Boston, William E. Hunt of Rockland, Mass., and Mrs. Wallace Hunt have been held by United States Commissioner Hallett in $1,000 for misuse of the mails. It is alleged that they have advertised by postal cards and letters the sale of "valuable time pieces" for one dollar, and have sent the "solargraph" in answer to applications accompanied with money.

New York Democratic Convention.

There was a quarrel in the State central committee over the issuing of tickets to the hall where the convention was to meet, a motion being made to take the power of issuing tickets from the chairman and secretary. The chairman ruled the motion out of order, and refused to entertain an appeal. A motion to adjourn was then declared carried, and the chairman and fourteen members of the committee left the room. The balance of the committee remained and elected another chairman.

The tickets were not issued till noon, and it was some time later before the convention assembled. The Tammany delegates were among the first to take their seats, each man wearing a blue ribbon. At one o'clock, amid cheers for Boss Kelly and groans for Gov. Robinson, the convention was called to order; J. C. Jacobs was made temporary chairman, and later was confirmed as permanent chairman. Erastus Brooks, Sunset Cox, Senator Kernan and Ex-Gov. Walker of Virginia all made speeches, urging upon the convention that only harmony in the party would enable the democrats to beat "the new united republican party in New York State." At a late hour in the evening the convention adjourned to 9:30 o'clock on the 11th inst.

News and Notes.

Over fifty deaths have occurred within a few days in three counties of Georgia from a new disease, and great alarm prevails, as the disease is spreading. The physicians think it is the spotted typhus.

A late item of news from Kentucky reports an outbreak in Carter county between the Underwood and Holbrook families. On the 5th inst. 'Squire Holbrook was shot and killed by a party in ambush, and on the 8th one of the Underwoods was shot by a member of the Holbrook faction. Both parties are reported to be arming for further bloodshed.

Nearly $5,000,000 in gold arrived at New York from Europe on the 10th inst., the largest amount ever received in one day.

Ferdinand Meery, a noted burglar of New York, was on the 10th inst. sentenced to State prison for thirty years.

At Middleboro, Eng., a large iron manufacturing locality, an order has been received from the United States for 60,000 tons of pig iron.

Horrockses, Miller & Co., the largest cotton manufacturers in the north of England, have given notice of five per cent reduction in wages. This probably heralds a general reduction. The Manchester (Eng.) Guardian says it is estimated that 20,000 persons are out of work in Glasgow. The iron trades only are doing well. Building trades are in the worst condition, and it will be necessary to make provision to assist the unemployed during the winter.

The Cincinnati exposition opened on the 10th inst., and the city was full of visitors. President Hayes made the opening speech.

It is observed as peculiar that at the recent marriage of Mlle. Carlotta Patti to M. de Munck, that Marquis de Caux, the divorced husband of Mme. Adelina Patti-Caux, the bride's sister, stood as witness. It is noted as an expression of the high opinion of the marquis for his sister-in-law, a regard undoubtedly shared by the public. It might also be accepted as an evidence that the sister sided with the huband in the recent unpleasant controversy, which resulted in the departure of the Mme. Adelina to seek her fortune in her own way. Mme. de Munck is remembered in America as a sweet singer, with a charming face, but slightly lame, a misfortune soon forgotten by the listener.

Henry Wrenken, aged thirteen years, Charles Schrader, aged fifteen, and K. Daley, aged seventeen, have been arrested in Hudson, N. Y., charged with murdering Albert Fisher, aged ten years, last 4th of July, by shooting the top of his head off.

A convenient arrangement has been assented to by the treasury department by which foreign books can be received through the mails without detention at custom-houses for imposition of duties. Hereafter foreign publications will be sent direct to the post-office of the person addressed, the duty thereon to be collected by the postmaster on the delivery of the book.

"Rev." George A. Simpson was convicted of horse stealing in Taunton, Mass., on the 10th inst., and sentenced to six years imprisonment in the State prison.

Gen. Bob Toombs has given $100 for the support of Gen. Hood's orphaned children, and says that he will contribute $100 a year to that end as long as he lives.

It took Lieut. Gov. Tabor, of Colorado, just ten minutes the other day, to sell his one-third interest in the Little Pittsburg mine and to pocket exactly $1,000,000 in cash.

It is stated that Admiral Ammen on the 8th inst. received a letter from Gen. Grant endorsing the Nicaragua canal and accepting the presidency of that company.

Tuesday night, the 9th inst., the post office at Waltham, Mass., was entered by robbers, the safe blown open and $325 in stamps and change stolen.

The insurgent bands in the districts of Holquin and Santago De Cuba, island of Cuba, has been broken into small parties. Twenty persons surrendered in Santiago De Cuba, in the immediate neighborhood where the insurrectionary bands are distributed. Perfect tranquillity prevails in the rest of the island.

Chief Engineer George D. Emmons has been detached from the U. S. S. Wabash, and placed on sick leave. He has gone to the marine hospital in Chelsea, Mass.

The Elections.

The voting in California and Maine indicates that the republican party is again pretty well united, and that it will be in a condition to make a hopeful contest for the next presidency. Whether the conservative policy of the administration, the success of resumption and the betterment of the times contributed more to the republican successes than the exhibition which the democratic representatives in Congress made of themselves at the last session, we leave those most interested to decide. It is tolerably certain, however, that each of these had its influence.

The campaign in California shows how surely reaction follows extremes. The followers of the sand-lot demagogue have managed to hold together in the cities, and with the other elements of discontent and demonism—as various and as vile as the contents of the witches' cauldron in Macbeth,—have secured a share of the offices. Their administration of these will be all that is necessary to restore the government of the State to the control of its reputable citizens. The great corporations whose grasping policy and soulless management gave vitality to the party of the new constitution, have had a taste of a long-suffering people's vengeance which may beat a little sense into the heads of their officers. Between the two extremes the level-headed middle class of the State seems likely to secure its rights, and provide a safe and just government.

The result in Maine is, doubtless, a great personal triumph for Mr. Blaine and his associates. But the remembrance of the party management that has made Maine a doubtful State—a State to be "redeemed" and crowed over, if partially saved to those who have so long controlled it—can hardly be obliterated by such a success. There will evidently have to be some "fruits meet for repentance" before the Pine Tree State stops swaying, and stands firm for "the straight ticket."

The intense interest in the Maine canvass, and the great vote cast—the largest ever polled in the State—could only have been secured by bringing national issues to the front. The "rebel brigadiers" in Congress, and the shot-gun reports from the south, evoked the old Union spirit in the patriots of the war-time. If, after all that has been done by the president to eliminate "the southern question" from politics, the men of that section persist in keeping it alive, they may see, in the outpouring in Maine, what their fate is likely to be in the election of 1880. It is too early yet to reverse the record sealed at Appomattox.—Golden Rule.

—This idea of the biggest head knowing the most is all nonsense. The mastodon had the biggest head of his time, and yet he didn't know enough to go into the ark out of the rain, and be saved. The mosquito, with scarcely any head at all, was wiser.—Norristown Herald.

THE WEATHER.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 12, 2 A. M.

Warm, clear or partly cloudy weather, variable winds, mostly southerly, falling barometer.

AROUND HOME.

The last popular excursion to the Shoals for this year comes off to-day, per steamer Appledore.

Walter Smith, while working at the new malt house at Jones' brewery on the 11th inst., was badly hurt by being struck on the head by a falling plank. Dr. Whittier attended him.

Col. J. N. Macomb, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., who was formerly in charge of fortifications in this vicincity, is in the city, stopping at Mr. A. W. Odiorne's on State street.

Capt. Williams, of the barque Adolph Engler, arrived in this city on the 10th inst., on a brief visit home. The barque will take a general cargo for Gibraltar, and be ready for sea about the 22d inst.

The potato crop of York county is reported as being extra; the yield being heavy, and the tubers very large and of the finest quality. The farmers of the county scoff at the potato bug, and no appearance of rot is yet repoted.

Alexander Dennett, Esq., of Kittery, who is ninety-seven years old, we believe, went to the polls on the 8th inst. and voted the democratic ticket, reading his ballot over at the polls without the aid of glasses. It is said that Mr. Dennett has never missed voting at an election where he had a right to vote, since he became a voter seventy-six years ago.

Byron defined "glory" to be "getting severely wounded on the field of battle, and having your name spelled wrong in the 'gazette.'" The Boston papers and the Dover Democrat, in mentioning the military companies present at the encampment of the First Reg't New Hampshire National Guard at Manchester, reported the following: "Portsmouth Guards, Capt. James Elford; Portsmouth Heavy Artillery, Capt. A. B. C. Shaw." Capt. James E. Ford and Capt. Shirley B. Cunningham can condole with each other.

Mr. Charles E. Boynton, manufacturer of tonic, pop beer, etc., and bottler of lager and other light drinks, doing business on Bow street, reports the sale of lager beer and still lighter liquors this summer to be largely ahead of previous seasons, showing that they are to a considerable extent superceding the use of the so-called "hard drinks," and as he thinks, promoting temperance. Mr. Boynton commenced business here eight years ago on a small scale, and now has nine men employed, and two teams running.

The United States marines at the navy yard did not go to Manchester on Thursday, as it was stated they would do, owing to a hitch of some kind occurring,—what it was, we are unable to say. The Knights Templar of this city, accompanied by the Great Falls Cadet band, did go, and made a very fine appearance. The City Guards and Heavy Artillery were already in Manchester, "camping-out." The celebration was a big one, the procession being an hour and twenty minutes in passing a given point; and everything went off smoothly.

The steamer Empire State had but a moderate sized party on her excursion from this city on Thursday. The cool weather for some days previous was one thing which tended to reduce the size of the party; and the dedication of the soldiers' monument at Manchester, and the Salisbury beach gathering, both of which took place on Thursday, and the knowledge that on Friday the Appledore was to make her last popular excursion to the Shoals, all helped to diminish the patronage the huge excursion steamer would have received under more favorable circumstances. Those who did go out in her had a very pleasant trip down the coast of Maine, and the opportunity of witnessing one of Capt. Paul Boyton's interesting and astonishing exhibitions of what can be done in his swimming suit. The excursionists say the latter alone was "worth far more than the price of admission."

A large and fine photograph of the Capitol at Washington, brought home by Ex-Sheriff Samuel Rowe, now a member of the capitol police, has for several days attracted considerable attention to the window in Goodrich's bookstore where it is on exhibition.

Many years ago the farmers of York county, Me., very generally raised wheat enough for home consumption, and some of them would manage to turn in a little ready money every year by the sale of a portion of their wheat crop; but the Hessian fly appeared, and after several successive years of total failure in wheat, its cultivation was entirely given up. Last year a number of farmers seeded down more or less ground to wheat, which did finely; and last spring the experiment was again tried with good success, the grain doing very well, though the yield is hardly up to that of the previous year. The Hessian fly has not put in an appearance at all, and next season will find a much larger acreage covered with wheat in York county.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Sept. 11; Batchelder, J.

Thomas L. Hanson, for the larceny of an apple-paring machine from Woodbury Seavey & Co., was sent to Brentwood for ninety days and ordered to pay $6.90 costs.

Charles Thompson, for drunkeness, was fined $3, costs $5.76. County farm in default of payment.

CRICKET.

A cricket match played on the grounds of the Portsmouth club near the Creek, on Thursday, the 11th inst., between the local club and the renowned Longwoods of Longwood, Mass., was won by the home club, the visitors being disposed of for forty-two runs in the first inning, and only twenty in the second. Wallis led the score for Portsmouth, as usual, making eleven in the second innings (and not out at that,) Portsmouth winning by nine wickets, which is the worst defeat the Longwoods ever received. Manley's bowling for Portsmouth was the best ever seen here, he taking eight wickets in each inning. The following is the score:

For the benefit of those benighted persons who do not understand this really interesting and manly game, we may mention that "c." stands for "caught by" and "b." for "bowled by" the person whose name follows the letter; "l. b. w." signifies "leg before wicket," which is an unpardonable sin, and banishes the culprit for that inning.

YORK COUNTY VOTE.

The full vote of York county for governor of Maine is as follows: Davis 6955, Garcelon 2417, Smith 4368, scattering 33; majority for Davis over all, 137. The vote last year was: Connor 5761, Garcelon 3079, Smith 3823, scattering one; majority against the republican candidate, 1142. The fusion vote last year was 6902, against 6818 this year. An adverse majority of 1142 in a total of 12,663 votes last year, gave the republicans of York county an uphill job to perform at the late election, but they grapple d with it bravely and accomplished it brilliantly.

The senators-elect, all republicans and chosen by majorities in excess of that for governor, are J. W. Dearborn of Parsonsfield, George H. Wakefield of South Berwick, and Charles P. Emery of Biddeford.

Amos L. Allen, the republican candidate for clerk of courts had 633 majority; Goodwin, for county commissioner, 325 majority; Weld, for county treasurer, 206 majority.

The trade-and-dicker party gained one representative over last year, the delegation now standing eight fusionists to seven honest-money men.

PINAFORE. — The Salem (Mass.) correspondent of the New York Mirror writes as follows of Bennett & Moulton's Juvenile Opera Company:

The season opened at Mechanic Hall on August 30, with Bennett & Moulton's Juvenile Pinafore Company. The company played two nights and a matinee, and drew paying houses at each performance. Criticism of Pinafore is out of the question now, but I must say that of all the juvenile companies that have played here or in Boston, this is the best. Eddie P. Smith, as Deadeye, is the best of many personators of that character we have seen, excepting, perhaps, James Sturgis.

The sale of reserved seats for the entertainment by this company at Music Hall on next Tuesday evening, commences at nine o'clock to-morrow morning, at Dr. Preston's drug store.

Visitors to the New Hampshire State fair at Dover next week should not fail to see the Rhyston Mangle, which irons clothes without heat. Those who do not attend the fair should send for a circular to E. A. Whiston, No. 7 Herald Building, Boston, Mass.

Political.

Dennis Kearney, the blathering bogtrotter who came over from the "Ould Dart" ten or fifteen years ago and now proposes to have the government of this country run on a plan of his own invention, promises to hang Ex-President Grant in effigy when he lands in San Francisco. Dennis is an ass as well as a blatherskite and demagogue.

A curious instance of ex-Confederate persecution is reported in Braxton county in West Virginia. A Union soldier named Beasley, who was assailed during the war on account of his Union principles, and who in the difficulty wounded one of his assailants, has been lying in jail a year on a charge of violent assault in 1862. The ex-Confederate court officials refuse to give him a trial. An appeal is made to Union soldiers for contributions to enable him to obtain counsel.

Chief Justice Waite on the 10th inst. declined to grant the discharge of five persons from prison who were convicted of violation of the election laws in Maryland by interfering with United States marshals and supervisors. The cases will be heard, however, at Washington on the second Tuesday in October. The application was made by Bradley T. Johnson on the ground that the congressional law under which the parties were convicted is unconstitutional. Gov. Carroll of Maryland has appointed State Attorney Gwinn and B. Carter as associate counsel with Johnson in the cases.

At the democratic State convention at Syracuse, N. Y., on the 10th inst. several delegates were robbed by pickpockets, Alderman Purroy losing a $400 watch, Coroner Cooker $500, and Alderman Bennett three diamond studs, a gold watch, and a large sum of money. Reform is necessary.

The Maryland greenbackers held a State convention on the 10th inst., at which only nine counties were represented. Horace Weeks was nominated for governor.

The Richmond Whig says that "if Virginia should at once repudiate her whole debt, it would be the most effective means possible to entice within her borders both capital and immigrants." This theory of policy and of morals is essentially southern. The southern people have offered social ostracism, political persecution and the shot-gun as persuasions to the introduction of capital and enterprise for the development of their resources. The repudiation of indebtedness, private or public, would be in exact conformity with this practice. The political and the commercial theories of the southern States harmonize wonderfully. They held that the true way of conciliation was to drive away northern immigrants, and now they think that the true path to prosperity and to public credit, with which prosperity is identified, is to repudiate their debts. One is as true as either of the others. —Providence Journal.

The New England Mutual Life Insurance Company.

The annual report of this long established and reliable company contains several features of interest. Established in 1844, this company has made itself a place among the strongest corporations in the country, and gives to its members most desirable advantages. Thoroughly mutual in its policy, it makes the most careful investments of its funds, has an excellent method of taking risks, and is very liberal in its treatment of retiring members. Its business is conducted with a strict regard to economy, the expenses for 1878 having been only a half cent per cent on the mean amount insured during the year. Since 1869 the expenses have at no time been more than .73 of one per cent., the ratio in that year. For the past nine years the ratios have been .57, .53, .70, .51, .50, .51, .48, .53 and .50 respectively. The company has a surplus of $1,851,325.54. The report is now ready for distribution and will be sent free on application.—Boston Journal.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9th.

Sec'y Sherman is greatly pleased that not a cent was lost in the sale, through several hundred agents, of the $40,000,000 in refunding certificates.

Denial is made by the President of a recent rumor to the effect that he had decided to remove from the public service all democrats and others not in sympathy with the republican party.

Lately the attorney general decided that payments under the arrears of pension act, in cases of inmates of government volunteer homes, should be made to the ex-soldiers and not the homes. Suit has just been commenced by inmates of the home for regular soldiers, in this city, to determine their right, instead of the home's, to the pension money paid each quarter.

There is no doubt now that general contributions for the relief of fever striken cities will have to be taken up in the north, as they were last year. The expenses at Memphis alone are over one thousand dollars per day, and are increasing. It is not out of place to suggest that a more systematic and responsible method of collection and disbursement than was had last year is desirable.

Washington with its well paved and clean streets never presented a more attractive appearance than at this time, the public grounds having all the freshness of early spring; and never before have the plants and flowers in the grounds surrounding the agricultural department and in the numerous parks and lawns throughout the city presented such a brilliant floral scene as now, the recent copious rains imparting to them a brilliancy and fresness rarely if ever before seen in this or any other city.

The work on the national museum building on the Smithsonian grounds is progressing finely, and when completed will present an attractive architectural appearance. It covers a larger area of ground than any other building in the country with the exception of the Capitol, and it is said will be the most extensive and complete in all its arrangements of any building in the world for the purpose for which it is designed. The management and control of the museum will be under the control of Prof. Baird of the Smithsonian Institute, which is a sufficient guarantee that the designs of its projectors will be fully carried out, and will be such as the American people may justly be proud of.

KNOX.

Dyspepsia.

We have seen dyspeptics who suffered untold torments with almost every kind of food; no liquid could be taken without suffering; bread became a burning acid; meat and milk were solid liquid fires; and we have seen their torments pass away and their hunger relieved, by living on the whites of eggs which have been boiled in bubbling water for thirty minutes. At the end of a week we have given the half yolk of the egg with the white, and upon this diet alone, without fluid of any kind, we have seen them begin to gain flesh and strength, and quiet, refreshing sleep. After weeks of this treatment they have been able, with care, to begin upon other food. And all this without taking medicine. Eggs boiled one hour are better than those boiled three or five minutes, and ten times as easy to digest as raw eggs. —Indiana Farmer.

As Alcohol, Tobacco, Opium, Indian Hemp, Chloroform, Hashish, Absinthe, etc., prevent the good effects of Fellows' Hypophosphites, so Fellows' Hypophosphites is an attidote against all these narcotics and sedatives, and will restore to health such as have been injured by them.

Exert an influence sublime,
In ministering to human ill;
And many a pang along our way

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago invited several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. Pierce, Pres. F. D. Pierce, V. Pres. Jno. E. Pierce, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of embracing and still have been chosen in the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50 or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (116 pages, 10 cents post-paid.
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calcul (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. See pamphlet enclosed, "Medical as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while ministering to female patients in the special diseases incident to the sex, found it not as the chief or only one, but as the crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of any invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which it is recommended, that I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstrual Periods, Suppression, when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatening Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single class of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor if it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 500 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats fully of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

RADICAL CURE
For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of balsams and herbs in their essential form, free from every obnoxious combination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In our short year it has run its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been waited upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, at considerable expense and personal trouble, spread a good deal of it throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and business habits say, "I've tried Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable.
HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & CO.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects upon them.
WM. BOWEN, 226 VINE ST., ST. LOUIS.

AFTER using two bottles I and myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success.
WM. W. ARMSTRONG,

WE have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year and can say candidly that we never did a similar preparation leave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint.

THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so remarkable that it seemed to those who had suffered without relief from sure no less than a miracle, and yet it did not be true. I therefore made it my duty to make it known.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Montezuma Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which rolled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000).

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. Daily Chronicle.

The Mississippi Plan.

At the trial of Henry J. Gully for the murder of Cornelia Chisolm on the 29th of April, 1877, which commenced at De-Kalb, Minn., on the 8th inst., Mrs. Chisolm, mother of the murdered girl and wife of the murdered Judge Chisolm, was the first witness. She testified that an excited crowd of men entered DeKalb on the evening of April 28th, 1877; it was largely increased on the following morning; Sinclair, then sheriff, arrested her husband on the morning of the 29th; he asked to be placed under guard at his own house, and besought an instant investigation of the charges against him; armed men kept coming around the house; Sheriff Sinclair conversed with them and then talked to Chisolm; Chisolm told the crowd, "You cowardly scoundrels, you will kill me before evening, but before you do it, I will make some of you bite the dust;" Sinclair came to my husband at about 11 o'clock and said: "They say you must go to jail;" McLellan, myself, my sons Clay, Johnnie, and Willie, and my daughter Cornelia, accompanied my husband to jail; we were clinging to him to shield his body; Mr. Moseley and Mr. Overstreet went inside the jail with the party, and the door of the lower floor of the jail was locked behind them; the family went up stairs, and the door was locked on the inside; I was sent home by my husband on an errand; heard firing as I came back toward the jail; saw an old man named McLellan fall, pierced by several buckshot, behind the jail; rushed inside the jail and found the stairway crowded with men; Rosser was at the top of the stairs trying to get the lock off the upper door with an axe; my daughter Cornelia, my son Johnnie and Mr. Overstreet were holding the door on the inside, and my daughter's face was bleeding; Rosser said to my daughter, "Damn your soul, I'll blow your brains out if you don't get out of the way;" Rosser fired the first shot through the broken lock, severing my son's hand from his arm; the door was here broken open and my little boy fell, shot through the heart; some one inside fired, and Rosser fell dead; two men caught him by the heels and dragged him down stairs; my husband was bewildered at the death of Johnnie; I and my son Clay carried the dead boy down stairs; Cornelia and father came down stairs; Henry J. Gully came up and raised his gun; I closed the grated door at the bottom of the stairway; my daughter clasped my husband around his neck; Gully fired through the grates in the door; my daughter screamed, "I'm shot;" Judge Chisolm opened the door, and as he stepped out, Henry Gully came out of an adjoining room with another gun and fired at him, and he fell; Clay and myself assisted my husband in reaching home; my daughter was bleeding in the face; her eyes were blacked by a blow; she was shot in the wrist, in the ankle and in the heel; she was shot by Henry Gully; she died on the 15th of May; she died from the effects of her wounds.

Mrs. Chisolm produced Cornelia's bracelet, which was broken and driven into her arm; also five buckshot which were taken out of her body. Cross examined, she stated she begged Rosser by the God who made him, the mother who bore him and the wife whom he loved, to be satisfied with the blood of Gilman and McLellan; he replied that John Gully had a wife, and he would shoot any woman that stood between himself and this man. Defense asked this question, "Did she not know Cornelia died from effects of an operation, etc.," to which witness replied she did not. In relating the scene connected with the death of her son, Johnnie, Mrs. Chisolm fainted. When asked if Sheriff Sinclair was not overpowered by the mob, she said she could not tell whether the sheriff commanded the mob or the mob commanded the sheriff.

Dr. Chamberlain, who waited on Cornelia Chisolm, testified that she died of the effects of her wounds; one of the bones of her leg and two of the bones of her arm were broken by buckshot; she was wounded in the face by some blunt instrument; no treatment could have saved her life.

Charles Rosenbaum testified—Came to town with Gilmer in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Britton, and was followed to town by eight armed men; saw many others in town with guns; as we walked toward the jail saw Virgil Gully shoot Gilmer in the back; Gilmer hollered "Oh, Lord, I'm killed," and ran down an alley, where he was followed and dispatched by the shot-gun of Virgil Gully. Rosenbaum corroborated the statement of Mrs. Chisolm as to the scenes in the jail. At an alarm of fire witness ran out of the jail and did not see the shooting of Chisolm and daughter.

Portsmouth Chronicle

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1879.

New York Democratic Convention.

The convention re-assembled Thursday morning, according to the adjournment, the galleries being densely packed. The promise of the previous day that a bungling mess would be made of it, was fulfilled. Lucius Robinson was nominated as a candidate before the convention by the Tildenites, and Gen. Slocum by the Tammany men, amid the utmost confusion; and then, without voting at all, after fiery and vehement denunciations of Gov. Robinson, and of Tilden as the "biggest fraud of the age," the convention, in a wild freak, nominated by acclamation its presiding officer, John C. Jacobs, as a candidate for governor. This spontaneity in behalf of a ward politician of moderate ability and no character to speak off, was very soon found to be irregular and out of order, and was ignored by the candidate himself. When at last the convention got to voting for a candidate for governor, the Tammany-anti-Tilden democracy withdrew under the lead of Augustus Schell, who declared that under no circumstances would they support Gov. Robinson. After the Tammany men had left the hall, the convention completed the ballot, which gave Robinson 243 out of the 301 votes cast, and he was declared the nominee for governor. Then they took a recess until evening, when Clarkson N. Potter was nominated for lieutenant governor, and the foredoomed ticket was completed. The Tammany men organized a new convention, with David Dudley Field as president, and unanimously voted to nominate John Kelly, the Tammany Sachem, for governor, and he has accepted.

The democrats of the Empire State, under the greedy manipulation of Samuel J. Tilden, are therefore thrown into complete disorder at the very opening of an important campaign, which will go far toward determining the next presidential election. If anything was needed to encourage and stimulate the republicans of the Empire State to advance to the victory that awaits them, the action of their enemies has furnished it.

The Washington Post, the national organ of the ultra-Bourbon democracy, says: "The Syracuse convention has to all appearance frittered away a splendid political opportunity. The important question now is—Is it possible to elect Robinson with the present defection in the party? If the Tammany people in New York city make up their minds to give their candidate, John Kelly, a solid support, the task will have to be considered almost a hopeless one. Under the circumstances we are permitted to only hope for the best. This does not appear to be much." The Post goes even further in its despair, and says: "Until yesterday the Post has never entertained a doubt as to the ability of the democratic party to elect its Presidential candidate in 1880. The action of the New York democratic convention at Syracuse yesterday places the whole matter in dark uncertainty."

News and Notes.

Gov. McClellan of New Jersey is reported as being seriously ill.

Steamer Belgenland, which arrived at Philadelphia on Friday from Antwerp, collided with the Norwegian barque Lima, from Porto Rico for Queenstown, on Sept. 3d, cutting the barque in two. The second mate, carpenter, steward and three seamen were drowned.

A dispatch from Simla reports that the Afghan insurrection is spreading, and states that much heavy fighting is expected before order is restored. It is reported that the Ameer is dead, but whether he committed suicide or was murdered is unknown. The Afghan troops are reported advancing to meet the British, having left Cabul, which city they sacked previous to their departure. A renewal of the Afghan war is regarded as inevitable.

The demand for silver dollars is constantly increasing, and the treasury is receiving orders for them in sums of 5,000 and 10,000 from banks all over the country, but chiefly from the west. The amount now in the treasury is $0,000,000 standard dollars, and $15,000,000 in subsidiary coin. Secretary Sherman says the silver dollar will be received at the treasury as freely as gold coin.

It is stated that the Oneida Community made net profits of $76,000 last year from seven hundred acres of land.

Sarah Bernhardt has written a letter stating that she absolutely refused to consider any contract with Mr. Jarrett, the thestrical agent, to come to America.

James Cagle, a respectable farmer near Rome, Ga., has been arrested charged with the murder of his father. The father quarreled with his son's wife; the son took his wife's part, and it is alleged deliberately shot his father with a shot gun.

In the chancery court of Campbell county, Ky., Chancellor Menzies has rendered an opinion that the lottery commonly known as the Commonwealth Distribution Company of Kentucky, conducted and operated by Thomas J. Comerford, secretary, and his associates, is an illegal enterprise, subject to suppression any moment by grand juries, and that the purchasers of tickets have no security for the payment of prizes.

The trial of George W. Jamieson, charged with the murder of D. M. Ream, editor of the Culpepper, Va., Times, in a local election row some months ago, which has been progressing for the past two weeks at Culpepper Court House, resulted Thursday in a verdict of not guilty.

After three weeks investigation of the official conduct of J. W. Renfrew, treasurer of the State of Georgia, the special committee of the House of Representatives on Thursday reported resolutions that he be at once impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors. It is claimed that Renfrew has been drawing interest on the State's money. The resolutions were postponed one week.

The reappearance of the Golden Rule, of Boston, will be gladly welcomed by its old readers. It looks familiar, and under the care of Rev. H. A. Shorey cannot fail to give entire satisfaction. As a literary and religious journal the Golden Rule has few if any superiors. The price has been reduced to $2 per year, with special rates to clubs.

One of the shortest courtships and honeymoons on record is reported from a town in Berkshire, Mass. The couple met on Monday, were married on Tuesday, and on Friday the bride was looking for a situation as "hired girl."

E. A. Clark, a Barnstable (Mass.,) laborer, gave his wife $175 to keep, $100 being in bills and the rest in silver. She put it in the stove for safety, forgot all about it till after a fire had been built, and now Clark is $100 out.

An oarsman of Springfield, Mass., recently spent much time and care in building him a boat, using his garret as a workshop. But when the boat was finished it could not be got down stairs, and he had to saw it in two get it out.

Political.

When New Hampshire had a United States senator to elect last June the Boston press had no end of advice to give as to who was the best man. We are not going to try to repay the debt. We won't even remark that Hon. John D. Long appears to be the coming man, and that the old commonwealth could not have a better governor. We merely hint that if we lived across the line we should stand by the lieutenant governor, whose career satisfies us that no more gallant standard-bearer can be found in any State.

The Massachusetts greenback convention met in Boston on Friday, and nominated Benjamin F. Butler for governor and Wendell Phillips for lieutenant governor.

The republican State committee of New York has organized with Gov. Chester A. Arthur as chairman.

The New York Sun laments that Blaine "received such a decided set-back at the commencement of his campaign," in the recent election in Maine. This is as encouraging for Mr. Blaine as the Springfield Republican's dissatisfaction with the republican ticket in New York is for Conkling; for neither of the papers named ever yet failed to yelp at any republican movement or measure that promised to damage the democratic party.

While the republicans of Saco and Biddeford were celebrating the victory in Maine, on the evening of the 10th inst., by a procession, several persons were struck by stones, and some of the transparencies were smashed by missiles. This is the Yazoo plan, modified a trifle in execution by the atmosphere—and laws—of New England, but the same in spirit.

The New York Herald gives an inaccurate but very striking account of the republican canvass in Maine. The Herald says the republican speakers did not attempt to meet the grave charges against their administration of the State government; they paid little attention to the currency question; "what they did, mainly, was to hold the democratic party up by the tail, in full view of the State; and when the people got a good look at it, they went immediately and voted the republican ticket."

John Kelly says Robinson will be beaten by fifty thousand majority, and that he ought to be beaten, to the end that the democratic party may be purified. John's voice is the voice of Tammany hall, thus raised in behalf of political purity and reform.

"She Stood at the Gate."

A belated pedestrian, going up Fort street, in Detroit, at a late hour the other night, thought he observed a figure crouching in the latticed porch covering a front door. The matter had a suspicious look, and he halted and looked over the fance.

"Go on now!" called the voice of a female through the gloom.

"Do you live there," inquired the man.

"Indeed, I do."

"Can't you get in?"

"Indeed, I can."

"Well, what are you waiting for?" he asked, after a pause.

"What for?" she demanded. "Would a respectable woman be crooked over here at this hour of the night with a club in her hand if she didn't expect her husband every blessed minute?"

"I Rather Like Your Style."

Not many months ago a party of Boston gentlemen came to this city and went on a fishing party. Some of them got pretty jolly, one in particular, who, seizing one of the codfish which they had caught, walked up the wharf. He soon espied a veteran fisherman, who was sawing wood, and, under the impulse of the moment, fetched him a whack across the face with the codfish. In a moment he was sobered. The generous impulse of a noble heart throbbed in his bosom. He felt that he had done a mean, ungentlemanly act, and he meant to atone for it then and there. Taking out a ten dollar bill he proffered it to the veteran, saying, "Accept this, and let it wipe out any recollections of the cowardly blow I struck you, as I did not mean to do it and am very sorry for it." The veteran took the bill, his face beaming with mingled astonishment and delight, and making a bow, remarked, "See here, stranger, you can wipe me over the face all day long with a cod fish, at ten dollars a lick! I don't bear you a mite of ill will, I don't. I rather like your style. When are you coming agin?" And that settled it.—Cape Ann Advertiser.

AROUND HOME.

The Heavy Artillery and City Guards returned from camp at Manchester, Friday evening.

During a thunder shower on Monday, 1st inst., the house of Daniel J. Garland at Hampton was struck by lightning, and considerably damaged.

The new dry goods house, No. 7 Market street, has just received a splendid line of black and colored cashmeres. Customers will do well to examine them.

Simon L. Cleaves' farm buildings in Kennebunkport were destroyed by an incendiary fire at an early hour last Thursday morning. Insurance on house, barn and hay, $900.

Five Chinese boys are attending Phillips academy at Exeter the present term. The managers of that venerable institution of learning had best take care, or Dennis Kearney will issue orders that they all be hung.

The business on the Conway division of the Eastern railroad during the past month has been greater than for any corresponding period previously. The passenger trains have been very liberally patronized, and the freight trains heavily loaded.

The Exeter gaslight company have voted to reduce the price of gas to private consumers from $4.25 to $3.75 per thousand cubic feet, with a discount of twenty cents per thousand feet from all bills paid monthly on or before the 10th of each month.

The Journal, in mentioning the recent competition of the archery club for badges presented by Mr. Alfred O. Larkin, says: "Mr. Edwin R. Peterson, of Greenland, took the gentleman's prize." It was Mr. Edwin R. Pearson of this city, son of Mr. Amos Pearson, who won the badge.

A lady from this city has discovered an easy and inexpensive plan to keep watermelons in their natural form and eatable condition for an indefinite time, and has sent the particulars to one of the agricultural papers. She has successfully tried it, she says, in past seasons, and as a consequence has been able to treat her family to a watermelon supper at Christmas. The plan consists of giving the melon three or four coats of varnish to exclude the air. She says they not only keep from decay but that the flavor and sweetness are retained, and when eaten at Christmas or New Year, the fruit seems to be wonderfully improved in these particulars.—Journal.

At the Salisbury beach gathering on Thursday last, a twelve-years-old daughter of Luther Eaton, of Seabrook, was knocked over by a runaway team, and had an ankle broken. The crowd was a very large one, numbering from 15,000 to 20,000, over seven hundred carriages passing over the plank road, and as many more over the old road. The political spouting was all of the greenback order, but not more than seven or eight hundred persons paid any attention to it. Solon Chase, having no further use for "them steers" in Maine, trotted them out at the beach. L. M. Carpenter, of Exeter, also made a greenback speech.

BENNETT & MOULTON'S JUVENILE OPERA COMPANY gave entertainments in Newburyport on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and also on Wednesday afternoon. From the Herald of that city we extract the following in regard to the Tuesday evening performance:

The music of the juvenile orchestra was highly applauded, especially the two little lady violinists. It was evident that the audience had come to hear the music and the singers had come to give it. The little performers did the acting sufficiently well for the smooth running of the plot, but their main attention was given to the notes. One marked exception to this was in the genuine comedy of the Dick Deadeye, whose eccentricities were subject for a ripple of mirth throughout the whole. The vocal portion of the music was received with enthusiasm by a critical audience, perhaps the most approved being the duet between Ralph Rackstraw and his lady love. The singing of the latter was sweet in the extreme.

And the same paper of Thursday contained the following:

At the evening performance the entertainment was the best of all, the whole company being in its merriest mood. Four of the performers were presented with bouquets. When Dick Deadeye received the compliment, the audience gave a deafening round of applause, in approval of this well-earned though incongruous token to his remarkable talent for the broad comedy of the comic opera. The little Buttercup received also a gracious reception, and in truth she displayed hints of an actress of note, when she shall have ripened into womanhood. The singing of the whole company was everything to be wished, and the juveniles leave pleasant memories to the seventeen or eighteen hundred people who have paid them a visit during their stay in Newburyport.

The Wolfeborough News says that fifteen tons of black bass have been caught in Smith's pond in that town within three months, and mostly fed to hogs. This leads the Manchester Mirror to say: Fifteen tons of black bass, one of the best fish for the table that swims, and worth in any city in New England at wholesale ten cents a pound, and all fed to hogs to make pork worth five cents a pound. Thirty thousand dollars worth of hog feed! No wonder Wolfeborough farmers think pork-raising is losing business."

The house of a Mr. French at Newport was entered on the night of the 11th inst. by thieves, who first helped themselves to a hearty meal in the pantry, and then stole $5 from the pocket of Mr. French's pants, which were beside the bed in which he was asleep. The thieves missed $50 in the hip pocket of the pants.

The Manchester Mirror of Thursday evening was a double sheet, more than three pages being filled with a report of the proceedings connected with the dedication of the soldiers' monument in Manchester that day, including the oration of Hon. James W. Patterson and the addresses of Gov. Head, Hon. Daniel Clark, Hon. John L. Kelley and Ex-Gov. Weston, the Masonic ceremonies, order of procession, list of prominent men present as guests of the city, and other particulars. The report is a credit to the Mirror, and one of the most minute and thorough that ever came under our notice.

Mr. John Berry, of Rochester, recently received a letter from a former lady boarder, new at Laconia, stating that the writer had left over one hundred dollars in the water pitcher in the chamber she had occupied when in Rochester. Mrs. Berry investigated the matter, and found in the pitcher a one hundred dollar bill and others of smaller denominations, in all amounting to $124. The bills were thoroughly soaked with water, the room having been occupied one night by a stranger who refilled the pitcher the first of the evening, not knowing the former occupant used it for a bank. Mrs. Berry smoothed and dried the bills, and then sent them by registered letter to the anxious owner.

—It was an unfortunate mistake of a compositor to put under the head line "Reduction in the price of gas" the statement that Mr. ——— receives only fifty dollars for a lecture now instead of a hundred as formerly.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. For sale by all Druggists and respectable Dealers generally.

Fall Plowing.

The better the preparation of the ground the better the crop. The high average yield of the English farms is no doubt largely due to the thorough preparation of the ground before seeding. Our climate is superior to that of England for wheat growing; yet a yield of sixty-four bushels per acre is not at all infrequent among good farmers there, while here forty bushels per acre is an unusual yield. Two plowings, several harrowings and in many cases rolling or crushing; and the excellent preparation of the soil by a previous root crop must have a much better effect upon the soil, than one plowing, very poorly done because of the hardness and dryness of our soil in midsummer, and very imperfect harrowing. It might be well for us to lay out more labor on our wheat crop, and so prepare the ground better, and raise our average from twelve to twenty bushels per acre. The difference in the amount of wheat at harvest would pay for a good deal of extra work in plowing, etc., and yet leave a profit; besides, the soil would not forget the generous treatment in one year or two.—Agriculturist.

New Cider.

The season draws nigh when the cider maker draws his mill and press from the stable, where it has served as a roost for his poultry during the past nine months, blows off the dust with a hand-bellows, throws a pail or two of water over it, sharpens the rusty knives, and announces himself ready for business. The farmer will go into his orchard and gather up from the ground the small, knoty, tough, wormy, half-rotted apples which his hogs refused to eat, put them in his wagon box, throw in a lot of half-decayed melons and other material from which even the smallest quantity of juice can be obtained, and take them to the cider mill. The mass will be chopped up, and the juice of the rotten and wormy apples, the frisky codling moth and the disease-polluted melons, extracted and taken to the city. Soon the grocer and saloon keeper will hang out "sweet cider" placards, restoring the long forgotten salacious beverage to the attention of mankind. The red-ribbon man will forget that the beverages he pledged himself not to drink, includes cider. The bar keeper will suggest to his patrons that the era of stone fences has come again. Men and women in general will drink and smack their lips over a decoction as impure and unhealthy as any yet discovered, and the farmer will pocket a handsome profit on his crop of decayed fruit. —Slanderous exchange.

An Important Geological Fact.

Geology has shown us that nature accomplishes her greatest revolutions in the earth's surface conformation slowly. Every year the river makes its channel deeper, the glacier wears a deeper gorge in the Alpine rock, and the ocean tide deposits the sand it has crumbled from the rocks upon which it breaks. We note the earthquake and the devastating hurricane; but these changes are so gradual man seldom observes them until the channel has become overhanging cliffs, or a mountain has disappeared before the icy stream, or the ocean has given us a Florida. Thus it is in disease. Our attention is attracted by acute diseases, as fevers, cholera, etc., while chronic diseases (often the most dangerous in result,) being slow in their development, are seldom noticed until they have made an almost ineffaceable impression upon the system. Persons believing themselves comparatively healthful are oftimes the victims of these diseases, and only become aware of their presence when relief is almost impossible. Diseases of the liver and stomach are the commonest of these chronic affections. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are never failing remedies for these diseases. They produce a healthful secretion of the bile, prevent indigestion by regulating the bowels, and impart a vigorous tone to the whole system.

As Alcohol, Tobacco, Opium, Indian Hemp, Chloroform, Hashish, Absinthe, etc., prevent the good effects of Fellows' Hypophosphites, so Fellows' Hypophosphites is an antidote against all these narcotics and sedatives, and will restore to health such as have been injured by them.

The wondrous virtues, fadeless still,
Exert an influence sublime,
In ministering to human ill;
And many a pang along our way

Cuticura
REMEDIES
Infallible Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and limbs with scaly, itching, and irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS
On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50 cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.
Yours truly, R. WILSON LORD.
AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.
A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,
DUNNING BROTHERS,
Druggists and Booksellers.
ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by WEEKS & POTTER, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

(SUCCESSORS TO R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of "World's Dispensary Medical Association," with the following officers: HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JOS. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. BARTH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the care of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars, see World's Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for 50 cents in paper or $1 in cloth, Guide Book" (168 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Surgical operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Hydrocele, Varicocele, Tumors, Abscess, Club-Foot, Gut-Tie, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Cancer, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Catarrh, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents).

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing the positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, implied it out as the chief or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician, and so confidently do I believe that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are the diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

SANFORD'S

RADICAL CURE

For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of plants, ores and barks in their essential form, free from every obnoxious contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has won its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been waited upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, to considerable expense and personal trouble, spread its good news throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear such testimony from men of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medicinal specifics of the day.

"THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable." HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & Co.

"It has cured me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering." GEO. W. HOUGHTON, WALTHAM, Mass.

"I FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure." D. W. GRAY, M. D., MUSCATINE, IOWA.

"I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed themselves in high estimate of its value and good effects with them." WM. BOWEN, 226 FIRST ST., ST. LOUIS.

"AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success." WM. W. ARMSTRONG, 159 HARRISON AVE., BOSTON.

"WE have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year and can say candidly that we never sold a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint." S. D. BALDWIN & CO., WASHINGTON, IND.

"THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so remarkable that I recommend to those who had suffered without relief from any of the usual medics that it could not be true. I therefore made it my duty to see for myself." J. THOMAS, Esq., Justice of the Peace, Boston. GEORGE F. DINSMORE, DUCOUET, BOSTON.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains a Saline Medicated Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists, and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

Show Elephants.

"There are about fifty elephants in this country at the present time," said Professor George Arstingstall, the keeper and the trainer of the ten mountains of flesh which form one of the attractions of the Cooper-Bailey show. The first elephant ever brought to the United States was by Hack Bailey in 1824. It was exhibited for four years through New York State and New England. It was a great novelty. It was called "Betsey" and is known in the profession as "Betsey the First." The owner travelled with it at night, and it was always exhibited in a building erected over it. The old timers tell about the great excitement it created throughout the country. The news of its coming would go before, and the whole villages would turn out and spend the night along the roadside in the hope of seeing the creature, only known to them through pictures and the works of travellers.

What they generally beheld was a great shapeless mass covered with tar-pauline, swinging along through the darkness, carefully guarded by attendants who kept the curious rustics at a distance.

It was not a very big elephant, and came from Upper India. It was anything but amiable, and had a habit of tearing out the side of its house and starting off on "go-as-you-please" excursions. This was a fatal folly of Betsey's. One night Betsey was out near Albany, N. Y. She got mad about something, and vented her rage in the exasperating shriek peculiar to an elephant. She got into a plucky farmer's yard. He saw the monster. He did not know what it was. The only thing that he knew was that he was badly frightened and that he knew how to use a gun. He fired at the creature, and the leaden bullet pierced her heart. She sank to the earth and died, moaning piteously. Her keeper arrived. She was stuffed, and I believe some museum has her now.

"Where are most of the elephants from?" All those prior to 1850 were from Upper India. The bulls were wild, restless, wicked creatures. Most of those now on exhibition are Ceylonese elephants. They are much more tractable than their brethren of the north. There are a few African elephants, but they are not desirable, as they certainly lack amiability. Prior to 1865, there were few shows that had more than one elephant. The first caravan of four was made when Cooper and Bailey went into the business. One of these was the famed Columbus, the largest elephant ever living in captivity. It was eleven feet five inches in height.

I will tell you something about training elephants. Stewart Craven, who is now living on his cattle ranche in Texas, was the inventor of a new system of handling elephants, and he actually broke every performing elephant now before the country, with the exception of the seven now with the Sells Brothers show, which is over in Illinois. That batch I trained myself. Craven broke in the celebrated Hannibal and Renee. In 1870 James Kelly, proprietor of the London show, sent Bill Shannon to Ceylon, and Shannon sent him back ten elephants. They were brought to Philadelphia in 1872, and broken by Craven. Five of them were sold, and the other five came into my charge. They were well broke when I got them, but I tushed them to their wonderful ring performances. An elephant is a treacherous, cunning and very intelligent animal. He forms no attachment for his keeper. He will, however, become attached to a dog or other animal.

There are three dogs with my elephants, and Babe, my best elephant, (Chieftain is my largest,) has a pet camel called Dick. The camel will stand by her side for hours in contentment, and Babe actually fondles him with her trunk. In handling elephants, fear is the only instinct to cultivate in them. Kindness, such as you would extend to a dog or horse, does them no good. They are liable at any time to harm you if not kept in subjection. They must be punished immediately after the offence, whatever it may be, is committed. Chieftain cut up a little though the other day. I had him overthrown, and chained, and then I warmed him with a hoop-pole until I was very tired and he was very sore. Their skin is very tender, and they feel the punishment. The usual persuader is a short instrument shaped like a bull-hook. This punctures the hide, and is a very valuable article to keep on hand when you are bossing elephants.

Teaching an elephant a trick is exactly like teaching any other animal. It requires only the patience of the brute. The first thing to do is to get into the elephant's head what you want done, and then to escape punishment. He does it. Put a bell to the grass in an elephant's trunk and teach him that every time he drops it he will be prodded, and he will quit dropping it. Then there is a way to reach an elephant through his stomach. I worked for months with the animal that mounts the highest pedestal in the pyramid. I put his food up there, and he soon learned to go up after it, and then it dawned on his brain that I wanted him to go up there, that it he did go up he escaped punishment; and now he never thinks of balking, and hardly ever needs punishment.

Story of the "Albemarle."

On the night of the 27th of October, 1864, a small steam launch left Albermarle sound, on the coast of North Carolina, and entered the mouth of the Roanoke river.

So small that she looked more like a yawl than a war vessel, and with no signs of armament, there was nothing about her to excite suspicion or to awaken hope. Yet she had been prepared and fitted up, manned by a picked crew of volunteers, and furnished with a terrible engine of destruction, for the sole purpose of fighting and sinking the most formidable war-vessel, after the Merrimac, that rebel skill had been able to launch upon the southern waters.

The Albemarle had come out from the recesses of Roanoke river in April, and for six months had been the champion of the southern waters, and the terror of the North Carolina squadron.

Twice she had fought long pitched battles with some of the best war-vessels in the United States navy, and had come out almost unscathed from a fierce storm of hundred pound Parrotts, nine-inch solid shot, percussion shell, shrapnell, all the formidable enginery of modern naval warfare.

Torpedoes had been sunk for her, and men had swum the river at midnight in the hope of bringing some secret and sufficiently destructive agent to bear upon her mailed sides. But she had so far escaped all open attacks, and all secret torpedo plots.

The little steam launch that was now stealing up to attack the iron-clad giant was commanded by Lieutenant Cushing, an officer who brought to naval adventure the headlong dash of of the play-ground combined with the coolness and skill of an admiral.

Of an age and appearance that seemed to indicate an enthusiast in boat-racing, rather than in fighting iron-clads, he had associated his name with some of the most brilliant exploits, and the most fearless and dashing adventures of the war.

Having on previous occasions gained the admiration of the department by his daring and adventurous heroism, he had been selected to command this picket boat, and use her in applying to the Albemarle a torpedo of extraordinary power which had been invented by chief engineer W. W. Wood, and whose arrangements and application were suggested by Rear-Admiral Gregory and his assistants. During the summer of 1864, the gallant young officer had gone on to New York. Admiral Gregory had explained and illustrated the best manner of conducting this novel but formidable mode of attack, but the details had been left wholly to Lieutenant Cushing.

No service could be more fraught with danger. One discharge from the Whitworth guns of the Albemarle would shatter and pierce the little picket-boat, as certainly as a minie ball shot at an egg-shell. And the torpedo was an invention whose recoil might prove as fatal to the vessel which carried it as to that to which it was to be applied.

The distance from the mouth of the river to where the ram was moored was about eight miles. The stream was on an average two hundred yards wide, and lined with the enemy's pickets.

The launch succeeded in passing the pickets, and even the wreck of the Southfield, within twenty yards, without discovery, and the lieutenant was not challenged till within ball of the lookout on the Albemarle.

One of the Shamrock's cutters, which he had in tow, was then cast off by Lieut. Cushing, and ordered back down river, while under a full head of steam he made directly for the enemy.

The rebels sprang their rattles, rang the bell, and commenced firing. The light of a fire burning on the shore showed the iron-clad made fast to the wharf, with a pen of logs around her about thirty feet from her side.

Passing close by her, the launch made a complete circle, and turning so as to strike her fairly, went into her, bows on. By this time the enemy's fire was very severe; but the lieutenant returned it vigorously with grape. An instant more, and the launch had struck against the logs of the stockade, behind which her enemy was ensconced, breasting them in some feet, and her bows resting on them. A storm of bullets now swept the deck of the launch. Three pierced the clothing of Lieutenant Cushing, and one struck Frank Swan, an officer of the Otsego, who was standing close beside the commander, wounding him severely, and rendering his escape impossible.

Now, or not at all, must the torpedo be applied. The boom to which it was attached was lowered, and by a vigorous pull the deadly engine was swung under the overhang of the ram, and brought close beneath her mailed side.

Simultaneously with its explosion came a crashing bolt from one of the big guns of the Albemarle. An immense wave from the bursting of the torpedo came surging over the little launch, and in an instant she was filled with water and wholly disabled.

The enemy continued their fire at fifteen feet range, and twice demanded surrender. This was refused, and Cushing ordered his men to save themselves as best they could, while he, throwing off coat and shoes, sprang overboard.

Frank Swan was too much hurt to follow him, and soon became a prisoner in the hands of the enemy.

Most of the party, of thirteen officers and men, were captured; some were drowned, and only one besides the lieutenant made his escape. Cushing swam ashore, crept exhausted into the swamp, and the next day succeeded in capturing a skiff from the rebel pickets, in which he made his way to the Valley City.

On the 30th he commenced his report to Admiral Porter, with this proud sentence: "Sir: I have the honor to report that the rebel iron-clad Albemarle is at the bottom of the Roanoke river."

Worse than "Obscene" Literature.

A shocking tragedy occurred in Marysville, Ohio, recently. A youth named Willie Anderson killed, without apparent provocation or object, his mother, aunt and female cousin, all dwelling together in one house, and then, after a few days, and before his crime had been detected, killed himself, having previously attempted to leave the place, but having had to return on account of finding it difficult to get along without money. He had been regarded as a well behaved young man, and his cousin was a great favorite with him, but he was a constant reader of the "Deadwood Dick" and "Boy Avenger" class of books, and the "Boys of New York" variety of papers, and it is supposed this literature had fired his soul with a desire to be one of the sort of heroes therein depicted and glorified. One of these days perhaps some means will be devised to suppress such publications, which we consider far more harmful than the more openly-vile trash classed as "obscene literature" by the laws.

News and Notes.

Mr. W. M. Keene, assistant cashier of the Northwestern national bank of Minneapolis, Minn., is a defaulter to the amount of one hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars.

Hanlan and Courtney met at Rochester, N. Y., Friday, and decided to row on Chatauqua lake, Oct. 8th, for the Hop Bitters prize of $6,000.

The centennial of Paris, Me., was celebrated on Thursday of last week.

A fire in Jacmel, Hayti, on the night of August 20th, destroyed the principal stores in the most flourishing business centres. Only five proof buildings remain standing. Loss $600,000.

In Taghkanic, Hudson county, N. Y., Friday, Henry Moett killed his wife for marital infidelity, and fatally wounded her paramour, Jacob Prosper. Moett surrendered himself to the authorities.

Political.

The republicans of Maryland on Friday nominated Hon. James Gary for governor.

The worst-used man in the New York democratic convention was Mayor Cooper of New York. Elected by the anti-Tammany democrats, with the aid of republican votes, on a "reform" platform, he has proved the merest puppet for Tilden, never having jumped except when Tilden pulled the string. By his course as mayor he has lost whatever respect he may have ever had from his political friends even, and when he appeared in the convention and was vigorously hissed and hooted at by the Tammany roughs, there was not a single answering cheer from the faction whose supple tool he has shown himself to be.

The trial of Henry J. Gully for the murder of Cornelia Chisolm in Kemper county, Miss., was concluded at DeKalb on Friday. The case was given to the jury in the forenoon, and they of course returned a verdict of not guilty. It was a waste of money and time to hold the trial, as the verdict could have been recorded just as well without it, Judge Chisolm and his family having been republicans, and the murderers all being prominent Mississippi-plan democrats.

The great victory for "reform" won in the democratic State convention of New York in the nomination of Tilden's candidate and the discomfiture of Tammany, was solely due to the firm stand for "reform" taken by the Brooklyn delegation, under the personal leadership of "Boss" McLaughlin, leader of the notorious "McLaughlin ring" of Brooklyn, under whose management the municipal affairs of that city have for years been administered in a manner only less infamous than was practiced in New York under the Tweed ring.

The "Independent" in Yazoo prefers life to assassination, as appears by the fact that eleven leading Independents in that county publish a card that they will now support the democratic ticket with the utmost cordiality. Barksdale's little shotgun is mightier than many hundreds of ballots.

Several of the Tammany sachems have resigned on account of the Tammany bolt under Boss Kelly, and will support the regular democratic ticket, among them being Ex-Gov. John T. Hoffman. At the first glance this would appear to be rank ingratitude on Hoffman's part, as it was solely owing to the fraudulent counting of Tammany that he was enabled to steal from John A. Griswold the gubernatorial chair which the people of the State had voted to the latter by 35,000 majority; but it must be remembered that at the time New York was fraudulently carried for Seymour and Hoffman, Samuel J. Tilden was chairman of the democratic State central committee, and it was his name that was signed to the famous circular urging trusty democrats to hasten the returns of the election to Tweed, in order that the needed amount of false returns could be made to secure a reform victory. Hoffman evidently regards himself as more indebted to Tilden than to Tammany.

A southern democratic paper demands the unseating of Representative Orth, of Indiana, in order that the democrats may have a majority of the States in case the election of President is thrown into the House. Such a move would give the democracy Indiana without counting De is Mstyr. who, that paper says, does not know his own politics; but even with Indiana sure for them the democrats would only "tie" the House, the republicans having nineteen States out of the thirty-eight of which the Nation is composed.

Keeping Early Potatoes.

We have found the best way is to place them on a bare floor which is not used, not over a foot or two in thickness, and cover them slightly with straw or stalks to prevent the light from turning them green. An open or slatted floor would be an improvement for air to blow under. This may be partly accomplished by placing rails, and on those narrow boards, leaving openings between them. If rot appears they are readily assorted, and dashing on water occasionally to be dried by the air currents from below tends to prevent rot. As cold weather approaches they may be removed to the cellar. Taking them to the cellar as soon as dug has always been followed by rotting.—Country Gentleman.

—A man was found dead at Newpoint, Ind., with a bullet in his head. A hint at the manner of his death was given by the evidence of an interrupted game of poker. In his hand were four kings, while four queens lay near by, having probably been dropped by his exasperated antagonist and murderer.

"I declare," said Mrs. Partington, as she applied her nose to the SANFORD JAMAICA GINGER bottle, "if it does not smell as romantic as oh, dear calogne; and one can tell that it has great virtuous smell, which is something like the odor of sanctity." AROUND HOME.

Mr. Elbridge Remick, who was killed by a fall in Thompson's shipyard at Kennebunkport about two weeks ago, belonged in Eliot, where his aged parents and his little boy, aged seven years, still live.

In Dover, on Thursday of last week, William Bailey had a rib broken and was injured internally by being jammed between two cars at the Boston & Maine railroad station, but will probably recover.

An infant was left on the door-step of Mr. Enoch B. Neal's residence in Great Falls one night several weeks ago, and is still a member of his family, the parents of the little waif being yet undiscovered. It is supposed the babe was left at Mr. Neal's house under a mistaken idea that an overseer of the poor who formerly lived there still occupied the building.

One stamp is cancelled at the office from which it is originally sent, and the other at the return office.

We have received from the publisher, Arthur P. Schmidt, Boston, Lilolff's Musical World for September, containing four pieces of music; also from the same publisher, the following pieces of sheet music: "La Favorite," by Henry Strauss; "O Salutaris," song for contralto, by Henshaw Dana; "How it came about," song, by J. H. Wilson; and "Year after year," song, by Ernest Leslie.

The "season" is over at the Shoals, the same as about everywhere else, the Appledore having made her last trip Saturday. The Appledore landing-stage and brow were towed in on Friday, and a number of the pleasure boats on Saturday, and moored in their winter quarters at Noble's island. The hotel Wentworth landing-stage was towed up from Newcastle on Saturday, and docked at the north end.

The Portsmouth Baptist association holds its annual meeting this week, with the High street Baptist church of Great Falls, commencing Wednesday and closing Thursday evening. Annual sermon Wednesday forenoon at eleven o'clock, by Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., of this city; doctrinal sermon in the afternoon by Rev. H. O. Walker of Deerfield; preaching in the evening by Rev W. S. McKenzie, D. D., of Boston.

About fifty persons from Newmarket and twenty from Durham had a trip to the Shoals last week in schooner A. J. Williams, Capt. Murch, the tug Ann towing the schooner from Newmarket to the harbor's mouth, where the towline was cast off, the schooner proceeding to the Shoals under sail. A chowder was served on board the schooner, and the party then enjoyed a good a ramble over the rocks on Star island for an hour or so, when sail was made for home, but the wind dying away the tug hooked on to the schooner again when she was about half-way in to Whale's-back, and towed her up the river.

"Our German Senator" will be introduced to the play-going public of Portsmouth at Music hall this evening, by Gus Williams and a dramatic company. The play was given in Lowell by them last Thursday evening, and the Times of that city next morning said: "The author has admirably succeeded in putting together an intensely amusing comedy, full of ludicrous situations, witty sayings and crisp dialogue, which in the hands of such a company as presented it last evening cannot fail to be entertaining;" adding that "the company is made up of excellent comedy artists." The Lowell Mail of Thursday said: "The play is lively, and abounds in funny situations which were well worked up. The support is better than the average, and the entertainment seemed to give excellent satisfaction, if we may judge by the laughter and applause which frequently greeted the actors." Tickets for this evening's performance can be secured at Preston's; see advertisement.

The schooner Surprise, of Trenton, N. J., Capt. Squman, last week arrived at Newmarket with 372 tons of coal for the Newmarket Manufacturing Co.,—the largest load ever taken up that river. The Surprise is a very long craft for her beam, and looks as if originally a canal-boat.

A reunion of seven sisters took place at the residence of George J. Cooper, in Kennebunkport, last week. This was the first time the sisters had met together for twenty years, and the meeting must have been an enjoyable one. The sisters, all being of good size, thought it would be a good idea to be weighed, and so proceeded to Capt. T. S. Nason's for that purpose, where their total weight was found to be 1450 pounds, an average weight of 207 pounds. Their total age was 339 years, an average age of 48 3-7 years. Where are the seven sisters can go this weight "one better?"—Kennebunk Star.

John Andergee and wife, of Dover, colored persons, were set upon on Thursday night last in the street while proceeding to their home, by two or three Frenchmen, several colored women, and George Brooks and David Reed, two colored men who commanded the attacking party. The Andergees were badly bruised and slashed, the cuts being made with a razor in the hands of Brooks, as the complainants say. Brooks and Reed have been held in $200 each to answer before the supreme court to charges of aggravated assault.

The representatives-elect to the Maine legislature from York county are as follows: Republicans—John T. Hall, Alfred and Kennebunk; Jeremiah M. Mason, Waterborough and Limerick; George M. Parcher, Saco; Horace P. Emmons, Limington and Lyman; George Getchell, Wells and York; M. F. Wentworth, Kittery; I. Hanscom, Sanford and Lebanon—seven. Trade-and-dicker men—Moses Harriman, Kennebunkport and Dayton; A. G. Smith, Buxton and Hollis; Henry A. Wales and Carlos Heard, Biddeford; Loring F. Staples, Parsonsfield and Cornish; Reuben Chadbourn, Berwick; Bartholomew Wentworth, South Berwick and Eliot; Z. T. Ham, Acton, Shapleigh and Newfield—eight.

Concerning the court of enquiry which convened at this navy yard on the 10th inst., the Army and Navy Journal says its mission is "to inquire into the condition of the engineer department of the Marion, which has been under repair some weeks. The Marion was examined and inspected early in the present year, and reported in good serviceable condition in every respect. After a couple of months cruising it was found that the boilers were in bad condition, and two or three months' repairs required on them. The court is to ascertain if any one is to blame for this condition of things, and if so, who." The detail is as follows: Capt. Edward Barrett, president; Chief Engineer David B. Macomb and Comdr. C. C. Carpenter, members; 1st Lieut. G. C. Reid, U. S. M. C., judge-advocate. The ship is receiving a new set of tubes for her boilers, and other repairs in the engineer department; and a new suit of sails for her has been (or is being) made on the yard. Besides this, we are informed that a large part of her light spars and some of her large ones were in a very bad condition when she arrived here, and that much of her running rigging was very poor and worn out. We do not believe the ship was "in good serviceable condition in every respect" early in the present year, no matter what any board of inspection may have reported.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Sept. 13; Batchelder, J.

Edward Burns, a boy apparently nine or ten years of age, son of "Cheap John," was tried for an assault upon a son of Wm. E. Cook, the assaultee being several years younger and much smaller than the assaulter. The evidence showed that the Cook boy was viciously beaten and kicked, and Burns was fined $2, costs being taxed at $10.69. In default of payment he was sent to jail. This Burns appears to be one of the worst boys in the city, the police crediting him with participation in a large share of the juvenile rascalities perpetrated. He is at present under bonds to appear before the supreme court to answer to a charge of breaking and entering a freight car at the Eastern depot some month ago, in company with several other young candidates for service under the State government, and stealing tobacco therefrom, or attempting to steal it.

A PLEASANT MEETING.

In another place in this paper will be found the "Story of the 'Albemarle,'" reprinted from a scrap-book made up of clippings from papers printed during the rebellion or immediately after it. The destruction of the Iron-clad was in itself an event of very great importance; but the remarkable circumstances under which she was blown up when far within the rebel lines and surrounded by all the safeguards that military vigilance could provide, by a baker's dozen of men in a cockle-shell of a boat, gave to the affair a moral effect many times greater than her sinking by another iron-clad would have had, showing as it did that there was no limit to the enterprise and daring of the men who were battling for the Union. But the meeting of Lieut. Cushing's launch and the rebel iron-clad Albemarle was not the "pleasant" meeting we started out to write of, and which occurred at Manchester on Thursday last.

Among the crowds in that city on the day mentioned, to witness the dedication ceremonies of the soldiers' monument, was a gentleman who had on a very long ulster. Some persons who were standing near, and whose love of fun was stronger than their gentlemanly instincts, undertook to have some sport at the long-coated stranger's expense; and after listening for awhile to their jibes, apparently unmoved, he turned to them and remarked with great dignity, "Gentlemen, any garment is respectable which covers a man worthy of respect;" and throwing open the big coat and pointing to a badge on his breast, he continued, "There is but one man beside myself in this State entitled to wear this badge, and his name is Gay." Strangely enough, Mr. Thomas S. Gay of this city happened to be so near as to hear this remark, and at his request some of his friends proceeded to question the man in the ulster as to what his badge referred to, and drew from him a graphic and correct account of the destruction of the rebel ram, the speaker, Mr. John Smith of Derry, having been one of the launch's crew. Mr. Gay then made himself known, and it will readily be believed there was no coldness in the greetings of the two men who were companions on that daring and successful boat excursion fifteen years ago on the night of the 27th of next month. Mr. Smith and Mr. Gay were both captured by the rebels after the destruction of the iron-clad and launch, and incarcerated in different prisons. When they separated Mr. Gay divided what little money he had with his companion; and from that day until they were so strangely brought together in Manchester they had never met, nor did either one know where the other lived, though Mr. Smith knew that Mr. Gay was a resident of this State.

The Essex arrived at Rio Janeiro Aug. 14th, after a stormy passage from Montevideo. She was disabled in the steam department while bove-to in a gale, and would require about ten days to repair; when ready for sea she would be sent home. The Wachusett will take her place in the South Atlantic squadron.

Lieut. Col. T. Y. Field, U. S. M. C., is ordered to relieve Lieut. Col. Broome of the command of the Brooklyn barracks Nov. 1st, instead of Oct. 1st.

The Manchester Times—one of the brightest and very best family papers that come to our table, by the way—in its last issue commenced a new specialty, the "cruelty column," in which the managers propose "to publish the names of such persons as they may discover who are guilty of cruelty, in any form, to dumb animals."

On the 10th inst. Mr. Charles Stiles of Barrington was thrown from a team he was driving, and fell in such a manner that one leg was caught between a whiffletree and crossbar, hanging him fast with his head upon the ground. The horses started on a run and dragged Mr. Stiles about half a mile before they were stopped, when it was found that his leg was broken and almost twisted off, and he was so terribly injured otherwise that it was thought he could not survive; but he was better on Friday, and hopes of his recovery were then entertained.

Edward Welch, Thomas Kelly and Edward Howard were bound over for trial, at Manchester on Saturday, for highway robbery of Stephen Nichols, from whom they stole $15 and a valuable pin.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and sanitabious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. For sale by all Druggists and respectable Dealers generally.

—There is at least one thing which can be said in favor of the tramp. He never asks you to lend him money.

—"I wish I were you about two hours," she said, with great tenderness. "And why, my dear?" he asked, with considerable interest. "Because," she said, toying affectionately with his watch chain, "because then I would buy my wife a new bonnet."

—Three weeks ago the French academy voted a prize of 1,000 francs to "a modest hero, a virtuous workingman whose life has been a succession of meritorious deeds," and what did the meritorious hero do, in his elation on finding so much money in his possession, but go on a tremendous spree, commit an assault upon a woman, and be arrested before M. Jules Simon's eloquent words in eulogy of his virtuous conduct had fairly done echoing!

An Important Geological Fact.

Geology has shown us that nature accomplishes her greatest resolutions in the earth's surface conformation slowly. Every year the river makes its channel deeper, the glacier wears a deeper gorge in the Alpine rock, and the ocean tide deposits the sand it has crumbled from the rocks upon which it breaks. We note the earthquake and the devastating hurricane; but these changes are so gradual man seldom observes them until the channel has become overhanging cliffs, or a mountain has disappeared before the icy stream, or the ocean has given us a Florida. Thus it is in disease. Our attention is attracted by acute diseases, as fevers, cholera, etc., while in Europe diseases (often the most dangerous in result,) being slow in their development, are seldom noticed until they have made an almost ineffaceable impression upon the system. Persons believing themselves comparatively healthful are oftentimes the victims of these diseases, and only become aware of their presence when relief is almost impossible. Diseases of the liver and stomach are the commonest of these chronic affections. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are never failing remedies for these diseases. They produce a healthful secretion of the bile, prevent indigestion by regulating the bowels, and impart a vigorous tone to the whole system.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Disease which have been the talk of the town for the past year, are now more than equalled by the wonderful cures by our new perfected or improved methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulation of the blood and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus removing the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the skin, such as scales and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from all noxious particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act, in conjunction, performing cures that have baffled the skill of the most distinguished of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and feet and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicine for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales and scaly skin off like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth as a child. I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some who are as afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

YOURS TRULY, H. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, Mass., Sept. 3, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We believe Leprosy is surely disease which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

This happened nearly two years ago, and one half year. Had not had a clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time. When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not say he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured in the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

Druggists and Booksellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to receipt of the above letter. We feel we believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 170 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing more than one-half more than the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

As its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, Tetter, or Ringworm; Scrofulous Tumors, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a healthy appetite established. Erysipelas, Saltrheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short all diseases caused by vitiated blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating tonic.

Nothing else in the established its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goiter or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If your feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have a sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with heat flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, you may be sure your blood is vitiated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver complaint" the entire system of the disease is experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, for it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the early stages of Consumption, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and is pronounced by many physicians to be the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, compounded of drugs, when these little Sugar-coated Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. These Pellets are so delicately yet thoroughly prepared that no taste is perceptible, and no pain or griping is required while using them. They operate without disturbance of the constitution, diet, or exposure. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of plants, herbs and barks in their essential form, free from every drug contamination, and is this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has gained its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have seen wielded upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, at considerable expense and personal trouble, spread its good news throughout the circle in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is a remedy of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medicinal specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable.
HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & CO.

IT has cured me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering.
GEO. W. HOUGHTON, Waltham, Mass.

I FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure.
D. W. GRAY, M. D., Muscatine, Iowa.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.
W. H. BOWEN, 26 Pine St., St. Louis.

AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success.
WM. W. ARMSTRONG,
159 Harrison Ave., Boston.

WE have sold Sanford's Radical Cure for nearly two years, and can say candidly that we have held a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint.
S. D. BALDWIN & CO., Washington, Ind.

THE cure effected in my case by Sanford's Radical Cure was so remarkable that it seemed to me that he had suffered without relief from any of the usual modes that it could not be true. Therefore most fervently it is before Seth J. Thomas, Esq., Justice of the Peace, Boston.
GEORGE F. DINSMORE, Druggist, Boston.

Each package of Sanford's Radical Cure contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 45 to 60 feet. A recent assay taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the McCrackin Lode, organized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for ten shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

The Skin and Scalp.

How to Preserve Them and How to Treat Them when Diseased.

A Fair Skin and Luxuriant Tresses, the Secret of Beauty.

Some of the Tortures Inflicted by Skin and Scalp Diseases.

A Valuable Treatise, by Mary E. Josselyn, M. D., of New York.

Apart from the suffering caused by skin diseases, their influence on the happiness of those to whom a delicate and pearly complexion is the dearest wish of their lives is paramount to all others. No lady afflicted with cutaneous eruptions, or loss of hair, will deny that, to obtain a fair skin and luxuriant tresses, she would gladly exchange the disfigurations that now mar her otherwise handsome face, hands, or hair, for other diseases of greater severity—even danger—could their existence be concealed from the public eye. There is something repulsive about a face covered with humor; and all the grace of manner and brilliant powers of conversation can scarcely remove the impression produced on one who witnesses it. It is remembered when more important and worthy subjects are forgotten. Many an estimable lady's life has been embittered by cutaneous affections. She imagines that every one sees and comments upon her looks. She avoids society and public places, and endeavors to hide her misery in seclusion. Here the struggle to improve her appearance is renewed. No remedy is too replsive or dangerous to be used. Arsenic is devoured in large quantities, mercury is taken internally and applied externally, until the teeth rattle in their loosened sockets, and the system groans beneath the load of poisons it is obliged to carry.

If such be the feelings of one afflicted with slight skin blemishes, what must be the condition of those suffering from salt rheum, tetter, ringworm, pemphigus, psoriasis, leprosy, lichen, prurigo, and scald head? No pen can fully describe the tortures they endure. Death in many cases might be considered a blessing. The burning heat, inflammation, and itching nearly impel the sufferer to do violence to himself in order to end his sufferings. I have seen patients tear their flesh with their nails until the blood flowed in streams. Others have told me that they could cut the flesh from their limbs, so great was the agony they endured.

With a view to impart some useful information on the construction and preservation of the skin, scalp, and hair, and the proper treatment of them when diseased, I have here condensed to a popular form such information as is most desired.

THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE SKIN.

The skin is composed of two layers, which may be separated from each other by the action of a blister. The thin portion, which is raised up by the blister, is called the scarf skin, the cuticle, or the epidermis; that which remains in connection with the body is the sensitive skin, the cutis, the derma, or the true skin. Each has separate duties to perform. The scarf skin is horny and insensible, and serves as a sheath to protect the more sensitive skin under it. Were the scarf skin taken off, we could not bear to have anything touch us. The derma or true skin and its glands, oil tubes, etc., are the seat of all cutaneous diseases. These may be separated into four great divisions, viz., diseases of the true skin, diseases of the oil glands and tubes, and diseases of the hair and hair glands.

THE OIL AND SWEAT GLANDS.

That the skin may be pliable and healthy it is necessary to have it oiled every day, and for this the Creator has wisely provided by placing in the true skin small glands and tubes, whose office it is to prepare and pour out upon the surface the proper amount of oil. On some parts of the body they do not exist, but are abundant on the face, nose, ears, and on the head they open into the sheath of the hair, and furnish it with nature's own hair oil or pomade. When the skin is healthy, these little vessels are always at work, and constantly responding to the demands made upon them. Consequently no person should be afraid to wash thoroughly with soap and water, lest, as the Boston Medical Journal once taught, the skin be injured by having the oil removed from it.

FREQUENT WASHINGS WITH PURE SOAP (free from caustic alkalies)—and I have something to say further on soap that will be of interest to all who desire to preserve the skin and scalp in health or to properly treat them when diseased—and lukewarm water, followed by brisk rubbing with a coarse towel, will do more to preserve the healthy action of the oil glands and tubes, upon which depends a clear and wholesome complexion, than all the cosmetics in the world. So important is the free and perfect action of the sweat and fat or oil glands in the preservation of the general health, as well as the special conditions of the skin, that particular attention to them will be rewarded by increased physical health.

They discharge upon the surface of the body about two and one-half pounds of matter per day, and their importance in the purification of the blood and fluids of the body is so great that were they closed by an impervious coating, like rubber or oiled silk, death would soon ensue.

The daily occupation of many, want of cleanliness in others, and the inheritance of a sluggish skin, pave the way for numerous diseases of these vessels and tubes. Their contents, instead of flowing freely, become hard and impacted, and the vessels are not emptied. Hence the origin of many diseases. Sometimes the action of the gland is too great, and oil is poured out so profusely that the surface shines with it. At other times there is so little that the skin is dry and hard. In the hardened oily matter that constitutes comedones are found small animals, which Erasmus Wilson, the great authority, calls "the animal of the oily product of the skin."

THE GREAT SKIN AND SCALP DISEASES.

But bad as are minor forms of skin diseases, they sink into insignificance when compared with the great skin and scalp diseases with which thousands are afflicted during their whole lives. That the reader may know more about them, the principal affections are here named, omitting such as are symptoms of constitutional diseases, like measles, rash, etc. The most important are salt rheum, or eczema, tetter, ringworm, psoriasis, impetigo, leprosy, lichen, prurigo, barber's itch, Jackson's itch, baker's itch, ground itch, scald head, and dandruff.

Towering above all others in extent, in duration, in suffering, is commonly called salt rheum. Wilson divides it into twelve species, and others in many more; but it is sufficiently clear to the average reader, and will be recognized by its small watery blister, about the size of a pinhead, wherever seen. Prurigo, impetigo, and psoriasis are but little behind salt rehum in the suffering they cause. Scald head is another obstinate affection, defying all remedies, destroying the hair, and producing great misery and suffering. The scalp, like the skin, is subject to salt rheum, tetter, dandruff, and other eruptive and scaly diseases, which generally destroy the hair follicles and produce permanent baldness.

THE TREATMENT

of diseases of the skin and scalp has been for centuries based upon the mistaken theory that they are entirely due to some impurity of the blood. No special attention has ever been directed to the important part the sweat and fat glands play in the propagation and maintainance of disease.

It is no unjust reflection upon the medical profession to say that its efforts in the cure of skin diseases have been a failure, when with mistaken theories, poisonous remedies, and blind adherence to methods and practices originating in ignorance and superstition, salt rheum, scald head and and psoriasis flourish and increase upon systems shattered by the copious use, both internal and external, that of mercury, arsenic, zinc, and lead. Dr. Wood mildly admits the mercurial influence does sometimes produce salt rheum,—a fact so well known that it is recorded in most of the text-books as mercurial eczema.

BLOOD-PURIFIERS.

For centuries it has been the popular notion that diseases of the skin and scalp must be cured, if cured at all, by purifying the blood.

Admitting that this is partly true, what has been the method or what the remedies by which it was sought to be accomplished? Hear the answer:

MERCURY AND ARSENIC.

Putting aside the senseless "sarsaparilla," "dock," and "dandelion" "blood purifiers," and considering only those remedies that have received the sanction of physicians, hospitals, and colleges, we find that mercury and arsenic are the only medicinal agents of to-day, as they were hundreds of years ago, which are regarded by the "regular" as having specific medical properties for the purification of the blood, and hence the only remedies adapted to the treatment of skin and scalp diseases.

A FEW POISONS.

Out of seventeen prescriptions denominated "alteratives" or "blood purifiers," taken from a standard medical work, eight contained mercury in the form of corrosive sublimate, the proto-iodide, and the blue pill, five arsenic, three iodine,—all corrosive poisons. For four hundred years mercury has been the sheet anchor of the regular practitioner, and arsenic the main stay of the specialist. It is not to be expected that the productions of quacks and patent-medicine men are any better. So much for internal remedies. While the blood is being purified (?) by the internal administration of poison (!) the good work is often hastened forward, where the subject is a skin disease, by the external application of ointments and salves and solutions, in every case containing a virulent poison. Referring to the same "standard medical work," we find that these are directed to be prepared from

CORROSIVE SUBLIMATE,

(mercury!), white precipitate (mercury!!), red precipitate (mercury!!!), citrine ointment (mercury!!!!), prussic acid, arsenic, zinc, sulphur, lead, creosote, and opium as suits the fancy or prejudice of the physician. Here is the whole list in the exact order in which they are given; not one is omitted. This is the course pursued by the average practitioner and advocated by most of the schools of medicine.

THE TRUE THEORY.

But a little light is being thrown upon the darkness that has surrounded the intellect of the past. To a few German and French physicians and specialists we owe what true progress we are making at the present time in the cure of obstinate affections of the skin and scalp. They teach and prove (1) that diseases of the skin and scalp are caused by a derangement of the secretory and excretory tubes and vessels of the true skin, and (2) that such diseases or affections are aggravated and maintained by poisonous fluids containing the virus of scrofula, malaria, or contagious disease, which are discharged from the blood and circulating fluids upon the skin through the sweat and fat glands. From these facts they successfully maintain that skin diseases cannot be cured solely by internal remedies, nor solely by external remedies, but by a judicious use of both. These affections are not wholly caused by impurities of the blood and circulating fluids, nor are they due entirely to a diseased condition of the sweat and fat glands, tubes, vessels, and cells of the true skin, but to a peculiar and inseparable condition of both. For if you treat the one to the neglect of the other no progress is made, but with attention to both at the same time, and the use of such remedies as I can here recommend, a permanent cure is possible in nearly every case.

"WHAT WE WANT."

said a distinguished authority on the skin "what we most earnestly desire in order to cure the most obstinate skin and scalp affections are three great remedies, with as many specific properties; viz.,—

"1. An external application of a jelly consistence that has the power of arresting inflammation and destroying fungus or parasitic growths.

"2. An emollient and healing soap, free from caustic alkalies, for cleansing diseased surfaces.

"3. An internal remedy having a chemical affinity or the power of uniting with and neutralizing or destroying the corrupt particles of matter, or disease-breeding elements which exist as impurities in the blood and circulating fluids, and which are discharged upon the skin by the sweat and fat glands to feed diseases already existing.

"With three such remedies as I conceive it possible to prepare, but which I do not now know to exist, I will venture to assert that ninety per centum of the skin diseases in existence may be permanently cured."

THE USUAL REMEDIES FAILURES.

If I have appeared severe upon the medical profession, I have not been unjustly so towards physicians who adhere to practices at variance with reason and common sense, and withal, lamentable failures. I here assert that no ointment, salve, cerate, lotion, or compound, for external application, nor alterative or "blood purifier" for internal use, to be found in the materia medica of the school and colleges of medicines, and there are thousands of them, will certainly cure a case of chronic salt rheum, psoriasis, or leprosy,—no, not even dandruff and simple scaly affections. I have tried them with all the care and experience suggested by a liberal education, but with unsatisfactory results, as to specific curative properties.

HOPE FOR THE AFFLICTED.

Hence, when Messrs. Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, of Boston, informed me that for eight years they had been experimenting with medicinal agents, and had obtained mostly from substances never before used in medicine, and by a process original with themselves, three great remedies, which they believed to be an infallible cure for every kind of skin and scalp disease from salt rheum to dandruff, whether caused by a scrofulous or diseased-tainted blood, or by a morbid condition of the glands, tubes, vessels and cells of the true skin, or both. As I had concluded to devote my life entirely to the treatment of skin and scalp diseases, to which I have given much study and attention, I eagerly embraced the opportunity given me by Messrs. Weeks & Potter to make a thorough test of these remedies in my practice, and if successful to give them such publicity as their merits entitled them to. This I now do, with the object of thereby lessening as far as in my power the great suffering caused by the diseases under consideration. With this object in view I received a quantity of each remedy and made a most careful examination of them.

Yellow Fever.

The national board of health announces for last week that the comparative difference between the epidemic of 1878 and that of 1879 becomes more and more marked as the season advances. During the past week there has been no increase of cases at the chief centres and but one local outbreak beyond their limits. The work of cleansing, disinfection and isolation is pressed with still greater vigor at all infected places. A table prepared by the board shows that while for the current week this year there have been two new cases at New Orleans and no deaths, there were during the same week last year 1,528 cases and 530 deaths. In Memphis, for the same period, a comparative record shows 145 cases and 44 deaths, against 687 deaths. The number of cases in 1879 during the week could not be ascertained by the authorities. Against fifteen places in 1878, the fever is now confined to the points above mentioned.

There was but one new case at Memphis on Sunday. The weather is clear and cool.

A large furnace built by an official of the State Board of Health has been put in operation in Memphis and the results were very satisfactory. Hereafter all infected bedding and dry refuse matter are to be burned, as also blocks of old Nicholson pavement now being replaced by stone.

At Greenville, Miss., there are six more cases, and physicians and nurses have been sent for.

Altamero, son of a Mexican general, has died of yellow fever at the quarantine in New York. The other members of the family are well, and left quarantine Saturday.

News and Notes.

Sulei'man Pasha is dead.

Daniel Harrington, a laborer at Springfield, Mass., was choked to death by a piece of meat while at supper, Saturday.

Kimball, the church debt raiser, labored until midnight Sunday night, and succeeded in raising a debt of $14,500 at the Second Parish church in Portland, Me.

About two hundred of the Tourjee European excursion party arrived in New York on Sunday evening.

Gen. Grant is expected to arrive in San Francisco between the 17th and 19th instants, from his protracted tour around the world.

Ernest Von Schoening of Brooklyn won the race at the swimming tournament off Long Island, Sunday for the championship of America.

Prescott G. Pillsbury, the defaulting cashier of the Lawrence National Bank, was sentenced on Saturday to five years in the jail at Lawrence.

By the fall of a building which was being reconstructed on Fourteenth street in New York city, on Saturday, three persons were injured, one fatally.

The Canadian kidnappers are supposed to have had something to do with the Charlie Ross abduction case, and the stealing of the body of A. T. Stewart.

Mary Bonesteel poisoned her two children at Shawnee, near Kansas City Saturday, and afterwards attempted to hang herself but was discovered in time to save her life. The children died.

Mrs. Vogelson, in a quarrel at Hempstead, Long Island, Saturday afternoon, fired five shots at Mrs. Seibs, fatally wounding the latter. Mrs. Vogelson is under arrest. Mrs. Seins is dying.

Two burglars, A. M. Bradwell (white) and Thomas Rossberg (colored) who were sentenced to death, had their sentences commuted to life imprisonment by the Governor of North Carolina Saturday.

Friday morning, James Purcell, a spinner at the Slade Mill, Fall River, Mass., was discharged and paid off. During the day he fell in with a crowd of strikers, got drunk, was robbed of his coat, boots, hat and $12, and given a terrible beating. Purcell was arrested on complaint for being drunk and disorderly.

John H. Kelley of Newburyport, Mass., was arrested on board the excursion steamer Stamford Friday, for assaulting passengers. It is alleged that he seized an axe and was with difficulty overpowered by Capt. Davidson and a Newburyport officer on board the boat. He is now in the lockup at Gloucester awaiting examination.

Reports from Santiago state that slaves on the plantations in that section have demanded liberty, and their masters have promised to give them freedom if they will engage to work three years for wages. Many slaves are running away and the local authorities have asked Captain Gen. Blanco what they shall do. A despatch from Madrid announces that the government will propose to the Cortes, that all slaves be given their liberty July 1, 1880, on condition of seven years obligatory labor with wages paid.

The Oldest Newspaper in New York.

Portsmouth, in the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE, has an older newspaper than New York by more than two score years; the most antique living journal of that city being the Commercial Advertiser, established October 2d, 1797, from the first number of which this notice of it is sketched. In comparison with its present magnitude, progressing beyond its original limits of Manhattan island, (eleven miles in extent,) into Westchester county, it is curious to contemplate the fact that the Empire City was simply a populous township when this venerable sheet first came from the press; its dwellings and places of business, except at scattered intervals, extending not above the City Hall park, a mile from the Battery, and Broadway ending a little distance onward in a dusty highway to the country. The population did not then exceed sixty thousand; of its thirty-five public buildings, twenty-seven were churches and three were banks; among the others were Columbia College, the New York Hospital, (both demolished in quite recent years,) the Governor's residence at the foot of Broadway, and Federal Hall, where Washington was inaugurated as the first President of the United States; the site of which, in Wall street, is now occupied by the U. S. Treasury. The buildings in Wall street then were mainly places of residence, one of the exceptions being the old Tontine coffee-house, a favorite resort for many years of Portsmouth shipmasters when in port. There were two theatres, one in John street, where the British officers amused themselves by performing when in New York during the Revolution; the other in Greenwich street; the bill of performance for the night at the former being the tragedy of "Jane Shore," and the musical farce of "The Poor Soldier;" at the latter, Shakspeare's "Henry the Fourth," and the pantomime ballet of "The Murder of Captain Cook," concluding with the assassination scene; doubtless very attractive, judging by what would seem to have been the primitive taste in such matters as that. In the line of amusements, besides the theatrical performances, a learned pig was to be seen at a public hall, who could read print or writing, spell, tell the time of day to a minute by the watch of any one present, the date of the year and the day of the month, —and in addition to his other accomplishment, tell how many people were present, and answer any question in the first four rules of arithmetic; the price of admission being half a dollar. In foreign news, the chief interest is centred in the French Republic, including the following communication from Citizen General Buonaparte, Commander-in-chief of the Army of Italy, to the French Directory, dated at Milan, August 1st, 1797:

"The fleet which sailed from Venice, under command of Capt. Bourde, arrived in Corfu Road after a passage of fifteen days. On the 28th of June, our troops took possession of the forts of Corfu, where they found 600 pieces of cannon, mainly of brass. A great crowd stood on the shore to welcome them on their landing, with all the enthusiasm that animates a people when they recover their liberty. At the head of the assembly was the Papa, or chief of the religion of the country, far advanced in years. He approached gently and said: to the commander, 'Frenchman, you will find in this isle a people ignorant of the arts and sciences which distinguish great nations; do not however, despise it on that account; it may one day become again what it has been; learn from this book to respect it.' The general, with much curiosity, opened the book the Papa presented to him, and was not a little astonished to find it was the Odyssey of Homer. The isles of Zante, Cephalona and St. Maure have the same desires, and express the same wishes and sentiments for liberty. The tree of liberty is planted in every village; municipalities govern every commune, and the people hope, under the patronage of a great nation, to recover those sciences, arts and commerce, which they lost under the tyranny of the oligarchy. The isle of Corcyra was, according to Homer, the country of the Princess of Nausela. Citizen Benaud, who enjoys a fine reputation for his familiarity with the Belle Lettres, informs me that he is about to embark for the purpose of placing the tri-colored flag on the palace of Uyms. The chief of the Maniotes, the true descendants of the Spartans, who occupy the peninsula on which Cape Matapan is situated has, sent to me to express his strong desire to see the French ships in his port, and to be useful to the great people.

BUONAPARTE."

The business of New York and the number of its merchants were then on a very diminutive scale, ridiculously so when compared with the present time. The prices of goods did not differ much from those of now-a-days, with the exception of the luxuries of wines and liquors; 4th proof French and Spanish brandies selling at $1.25 per gallon, and the best of pure wines at similar rates.

One of the most striking novelties, in looking over this antique sheet, is the entire absence of anything in the form of steam navigation; Fulton's first rude attempt in that direction not appearing until a dozen years or more afterwards. Now that there are half a dozen ferries to Brooklyn, with large steamers running upon them at all hours of the day and night, queer enough seems an advertisement, by the city authorities, for "proposals for running a ferry from Fly Market slip to Brooklyn, (on Nassau island;") six good boats to be provided by the lessee, with sails of proper size, quality and form, and each boat to have three able-bodied men, of sober and discreet character, and used to water service; the boats and men to be relieved at stated hours, the others taking their places, but neither to be used for any other service than that of the ferry. Now that Brooklyn has a population of half a million and passengers might be counted by hundreds of thousands during the day and night, it would be interesting to know how many then in the same time crossed the river between the two shores. In the absence of steam and rail conveyance, neither of which had been dreamed of, there was no want of stages to transport travellers in every direction. A four days' jaunt it was to Albany at a cost of $7, and it required a day and a half to reach Philadelphia, fare $5; the average price of that mode of travel being five cents a mile. Nothing is mentioned of conveyance to Boston, but it is known to have been a journey by stage coach of five or six days in the best of travel, at a cost of $20, apart from the hotel bills on the way.

Nothing gives a more old-fashioned appearance to this venerable sheet than the queer-looking ship-cuts in advertisements of that class, and the prevalence, as well as the crooked one, of the long "f," (for "s") which must have been a great puzzle to young beginners in their education to distinguish it from an "f," which it so nearly resembled.

THE WEATHER.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16, 2 A. M.

Warmer clear weather, followed by increasing cloudiness, possibly rain, areas north-west winds shifting to southerly, falling barometer.

AROUND HOME.

Senator Blair is in town to-day, and a reception in his honor is to be given by Ex-Mayor Broughton at his residence this evening.

Schooner W. H. Y. Hackett, Capt. Thomas Cunningham, arrived at Doane's wharf on Sunday from the grand banks with twelve hundred quintals of fish of superior size and quality. She left this port on the 30th of March, and on the second day out encountered a heavy gale, losing her foresail, foreboom and mainboom, and carrying away her jib. She reports heavy weather during the whole trip, but met with no other injury.

Several gardens at the south end have been vigorously raided on lately, and trees have been stripped of their fruit, and vegetables have been harvested, without the consent or knowledge of the owners. On Saturday night Mr. Elvin Newton lost every pear from one of his trees, having previously met with other losses this season. There will be a sorry day of reckoning for these plunderers—at least so hope those who have suffered from their thieving propensities.

It is reported that Mrs. Worthing, an estimable lady and blind, has lately been discharged from the Old Ladies' home. She was one of the first inmates, and says the reason assigned for her discharge was that the institution had not prospered since she had been there. She has recently been on a visit to Manchester, and on her return was notified of her dismissal. She has two daughters living out at a gentleman's house on Pleasant street, where she is making a home until her return to Manchester.

A magnificent ox team, probably the handsomest one ever seen in this city, appeared on the streets on Monday. It consisted of thirteen pairs of very large, sleek, well-kept oxen, and one yoke of steers, and was on the way to the Granite State park at Dover, to be exhibited during the continuance of the State fair. The combined weight of the twenty-six big oxen is 55,153 pounds, an average of 2121 pounds to an ox. This splendid team is the property of Hon. Frank Jones, who would probably take the prize for the "best show of oxen belonging to any one man" at any fair in New England.

Mr. A. D. Jenness, employed as foreman for John Marston, Esq., on Marston's island, near Little Harbor, has a cat that goes a-fishing daily. She watches the tide with an interest that would do credit to an old fisherman, and when it has nearly all run out of the creek, Mistress Pussy will carefully walk down over the flats until she reaches a pool where some unlucky fish is left imprisoned, when she will dip her head down into the water, seize her prey, and, proceeding to the shore with it, devours it and soon returns for another. After she gets through with her fishing, a half hour or more is consumed in cleaning herself.

Hon. H. W. Blair with his family has been spending a few days at the residence of Senator Philbrick at Rye Beach. On Monday he, in company with Mr. Philbrick, visited the Life Saving Station and were much interested in the explanation of its practical working and in its various appliances. Mr. Blair expressed the opinion that the service was much more efficent under its present management than it could have been if transferred to the navy department as at one time proposed. They also visited the Cable station, and were much pleased with the working and the explanation given in regard to finding a breakage.

We have watched our exchanges pretty closely of late, to learn what we could of Messrs. Bennett & Moulton's Juvenile Opera Company, and have yet to see one that does not speak of them in the highest terms of praise. According to the reports the little artists who fill the prominent characters in "Pinafore" sing correctly and spiritedly, the solo singing is good, the chorus first-rate, the juvenile orchestra a novelty indeed and first-class, and the scenic effects very fine. The "Josephine" and "Little Buttercup" are spoken of as especially worthy of comendation and the "Dick Deadeye" as immensely funny. The leading violin player in the orchestra is a little lady of twelve years. From all we read of them we have no hesitancy in assuring our citizens that a that is in store for them at Music hall this evening. Reserved seat tickets are only fifty cents each, and are on sale at Dr. Preston's drug store.

We hear again that new depots are to be built at this end of the Portsmouth & Dover road right off. We question it somewhat, although it is a fact that the tenants of the Lothrop house on First street have been notified to vacate that house, because it is to be removed. If we mistake not, the Cocheco Manufacturing company own the land on which that house stands, which they acquired in exchange for the land taken by the Portsmouth & Dover road when it was built.—Dover Democrat.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Sept. 15; Batchelder, J.

Nathaniel Danielson and John Henry, for drunkenness, were sent to the county farm for thirty days, the costs being $6.90.

ON THE EASTERN SHORE.

The Lighthouse board have, to their credit, been active in meeting the necessities for the safety of ocean and river navigation, and, with the means and facilities at their command, have accomplished a work which will compare favorably with that done by other departments. The fishermen in and around this vicinity, which includes Portsmouth, Eliot, Kittery, Newcastle and York, who send out a large fleet of boats, are agitating the necessity of having a lighthouse placed at the mouth of York harbor. This is a requirement which is really needed, and when the facts are placed before the proper parties to act, will, no doubt, receive their approval and recommendation. York harbor affords a safe retreat in heavy weather, and with the proper guidance into it will be frequented not only by fishermen but by coasting vessels. It has fourteen feet of water at low tide and ample accommodations for a large number of vessels. There are often seen in its vicinity by night one hundred or more fishing boats, and when the strong easterly winds prevail, they are obliged to tack out to sea, battling the waves and winds for whole nights.

The lighthouse lately placed at the Nubble proves a benefit to the coasters, as, before its erection, vessels took the Boon island light for range, keeping them out of a straight course for several miles; they now steer direct for the Nubble light, taking an inside passage, materially shortening the distance of their former route; but the fishermen who are laying at anchor waiting for the dawn of day to spread their trawls, or throw their hand lines into the waters around them, are directly in the track of these vessels, and when one of the heavy lumber crafts, with their high deck loads, comes rocking and tumbling through the waves, and especially on dark nights, there is a general consternation among the smaller fry, and a feeling of insecurity in the watch kept aboard these visitors to their garden grounds, and they make every preparation to move if necessitated to it, which is not always an easy matter, as the boats are oftentimes manned by only one man, who has to pull a heavy anchor up and perhaps hoist three sails,—but this is only one of the features in the life of a fisherman. His is toil from morning to night, from week to week, from month to month. He lives in his boat and braves all the perils of the ocean life. He is no vagabond. He is as brave and daring as the land warmer, and possesses all of the sentiment of the poet. He should receive every assistance from individual, town or city, State or government. He asks for but little; give him that.

Chronicle Correspondence.

RYE, N. H. Sept. 15th.

The annual picnic of the Christian society Sabbath school of this town was held at Sagamore creek on Wednesday last, the Rye cornet band being present, and as usual rendered good music. The picnic was not so fully attended as in previous years, as the location selected was not the best for the purpose, but we learn that those present had a good time.

It is quite sickly in town now. Mr. James Brown and wife have both been sick with the typhoid fever, but they are now recovering, we learn; and Mrs. Cornelius Philbrick is also confined to her residence with fever, and we learn that Herbert F. Philbrick, a member of the Rye cornet band, is lying seriously ill at his house with typhoid fever and pleurisy. Those people who are sick live on the road leading to Straw's point, near the Washington house; and Dr. Nichols, of Boston, and Dr. Wm. O. Junkins, of Greenland, attribute their sickness to a well of impure water on the premises of Mr. James Brown, which the neighbors have used this summer. Dr. Nichols has tested some of the water, and has found it to be impure, and the doctor has sent some of the water to Boston to be analyzed. All physicians say that the water of wells standing near a barnyard or drains is impure, and should not be drank; and that wooden pumps standing in water are bad, and wells that have tight corks are injurious, and also water running through lead pipe is unhealthy. An old physician in this vicinity, who has had a large practice in his profession, informed us a short time ago that he attributed much of the sickness of fever and other complaints in this town for the last twenty-five years to be caused by using impure water, and by stagnated drains.

Mr. Uri H. Jenness, a well-to-do farmer on the South road, who owns real estate in North Hampton, has refused to pay his non-resident tax assessed against him in that town, and the selectmen of North Hampton made an appraisal of his property on Saturday. Mr. Jenness claims he is over taxed; we have not learned the result.

Alfred G. Jenness, a farmer on the South road, resists paying his town tax this year, on what grounds we do not know; and he is to have a hearing before the selectmen. We learn that charges of official corruption are hinted at against the board of selectmen, which we shall ventilate at some future time, if reports are true.

John W. Witham and Charles Webster, the burglars recently arrested at Manchester for burglary of jewelry and valuables from the residence of George T. Ball at Greenland, recently, are two bad men. Witham hails from Nottingham, and comes of a thieving family, several of them having done service for the State. Leonard, a brother of John about twenty-five years ago stole several head of cattle from a pasture in Nottingham, owned by the late Elder Ephriam Philbrick of this town, and Mr. Daniel Brown. Leonard Witham, who had charge of the pasture where the cattle were, drove the latter to Manchester, where he was arrested while attemping to dispose of them. He had a preliminary trial, and was committed to Amherst jail to await trial at a higher court, but made his escape before his trial took place, and has never been heard from since. A large reward was offered for his capture, but he has eluded the officers of the law ever since, although the reward is good yet for his arrest. Witham was represented by his neighbors to be a very desperate character, and capable of doing any bad deed.

The Rye cornet band are to hold a clam-bake at Dow's grove in this town on the 19th of the month, which promises to be a grand affair, and a good time for the boys.

A short time since we noticed a well-known wealthy farmer in this vicinity peddling patent soap through town, and as most of our people thought he did need their patronage much, it is needless to say that his trade was small in this town. SCRIBE.

Quick Fortunes in Stocks.

Vast sums of money are made in quick turns of stocks in Wall street. Business has never been more successful. By the new combination plan, large and small investments, (from $25 to $10,000) are combined in one vast sum, and operated by the most skillful experience, securing immense power in the stock market and gaining splendid profits. Thousands of customers are thus united in one concurrent enterprise, and receive their pro rata profits monthly. An Indiana country merchant made $17,692.41 in four operations. A Texas cattle dealer made $32,615.94 in two combinations; a St. Louis shipping merchant made $47,876.21 in less than six months, all through the new combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which has realized the grandest success in the history of the stock market. Their new circular, with "unerring rules for success," and complete explanations, how to make money in stocks, mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

An Important Geological Fact.

Geology has shown us that nature accomplishes her greatest revolutions in the earth's surface conformation slowly. Every year the river makes its channel deeper, the glacier wears a deeper gorge in the Alpine rock, and the ocean tide deposits the sand it has crumbled from the rocks upon which it breaks. We note the earthquake and the devastating hurricane; but these changes are so gradual man seldom observes them until the channel has become overhanging cliffs, or a mountain has disappeared before the icy stream, or the ocean has given us a Florida. Thus it is in disease. Our attention is attracted by acute diseases, as fevers, cholera, etc., while chronic diseases (often the most dangerous in result,) being slow in their development, are seldom noticed until they have made an almost ineffaceable impression upon the system. Persons believing themselves comparatively healthful are oftimes the victims of these diseases, and only become aware of their presence when relief is almost impossible. Diseases of the liver and stomach are the commonest of these chronic affections. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are never failing remedies for these diseases. They produce a healthful secretion of the bile, prevent indigestion by regulating the bowels, and impart a vigorous tone to the whole system.

—"Samuel Spriggs, (the only place in town where you can get eleven pounds of sugar for a dollar,) five dollars," was the way a well-to-do grocer signed a subscription list toward the erection of a new church.

—On the river: "What's the matter, Alfred? You look uneasy." "Well, my wife, who's fond of swimming, dived off the boat some time ago, and has not yet come to the surface; I am afraid that something must have happened to her." "How long has she been under?" "About two hours."—French newspaper.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods for remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and unite with Silvery Scales, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicine for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I feel like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be of benefit to some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, R. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail. The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not left his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not say he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

Druggists and Booksellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of the above news. We truly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 3d Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

Dr. Ts great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Swelling, or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, invigorating medicine.

It equally has demonstrated its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Legs, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on your body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects prompt and permanent cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it invigorates the system and purifies the blood.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seed. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Clouded feeling about Stomach, Chills of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved uninjured for any length of time, in any climate, and they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

RADICAL CURE

For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of plants, orbs and barks in their essential form, free from every gross contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has won its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been visited upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, from motives of humanity and personal gratitude, spread its good news throughout the circles in which they move. When a physician who has spent a lifetime in intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is entitled to a great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me of the valuable. HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & CO.

THAS cured me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering. GEO. W. HOUGHTON, WALTHAM, MASS.

I FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure. D. W. GRAY, M. D., MUSCATINE, IOWA.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them. WM. BOWEN, 25 PINE ST., ST. LOUIS.

AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success. WM. W. ARMSTRONG, 159 HARRISON AVE., BOSTON.

WE have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year and can say candidly that we never did a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint. S. D. BALDWIN & CO., WASHINGTON, IND.

THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so remarkable that it seemed to those who had suffered without relief from any of the usual remedies that it could not be true. I therefore made affidavit to it before Seth J. Thomas, Esq., Justice of the Peace, Boston. GEORGE F. DINSMORE, DRUGGIST, BOSTON.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains a Double Nozzle Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Export" Mines, which aggregate 2300 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.80 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Mecracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $16,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

From the funds in the treasury, CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside the Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $5.00 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical way.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, with the money, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. The Skin and Scalp.

How to Preserve Them and How to Treat Them when Diseased.

A Fair Skin and Luxuriant Tresses, the Secret of Beauty.

Some of the Tortures Inflicted by Skin and Scalp Diseases.

A Valuable Treatise, by "Mary E. Josselyn, M. D., of New York.

THE FIRST.

The name given to the first of these great remedies is Cuticura, from cutis, the skin, and cura, a cure,—a skin cure. In practice I found it possessed wonderful curative properties as they exist in no other remedies of the day. It is entirely unlike anything for external application that I have ever seen before. It does not contain a particle of deleterious or unwholesome matter, and is so easily applied that no irritation or pain is caused by its application to raw and inflamed surfaces.

Cuticura, when used as directed, is wonderfully adapted to soothe and heal the most inflamed surface, to allay itchings and irritations, that have been the torture of a lifetime, to destroy fungus or unnatural growths on the skin and scalp, to cleanse and purify the pores of the skin, and restore to healthy and regular action the oil glands, tubes and cells, upon whose perfect action depend the preservation of a healthy skin and restoration when diseased. It does not evaporate until the temperature is raised to more than double that of the body, and hence is not dissipated by heat, but remains on the skin until completely absorbed. It does not contain a trace of mercury, arsenic, zinc, or caustic chemicals of any kind. It will not become rancid or spoil on exposure in any climate. It will be as fresh, fragrant, soothing, and healing fifty years hence as it is to-day. Contrast this with the horrible salves and ointments of the present time! Its fragrant odor is no more grateful than is its agreeable taste, for, be it known, no remedy is better adapted to cure affections of the throat and lungs than Cuticura.

THE SECOND.

A pure skin soap, appropriately named after the great remedy from which it draws its curative properties, is of a delicate natural green color, showing its emollient, soothing, and healing action is the same as Cuticura, only in a modified form. While it cannot take the place of the latter in the treatment of obstinate skin and scalp affections, it may ably assist it at every stage, and is positively indispensable in most cases. It is in every respect a pleasing contrast to the filthy products prepared from the refuse of sinks, vats, hotels, hospitals, and rendering-houses, reeking with putrescence and animal parasites and the germs of contagious diseases, and innocently labelled "skin soap." In recommending the Cuticura Soap as an assistant to Cuticura, as well as for the preservation of the skin of infants, of gentlemen who shave, and those who desire a fresh and wholesome skin and scalp, I but fill to the brim the measure of my duty to the public.

Permit me to pause a moment to impress upon all the necessity of frequent washing of the skin and scalp with soap,—using of soap (free from caustic alkalies). Whether the skin or scalp is diseased or healthy, do not be afraid of soap. It will assist all other remedies if diseased, and preserve and freshen the healthy skin. Too much ignorance prevails as to its value in the preservation of the skin and scalp. Cuticura Soap is a most fragrant and refreshing application to the skin and will preserve the complexion better than all the cosmetics in existence. For the toilet, bath, and nursery, it is the purest healing and cleansing soap before the public, and should be eagerly demanded by all who value health, a clear skin, and wholesome complexion.

THE THIRD

great remedy submitted to me is called the Cuticura Resolvent because of its intimate relation to Cuticura in the cure of skin and scalp diseases. Of all the remedies for the purification of the blood and circulating fluids that I have ever examined, none approach in specific medical action the wonderful properties of the Resolvent. In forty minutes after taking the first dose it may be detected by chemical analysis in the saliva, sweat, fat and blood, showing that it has entered the blood and circulating fluids, and made the entire circuit of the human body in many times. Chemical tests show it to be present in the water with which the patient has bathed on rising in the morning. This wonderful property alone should render it famous, for by thus entering and becoming a part of the circulating fluids it is enabled to traverse every diseased cell, tube and vessel of the skin, and leave wholesome medical constituents upon the surface of the body, thus realizing the dream of the greatest French physicians.

But it does more than this. It is a powerful purifying agent and liver stimulant. It neutralizes and resolves away blood poisons, caused by the virulence of scrofula, cancer, cankerous humors, or contagious diseases.

It destroys microscopic insects which infest the water, and air of malarial regions, and breed many forms of skin diseases, besides many forms of liver and kidney diseases, destroying the wonderful properties of the blood, and besides all these stomach and bowel troubles, it regulates the digestion so perfect as to admit of a rapid formation of wholesome tissue, while the increase of wholesome tissue, so favorable to mental and physical forces are not materially affected that the most obstinate affections, which have been pronounced incurable by the highest medical authorities, are speedily and permanently cured.

Having been charmed, I must confess, with the results of my analyses of these new remedies, my next step was to demonstrate their value in the treatment of the skin affections usually considered incurable. I know every word I now write in the breast of many a life-long sufferer. Can. I, in a broad and Christian spirit, without prejudice, without reservation, say to those afflicted, Here, in these great natural remedies, is a speedy and permanent cure? With a just sense of the responsibility I assume, I say, I can. There does not exist a case of chronic salt rheum, tetter, ringworm, pemphigus, psoriasis, leprosy, lichen, prurigo, scald head, dandruff, or itching or scaly eruptions that the Cuticura remedies may not cure, unless the recuperative powers of the glands and tubes are destroyed forever. Instantly they begin their work. Relief dates from the first application and a cure speedily follows their faithful use.

WILL AWAKEN HOPE

HUNDREDS OF LIVING WITNESSES.

The best evidence I can offer in favor of these great remedies is the wonderful cures they have made,—cures that have astonished, nay dumbfounded the noted specialists of the day, and created an excitement among medical men, among druggists, among all classes of society, never equalled by any other remedies in the history of medicines.

Among the many remarkable cures performed by the Cuticura remedies I have space only for the following:—

Hon. William Taylor, Boston, Mass., permanently cured of a humor of the face and scalp (eczema) that had been treated unsuccessfully for twelve years by many of Boston's best physicians and most noted specialists, as well as European authorities. He says: "I have been so cleared with my successful use of the Cuticura remedies that I have stopped men in the street to tell them of my case."

Charles Houghton, Esq., 17 Congress Street, Boston, certifies to a case of eczema or salt rheum, which had been under his personal observation for ten years, and which covered the greater part of the patient's body with its peculiar irritating and itching scab, and to which all known remedies and methods of treating such diseases had been applied without benefit, has completely disappeared, leaving a clean and wholesome skin, under the use of the Cuticura remedies.

Alderman J. A. Tucker, 13 Doane Street, Boston, writes: "I think I have paid for medicines and medical treatment during the last twenty years, all of three thousand dollars, without receiving any permanent benefit. Since my cure I have had no trouble from the disease, and have not had such good health in twenty years as during the last six months. I believe it the greatest discovery of this century." Disease, eczema or salt rheum of the body, limbs, face and scalp.

Messrs. Dawking Brothers, druggists, Allegan, Mich., write under date of February 11: "A case of leprosy in our poorhouse is being cured by the Cuticura remedies. The county had employed all of our doctors, and sent to New York for advice, but all to no avail. The patient commenced getting better as soon as he began using them. He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Last week he dressed for the first time. When he washed there would a quart of scales come off of him. This happened every day. We think it a wonderful cure." This case is creating great excitement in that section of the country.

H. A. Raymond, Esq., Jackson, Mich., auditor Fort Wayne, Jackson and Saginaw Railroad, was cured of scald head that had resisted all remedies for nine years.

F. H. Drake, Esq., agent for Harper & Brothers, Detroit, Mich., gives an astonishing account of his case (eczema rodient) which had been treated by a consultation of physicians without benefit, and which speedily yielded to the Cuticura remedies.

P. P. Carroll, Esq., attorney-at-law, 33 Camp Street, New Orleans, writes a long letter, gratefully acknowledging a cure of tetter of the hands, which had afflicted him for years.

Fred Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colorado, writes: "I am so well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 28: "It works as a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommended it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin Street, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call eczema. We have tried most everything, and at last have used about a box of Cuticura, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

It would require every column of this paper to do justice to a description of the cures performed by the Cuticura remedies. Eczema of the palms of the hands and of the ends of the fingers, very difficult to treat and usually considered incurable, small patches of tetter and salt rheum on the ears, nose, and sides of the face, scald heads with loss of hair without number, heads covered with dandruff and scaly eruptions,—especially of children and infants, many of which since birth had been a mass of scabs,—psoriasis, leprosy, and other frightful forms of skin diseases, scrofulous ulcers, old sores, and discharging wounds, each and all of which have been speedily, permanently, and economically cured by the Cuticura remedies.

Of such a record Messrs. Weeks & Potter may be justly proud. It is a grand medical triumph, a triumph that will be gratefully remembered by thousands long after the originators have passed away.

To relieve and permanently cure diseases of the skin and scalp which have been the torture of a life-time, to replace the repulsive evidences of disease with the glow of health, and thus render beautiful the face of man or woman, is to deserve the gratitude of mankind.

That Cuticura externally applied, with a proper use of the Cuticura Soap and the internal use of the Cuticura Resolvent, will cure permanently the worst forms of skin and scalp diseases with loss of hair, I think I have fully demonstrated.

I know that what I have writen in these columns will bring and I mean it shall. I want to make those happy who, by reason of these affections and disease, have been unhappy; and that I may do so, I freely proclaim the virtues of the Cuticura remedies, and as long as good-natured editors grant me space in their papers I mean to do so. And as long as Messrs. Weeks & Potter can furnish them at a price within the reach of all who need them, there must be less suffering from these intolerable disorders then ever before. Let me say, in conclusion, what I have before so often said, the Cuticura remedies will cure scalp and skin diseases that have defied the skill and resources of the ablest physicians. I have demonstrated it to be true. A grand curative blessing is thus substituted for death-dealing poisons. Mercury, arsenic, zinc, and lead, and a thousand and one other revolting poisonous, and senseless things prescribed by ignorance and superstition must now sink into obscurity before the wonderful healing power of Cuticura. As a humanitarian I recommend them to humanity. As a physician I indorse them, and rejoice at their discovery.

Mary E. Josselyn, M. D., Physician for Diseases of the Skin and Scalp, Cuticura Ice Rooms, 71 Madison Avenue, New York.

There will also be a seventy-five-hours no-to-you-please race in Dover, in which Frank Hanson of that city, Richard Lecouse, the Canadian pedestrian, Colston, the "big Swede," William Pegram, the colored walkist, John O'Connor, Thomas Crowley, Charles Harriman, and Napoleon Campagna, "Old Sport," will take part.

A Wise Legislator.

He is successful because he has the manly courage to rise above all personal motives or interests and cast his vote and influence on the side of measures which will contribute to the well being of his fellow-men. The good of the many, even though it proves injurious to the interests of the few, is the maxim of the wise legislator. But certain men will never admit the wisdom of this doctrine, any more than some selfish private practitioners will admit the superlative value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, because these remedies have injured their practice. Of course, no man in his right senses will pay a physician $5.00 for a consultation, a bottle of bitters, and a powder, when a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and a bottle of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, both costing but $1.25, will accomplish the same result, viz: cleanse the liver and blood, regulate and tone the stomach, and impart a healthful action to the bowels and kidneys.

We publish the announcements in our advertising column for pay, and seldom trouble ourselves to enquire as to the qualities or merits of the wares advertised, further than to assure ourselves that they are legitimate and respectable. But when an article performs miracles in our midst, transforming the old to young in appearance at least, we cannot pass it by unnoticed. We known of people who years ago were gray-headed, and who now wear dark and glossy hair. How is this? It evidently is not colored, for it has a perfectly natural appearance instead of the harsh, dry, staring look of hair stained with nitrate of silver or other common hair dyes. Nor it has been restored to its youthful color, lustre and vitality by the use of that wonder of wonders, Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer. It has many imitators, but there is nothing like it. The test of years only increases its fame, while its imitators die and are forgotten.—Boston Daily Globe.

An Individual Inquiry of Every Reader.

The opportunities occur for a fortune to every man it is said, some day or another, but how seldom does a man really know the exact opportunity. The newspapers every now and then tell of some person who has drawn a hundred thousand or a thirty thousand dollar prize in the long-established Louisiana State Lottery, which is drawn on the second Tuesday of every month, at New Orleans, La. But does it ever strike the reader on reading about the lucky man that a similar good fortune might attend him if he were to send two dollars for the next, which is the 153d drawing, to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, or sense person at No. 319 Broadway, and see what fortune has in store?

AROUND HOME.

The United States district court, Clark, J., held a short session here on Tuesday forenoon. No business of importance was transacted.

The prizes for the yacht race to come off on the 20th inst. are on exhibition in the window of J. Dwight Rundlett's store, corner of Daniel street and Market square.

The excursion party from this city in schooner yacht Wm. H. Russell arrived at Boston on Saturday, via Annisquam, Gloucester and Plymouth, having had such a time as the traditional one enjoyed by the parrot and monkey. The party remained in Boston Tuesday.

They have an ordinance in New York forbidding the tolling of any bell in the city at a funeral without a permit, or its ringing at any other time "to the prejudice or peril of the health of any human being." Why could not our city government pass a similar ordinance?

We have received the October number of the Folio. Any one wishing to subscribe for this valuable musical monthly should send to the publishers, White, Smith & Co., No. 516 Washington street, Boston, for a specimen number, containing catalogue of premiums to be given to new subscribers.

Harper's Magazine for October is now ready for delivery to subscribers, or for sale by the single number, at W. G. Myers' bookstore and Moses Brothers' news depot. It contains nine illustrated articles, (with seventy-nine illustrations,) and the usual large amount of well-chosen and interesting miscellaneous reading matter.

There was a brilliant reception at the residence of Hon. John H. Broughton, Tuesday evening, in honor of Senator Blair, a large number of our most prominent citizens attending, among them being Ex-Gov. Goodwin, John Sise, James P. Bartlett and wife, Lieut. William I. Moore, U. S. N., and wife, Ensign William Winder, U. S. N., Postmaster Pierce and wife, Dr. Hall and wife, Samuel Adams, Esq., Collector Howard, Lyman P. Broughton, Esq., and many others. Senator Blair was the recipient of many congratulations from those present and expressed great pleasure in meeting so many of our prominent citizens.

SAILING REGATTA

In Portsmouth harbor on Saturday, the 20th inst., open to all boats on the Piscataqua river that measure twenty-five feet or less on the water line. The prizes, consisting of a silver-plated ice-pitcher, a mantel clock, and a yacht's compass, presented by W. B. Keen, Esq., of Malden, Mass., will be awarded in the order named. Allowance for length will be made.

Entries may be made with I. P. Miller, at the CHRONICLE office, Portsmouth; with Cyrus Harding, at Newcastle; with Mr. Decatur, at Kittery Point; or with Calvin L. Hayes, at Kittery Foreside.

The stake-boat will be moored off Clarke's island. The start will be flying, all boats passing between the stake-boat and the island. At 1:59 o'clock P. M., a preparatory gun will be fired, and at two P. M., a second gun; and all yachts must cross the line within ten minutes after the firing of the second gun. An entrance fee of fifty cents will be charged to defray incidental expenses.

Boats not entering are earnestly requested not to pass to the windward of those sailing in the race.

For description of course see small bills. If stormy on the date mentioned, the race will be sailed on the first fair week-day following.

THE OLD LADIES' HOME.

Mr. Editor: I notice in Tuesday's CHRONICLE a statement regarding one of the inmates of our Home. The lady alluded to has been a member of the Faith Home since May, 1877, and she has proved herself a worthy and acceptable person. During her connection with the Home she has assisted in the dining-room, and although almost blind has given general satisfaction. It is also true that she has ceased to be a member of the Home, but for reasons far different from the statement in the CHRONICLE. The reason was not that the Home has not prospered during the time of her connection therewith, as all may see. It is the primary object of the Home to care for those who have none to care for them, and not the establishment of a boarding house. At the present time we take only those whom it can be proved have none to care for them, and in every way worthy; and in this case we have satisfactory reasons for believing her friends are better able to care for her than we are.

It is also true that while Miss Worthen was on a visit to Manchester to her brother, I corresponded with him regarding her return to our Home, the substance of our argument being that the Home could not prosper if we received such to the exclusion of those who had no friends to care for them, as her family were better able to care for her than we are. The statement that the lady is a married woman and has two daughters living on Pleasant street is incorrect. Miss Worthen is a maiden lady and has no relatives in Portsmouth that we know of. Regarding our Home we believe that the trustees and friends immediately connected therewith believe that the Home is an a prosperous condition.

Chronicle Correspondence.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.

It's a way they have! Give the democrats a possible chance of coming into power, and straightway they give the bucket a vigorous kick, and there is more spilled milk running to waste than would feed such eminent babes as bolt republican nominations, a century. Here we are, just seven weeks from the most important election to take place previous to the Presidential nominations of 1880, and with the republicans of the Empire State once more firmly united and ready to prosecute the campaign with a vigor that ought to insure success against a united democracy, when that democracy takes such action as seems to assure that success by a majority that will overwhelm Tilden and render his renomination as a candidate for President totally impracticable. The ways of such schemers as Tilden do not always lead to the hoped-for goal. He pushed the renomination of Gov. Robinson, to further his own plans, to show his influence, and to punish Tammany. Tammany, which opposed his first nomination, but yielded a support that gave him the electoral vote of the State of New York, now boldly proclaims its independence, and led by John Kelly, the most dauntless leader it has ever followed, proclaims its intention to slaughter Gov. Robinson, and through him, Tilden.

Will Tammany persist? The answer depends entirely on the practical question that Tammany can bring itself. Tilden is more heartily hated within the democratic ranks of this State, than without. His old associates best know his hypocrisy. Abler men abroad, like Bayard, of Delaware, Thurman of Ohio, Hendricks, of Indiana, and Field, of California, have seen their hopes postponed for the time being, because a chance Governor of the largest State in the Union, possessed of an inordinate ambition and an inexhaustible "barrel," chose to purchase his way to the nomination for the highest office in the gift of the American people. A sudden collapse of the "barrel" would cause a downfall that would resurrect the hopes of the leaders of the "old guard." One other path leads to the same result,—the loss to Tilden of the delegation of New York State. John Kelly leads no forlorn hope, and lacks for no encouragement from outside New York city. He holds it in his power to take revenge at one blow on Tilden, Robinson and "Boss" McLaughlin of Brooklyn. All through the State there are democrats who rejoice at the opportunity now given them to vote for a straight democrat for governor, and at the same time give Sammy Tilden a "sly dig" in the ribs. In the present state of affairs, even the Robinson men have no hope of his election, while the Tammany men in high glee predict his defeat by 100,000 majority, and the burial of Tilden's aspirations. But one course seems open to Tilden, and that is a timely retreat—the withdrawal of Robinson, which is submission to Tammany. This would set the "hay mow and cheese press" wing of the party frantic, and the move would be of questionable propriety. Either path is hedged with difficulties. Over in Brooklyn there has for a long time been insubordination to the rule of "Boss" McLaughlin. The Brooklyn bridge has been a bone of contention between Kelly and McLaughlin, and at Syracuse, McLaughlin took a little sweet revenge. The anti-McLaughlin ring of the Brooklyn democracy proposes to dissipate the promised 13,000 majority there for the Robinson ticket, by boldly voting for Kelly and thus allowing Cornell a plurality, while Tammany boasts of being able to send Robinson out of New York city and county thousands of votes behind Kelly and Cornell.

John Kelly has but one course to pursue in self defense. He wishes to save the patronage of New York city. During the past six months, Gov. Robinson has been removing the Tammany officials. County officers are to be elected in November. If Tammany is successful in carrying the city, and Robinson is re-elected Governor, these officials, though re-elected, would be subject to immediate removal in the interest of the anti-Tammany-Tilden democracy, who are equally corrupt and unscrupulous as Tammany has ever been. It is merely a question of the possession of the spoils by either of the two wings. If Tammany can go as solidly to the polls this year as last, it can elect its ticket, for it would be suicidal now for the republicans to combine with the anti-Tammanyites for the sake of giving Tilden the patronage of the city of New York. The only wise course will be to run a straight republican ticket. Last Fall, the vote in round numbers was: Tammany 60,000; Republican 52,000; Anti-Tammany 28,000. The democratic vote of New York city is largely Irish and Catholic, and for once it has an Irish Catholic to rally upon, in the person of John Kelly, its regular candidate being a bolter—for Robinson has been a bolter from both parties in politics. He fand Tilden bolted the regular nominations of the democracy last year in this city. Tilden was a bolter as early as 1848, when he bolted the nomination of Lewis Cass, and voted for Martin Van Buren. The Robinson democracy would make a poor showing in a triangular contest for the county ticket, and on that issue Tammany would probably absorb a sufficient number to render the election of the straight republican candidates improbable.

One of the revelations shown by the figures of the Cincinnati convention ballotings, was the fact that the votes of delegates from States hopelessly democratic defeated Mr. Blaine's nomination, a large majority of the votes from States which afterward cast their electoral votes for Hayes and Wheeler, showing a preference from the start for Mr. Blaine. An analysis of the vote of the Syracuse convention, last week, shows also that Gov. Robinson was not the choice of the men who are in the habit of furnishing democratic majorities. Robinson received 243 votes, 194 being necessary to nominate. Of these 243 votes, 202 were given by delegates from 33 counties, every one of which gave republican majorities last Fall—these majorities aggregating 73,847. On the contrary, the anti-Robinson delegates casting 144 votes, represented an aggregate democratic majority of 44,186. If Mr. Kelly elects his county ticket this Fall, and Gov. Robinson fails of a re-election, the next democratic State convention will not show so much disrespect to the Tammanyites. Tammany Hall flies its banner with "John Kelly for Governor," and Kelly clubs are forming throughout the State. Kingston organized a Kelly club on Saturday with 150 members. Bets with no takers are offered at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, of $100 to $50 that Gov. Robinson will not be re-elected, and wagers are offered that Robinson will not carry New York city.

If this pot will only boil till after the fourth of November! G.

Our victory is the victory of the people of Maine, but it is due to the magnificent executive ability and matchless organizing powers of Senator Blaine. Without him we should have been lost. Out of a beaten and dispirited host he made a zealous, confident and admirably disciplined army, and he led it to victory. The campaign was conducted with incomparable skill.—Portland Press.

—A Kansas genius, representing himself as a practical farmer, has lately been visiting all the fairs with a prize pumpkin, and took the premium every time with it. It measured seven feet in circumference and weighed 230 pounds. Several days ago, at Council Grove, a rival farmer attempted to tap the pumpkin in the absence of its owner, to get some of the seeds, and discovered that it was made of wood.

An Important Geological Fact.

Geology has shown us that nature accomplishes her greatest revolutions in the earth's surface conformation slowly. Every year the river makes its channel deeper, the glacier wears a deeper gorge in the Alpine rock, and the ocean tide deposits the sand it has crumbled from the rocks upon which it breaks. We note the earthquake and the devastating hurricane; but these changes are so gradual man seldom observes them until the channel has become overhanging cliffs, or a mountain has disappeared before the icy stream, or the ocean has given us a Florida. Thus it is in disease. Our attention is attracted by acute diseases, as fevers, cholera, etc., while chronic diseases (often the most dangerous in result,) being slow in their development, are seldom noticed until they have made an almost ineffaceable impression upon the system. Persons believing themselves comparatively healthful are oftimes the victims of these diseases, and only become aware of their presence when relief is almost impossible. Diseases of the liver and stomach are the commonest of these chronic affections, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are never failing remedies for these diseases. They produce a healthful secretion of the bile, prevent indigestion by regulating the bowels, and impart a vigorous tone to the whole system.

"I declare," said Mrs. Partington, as she applied her nose to the SANFORD JAMAICA GINGER bottle, "if it does not smell as romantic as oh, dear cologne; and one can tell that it has great virtuous smell, which is something like the odor of sanctity." She inhaled a little more, when her admiration exploded in a vigorous sneeze. She had tried it in some water.

As Alcohol, Tobacco, Opium, Indian Hemp, Chloroform, Hashish, Absinthe, etc., prevent the good effects of Fellows' Hypophosphites, so Fellows' Hypophosphites is an antidote against all these narcotics and sedatives, and will restore to health such as have been injured by them.

—"Thus do we burn the midnight toil," said the facetious editor, as he consigned old Mumblepeg's manuscript to the fire.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, H. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to the last degree. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

Druggists and Booksellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 306 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1; RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, or Eruption, Mercurial Disease, Mineral Poisons and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying and invigorating medicine.

It has proved itself unequalled its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goiter or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellow blotchy spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, furred tongue, or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is natural, not as gland or tissue scorging their sanative impress. Are safe and impart the properties of these pills. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up of nostrils, obstruction of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcerous ulcer altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total destruction of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be relied upon. Applied by means of the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $57.50 per ton. The large shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Mammoth Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company), and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in the energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. NEW MATERIALS.

The mournful expression assumed by a bachelor friend when I told him that silks costing $50 the yard were imported this fall, is even now present with me. "How many yards for a dress?" he asked timidly. I hastened to re-assure him by adding that one or two yards of such expensive fabric placed on something in comparison more ordinary, such as plain satin or velvet, would be sufficient. This brought a gleam to his saddened countenance, and he still revolves uncertainly the matrimonial question. The beauty and richness of many of the new silks are indeed extraordinary, and oftentimes therefore they will be used in lesser quantities on plain fabrics, velvet and sometimes silk, almost always however the two former; colors are frequently very bright, and we find not only the India cashmere patterns before spoken of, but all manner o floral ideas which repeat the gay jardiniere and pompadour patterns of the summer.

Stripes too are prominent, nor are plaids ignored, and with both we constantly see the new Indian and floral designs united.

All are likewise produced in wool and silk, and wool and silk will be united either with plain silk, satin, velvet, or wool goods. We find plain goods in dark shades have received special attention, and among these the varieties chiefly brought forward are cashmere, merino, camels, hair, diagonals and satines, the latter resembling the satines which were fashionable some years ago.

MILLINERY.

One stands aghast in contemplation of the birds which are placed on new bonnets. The largest things that ever you saw put to such a purpose, and some with the two feet left dangling below. I almost fear to say how large some of them are, but they are certainly more than a foot long. In these more pronounced specimens the wings are pressed closely, else I know not what we should do. Sizes descend in all gradations down to the humming bird, but where the sizes are small, we not unfrequently find them grouped together; as many as six with wings compressed, being placed in a row. Pompons are made of five or six birds with heads together in the centre and wings outstretched, and bands are of birds; two on either side with heads in the middle, and others succeeding beyond. Fancy feathers of all kinds are much used; ostrich plumes were never more in demand. As to shapes, any one can be suited, for we have medium and large, close brims, wide brims, and brims which signify nothing in particular. Crowns also are nothing in particular, except at times by reason of great width, and also being occasionally set very far back, leaving of course a wide front brim. Some shapes flare over the forehead, while others lie almost flat. Satin antique is the novelty in material. It is satin having a slight appearance of plush, and we find it laid plainly on the frame or in rosettes or folds. Elegant bonnets are of velvet laid plainly, and many felts of all colors are imported.

Serge silk is often employed for trimming, and is doubled for strings, which sometimes are eight inches wide. Ribbons also are usually very wide, and as the newest thing here, we find the Ottoman grosgrain having a heavy rep with satin border; new ribbons likewise are satin on one side and grosgrain on the other.

COSTUMES.

Short costumes are necessary for the street, and will be chiefly worn even for balls and parties by young ladies, though for in-doors, the elegance of a train will be always desirable. Among new models for short costumes, the Antonina overskirt and Sybilla basque may be mentioned, while for girls of four to fourteen, nothing prettier than the Harira overskirt and Amina basque can be found. The Isola polonaise is also pretty for girls of the same ages. Illustrations of costumes may be seen in Ehrich's Fashion Quarterly, which is especially valuable to out of town residents. It combines the best features of a fashion magazine, a price current and a catalogue, and its numerous representations of costumes, laces, trimmings, jewelry, household articles, etc., are very well executed, while the accompanying descriptions are clear. The publishers, Messrs. Ehrich & Co., of Eighth avenue, inform me that they will supply every article described at its quoted price, but the chief use of the Quarterly is to furnish ladies with a reliable list of prices and accurate descriptions of the latest styles. The subscription price is only fifty cents a year, and a specimen advance sheet will be sent to any address, free, on receipt of a three cent stamp for postage.

New York, Sept. 15th.

LUCY CARTER.

YORK, ME., Sept. 16th.

On Saturday night, Sept. 6th, while Mr. and Mrs. Grant of the Cape Neddick house were away, and the other occupants of the house were in the parlor, some person entered the house by the back entrance, and proceeded up the back stairs, entering Mr. Grant's room and taking from a bureau $79.50, and also a small box containing eight dollars. The small box was dropped behind some barrels in the shed. On Sunday morning $40 of the amount was found in an envelope, on one of the parlor windows, with a few words of almost undecipherable writing, written with ink. On Monday afternoon $33.25 was found in the room adjoining the one from which the money was stolen, with another envelope containing a message written with pencil, and the writter of it says, among other things, "I cannot sleep." Rather a case of conscience. The whole affair is surrounded in mystery, and Mr. and Mrs. Grant do not feel disposed to place their suspicious on any one.

A few words of our beaching season, briefly. The Marshall house at Sport harbor, the only first-class hotel, under the management of its gentlemanly and urbane proprietor, increases its good name and gains business and a host of friends each succeeding year. He gives his guests the very best of every thing in its season, and enough of it, more than can be said of some other houses. Mr. Marshall has had a splendid season, and nothwithstanding his addition of a two-story cottage 56x38 feet on the ground, he has been crowded the most of the season, having guests from all sections. The "Goodwin," near by, has had a successful season, as have the "Whiting" and the "Norwood." At the Long beach, the "New-Hampshire" by Warren, also the "Sea View," by mine host H. M. Perkins, have each had a full company. The Cape Neddick house, at Cape Neddick, has had its most successful season thus far. It is not a matter of wonderment that their business increases year by year from the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Grant do all and everything they can to entertain and please their guests. The Cliff house, at Bald Head cliff, by Theodore Weare, Jr., has done a fair business; but the isolation prevents many (who do not know of the picturesque views) from going there.

Of staging we may say, that the splendid coaches of the joint copartnership of the Thompson House stages and the stages of Messrs. C. L. Grant & Co., have had a most successful season, having, as it were, the control of the business; although the "Harbor" line by J. W. Bragdon has done a fair business. The Sea Cottage stage has been driven by Samuel Horton of your city.

Yours truly, P.

Portsmouth Chronicle

[Entered at the Post-Office at Portsmouth, N.H., as second-class matter.]

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1879.

The Maine Election.

Returns of the election have been received from all the senatorial districts, and from all the representative districts except one. The results are as follows:

In the Senate, the republicans have chosen nineteen members; the democrats and greenbackers combined have chosen twelve.

In the House of Representatives, the republicans have chosen ninety members; the democrats and greenbackers combined have chosen sixty. In one district the result is in doubt.

The republican majority, on a joint ballot, will be thirty-seven. Under the constitution, the Legislature, on a joint ballot, chooses the executive councillors and all other State officers.

It is reported that in the town of Canaan, Somerset county, the vote returned is twenty-three in excess of the legal number of voters, as shown by the poll list. The town gave a large democratic majority, and should its entire vote be vitiated it would make the senatorial vote in Somerset county very close, and possibly add to the republican majority in the Senate.

Last year the Senate stood twenty republicans to eleven greenbackers and democrats; in the House the republicans had sixty-five members, and the opposition eighty-six — making a majority of twelve against the republicans on joint ballot.

The greenodembackracy's State central committee this year claimed, before the election, that the result would be as follows: In the Senate, five republicans to twenty-six fusionists; in the House, forty-three republicans to 108 fusionists. Joint ballot majority against honest money and national good faith, eighty-six!

New Hampshire State Fair.

At the State fair at Dover, on the 16th inst., two races were trotted. The first was for horses of the three-minute class, and was won by Roland in three straight heats, in 2:34, 2:35 and 2:33. The second race, for 2:22 horses, was won by Capt. Emmons in 2:26 1-2, 2:25 and 2:25, Dick Moore taking the first heat in 2:28.

A seventy-five-hours foot race commenced at eight o'clock in the evening in a tent track, with thirteen laps to the mile. There were seventeen starters.

Massachusetts Conventions.

The republican State convention of Massachusetts met at Worcester on the 16th inst., and Ex-Gov. Alexander H. Bullock was chosen permanent president.

An informal ballot for a candidate for governor gave Charles Devens one vote, Henry L. Pierce 505, John D. Long 669; and Hon. John D. Long's nomination was then made unanimous, on motion of Hon. Harvey Jewell.

The ticket was completed by the nomination of Byron Webster for lieutenant-governor; Henry B. Pierce for secretary of State; Charles Endicott for treasurer; George Marston for attorney-general; Charles R. Ladd for auditor.

The platform, which was adopted without a dissenting voice, is a "stalwart" one.

The "Butler democrats" of Massachusetts met at Worcester on the 17th inst., to do the work laid out for them by Messrs. Simmons, Usher and McDavitt. The leading men of the democratic party were generally conspicuous by their absence, although there were a few present who have been prominent in democratic work in the past. As the convention was called to nominate B. F. Butler, of course there was no excitement.

Hon. John K. Tarbox was chosen president, and spoke a piece on taking the chair.

The democratic State central committee was denounced as a weak body, and arrangements made for electing a set more in accord with the democratic gospel as expounded by Ben Butler.

A "Reform" Administration.

The State of Georgia was one of the earliest of the reconstructed southern States to throw off the "corrupt carpet-bag rule," and has ever since been under undisputed control of democrats, all its officers being "southern gentlemen born, sah!"

On the 16th inst. the State treasurer, Renfro, sent his resignation to the House, accompanied with a proposition to return $6000 interest he received on the State's money. A resolution to accept his resignation was discussed all day without final action. It is reported that the commissioner of agriculture also contemplates resigning. Gov. Colquitt, the secretary of State and the school commissioner are the only officials in the State house against whom investigations are not pending. The banks are refusing all loans, alleging that the State deposits, amounting to $400,000, have been withdrawn. Uneasiness exists in business circles—as well it may. Reform is necessary.

News and Notes.

Cetewayo, the Zulu chief, was captured by the British on the 28th of August.

James Redpath, proprietor of Redpath's lyceum bureau, has been missing from New York for two weeks, and his friends are much alarmed.

Quite a stir has been created at Stoughton, Mass., by the public separation, before Justice Marden, of Rev. H. B. Smith and wife. Rev. Mr. Smith is the pastor of the Universalist church, and has always been held in high esteem. The officiousness of outside sympathizers is one of the causes assigned for the infelicity.

The British steamship Lovaine, reported as probably lost on the passage from Baltimore to Liverpool, has arrived at the latter port.

The Maine State fair opened at Portland on the 16th inst., with a good display.

Advices from Sitka report a much improved condition of affairs, owing to the measures taken by Capt. Beardsley of the corvette Jamestown and the formation of a civil government.

It is reported from Graham, Texas, that H. B. Dalton, while driving to Fort Worth with his little son, was shot and killed by James Gunn, who rode up to the wagon, accusing Dalton of having millet in the wagon belonging to Gunn. A quarrel ensued and Dalton drew a knife, when Gunn shot him dead. The sheriff and posse are pursuing the murderer.

Since the passage of the arrears of pensions act the payments under it have reached $16,000,000. The appropriation made for this purpose was $25,000,000. Of the $9,000,000 remaining undisturbed, the commissioner of pensions on the 16th inst. asked for $3,000,000, and it is now thought that the residue will be paid out by November 1st.

Seven men of the ship Sea King, of Richmond, Me., were arrested in Philadelphia on the 16th inst. for the murder of the second mate, Charles E. Brooks, on the passage from Hull, England. Dr. Sturman, of Charlton county, Mo., was assassinated while travelling along the road in a buggy on the night of the 14th inst.; some twenty buckshot and two pistol balls entered his body, killing him instantly. There is no clew to the murderers. Dr. Sturman was a very desperate and quarrelsome man, universally feared by his neighbors, and "it is thought that no particular pains will be taken to ferret out the perpetrators of the crime." Henry Merritt, runner for a soap maker of Buffalo, N. Y., was shot and stabbed to death in Wyandotte county, Kansas, on the 14th inst., and his body placed on a railroad track, where it was torn to pieces by a train. L. A. Contard, a school teacher, was shot and killed at Bayou, Goula La., on the 16th by Dr. Stell.

New Hampshire Items.

Col. James Flanders of Henniker, a soldier of 1812, was found dead in his yard Sunday night, the 14th inst., where he had gone to milk a cow. His age was over eighty years.

The Second Regiment, New Hampshire National Guard, went into camp on the 16th inst. for a four days' muster at "Camp Natt Head."

Mrs. Mary Young of Rumney, aged sixty-two years, died on the 15th inst. from injuries received by a locomotive on the previous Friday. She attempted to cross the track and the engine struck her in the back.

The dwelling house and barn owned by Dowing Varney at Gonic village, Rochester, were entirely consumed by fire on the forenoon of the 17th inst. The fire originated in the stable, and is supposed to have caught from sparks from the chimney. Loss about $6000; insured.

Prudent Stock Speculations.

The Stock Exchange never presented such an admirable condition for profitable and rapid stock operations. There never before have been so many fortunes made by quick fluctuations and skillful manipulations. Careful and reasonable people only operate through the combination system of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which enables those with large or small means to invest and realize handsome profits, which are divided pro rata among the shareholders every thirty days. New combinations are constantly forming. From $25 to $10,000 can be safely invested with splendid opportunities for quick profits. An Illinois grain dealer made $13,220.41 in two investments. A Michigan farmer invested $50, which yielded $133.14. He made by three reinvestments over $3000. A Wisconsin country merchant made $4,249.16 in four combinations; and others have done equally as well. New explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

An Individual Inquiry of Every Reader.

The opportunities occur for a fortune to every man it is said, sooner or another, but it seldom does a man really know the exact opportunity. The newspapers every now and then tell of some person who has drawn a hundred thousand or a thirty thousand dollar prize in the long-established Louisiana State Lottery, which is drawn on the second Tuesday of every month, at New Orleans, La. But does it ever strike the reader on reading about this lucky man that a similar good fortune might attend him if he were to send two dollars for the next, which is the 135th drawing, to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, or same person at No. 319 Broadway, and see what fortune has in store?

AROUND HOME.

Mr. John Dixon on the 17th inst. bought from the schooner Flying Cloud three sword fish which averaged four hundred and fifty pounds each in weight, and sent them to Boston the same day.

In a list of recent admiralty decisions, published in the Nautical Gazette, we find the following: "On the evening of Nov. 2d, 1875, a collision occurred in the East river, near Throgg's Neck, between the schooner Jesse Williamson, Jr., owned by Sise and others, and the tug Blanche Paige and barge James A. Bender, by which the latter was sunk. Justice Waite decides that the tug was at fault in not carrying proper lights, but that no blame can attach to the schooner, and that the libellants in the case of Sise et al. are entitled to recover $1,076.74, with interest from November 20th, 1877."

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17; Batchelder, J.

The complaint on which John W. Witham and Charles Webster were arraigned last week was nol pros'd, and they were arraigned on new complaints as follows: Curtis C. Lamos, alias Charles Webster, for breaking and entering the residence of George T. Ball in Greenland on the night of the 25th of July; and Witham for assisting in disposing of property, knowing the same to have been stolen. Lamos pleaded guilty; Witham pleaded not guilty.

Mr. and Mrs. Ball testied as to the valuation of the property, and identified that produced in court, which Lamos tried to dispose of in Manchester, as belonging to them and being stolen from them.

Curtis C. Lamos was then put upon the stand and testified as follows: Belong in Berwick, Maine; entered the house about midnight; between nine and ten o'clock in the evening stood on the ground near the house; looked through the slats of the blinds, the window and curtain both being up; could not recognize the person he saw standing there; stood there some minutes; did not see them put anything down; watched about five minutes, and then jumped over a fence at the back part of the house, sat down under a tree and went to sleep; slept about two hours; woke up and started towards the house; know it was about midnight as he looked at his watch; went there with the intention of getting something to eat; saw a window in the back part of the house open eight or ten inches; raised it up and went in, passed through two rooms, then went down cellar and got something to eat; then went up stairs to second story, and found the doors of both front chambers open; went into the room in which he saw the person standing the first part of the night; struck a match, and saw a man lying on the bed; went to the bureau and pulled out drawer, and while in the act of taking the jewelry heard a lady scream; left the room as soon as possible, passed down stairs the same way he went up, and jumped out of the same window he got in at, stopping to shut it down, as it had a side catch; then ran into the orchard back of the house, around the house, crossed the road, crossed through several fields to the Concord railroad track; then went to Newmarket junction and hid the jewelry under the corner of a building, rolled up in a handkerchief; went from there to Newmarket, and in a day or two went to Lewiston, Me., from there to Brunswick; then to Lewiston to meet a man; went on foot the most of the way. Have known Witham a number of years; had made arrangements to meet him; saw him in Concord one week ago last Friday.

The rest of Lamos' story relates to his agreeing to meet Witham in Manchester, where the latter was to introduce him to a man whom he could dispose of the property to. After several meetings they rode from Concord to Manchester on Sunday night, and on Monday morning visited the saloon of John Foss; when Foss came in, Lamos said he had a watch and chain and other articles of jewelry he wanted to sell him. Foss told him he would take the ring to a jeweller to ascertain its value; after being gone some time he returned and made an offer of $80 for watch and chain and ring. Foss asked Lamos where he got the articles; told him about three miles out of Portsmouth. Witham was present during the conversation. Lamos told Foss he would sell the watch, chain and ring for $100; Foss then offered $90, which Lamos agreed to accept; Foss told latter to wait until the bank opened, when he would get the money. About half past ten o'clock two officers came into the room, arrested witness and Witham, and took both to station house.

John Foss of Manchester, the man to whom Lamos and Witham tried to sell the stolen jewelry, testified that Witham came into his saloon in that city and told him that a friend of his had some stolen goods he wanted to sell, and asked him if he would buy them. The man came there, and after some conversation in relation to the price, and their telling him they got the articles from a rich farmer living about three miles out of Portsmouth, Foss informed Detective Prescott of the affair, and he acting on the information of Foss went to Carney's saloon on Manchester street and arrested the fellows.

Detective Prescott and Officer Bean of Manchester testified to the arrest, and the finding of the property.

Evidence enough appearing to hold Witham as an accessory after the fact, in assisting in the disposal of the stolen jewelry, the two men were put under $600 bonds each for their appearance at the October term of the supreme court, in default of which they went to jail.

THE FIRST ELEPHANT BROUGHT TO THE UNITED STATES.

In an article relating to elephants, from a St. Louis paper, that is going the rounds of the press, is a curiously erroneous statement with regard to what is said to have been the first animal of the kind ever brought to this country. The story is that it was a female, bearing the name of "Betsey;" that she was brought here from Upper India by a man named Bailey, and after being exhibited in New York State and the New England States for four years, she got one night into the barn-yard of a farmer, near Albany, N. Y., who did not know what such a moving mass of animal flesh was, got his gun, and put a bullet into her that produced instant death. Were the story true, it would have been a very stupied fellow not to know what an elephant was at first sight, if from nothing else than the pictures of such animals in children's books; unless he lived in a benighted region where things of that kind were never seen. By an advertisement in a Portsmouth paper, it appears that as early as October, 1815, an elephant was to be seen here at Treadwell's tavern, (wherever that may have been,) the dimensions of which are given as follows: twenty feet from end of trunk to tip of tail; thirteen feet around the body; eight feet high; weight, 6000 pounds; a moderate sized animal in comparison with the monsters of the kind seen in our streets the past summer, among others smaller, in the shows of Barnum and Forepaugh. There are various people among us, besides, who say that "Betsey" was exhibited here in an outbuilding at Fort's hotel in Market street, (the Storer building, burned in the fire of 184--,) in the summer of 1817, and that after leaving here, she was killed in mere wantonness by a miscreant who fired at her from the woods at Alfred, Me., while on her way in the night to some other place. While all reprehended so dastardly an act, and wished the perpetrator of it might be in some way punished, it is said to have been regarded as singular that a single bullet could have caused the death of so large an animal, when a few years afterwards, hundreds of bullets were required before one of the species, that had become dangerous, could be killed in the national collection of wild animals at Exeter 'Change, London, which would be a curious place, by the way, to look for wild animals now unless it might be the "bulls," and "bears" that are seen everywhere about stock-exchanges in these later days.

MEMOIR OF W. H. Y. HACKETT.

A number of our citizens have been the happy recipients recently of a neat volume of the memoirs of the late Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, written by his son, Frank W. Hackett, Esq. The volume is prefaced with an excellent likeness of the well-known features of our late respected and lamented townsman, taken from a faithful photograph at the age of seventy. The story of his life, a large part of which was passed in Portsmouth, is very interesting, and loses nothing from the simplicity and good taste which reflects so much credit upon the author. To those who knew Mr. Hackett well, it presents a true and faithful picture of his life, and will prove a valuable keepsake, bringing from time to time freshly to mind the traits, illustrative stories, and conservative wisdom of one whose friendship was valued in life, and whose memory will long be cherished with heartfelt respect.

B.

A Missionary in Japan.

A book entitled "Life and Adventures in Japan," by E. Warren Clark, published by the American Tract Society, gives the experiences and adventures of the author during a residence of four years at the city of Sidzuoka, in the interior of the country, where he engaged to take charge of a scientific school and teach the Japanese youth in chemistry, and other branches of study. The Japanese government employed him at a liberal salary.

When the contract, which was voluminous, after the usual Japanese style, was presented to him for his signature, he found that it contained among the terms and conditions a clause forbidding him to teach Christianity and binding him to silence on all religious subjects for the term of three years. Whereupon he sent word to the government that unless the objectionable clause was withdrawn the contract could not be accepted. After a delay of three days the "bigoted Japanese" government returned answer that the clause against teaching Christianity might be stricken out.

This action of the authorities was certainly as great a concession as our own enlightened government would have made under similar circumstances, especially as they were not hiring a missionary.

Clark's subsequent career, as narrated by himself, proved the sagacity of the government in their wish to prevent him from teaching Christianity. Probably they preferred to make their own selections when engaging the services of religious teachers.

Mr. Clark may have been a good professor of chemistry, etc., but as a missionary he was no better than ordinary and not so good as the Japanese deserved, if we may believe his own testimony in regard to their kindness to dumb animals. They do not wantonly destroy the lives of harmless birds for the sake of an afternoon, sport or to gratify a morbid desire to inflict suffering upon unoffending dumb creatures. Our volunteer missionary, however seemed to take delight in the useless slaughter of birds, "so wild that they were tame," simply as a means of passing away time which a devout and conscientious Christian missionary would have devoted to the salvation of pagan souls.

He also tells of making a flying visit to Yokohama, a journey which he accomplished in a day and a half, though at the sacrifice of the life of a borrowed horse, through over-driving. The moral of which is, that a missionary may drive a horse to death and boastfully tell of it as an interesting incident and a good joke.

The Japanese are remarkable for their kindness to animals. The wild fowl which resort to the ponds and lakes of the country in immense flocks are so free from molestation by their human neighbors that our zealous missionary, taking advantage of their confidence in man, could shoot them as easily as one might shoot chickens in a farm yard. It was while engaged in this wanton sport that he was himself shot at by some of the indignant people, probably as an intimation of their dislike of such missionary labor.

It is evident, from a perusal of the book, that Mr. Clark was treated with the greatest respect and consideration, so long as he confined his attention to the duties he was hired to perform. It was his fault if his cruelty to animals made him an object of suspicion to the unsophisticated people, who judging him by his actions and finding him deficient in mercy, naturally formed a poor opinion of his religion and would not be converted.—Times.

Political.

An examination of the vouchers showing the cost of Gen. Ewing's investigation in the forty-fourth Congress to prove that resumption could not possibly take place at the time fixed by law, reveals the fact that this inquiry cost the people six thousand dollars.

A pitiable case of sectional hate is related by the Clarksburg (W. Va.) Telegram. In 1862 a man named Beasley was repeatedly assaulted for opposing secession, and as a matter of safety entered the Union army, enlisting in Co. F, Tenth West Virginia Infantry. In the same year while visiting his home on leave of absence he was attacked on account of his Union principles by two men named Fox, and one of the assailants was wounded in the leg. Beasley returned to his company, where he was tried by court martial and acquitted. In 1863 the records of his case were burned at Beverly. In 1878 Fox procured an indictment against him for assault with intent to kill in 1862, sixteen years before, and Beasley was arrested and lodged in jail, his ten motherless children being thrown on the mercy of a few friends. He is very poor and unable to employ counsel for a proper defence, the county court refusing to allow an order for a fee for that purpose. This is not wondered at when eleven members of the court were secessionists and three of the eleven confederate officers. In the same county there are sixty-nine indictments against rebel soldiers for arson, burglary, robbery, grand larceny, etc., yet none have been prosecuted, but this Union man is rotting in jail because he cannot get a fair trial.

Gimlet-Pointed Screws.

Mechanics of adult age can easily remember when gimlet-pointed screws came into use, within the last thirty years, superseding the blunt-pointed ones before used, and the former have been considered a modern invention. But we have seen this morning half a dozen screws with excellent gimlet points which were taken from an old piano, and bear unmistakable evidences of age, and of having been made before screws were made by machinery. The piano is inscribed "Jacobus Kirckman, Fecit, Londini, 1755," and the screws are doubtless of that date. The most curious point in the case is that after such screws as these had been once made, mechanics should have gone on using the square-pointed screws for nearly a century.—Worcester Gazette.

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. For sale by all Druggists and respectable Dealers generally.

A Wise Legislator.

He is successful because he has the manly courage to rise above all personal motives or interests and cast his vote and influence on the side of measures which will contribute to the well being of his fellow-men. The good of the many, even though it proves injurious to the interests of the few, is the maxim of the wise legislator. But certain men will never admit the wisdom of this doctrine, any more than some selfish private practitioners will admit the superlative value of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, because these remedies have injured their practice. Of course, no man in his right senses will pay a physician $5.00 for a consultation, a bottle of bitters, and a powder, when a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and a bottle of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, both costing but $1.25, will accomplish the same result, viz cleanse the liver and blood, regulate and tone the stomach, and impart a healthful action to the bowels and kidneys.

—Little girl to juvenile neighbor: "My father has family prayers every morning. Does yours?" "No, indeed, (indignantly;) my father is a democrat."

—A Dutchman, the proprietor of a Colorado line of stages, was collecting two dollars apiece from the passengers by way of fare. All had paid except one, and he, drawing a large revolver, pointed it at the head of the collector and hoarsely asked: "Won't that pass me?" Perfectly unmoved the Dutchman said: "O, no; we eat den tings here. Two tollars, please."

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any remedy or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus removing the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the GREAT Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and parts with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Eruptions; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, B. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 8, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not lived by clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

Druggists and Booksellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mercury Poison, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Tetter, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Equally has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish tinge in the eyes and on the body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular bowels, you may safely infer that your liver is torpid Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest of all discoveries of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

RADICAL CURE

For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of plants and herbs in their essential form, free from overbrous contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has found its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been waited upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, at considerable expense and personal trouble, spread its good name throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable.
HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & CO.

HAS cured me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering.
GEO. W. HOUGHTON, WALTHAM, MASS.

I FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure.
D. W. GRAY, M.D., MCGRATHS, IOWA.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.
WM. BOWEN, 226 PINE ST., ST. LOUIS.

AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success.
WM. W. ARMSTRONG, 159 HARRISON AVE., BOSTON.

WE have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year and can say candidly that we never sold a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint.
S. D. BALDWIN & CO., WASHINGTON, IND.

THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so remarkable that it seemed to those who had suffered without relief from any of the nauseous nostrums that it could not be true. I therefore made it my duty to it before Seth J. Thomas, Esq., Justice of the Peace, Boston.
GEORGE F. DINSMORE, DRUGGIST, BOSTON.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, Gen'l Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Montezuma Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which rolled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. THE MASSACRE AT DARTMOOR PRISON IN 1815.

A more fiendish outrage was never committed upon prisoners of war than the above, which occurred on the 6th of April, 1815, while the war of that time was in progress between the United States and Great Britain. Among the prisoners were those who had been captured on board the privateer Harlequin, of Portsmouth. The perpetrator of the infamy was a Captain Shortland, who was chief in command of the prison-guard, and the following, in addition to an evil spirit he manifested toward those in confinement in various ways, was his especial incentive for committing it. A short time before he had occasion to be absent from his post for some days, and in taking his departure, he ordered that a pound of very bad hard bread should be served out to the prisoners instead of the pound and a half of soft bread previously given to them among their daily rations. They refused to receive it, and after waiting all day until sunset, burst open the lower gates, went in a body to the storehouse, and demanded the accustomed better article than the vile substitute that was ordered by Shortland to be given them. On the other officers of the garrison coming to understand the matter, they ordered their demands, as an act of justice, to be complied with, and severely reprobated the conduct of Shortland in withholding it from them. When the latter returned and he had learned what the prisoners had done, that their demands had been complied with, and the expression of the other officers with regard to his conduct, in the choice language in which he was accustomed to indulge, he declared his intention to be revenged on the former, and an incident that occurred just at that time, trifling though it was in itself, he gladly seized upon as an opportunity for doing so. While some boys were playing ball in one of the yards of the prison, their ball was knocked over the wall into the barrack-yard, and the sentry on duty refusing to throw it back to them, they managed to get through in pursuit of it. A little excitment that followed drew some of the prisoners together from curiosity to learn the cause of it. This was just what Shortland would have wished, and seizing upon it as a pretext that an insurrection among them was on the point of taking place, he had the soldiers, some hundreds in number, drawn up together, placing himself at the head of them; others were stationed upon the walls around the prison yards, and the alarm-bell was rung,—he having previously caused the doors, with the exception of one in each prison, to be closed, to prevent the prisoners retreating into shelter before he had sufficiently wreaked his vengeance upon them. The prisoners at the time were on the way to their cells in the most orderly manner, after learning the source of the excitement in relation to the boys in their ball playing, but the sound of the bell drew them forth again to learn what had caused the alarm. When about two hundred had gathered in what was known as "Market square," Shortland ordered the soldiers to charge upon them, which they were reluctant to do, seeing no cause for it, but the order being repeated, they made a charge, when the prisoners retreated to their several yards, closing the gates behind them. Shortland himself then re-opened the gates, and ordered the soldiers to fire upon them. Some hesitation occurred on the part of the other officers as to whether it was right to do so under the circumstances, when Shortland seized the musket of one of the soldiers, and discharged it among the unfortunate victims of his animosity. The firing then became general, and many of the prisoners were either killed or wounded. While the remainder were endeavoring, through the limited means left to them by the brutal commanding officer, to get into the prison out of the reach of the musketry, the soldiers upon the walls opened fire upon them, killing some and wounding others. As instances of especial brutality, a man who was wounded in one of the prison yards so badly that he was unable to rise from the ground, and on begging for mercy, five of the miscreants who had become imbued with the spirit of their commander, while others had shown a better feeling, shot him dead on the spot; the soldiers upon the walls kept up a constant fire upon all they saw endeavoring to get into the prisons, and several who had taken shelter in one of the cook-houses, were either killed or wounded by them. To show still further the spirit by which Shortland was actuated, on several occasions he ordered shots to be fired at night through the windows of the prisons when the prisoners were sleeping in their hammocks, for no other reason than that a light was seen in some of them,—as often as from any other cause, it was said, when some prisoner was reading his bible before retiring to rest. A more diabolical wretch it is not easy to conceive; besides his great crime of the massacre, devising as he did all sorts of annoyances and privations to the unfortunate Americans in his keeping; sometimes stopping a third of the food they were entitled to; at others, for a week together, preventing those who had money from procuring the additional comforts it would have afforded them.

The prisoners of the Harlequin were first taken into Halifax; from thence they were marched on a very cold Sabbath, amid a pelting rain-storm, seven miles back into the country, where they were kept in confinement until a transport was ready on the coast to convey them to England and the tender mercies of their captors, in which so many of their countrymen, in both the wars of 1776 and 1812, had such ample experience. It is much to be regretted that so little is known of the interior life of Dartmoor Prison during the time the Americans were confined there, when there were living so many within the memory of scores still among us who could have told all about it from their own sad experience. One of the reminiscences that survive of it is that the walls, two or three in number, enclosed within each other, were hung at their summits with bells upon wires, so arranged that they could not be touched without setting them all jingling; thus rendering impossible, by giving an alarm, any attempt to escape by scaling them. The first lieutenant of the Harlequin, a Portsmouth shipmaster, who had largely invested in the enterprise, had the precaution, in case of capture, to enclose in the waistband of a pair of drawers a considerable sum of money in gold, and which he took care to have on when leaving the privateer for the British man-of-war that captured them. Besides the comforts the money procured for him while in prison, when they had been seven months in confinement, he made his escape on a dark rainy night by bribing the guard, with six others whom he aided by the same means with his money to do so; and it is a sad fact for human honor and honesty, that half the number never had the grace to repay him for what he had done for them under circumstances one would suppose might have excited their lasting gratitude. It would be very interesting to know how they escaped recapture after leaving the prison, and by what means they got to their own native land after leaving the English coast; but no one is living who can tell the story. Greenbackism in Maine.

A careful survey of the battle-field in Maine leads to some interesting conclusions. Of course the republicans make a clean sweep, according to the latest figures, and will once more have the whole State government in their hands; but that point would be of minor consequence should the parties still maintain their relative force and spirit. Here is where the interest comes in. It was quite generally supposed that the large vote which the greenback candidates received last year would set them up permanently in business, but more careful inquiries lead to another conviction. The greenback party as a mere party of finance never had much hold in any eastern State, and probably not one-half of those who voted the greenback ticket believe in greenbackism. They took the course they did from general dissatisfaction with affairs, or what is called sore-headedness. The leaders went out from both parties, and denounced both, but a large part of the followers were democrats who were willing to vote for anything to beat the republicans. Hereafter they will vote the old ticket, and the contest will once more be between the democrats and republicans. In other words, the greenback party is demolished because it had no cause for existence, and next year it will fall away and finally die, its members drifting back to their old party allegiance or trying to organize a new party. The greenback party in Maine was little else but a party of repudiation, of communism, and of wild notions that could not withstand one defeat. It was a dangerous force in politics. The republicans are sure that the willingness of the democrats to coalesce with greenbackism damaged that party a good deal. Doubtless the democrats confidently hoped for a different result, or they would have taken a different and more independent course; and many of them feel that it would have been better to have preserved their independence entirely.

The New Haven Union, the able organ of the New England greenbackers, immediately after the Maine election plainly said that there was no hope of the greenback party carrying a single State in the presidential contest without democratic aid, and argued for the support of Ewing, the democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, by the greenbackers of that State. In the end the democratic tail will waggle the greenback dog everywhere.

News and Notes.

At Louisville, Ky., Frank H. Lensing, while insane from sickness, poured kerosene over himself and set it on fire, burning himself to death.

The Spanish steamer Puerto Rico on the night of the 16th inst. ran down a schooner off Patuxet river, cutting her in two and sinking her instantly. The steamer laid by all night with boats out, but found no trace of any men; she lost a couple of spars, and returned to Baltimore, sailing again on the 18th.

Three North Carolina newspapers are owned and run by colored men.

A robber found Winnie Roberts, aged sixteen, alone in a farmhouse at Wadesburg, Mo. He commanded her to give him all the money in the building, but she refused. After searching a little, and finding only $10, he threw her on a bed, drew a pistol, and swore that he would kill her if she did not give the information. She thrust her hand under the pillow, leading him to suppose that she was getting some money, but what she drew out was a revolver, with which she shot him twice.

The electric lighting apparatus for the lobbies of the capitol at Washington, at an expense of $5000, will be in working order when Congress meets.

George Sumner Chipman, a student of Middletown (Conn.) University, aged twenty-four, died in Stamford on the 17th inst., having been poisoned by eating toadstools or poison mushrooms.

A dastardly outrage was perpetrated by the strikers at Fall River, Mass., on the 17th inst. A party of French operatives who had been brought from Canada were passing through the streets with their families, including many women and children, when they were set upon by the strikers and stoned and otherwise ill-treated, the women and children sharing the abuse alike with the men. They finally escaped only by separating and dispersing among the crowd.

The ceremonies of transferring the Connecticut battle-flags to the new State capitol, at Hartford on Wednesday, 17th inst., were particularly impressive. The march of nearly 10,000 veterans of the late war, carrying old and tattered banners, was witnessed probably by nearly 100,000 people. The railroads brought 40,000 persons to the city.

A supposed mad dog was killed in Dearing, Me., a few days ago, but not until it had bitten several persons.

It is reported that the steamship Great Eastern is to run between Portland, Me., and England, in the interest of the Grand Trunk railway.

A serious financial crisis is predicted in France, caused by the failure of crops and unhealthy speculation.

English merchants are making large purchases of American cloths to supply the markets of the East Indies.

The Massachusetts board of railroad commissioners has recommended to the managers of the New York & New England railroad that they discontinue the use of the whistle within the limits of Boston.

New Hampshire State Fair.

The second day of the fair the attendance was large, being estimated at from 8,000 to 10,000. The annual address was delivered by Hon. Daniel Needham, and remarks were also made by Gov. Head and Hon. Hosea B. Perkins of New York. There were two horse-races, there being seven starters in the 2:30 class, Ben Franklin winning in 2:30 1-2, 2:29 1-2, 2:30 1-2, Black Pilot and Mohawk Prince also taking one heat each. The 2:27 class race was between Queechie Maid and Stella Blake, and was won by the former, in 2:35, 2:35 1-4, 2:37 3-4, Stella Blake winning one heat in 2:31.

Fatal Fire in Boston.

A three-story tenement house on Gold street, South Boston, was burned on the night of the 17th inst., shortly before midnight. All three floors were occupied, there being on the ground floor five persons; on the second floor a family named Pfeiffer, consisting of the father, mother and three children; and on the upper floor Geo. Holdried and wife, and a family named Morath, numbering four persons. A police officer discovered the fire, under the stairs of the ground floor, and rang in an alarm, returning to the house as quickly as possible; but the fire had by that time reached the top of the building, which seems to have been constructed with especial reference for man-trapping qualities, the flights of stairs being one above the other. Mrs. Gillespie, living on the ground floor, was the only person on that floor to suffer injury; she was overcome by smoke, and though rescued alive will probably die. Mrs. Pfeiffer and two children escaped from the second-story windows by jumping, but were badly burned; Mr. Pfeiffer and one child were suffocated and their bodies burned. Mr. Holdried ran down the burning stairways from the upper story and was horribly and it is supposed fatally burned; Mrs. Holdried was burned to death in the building. Mr. Morath dropped his son out of a third-story window, and then jumped out himself; the boy had an arm broken and received severe internal injuries, and the man's neck was broken. Mrs. Morath and her daughter also jumped out; the girl was but little hurt, but the mother had a leg and arm broken, and her back severely injured. The fire is supposed to have been set by an incendiary. The value of the building was about $2000.

A Wise Legislator.

He is successful because he has the manly courage to rise above all personal motives or interests and cast his vote and influence on the side of measures which will contribute to the well being of his fellow-men. The good of the many, even though it proves injurious to the interests of the few, is the maxim of the wise legislator. But certain men will never admit the wisdom of this doctrine, any more than some selfish private practitioners will admit the superlative value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, because these remedies have injured their practice. Of course, no man in his right senses will pay a physician $5.00 for a consultation, a bottle of bitters, and a powder, when a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and a bottle of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, both costing but $1.25, will accomplish the same result, viz: cleanse the liver and blood, regulate and tone the stomach, and impart a healthful action to the bowels and kidneys.

Portsmouth Grange will picnic with Mr. E. C. Campbell at Newcastle on Wednesday, Oct. 1st. Dinner, including clams and fish chowder, at twelve o'clock. Patrons of Husbandry, and their families, are cordially invited.

Mrs. Elizabeth Foss, who lives near Newmarket ridge in Stratham, was ninety-three years old on the 28th of August. Her mental faculties and general health are good, though her sight and hearing are somewhat impaired, and she bids fair to complete a century. She was born in Dover, her maiden name being Titcomb.

Schooner Elizabeth M. Smith, Capt. Raymond, came off the railway at Kittery on the 13th inst., having been retreenailed and re-calked under superintendence of Mr. Warren Keen. The schooner Cocheco went to sea from the railway on Thursday last, having had a new shoe put on and received a coat of paint.

On Thursday evening at a few minutes past six o'clock, at St. John's church in this city, the rector, Rev. Charles A. Holbrook, united in marriage Capt. Robert W. Huntington, U. S. M. C., and Miss Lizzie Whipple, daughter of the late Major General Amiel W. Whipple, U. S. A. The chancel of the church was very handsomely dressed with floral designs, the work of the bride's friends; and the church was crowded with an interested throng, including many officers of both branches of the national service. Miss Eva Sherburne and Miss Annie Hatch, daughter of Hon. A. R. Hatch, were the bridesmaids. After the ceremony there was a brilliant reception at the bride's residence, which was elaborately decorated in honor of the event. The bridal gifts were numerous and beautiful.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Sept. 18; Bufford, J.

John Sullivan was examined on a charge of cruelty to animals, the case being continued until eleven o'clock A. M., on the 19th, defendant being held in $100 bonds to appear.

THE BOAT RACE.

The managers of the sailing regatta which is to come off in the lower harbor to-morrow, have laid out two courses for the boats to sail over—one course taking the boats outside, which will be the one used if the wind and sea are not too heavy, the other being laid out entirely inside the harbor, for use in case the elements render it necessary. Handbills for the convenience of the boat-skippers have been printed, containing plain sailing directions for both the courses, and one will be furnished to each person entering a boat for the race, at the time the entry is made. The prizes to be awarded can be seen in the window of J. Dwight Rundlett's drug store.

A TRAVELLING RELIGIONIST.

Elder Arthur A. Waite, Adventist, whom the Portsmouth papers have belabored so recently while holding his temperance and religious meetings in that city, is certainly a genius in his way, possessing great imitative powers which are the secret of his drawing the large crowds that follow him wherever he goes. Since the camp meeting closed at Seabrook he has been holding forth there within a large tent he carries with him of a seating capacity of 3000. Possibly Mr. Waite may be disreputable, his institution a money-making one, conducted under the guise of a religious cloak, but there is one thing sure, this man can't live on nothing, more than any other man of the Gospel—spiritual food alone won't support him, and the amount of contribution is optional with his audiences, so why is it any more harm to collect money in a tent for preaching any more than in a church for the same purpose? The doctrine Mr. Waite preaches, if last Monday night's discourse was a fair sample, if followed, will make a good man better, and it certainly will make a bad man decent, at least, if he has any disposition at all to be respectable—Portsmouth editors included.—Exeter Gazette.

We infer from the above that our brother of the Gazette attended Mr. Waite's service, which we are very glad of, as he—the editor—evidently has large room for improvement before he will be any better than he ought to be. Possibly our Exeter brethren are not included in the number of bad men whom Mr. Waite's doctrine will make decent if they follow it; but we hope better things of them all, though the Gazette man's unjust reference to "the Portsmouth papers" and "Portsmouth editors" is strong corroborative evidence of the correctness of the doctrine of total depravity.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening.

Request of Daniel J. Adams to be appointed special police without pay at the creek was granted.

Request of George Bilbruck for a sidewalk in front of building on Court and Water streets was referred to committee on streets.

Communication from Andrew J. Penhallow, informing the board he would sell to the city a certain amount of land near Pickering street for $100, was received.

Voted that the board visit the premises at such time as the mayor may appoint.

Petition from the residents on Richards avenue for a gaslight was referred to committee on street lights.

Notice from the counsel of Thomas Quinn that they had served writ on the city for injuries received by Quinn by a fall on Atkinson street, Dec. 18th, 1878, was received. Voted, that the city solicitor be authorized to defend the city in this suit, and employ other counsel if necessary.

City Solicitor Foster appeared before the board, in relation to the following statement: That the counsel for the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, the city of Dover and of Portsmouth have prepared an agreement to refer to three judges of the supreme court the one question of the cost of construction of the railroad, so far as the referees may hold those questions to be proper to be called in question by the Eastern railroad, the railroad agreeing to abide by the decision of such referees, and to forever waive all other defences against such lease.

The following resolution was passed; Resolved that the city of Portsmouth, as a stockholder in the Portsmouth and Dover railroad, will ratify any agreement for arbitration which shall receive the sanction of the counsel employed by said city, by city of Dover, and the Portsmouth railroad.

Committee to whom was referred the claim of Annie Noble for the refunding of taxes recommended that the request be not granted. Report accepted and adopted.

Committee on police were authorized to investigate as to the needed supplies in the station house, and report. Adjourned.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 17th.

In spite of the efforts of many to keep down the presidential question until next year, it will come up and men will talk about it and take sides upon it and warm up over it, even at this early day. The events of the pending campaigns promote this result, and it cannot be resisted. Mr. Blaine's signal victory in Maine, Mr. Conkling's able and stubborn control of his party in New York, Mr. Sherman's financial policy and Gen. Grant's silent force all provoke attention and point to an animated contest in the republican party, while the triumph of Tilden over Tammany in New York, and the Ewing campaign in Ohio, bring into view the antagonism between the New York and the Ohio candidates on the democratic side.

With these facts in view, I have just had a talk with a government official, high in favor and authority, who, I should premise, is a "Sherman man," but takes a very practical view of things. He says that before mid-winter we shall have a heated controversy among republicans as to the nomination, in spite of all efforts to postpone it. This the friends of Sec'y Sherman deprecate more than any other class, because they realize that the supporters of other candidates are more united against Sherman than against any other of the leading rivals. That is, more of the supporters of Blaine, Grant, Conkling, Windham, Chandler, and Washburne would prefer either of the contending candidates than Sherman, and the supporters of Conkling and Grant in particular would fight Sherman to the bitter end. While this official is in favor of Sherman, therefore, and believes his chance is good, he realizes the necessity of caution and delay in bringing on the fifiht. As to Grant, he believes finally he will not come before the convention at all, the "Grant men" using the "movement" merely as a means of rallying a force for controlling the convention to suit themselves in the end. Blaine he believes to have the most enthusiasm at his back, east and west, and possibly south, (next to Grant,) and also to have a good deal of the solid support such as Sherman holds. He believes also that, should Sherman be formidable, Blaine will be the rallying point of Conkling's and Chandler's friends, and of some of the Windom and Washburne men. He sees no chance for Conkling or Chandler, but believes they, like the Grant men, will try to hold together merely for the purpose of falling in finally for the winning man, and seeming to control the nomination. Windom he looks upon as the most promising man in case a "dark horse" is wanted, but he don't anticipate that; and as for Washburne, he is a very remote possibility. The summing up of all this appears to be that this official believes the contest to be between Blaine and Sherman, with his prejudice bearing towards Sherman as probable, but his fears deprecating an early "movement" for fear of provoking too emphatic a combination upon Blaine as the general favorite of the stalwart republicans.

The speculations of this official touching the democratic candidates were not as clear or as extended. He thinks that Tilden is necessary to the democrats as the only practicable man who can expect eastern support. But the chances are at present against him, for the feeling west and south against him is intense and is being worked very industriously. He don't "take stock" in the reported throat-cutting of the Ohio candidates, but thinks they are working for victory, and expects one of their men to be the democratic candidate for President, unless southern and western promises should weaken before eastern influences and the fear of losing New York. KNOX.

Political.

It is now reported that Berry, democrat, is elected to Congress from the third district of California, beating McKenna, the republican candidate.

The Wisconsin democrats have learned something. Last year they united with the greenbackers and put out a soft-money platform. This year they declare for honest money and no entangling alliances.

One case of alleged bribery in Maine has been tried. Charles B. Gilman brought Edwin Noyes, of Waterville, before Justice Ayer, at West Waterville, charging him with payment of $4 to a Frenchman on election day, presumably for his vote. It appeared that the Frenchman was a republican, and that Mr. Noyes paid him $4 for a team used in bringing voters to the polls. The justice, who is a democrat, dismissed the case. Gilman shot at Noyes in 1877, on account of a dispute about a boundary line.

General Sherman has drawn the line by saying that he cannot assent to the proposition that the confederates and the Union men were alike worthy, and therefore he declines to participate in a reunion to be held in Salisbury, N. C., next month. His act is a manly protest against the silly sentimentalism now prevalent, that the rebel was as good as the patriot.

The Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser refers to the death of the "desperado (Dixon) at the hands of a peaceful political opponent." The Meriden (Miss.) Mercury says that Dixon "dashed himself against the sharp point of destiny." Both these papers are democratic, of course; but "the sharp point of destiny" is a new name for the assassin's shot-gun.

General Stuart L. Woodford, who went to Mississippi to attend the trial of the murderers of the Chisolm family, expresses it as his opinion that the trial was a dreary farce from beginning to end. He considers that the prosecution made out a clear and complete case, and that the presiding judge did his duty fearlessly and justly, as did the prosecuting attorney; but the jury only needed time enough for one ballot before returning a verdict of acquittal, as they would have done no matter what evidence had been presented.

The effect which the Maine election had on the Concord People may be inferred from the following head lines of a single article in its last issue: "Crime Rampant! Robbery, Arson, Rape and Murder Running Riot Through the North! New England the Nursery of Iniquity and Violence. No Safety for Life or Property Anywhere North of Mason and Dixon's Line!" They have all got it, but none of the rest that we have seen so bad as that.—Mirror.

The southern programme of sponging out all the war reforms of the national constitution was not well planned to win the admiration of the people in Maine of any party label, and, excepting that reactionary southern project, the so-called democratic party has as yet offered nothing more inviting than the wretched "Ohio idea," which is as distasteful to Maine democrats as the re-actionary southern programme is to northern men generally. Thus all schemes of the Bourbon leaders tend to strengthen their enemies. More distinctly than the result in California, the result in Maine can be regarded as a northern response to the solid south project to "wipe out" the fruits of the war.—Chicago Times (Ind. Dem.)

—The Parisian says:—"In the way of jewelry, all kinds of animals are now made—monkeys, dogs, rats, foxes and caterpillars! I cannot say whether they are pretty or not; they are certainly very amusing."

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the terror of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than anyever before performed by any remedies, or scarcely believed by the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors, speedily removes them, bearing the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cacertainly recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, B. WILSON LORD.
AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 8, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not say he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,
DUNNING BROTHERS.
Druggists and Booksellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1; RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle; CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of drugs, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are vastly larger than standard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated Feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their searching influence. Are does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass tubes, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give universal satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

SYMPTOMS—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, deafness, obstruction, or nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to free the throat, alterations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or thrown into the nasal passages by PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Snuff and Douche sold by druggists.

RADICAL CURE

For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of plants, herbs and barks in their essential form, free from every known contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has built its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been waited upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, from feelings of common and personal trouble, spread to good news throughout the circles in which they moved. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me inestimable.

HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & Co.

It has cured me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering.

GEO. W. HOUGHTON, WALTHAM, MASS.

I FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure.

D. W. GRAY, M. D., MUSCATINE, IOWA.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.

WM. BOWEN, 225 FIFTH ST., ST. LOUIS.

AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success.

WM. W. ARMSTRONG,
159 HARRISON AVE., BOSTON.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 56 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. Webster's Great Speeches.

The great Speeches and Orations of Daniel Webster; with an Essay on Daniel Webster as a Master of English style, by Edwin P. Whipple; Boston, Little, Brown & Co., 1879; pp. 702.

The present appears to be a period of reprints. Publishers are bringing out standard works in new and attractive dress, evidently relying upon excellence of mechanical execution and cheapness of price to ensure a ready sale. The volume before us, however, is the result of no such venture, but makes its appearance in answer to a demand that has a real existence. Webster's works, in six octavo volumes, were published by this same firm nearly thirty years since; it is strange that a selection like this has not long ago been given to the public.

That the speeches and orations of this great statesman, besides being treasure-houses of political wisdom and constitutional law, are models of English style, no educated person of to-day need be told. That Daniel Webster is incomparably the best master for the youth of America to study, who are looking forward to a career at the bar or in public life, will be almost universally conceded. So many of the utterances of our public men have set at defiance the canons of good taste and the rules of rhetoric, that it is refreshing to turn to the clear, plain and therefore forcible, language in which the steady flow of Webster's thought has found expression. Webster and Lincoln have taught us what power dwells in homely Anglo-Saxon phrase. Extracts from the former's speeches are declaimed over and over again in our New England school houses—but teachers and scholars alike should be led to pursue the acquaintance further than is afforded in brief selections from Readers or Speakers. This admirable collection, embraced as it is in a well-printed volume of a size convenient for use, will enable a student of moderate means to familiarize himself with these masterpieces of judicial and forensic eloquence.

While we recognize with a national pride the fact that Webster's speeches will endure, and to remote generations will influence the English-speaking race in giving expression to their highest thoughts in oratory, it is difficult to point out precisely in what it is their superiority consists. We know full well that a burst of eloquence, or even a sustained effort at the bar, or in a public assembly, often may serve a present purpose by holding captive the mind of the hearers, and yet prove tame and spiritless to him who afterwards sits down to read the speech in print. As Mr. Whipple aptly observes, Charles James Fox was probably a more effective speaker in the Commons than Edmund Burke, and probably Henry Clay was a more effective speaker in Congress than Daniel Webster. "When the occasions on which their speeches were made are found gradually to fade from the memory of men, why is it," asks Mr. W., "that the speeches of Fox and Clay have no recognized position in literature while those of Burke and Webster are ranked with literary productions of the first class?" Although he pronounces the reason an obvious one, we wish he had gone a little deeper below the surface than simply telling us that Burke and Webster "succeeded in organizing some masterpieces in their special department of legislation and political science." Let us remark here that they will not be disappointed who resort to this volume in order to study the principles of government, for a large number of Mr. Webster's finest political speeches and a few of his letters are here presented, with such notes as the subject requires. Such a motive will be likely to direct the reader, on finishing the volume, to the great body of Mr. Webster's works; for as one seldom reads a speech of Burke's without desire to enter upon another, and thence through all his works—so Webster will not let the reader rest content with the Plymouth oration alone, or stop short at the reply to Hayne.

The Essay with which the selections are prefaced adds a substantial value to the book. Mr. Whipple has long maintained an admirable reputation as a critic, and lately has almost surpassed himself in his character sketches of Choate and Sumner. We were led to indulge in great anticipations when it was announced that this always interesting, thoughtful and sometimes subtle pen was to employ itself upon such a subject as the English style of Daniel Webster. Perhaps we had promised ourselves too much, for we regret to say these anticipations have not been fully realized. Some parts of the essay are beyond praise, but the work is unevenly done and bears namelessable marks of haste. The estimate of Webster as a writer of English appears to be just, and his excellencies skilfully pointed out—but the article exceeds a proper length, and the question of style is too frequently dropped, and that of politics and statesmanship taken up in its stead.

It may seem ungracious to point out imperfections, but as Mr. Whipple has written an essay on "English style," to be put into the hands of many who will regard his own style as an approved model, we feel that we ought not to refrain from alluding to certain blemishes, which are the more unpardonable because their author knows so well how to avoid them.

In relating the familiar incident that occurred at the argument before the Supreme Court of the United States, in the Dartmouth College case, where Mr. Webster with visible emotion said, "It is, sir, a small college—and yet there are those who love it,"—Mr. Whipple has occasion to tell us that the Chief Justice and his associates were moved to tears. This is his language—the italics, of course, are our own: "Chief Justice Marshall's eyes were filled with tears; and the eyes of the other justices were suffused with a moisture similar to that which afflicted the eyes of the Chief."

When Mr. Whipple by way of illustration brings forward a joke (and he some times presses a veteran into the service) he seems determined that if the whole world does not see the point, it shall not be laid to his fault. For example: "Everybody remembers," says he "the remarks of Sheridan, when Tierney, the prosaic Whig leader of the English House of Commons ventured to bring in as an illustration of his argument, the fabulous but favorite bird of untrained orators, the phœnix, which is supposed always to spring up alive out of its own ashes. It was, said Sheridan, a poulterer's description of a phœnix. That is, [our italics again] Tierney from defect of imagination could not lift his poetic bird above the rank of a common hen or chicken." This retailing a joke by means of a diagram reminds us of an item that once appeared in the dramatic column of a Philadelphia newspaper informing the public that Edwin Booth had finely rendered (the evening before at the Walnut,) the part of Hamlet in Shakspeare's tragedy of that name!

It is likewise amusing to witness how fond certain Boston writers are of quoting a fellow-writer who happens to belong to their set. Mr. Whipple wishes to convey to the reader's mind an adequate conception of the success which Mr. Webster attained in writing State papers, and straightway tells us that Mr. Emerson has a phrase which is "exactly applicable." When the Sage of Concord, thus handsomely introduced, proceeds to submit his "phrase" for our admiration, it turns out to be the expression "superb propriety." Had Emerson fixed his trademark (so to speak) on "splendid fitness," or "gorgeous appropriateness," or even lifted out of the depths of slang the phrase "magnificent level-headed-ness"—we presume it would have served the purpose equally well.

But these are faults that are not without benefit of clergy. In the first three pages of his essay the writer discourses upon the lamentable fact that a schoolboy or college student can not write good English—and for the matter of that he might have added, cannot read aloud. What Mr. Whipple has to say upon this head ought to be carefully considered, for the suggestions he makes are invaluable.

We have space only to add that a familiar but fine engraving of Webster accompanies this volume. Upon the title page is a miniature portrait of Webster in his younger days—a handsome face with those same cavernous eyes,—a face that used to be seen in these streets; and that reminds us that few are now living who can remember when young Webster lived in Portsmouth, and gained strength at this bar from his contests with the giant of the law—Jeremiah Mason.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1879.

The Butler Onslaught.

Our neighbors of Massachusetts are again called upon to confront the pretensions of Benjamin F. Butler, the irrepressible. Taken all in all, the conditions under which the General enters upon this year's crusade are to be considered as less favorable to his fortunes than last. At that time, the numerous adventurers who tramped the State from end to end, and, in blatant harangue, presented his interests from the stump, found a more or less effective slogan in the hard times and prevalent business depression, which, swelled to all the importance possible, through the most unscrupulous exaggeration, was persistently dinned into the ears of the people. That the intelligent and discriminating sentiment of Massachusetts accurately gauged the various issues of the canvass, and then gave Butler and his reckless gang of political buccaneers permission to take prominent seats at the rear, was no more than could naturally be expected, and the same action will be repeated the present year, upon a larger scale.

As we review the field of the coming political contest in the old Commonwealth, it is difficult to see upon what auguries General Butler bases his hopes of a successful raid upon its State administration. Instead of the fruitful themes for dissatisfaction and discontent, used so dexterously by himself and followers in last year's campaign, the signs on every hand betoken a rapidly increasing degree of business prosperity, which threatens to deprive the advocates of the soft money craze of almost their entire stock in trade. Depending mainly for their inspiration upon the difficulties of the past, and accustomed to harp interminably upon prevalent financial trouble and mercantile distress, the cause of the demagogues has been stricken with a mighty blow in the resumption of specie payments, and the funding of the national debt at a reduction of one third the interest. The size of the Butler boom, therefore, is likely to be materially less than that of last year, as the votes which the ticket will receive outside the regular Democratic strength, will be mainly confined to disgruntled politicians and disappointed place-seekers, who, in their anxiety to grasp the spoils of office, are willing to vote for any pretender who plausibly promises them a change, if they will help him, by letting him climb upon their shoulders, to reach the goal of his ambition.

Beaconsfield's Expectations.

Lord Beaconsfield, prime minister of England, delivered a speech at the agricultural banquet at Aylesbury, Eng., on the 18th inst. Referring to American competition with Great Britain he said: "The greatest apprehension is felt in the United States that they cannot compete with Canada, owing to their high taxation and high wages. Since the surrender of the territory of the Hudson Bay company, Canada has become possessed of an illimitable and fertile wilderness. Nearly all the chief landholders in the extreme western States of America have sold out and gone to that wilderness and begun the work of cultivation there. He had heard on high authority that Canada expected to outstrip the United States in competition for European markets. He therefore advised the farmers of England not to be precipitate. Another high authority had informed him that under all circumstances the markets in the United States would be disturbed, and that with the impulsive character of humanity in the United States the Canadian wilderness would soon be occupied by millions."

Another Indian War.

Secretary of War McCrary on the 17th inst., received the following telegram, dated Sante Fe, New Mexico, from the governor of New Mexico:

The Indians are committing horrible atrocities in Grant county. Not enough regular troops. Please give me Federal authority to put three or four companies of volunteers in the field.

To the above the following reply was sent:

The department is without information as to the nature of the outbreak or number of hostiles. I have taken steps to have the necessary force concentrated at once. In the absence of legal athority, I am compelled to decline giving orders to raise volunteers.

The steps to concentrate the necessary force referred to in Secretary McCrary's telegram, are contained in the following telegram which Gen. Townsend on Thursday sent to Gen. Pope, commanding the Department of the Missouri at Fort Leavenworth:

The governor of New Mexico telegraphs that Indians are committing atrocities in Grant county, etc. The secretary, in the absence of legislative athority, is not disposed to have volunteers raised unless, in your judgment, they are absolutely necessary, and then to have them raised under your directions. He desires your views as soon as possible on this point; also more definite information as to the nature of the Indian outbreak, the number of hostiles, and whether you cannot concentrate enough troops in sufficient time.

News and Notes.

In the superior criminal court at Boston, Thursday, Solomon Cohen and John J. Conway, the two so-called detectives, were sentenced. Cohen received three years and six months, and Conway three years and ten months, in the house of correction.

Daniel Drew, the "Uncle Daniel" who at one time ruled Wall street, New York, died in that city Thursday night, aged eighty-two years. His fortune, in the height of his career, was estimated as high as $15,000,000, but he failed a few years ago. He was a farmer's son, and received little education; and though a steamboat operator and reckless stock gambler, was all his life a strong Methodist.

Business in the west is in a more prosperous condition than for many years past. The merchants are overstocked with orders, and salesmen have been called in from the roads. Prices have an upward tendency, and an agreeable feature in connection with the trade is the great number of cash buyers. The farmers have had large harvests, and as they have realized good cash figures for their products they are inclined to liberality. An era of prosperity is thought to have set in, which will be still further advanced and sustained throughout the season.

Two workmen employed by the Fall Mountain paper company ventured too near the dam at the head of the falls at Bellows Falls, Vt., Thursday, and their boat was carried over. One, named Gould, was rescued, but the other, named Fred Tigh, an Englishman, was drowned. Tigh had worked in the town but a short time.

New Hampshire Items.

There was intense excitement in Lebanon on Friday over the report of a case of yellow fever in town, as pronounced by leading physicians. Arthur Gray, son of William H. Gray, returned Thursday from a sea voyage, having just landed at New York. Although not of the most malignant type, it is said to be without doubt a genuine case.

Two men who left the Crawford house Wednesday afternoon of last week to ascend Mt. Washington by the bridle path, were overtaken by the darkness and lost their way. They reached the summit Thursday morning badly used up. The ice on their hats was half an inch thick. The thermometer on the summit was twenty-nine degrees above zero.

Political.

Friend Butler, I've important information,
Sixty, hey, the doughty Cove at that you are;
Don't trust the Democratic nomination,
Sing hey, the slippery trickster of the bar.

On Thursday, at Worcester, the so-called "Butler republicans" of Massachusetts held their convention, and, in obedience to the commands of the managers, endorsed the ticket nominated by the so-called Butler democrats. The convention was larger and much more respectable than that held by the Butler democrats. Hon. Albert Palmer presided, and made an able speech for "Butler and reform!" He was seconded by Ex-Collector Simmons and others.

—Jennie June believes that "the worst use you can put a peach to is to make a pie of it."

—A minister out in Oconto, Wis., went on a strike a few Sundays ago. The congregation assembled and waited anxiously for him. He didn't put in an appearance. A messenger arrived, however, with a note from the pastor, stating that divine service would be suspended until the congregation purchased him a suit of clothes so that he could appear in the pulpit decently clad.

THE WEATHER.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20, 2 A. M.

AROUND HOME.

Albert Entwistle, son of the city marshal, broke his arm Friday evening while playing on the street.

Mr. Alfred Wilkie, the tenor who sang at the Unitarian church last Sabbath, will sing there again to-morrow.

A black bass weighing fifty pounds was caught in the river near Black rock, Thursday, by John Cole of Eliot.

The house of Eugene Sullivan at South Berwick was burned Thursday night, with its contents: loss $1000; insured.

The sailing regatta in the lower harbor will come off this afternoon, weather permitting, the start being made at two o'clock. A gentleman from this city, one from Newcastle and one from Kittery will act as judges.

At the State fair Messrs. Charles Hayes & Son of this city were awarded the first premium on a four-years-old bull, a two-years-old bull, a one-year-old heifer and four-years-old twin cows,—all Ayrshires; and Hon. Frank Jones received a first premium on two yokes of oxen, weighing respectively 5012 and 4544 pounds.

Mr. W. I. Trafton has just put up a telephone line for the Eldredge Brewing company, connecting their office on Bow street with the freight offices of the Eastern and Concord railroads. The Blake transmitter, a new and valuable improvement in communication, is used by them in connection with the Bell telephone.

The person who "borrowed" a watch of small value from an office between twelve and one o'clock on Friday is advised to return it, in which case no questions will be asked; the owner has a description of the watch, and can positively identify it; and the person whom this notice is intended for was seen to enter the office on Friday noon.

Thomas Hughes, of Eliot, on Friday night reported at the police station that shortly after noon on Friday he was capsized by his wherry striking Portsmouth bridge, causing him to lose his shoes, a new pair of boots, and his pocket-book containing a small sum of money. He drifted up river on the boat's bottom, until rescued by a Mr. Dixon of Eliot.

There are rumors of another railroad enterprise, which will give Dover a third outlet to Boston, and direct communication with New York, the Hoosac Tunnel and the west, without change of cars. It is proposed to build about four and one-half miles of railroad, connecting with the Nashua & Rochester railroad at a point about half way between Gonic and Barrington. This would bring the road down past the Heath house and into Dover along by the river bank, making a connection with the Portsmouth & Dover road near the Boston & Maine railroad bridge.

Rebellion in Cuba.

A despatch was received in New York, Saturday morning, from Havana, to the effect that the slaves of Cienfuegos, in the Chinco villas, Cuba, had risen in rebellion against the Spaniards and joined the Cuban patriots, taking with them a large proportion of their masters' cattle.

The following details were received: About eight o'clock in the evening a fire balloon was sent up as a signal. The patriots then gathered in Hoyo's district, about a thousand strong, and were soon attacked by the police and military and about a dozen killed and wounded on both sides. The bulk of the Cubans then went to the mountains, where they met the slaves from fifteen plantations in the district of Santiago de Cuba.

Great indignation exists over the massacre of seventeen officers who served in the last Cuban revolution on the patriot side, but of late have been residing in different places and following their various peaceful avocations.

From their past record they were suspected of being in sympathy with the present revolution. Some were killed in their houses before their wives and children by Spanish troops, and others taken into the woods and slaughtered. The captain general is causing an investigation to be held in Havana.

Some Natural History--The Editor.

"What ferocious looking animal is this?"

"That is the editor."

"Indeed! are they very dangerous?"

"Sometimes. When cornered up they have been known to be quite combative, and again they have been known to go through a convenient back window. Generally they are mild and passive."

"When are they most dangerous?"

"When intruded upon by a book agent who wants a forty line local for a seventy-five cent book, or by a poet with verses about gentle spring."

"Are editors cross to each other?"

"Only when separated by several blocks of buildings."

"Do they often have fearful combats with each other?"

"Occasionally when they go out in opposite directions, and come upon each other by accident."

"Are editors ever cowhided?"

"Sometimes the small ones are, but the big ones are very rarely molested."

"Do editors eat?"

"They do. It was formerly supposed that they ate at long intervals and upon rare occasions, but it is now a well authenticated fact that they can eat a great deal when they can get it."

"What kind of food do they like most?"

"They are not very particular. While they won't refuse quail on toast, fried crab or roast turkey about Christmas time, they have been known to make a hearty repast off a dish of cold turnips and a consumptive herring."

"Can they eat concert tickets?"

"We believe not. Some people have gained this erroneous impression from false teachings in early life, but no authenticated instance of such a thing is on record."

"Do editors go free into shows?"

"They do when they give dollar-and-a-half locals for a twenty-five-cent ticket."

"Are all editors bald like this one?"

"No; only the married ones are bald. But let us pass on; the editor does not like to be stared at."

—If you drink whiskey enough you will think you see snakes, but they are all in your rye.

—A hairpin was discovered in the heart of a cow that died suddenly at Fulton, Ohio, last week. The remains of the girl who wore the pin were not discovered.

—Rev. Mr. Talmage has met his match at last. There is a preacher in London with longer and more aristocratic looking legs who rides to chapel every Sunday morning on a bicycle.

—The Detroit Free Press says that as there are only three Italian opera companies on the road this season the negro minstrel business will have something like a chance to recuperate.

—London newspapers tell of a belle who paid $55 to have the initials of her lover's name tattooed on her arm, and later, having quarrelled with him, was offering $100 to have it erased.

—A young lawyer of Boston says persons seeking solitude, where they can commune with their own thoughts uninterruptedly, should come to his office, where it is as quiet as the grave.

—Over 40,000 pounds of glycerine are used annually in the United States for mixing with beer. This may explain why some industrious beer drinkers go home and blow up their families.

—"Healthy here?" asked a visitor who was prospecting in the neighborhood of Denver, Colorado. "Stranger, yes," was the reply; "ten years ago we had to kill two old men to start this cemetery a going."

—There are two little girls of the same name in New London, Conn. The other night one of them said her prayers, and for fear they might be credited to the other child, she added, after the Amen, "No. 10 Orange street."

—They asked a crier in one of the courts if he did not find it difficult to while away the time during the hearing of dry cases. "Oh, no," was the prompt reply; "I just lean my head back and sleep the sleep of the judge."

—A reward of $100 was offered for the delivery of Jack Motter, a reputed horse thief, to the authorities of De Witt county, Ill. Jack walked into the sheriff's office in custody of a friend, though whom he received the $100, and with this money he employed a lawyer who secured his acquittal.

—A Michigan evangelist is inspiring hundreds of hearers with a frantic desire to be saved. He portrays hell as a hall in which an Astley belt walking-match is in progress, while at one end is a platform from G. W. Smalley is lecturing on the life and labors of Sarah Bernhardt.

—Old Sammy Snowden was a noted colored preacher in Boston forty years ago. His discourses were original and amusing—his prayers especially so. One evening he concluded a prayer with: "Lord, bress everybody, 'ception de brudder who put the jackass cent in the contribution box."

—A scientific man gives an excellent reason for cooking potatoes. He says the heat separates and desolves their fibres, drives out the water they contain, and bursts their starch-cells, so that their ultimate atoms are more readily brought under the action of the stomach. But the real reason is that they taste better cooked.

—The great railroad time killer is the game of euchre. This is an amusement in which four otherwise respectable and considerate citizens see which can yell the loudest and do the most to disturb a car full of passengers. The game consists in handing around a certain number of pieces of pasteboard with pictures on them, and slapping down your fists, stamping your feet, and howling in a discordant chorus every time a trick is taken.

—It has been said that a cat will not wet her paw to catch mice, but it is a humiliating fact that a man will jump into a river to get whiskey. Three hundred barrels of illicit whiskey were emptied into a creek by a revenue collector, at Waco, Texas. A crowd of men plunged into the stream and drank all of the liquor possible before it flowed away. They got enough of it to make them all drunk.

—Scene—Augusta's boudoir. Lucy holds an open letter in her hand, and says: "Well, you see, dear, I only met him at Mount Desert this summer, and we did flirt desperately, but it's too absurd, his writing to me now and proposing, now isn't it?" Augusta—"Awfully bold I think; but then its just like a man. Shall you accept him?" Lucy—"Well, I don't know what to do. He don't deserve it, but then he's awfully handsome, and besides I really think I would be a good wife. I can make splendid corn bread."

—Dr. Thomson, taking once for his text "Look not upon the wine when it is red in the cup," enlarged upon the evil effects of drinking upon the head, heart and purse. As the congregation departed two old cronies, given to taking more than a "wee drap," talked over the sermon. "Did you hear yon, Johnnie?" quoth one. "Did I hear't? Wha didna hear't? I ne'er winked an e'e." "Aweel, an' what thocht ye o't?" "Adeed, Davie, I think he has been a lad in his day, or he couldna ha ken'd sae weel aboot it; he's been a sly hand, the minister."

—In tents enjoyment—That in camp.

—Prof. C.——"Mr.——, what will be the effect if I hold a piece of calcite in the blow pipe flame?" Student—"It will get hot."

—There is something passing strange about human nature. If a man had to support his family by playing billiards at $2 a day he'd complain he had to work awful hard for a living.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be relieved from the pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. For sale by all Druggists and respectable Dealers generally.

The Nigger-be-Dam Policy.

The Bourbons assert that discipline must be kept up or the State will again suffer from what they term "negro supremacy." They mean by discipline that a "nigger-be-dam" policy should be pursued. Resolving that the political equality of all men shall be guaranteed and protected, they propose to concede nothing to the colored voters. A wise concession is not to be thought of, say they. "Here is our ticket; we'll elect it," they cry out; but when they are asked how they will elect it without some support of the colored voters, they fly into a rage and denounce their questioners as radicals. In our opinion the day for that sort of nonsense is past. — Vicksburg (Miss.) Herald.

Just Your Time

To make money safely, easily and rapidly, is now, while the stock market offers so many splendid opportunities. Investments of from $25 to $10,000 are thus consolidated into one vast capital, and operated by the best skill and experience, result in heavy profits, which are divided among shareholders every month. A New Orleans cotton dealer made $27,649.18 in two months. A Baltimore merchant received an aggregate profit of $9,642.04 from three combinations. A San Francisco mining agent made $22,438.16 from four combinations, his first investment being $100. Others have been equally fortunate. Every day there are new and grand opportunities. Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been specials to a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than are ever before performed by any methods for remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid, and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; specifically it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, B. WILSON LORD.
AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not say he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.
Druggists and Bookseller.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ringworm, Blotches, Eruptions, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy foreboding, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are felt. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical fraternity, and has caused many to believe it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of chalk, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in regions of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. Are does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and hermetically sealed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for all climates. In any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharges falling into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick, mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, deafness, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, nausea, vomiting, sick headache, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be obtained of druggists, supplied with the Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche, sold by druggists.

RADICAL CURE

For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of pinus Pumilio and balsam in their essential form, free from every impure contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has run its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have received upon by testimonials of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have considerable expense and personal trouble, desired to make known throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great merit, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable. HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & CO.

It has cured me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering. GEO. W. HOUGHTON, WALTHAM, MASS.

I FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure. D. W. GRAY, M. D., MUSCATINE, IOWA.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and effects with them. WM. BOWEN, 226 PINE ST., ST. LOUIS.

AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success. WM. F. ARMSTRONG, 159 HARRISON AVE., BOSTON.

WE have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year and can say candidly that we never had a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint. S. D. BALDWIN & CO., WASHINGTON, IND.

THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so remarkable that it seemed to them to had effered without relief from any of the numerous medics that it could not be true. I therefore made it a duty to it before Seth J. Thomas, Esq., Justice of the Peace. GEORGE F. DINSMORE, DRUGGIST, BOSTON.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ringer" and "Eldorado" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of RAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FROM THE REVENUE CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a little capital to purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside from the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an economical and economical manner.

Daily Chronicle.

The Writing Telegraph.

The ingenious writing telegraph invented by Mr. E. A. Cowper, C. E., is to be exhibited at the conversazione of the British association at Sheffield. Before noticing the results of its working it will be desirable to describe the apparatus in general terms. We may premise that the invention enables a person to write at a distant station many miles away, just as though he were present there himself, without requiring the use of any special signals, codes, or signs, (to spell each letter, as is now the practice,) and without the assistance of any person to translate the signals as received. The apparatus consists of a transmitting and a recording instrument, placed in electrical communication, one being at one station and one at another. At least, this is the arrangement at present under trial, but in carrying it out practically, which is now being done, there will be a combined transmitting and receiving instrument at each station, so that messages can be transmitted in either direction, which at present they cannot be. The principle of the invention consists in communicating at all times to a writing pen placed in the recording instrument, the exact position of a pencil used by the operator at the transmitting instrument through two line wires. In other words, it means that the latitude and longitude of the pencil are continually given, the vertical position of the pencil being communicated by one wire and its horizontal position by the other. The pencil has two light contact rods joined to it, and one of these slides over the edges of a series of contact plates, having various resistances interposed between them and the line wire. The second rod slides over a second set of similar plates connected to the other wire, and at the receiving instrument each of these wires actuates its own needle. These two needles, which are placed at right angles to each other, and are provided with light springs, are so arranged that they actuate a writing pen, to which ink is constantly supplied. The pen moves up or down and backward or forward in exact obedience to the motions of the pencil which is guided by the operator at the transmitting instrument. The message is written by the sender on a strip or riband of paper, which passes under his hand, being unwound by clock-work. The message—which is literally written by him at the receiving station—is produced by the pen there on a slightly smaller scale than in the pencil original, and upon a similar riband paper, moved under the pen, also by clock-work. The message, when completed at the receiving station, is cut off and sent to its destination, while that at the transmitting end can be preserved as a record. This apparatus, which is in every respect a perfect writing telegraph, has lately been brought thoroughly under the test of practical experience on the Southwestern railway, and has been working between the Waterloo and Working stations, a distance of 26 1-2 miles. The receiving instrument is placed at the former and the transmitting instrument at the latter station, and messages have been transmitted for practice as well as the regular line messages, which were presented during the time the new apparatus was at work. Various distances have been worked through requiring only a few cells more or less in the batteries to accommodate the power to the work. Thus, the simple distance of 26 1-2 miles to Woking has always been worked through, but on some days resistance coils of wire to make up 62 1-2 miles, and on others 99 1-2 miles have been added to increase the work the apparatus had to do. In every case the writing has been good and perfectly legible, and the working of the apparatus in every way satisfactory. It was found that the induction of the other telegraph wires in no way interfered with the working of the writing telegraph. It could not be perceived when a message was being written, and when the instrument was standing and the pen drawing a straight line, induction was only feebly indicated by a very slight unsteadiness in the line, which varied in thickness at times about one-half. The invention is finding favor with practical men, and the new double instruments, we understand, will shortly be at work.—London Times.

The Canyon of Niaraga.

The canyon of Niaraga is far more mysterious than the falls themselves. Within the years of civilization in America no one was able to successfully pierce through the fierce and terrible under current to the bottom, until recently the government itself thought it necessary in behalf of science to undertake the task. All the great schemes imagined to be strictly scientific were put in operation by bunglers to obtain the depth of water beneath the falls. Bars of railroad iron, pails of stones and all unresonable bulky and awkward instruments were attached to long lines and cast off from the railway bridge and elsewhere, but positively refused to sink. The very bulk of the instruments was sufficient, no matter what their weight, to give the powerful under current a way to buoy them upon the surface or near it.

The United States corps of engineers, however, with a small lead of only twelve pounds weight attached to a slender rope, or sounding cord, easily obtained the depths from the falls to the lower bridge. As your correspondent assisted in the hydrographical operations, the facts may be given as they presented themselves. One day we launched in a small boat not far below the falls and entered upon a most exciting and perilous exploration of the canyon. The old guide long in charge of the miniature ferry situated here accompanied the party. With great difficulty we approached within a short distance of the American falls, which darted great jets of water on us and far out into the stream. The roar was so terrible that no voice or sound, however near we were to one another, could be heard.

The leadsman cast the line, which passed rapidly down and told off eighty-three feet. This was quite near the shore. Passing out of the friendly eddy which had assisted us up so near the falls, we shot rapidly down stream. The next cast of the lead told off 100 feet, deepening to 192 feet at the inclined railway. The average depth to the swift drift, where the river suddenly becomes narrow, with a velocity too great to be measured, 153 feet. Just under the lower bridge the whirpool rapids set in, and so violently are the waters moved that they rise like ocean waves to the height of twenty feet. At this point your correspondent, at the time of the survey, computed the depth at 210 feet, which is accepted as approximately correct.—Cor. Syracuse Standard.

The Figures.

The Kennebec Journal has official returns from all towns and plantations in Maine except twenty small ones, which last year gave 121 republican and 145 opposition votes, with the folllowing result:

Whole number of votes,	136,518
Daniel F. Davis, republican	67,970
J. L. Smith greenback	47,080
Alonzo Garcelon, democrat,	21,181
Bion Bradbury and scattering,	311
Davis falls of an election by	578
Davis over Garcelon,	46,789
Davis over Smith,	20,920

The aggregate vote last year was 126,-169; this year 136,518—increase of vote 10,349. The republican vote has increased 11,416; the opposition vote has fallen off 1,342; republican gain, 12,578. The scattering vote of 311 is about equally divided between Bradbury, dem., Chamberlain, rep., Hale, rep., and Greenleaf, greenback.

A Tammany Growl.

A meeting of the Tammany central association was held in New York on the evening of Friday, at which in an address Hon. S. S. Cox eulogized John Kelley and denied that Tammany had bolted the Syracuse convention. They had simply kept their word, and would show on election day that one man could not set at defiance the will of the metropolis. John Kelley spoke, and was greeted with prolonged applause. He said the infamous acts of Lucius Robinson would always remain a part of his history. He said Robinson was under the influence of that trickster, Samuel J. Tilden, who moulded him as a piece of putty. It would be better that the democratic party did not exist, than that the people be cheated in such a way. He predicted Robinson's defeat in New York county by 30,000 votes, and said that the greatest calamity that could befall this country would be the election of "Tilden, the Trickster," as President.

Receipts from Customs for the Year.

The following is a statement of receipts from customs for the year ended June, 1879, classified by States:

Maine, $358,580; New Hampshire, $10,359; Vermont, $568,609; Massachusetts, $13,653,942; Rhode Island, $139,-840; Connecticut, $316,997.

The total receipts from the northern States were $137,250,047. The receipts of customs from the States which seceded were only $2,109,474, Massachusetts alone contributing more than six times as much to the customs revenue as the States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana, Texas, Tennessee and Arkansas.

The results of the receipts from internal revenue sources are very similar; the receipts from the northern States were $113,861,610; the receipts from the seceded States were but $11,627,088.

News and Notes.

Rev. W. H. H. Murray has been declared insolvent by Judge Landon of Guilford, Conn., and the parson's affairs at the once noted stock farm are in a very mixed up condition. Attachments have been laid on everything possible, and there is a $12,000 mortgage on the farm. The creditors will probably receive very small dividends when the estate is settled.

The following are the revised New England estimates for river and harbor improvements: Harbor of Belfast, Me., $9000; the gut opposite Bath, $18,000; Kennebunk river, Maine, $4000; harbor of Portsmouth, N. H., $10,000; Merrimack river, Massachusetts, $24,000; harbor of Boston, $100,000; harbor of Plymouth, Mass., $21,000; harbor Provincetown, Mass., $1000; harbor of Hyannis, Mass., $5000; entrance to Wood's Hole harbor, Mass., $50,000; Providence river and Narragansett bay, R. I., $100,000; Little Narragansett bay, R. I., $10,000; Connecticut river below Hartford, Conn., $16,000; harbor of Burlington, Vt., $30,000; Swanton harbor, Vermont, $5000.

A report has reached Callao from Valparaiso that the English steamer Velox, which recently arrived at the latter port from Europe, laden with arms for Chili, has been taken possession of by the captain of the British man-of-war Opal as a lawful prize, but the largest portion of the cargo had been landed and passed into Chilian hands. Two guns have been raised from the wreck of the Peruvian frigate Independencia, one a 300-pounder, and the other a 150-pounder, and are now mounted at Iquique. A frightful rate of mortality among the State prison convicts of South Carolina is attracting attention. Out of 225 leased convicts, 100 have died within the year. The Jersey prison ship, or the Black Hole of Calcutta could scarcely show such a record.

General Grant arrived at San Francisco on Saturday afternoon, in the City of Tokio. As soon as the steamer was sighted, guns were fired, bells rung, and whistles were blown for over an hour. The city was tastefully and profusely decorated, and everything done by all without regard to party to receive their honored guest. The streets during the passing of the procession were brilliantly illuminated and literally jammed with people.

The police of Wrentham, Boston, and Mansfield, have broken up the headquarters of a gang of horse thieves, known under the title of the Forty Thieves. The house was located in south Wrentham. There were found secreted around the premises thirteen stolen horses, a lot of valuable harnesses and other property.

John Hart, a resident of Andover, Mass., attempted suicide on Saturday, by jumping into the North Canal at Lawrence, but was rescued before life was extent.

The Biddeford Journal says: "This item will make a strong draft on the credulity of our readers, and yet it is true, every word of it. Mr. Mark Smith lives near the Methodist Episcopal church in this city, and was seventy-two years old last May. He was never inside of a railroad car or street car; never visited Old Orchard beach, a three miles away; never drank a glass of intoxicating liquor in his life, when there hasn't been a day for forty years when there not been enough rum in Biddeford to float a 74-gun ship from Cathance landing to Holmes' hole; never has attended a show; and never saw the inside of a photograph gallery until last Saturday, when he had a handsome likeness of himself taken. If any of our exchanges can beat this let them make it manifest in the usual way."

Army officers fear serious trouble with the Utes. Three companies have been ordered to the White river agency. Serious charges are made against the Ute agent of withholding supplies. The cause of their trouble seems to be the same as that of the Cheyenne and other outbreaks.

AROUND HOME.

The putting in of new gas fixtures into the Episcopal church commences this morning.

Summer has gone—the sun "crossed the line," at nine minutes past five o'clock this morning.

The Exeter Agricultural and Horticultural society are making arrangements for their coming fair, to be held in Exeter town hall on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 8th and 9th.

Minute guns were fired at the navy yard at noon on Saturday, as a mark of respect to the memory of Rear Adm. Charles Boarman, who died at Martinsburg, Va., on the 13th inst. He was on the retired list.

A most malignant type of diphtheria has shown itself in the family of Mr. William Roby of Stratham. Two of his children died last week, one of them on Saturday morning, at which time two others were dangerously sick. No person outside the family is allowed in the house, excepting the medical attendant.

A letter of Ex-Congressman Potter, who is now the democratic candidate for lieutenant governor in New York, has been found in which he advocates the right of secession, and adds that if he was to take a part in framing a new Constitution he would favor a provision which would enable States to withdraw.

The docket for the October term of the supreme court, Judge Bingham presiding, which will be holden in this city, commencing on Tuesday, October 21st, contains three hundred and nine civil actions, sixty-three libel and equity cases, ninety-three State actions, four appeals and three cases in sessions. Over fifty liquor cases will be disposed of, and some important State cases.

Mrs. Phebe Johnson of Biddeford was run over by a railroad train at Wells on Wednesday afternoon of last week, and fatally injured. She had been visiting in Wells, and, though very deaf, started to walk to the depot on the track. She was discovered by the engine men, and every effort made to stop the train, but the cow-catcher threw the unfortunate woman into the ditch with such force that her skull was fractured.

Yankee Locke is to appear at Music hall on Wednesday evening as Phineas Fletcher and Gumption Cute in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and will be supported by Miss Blanche Slader as Topsy, and Little Nell as Eva, with Frank L. Howard as Uncle Tom. Yankee Locke is an old-time favorite, and Mr. Howard is a good Uncle Tom, according to the Lynn papers, the company having recently been playing in that city with good success. The prices of tickets are down to a gold basis; see advertisement.

In the list of grand jurors for York county at the present session of the supreme judicial court of Maine are the names of Charles E. Hayes of Kittery, John E. Norwood of York, Isaac P. Fall of South Berwick and Joseph D. Eaton of Wells. On traverse juries, Charles A. Bowden and George R. Mitchell of Kittery, Sylvester Bartlett of Eliot, (foreman 1st traverse jury,) George Estes of North Berwick, John W. Morrison of South Berwick, Orin H. Littlefield and Lorenzo D. Littlefield of Wells. John E. Staples of York, and Samuel M. Wentworth of Berwick are among the supernumeraries.

The annual fair of the York county agricultural society occurs at Berwick this week, commencing on the 23d and closing on the 25th. The three hundred boys contesting the "corn prize" offered by Stillman B. Allen, Esq., of Boston, will be present on Wednesday, receiving free admission, and will be addressed by Mr. Allen; the judges will not give their decision in the matter until Oct. 22d, owing to the corn not being yet ripe. Among the judges appointed are Ephriam C. Spinney of Kittery, Sylvester Bartlett of Eliot, Washington Junkins of York, Benjamin Goodwin of South Berwick, David S. Austin of North Berwick, and Trafton Hatch of Wells.

By a vote of the board of engineers, the firemen when on duty at a fire are required to wear a fire hat, and if any one omits to do so he will be subjected to a fine of two dollars for each offence. This order goes into effect on November 1st.

The seventy-five hours race in Dover closed Friday night. All the contestants excepting Pigram and Lacouse were off the track most of the evening. At ten o'clock Lacouse withdrew and left Pigram only on the track. The following is the score: Pigram 257 miles; Lacouse 250 miles; Colston, 237 miles; O'Connor, 230 miles; Hanson 217 miles; Durgin, 200 miles; Wilmot, 177 miles; Rockwood, 170 miles; Crowley, 120 miles; Healey, 109 miles.

DEATH OF DR. THOMPSON.

A telegram was received in this city on Saturday last, announcing the death of Dr. Joseph P. Thompson at Berlin on that day.

THE REGATTA

For all yachts on the river measuring not more than twenty-five feet in length on the water-line, which was to have been sailed on Saturday, was drawn on account of the wind being too light to enable the boats that started to get over the course in the required time. The boats were sent off shortly before three o'clock, the wind being at the time very light from the southeast; and the foremost boat, the "We Are Coming," of Kittery, owned by Mr. Witham—and a regular flyer she is too, in a light wind,—did not round the western stake-boat, off the entrace of little harbor, until 4:30 o'clock, soon after which the wind died out entirely, making it impossible for the course to be completed before seven o'clock, and the judges then decided to sail the race on Thursday, the 25th inst.

During the time the people on Clarke's island were awaiting the return of the boats, after the start, a number of youngsters from Kittery got up some foot-races, and several of them showed a good deal more "go" than the boats were doing at about the same time.

The boats will be started on Thursday at one o'clock P. M., sailing over the same course as given on Saturday, viz.: From stake-boat anchored off Clarke's island, passing between the boat and the island, to a boat anchored off Fort McClary, leaving it to starboard, thence to a boat anchored off the mouth of Little Harbor, leaving it to port, to the spar buoy off the Western Sister, leaving it to port; thence to Kitt's rock buoy, leaving it to starboard, to the boat anchored off Fort McClary, leaving it to port, back to the starting point, crossing the line between the stake-boat and Clarke's island. The distance thus laid out is nine miles.

Naval Affairs.

A medical board, consisting of Medical Inspectors A. L. Gihon and B. F. Gibbs and Surgeon M. L. Ruth, met at the naval academy on Sept. 15th for the examination of candidates for admission to the academy.

Lieut. Edward A. Field is detached from the Marion and ordered to the Wachusett.

Lieut. John P. Wallis is detached from the Marion, and ordered to the Wachusett. [Orders revoked.]

Lieut. Arthur A. Boyd is detached from the Wachusett and ordered to the Marion.

Surgeon G. F. Winslow is detached from the Wachusett, and ordered to the Vandalia.

Surgeon J. B. Parker is detached from special duty and ordered to the Wachusett.

Comdr. George C. Remey, attached to the bureau of yards and docks, is granted leave of absence for one month from Sept. 18th.

Carpenter Geo. W. Greene has been detached from the Wachusett, and his resignation accepted, to take effect from November 8th, next, and he granted leave of absence until that date.

New Hampshire Items.

At Newport, Friday night, after a trial of four days, Henry H. Hayes of Sunapee was found guilty by the jury of manslaughter in the first degree for killing Richmond C. Angell of Sunapee on the second day of February last, and was immediately sentenced by Judge Stanley to hard labor in the State prison for twenty years.

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the New Hampshire State Teachers' Association will be held in the city hall in Keene on Oct. 16th and 17th, commencing at two o'clock on the afternoon of the 16th.

Political.

No less than thirty-three democratic newspapers of Mississppi approve the Yazoo plan in politics, and, in substance, indorse the murder of any man who dares to run for office in opposition to the "regular democratic" ticket. The other independent candidates in Yazoo county have withdrawn, and announce that they will support the regular ticket; the killing of Dixon effectually frightened them and put an end to independent politics in Yazoo.

Hon. James G. Jenkins, of Milwaukee, has been nominated by the Wisconsin democratic State central committee for governor, in place of Alex. Mitchell, declined. Mr. Jenkins, who is a prominent lawyer and politician, has accepted the nomination.

The grand jury has found ten more indictments against illegal voters at the last city election in Wilmington, Del.

John F. Miner, in the New York World, re-affirms his story concerning Woodford's plot to seize Tilden, and states that Conkling, in his own house, January 30th, 1878, substantially admitted the truth of the tale.

The Immensity of London.

Of all the great cities, London, on the whole, contains the most to interest and instruct Americans. It has doubled in population in the memory of men still young. Most readers remember when Macauley's history appeared. In his first volume the author contrasted the grandeur of the modern city with the London of Charles II., and boasted that the number of inhabitants had increased from little more than five thousand to at least one million nine hundred thousand. In the brief time that has passed since Macauley wrote, the one million nine hundred thousand has become four million.

A few contrasts taken from the best estimates will give some suggestions of the immense magnitude of the city. It is aptly described as a province covered with houses. New York is equal in population to the aggregate of Maine and New Hampshire. London equals Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts and California all together. To equal the city of London, here, we should have to bring together the people of the following cities: New York, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, St. Louis, Chicago, Boston, Baltimore, Cincinnati, New Orleans, Buffalo, San Francisco, Washington and Louisville. The transient people in New York are about 30,000; in London 160,000. In New York a baby is born every fifteen minutes and a death occurs every seventeen minutes. In London a birth occurs every six minutes and a death every eight. The drinking places in New York set in one street would extend seventeen miles; those in London seventy-three miles.

The Deadly Centipede.

Several Mexicans were in the mouth of Memphis creek, Utah Territory, and were lying about the fire, when one of them, Telesforo Crucas, saw a large centipede, fully nine inches long, travelling slowly over his leg. Knowing that the least motion would make it sink its deadly claws into his skin, without moving his leg he got out his revolver and waited until the beast had almost reached his knee, when slowing putting the mouth of the pistol to his head he pulled and the centipede was gone. But a centipede's claws are quicker than gunpower, and Crucas began to have cramps in a few minutes. The track of the reptile along his leg turned a brownish yellow, and the place where it was killed swelled frightfully. He rapidly grew worse, and in a little over four hours he died in great agony. The most singular part of the story is that the bullet from Crucas' pistol cut a small nick in the foreleg of a mule that was tethered near by, and at daylight next morning the mule was also dead, with its leg so swollen that the skin had burst in several places.—Canton (Texas) Vigilante.

A Hero to be Remembered.

We are approaching the hundredth anniversary of a Revolutionary exploit which certainly deserves a place among the manifold subjects of centennial commemoration, although thus far no preparations seem anywhere to have been made to honor it. On the 23d of Sept., 1779, occurred one of the most desperate battles between single ships recorded in modern warfare, a naval duel hardly surpassed, indeed, for bull-dog tenacity in the authentic annals of any age. The memorable fight off Flamborough Head, in which John Paul Jones, with the Bon Homme Richard, an old, ill-equipped, and, before the combat was ended, asinking ship, conquered the Serapis, new, more heavily armed, and more fully manned was the most brilliant naval engagement of the Revolutionary war. Statues have been set up to heroes of that day whose careers were less uniformly triumphant, and monuments have perpetuated the memory of deeds less valorous.—N. Y. Times.

—Young ladies should not sing "Home, sweet Home" to their lovers too early in the evening.

—"Procrastination is the thief of a good time," was the lament of the small boy who got up too late to take the excursion train.

—Many of the New Hampshire churches are expressing great dissatisfaction with the new law taxing church property on all sums above $10,000.

STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. Tobacco in the Hen-Roost.

A French gentleman has developed a theory that the inhalation of tobacco smoke by fowls causes their flesh to assume a wonderfully white color and become very tender at the same time. He accordingly shut up a chicken in his fowl-house, and set fire to a store of "caporal," which he left burning in the place. The young fowl, so far from being averse to the odor of the narcotic, was inclined to try its taste as well as its smell, and had in a few days' time consumed so much "caporal," that its flesh was not only whitened but "nicodnized" with poison. To it as it stood—probably in a rather stupid state—upon its perch entered one night an adventurer. The precious bird was carried off, plucked, cooked and eaten, and a short time after breakfast the thief was seized with violent and intolerable pains. He rushed to the doctor, heedless of the necessity which would arise of disclosing his nocturnal escapade. He was found to have been poisoned by the nicotine contained in the flesh of the fowl, and was with some difficulty saved from death.

The only combination of the true Jamaica Ginger with choice aromatics and French brandy, making a delicious, harmless, and strengthening substitute for all kinds of stimulants, is SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER. It promptly relieves dyspepsia, oppression after eating, and every species of indigestion, corrects all disturbances of the stomach and bowels, and cures cramps, chills, fevers, and malaria. Ask for SANFORD'S.

A Wise Legislator.

He is successful because he has the manly courage to rise above all personal motives or interests and cast his vote and influence on the side of measures which will contribute to the well being of his fellow-men. The good of the many, even though it proves injurious to the interests of the few, is the maxim of the wise legislator. But certain men will never admit the wisdom of this doctrine, any more than some selfish private practitioners will admit the superlative value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, because these remedies have injured their practice. Of course, no man in his right senses will pay a physician $5.00 for a consultation, a bottle of bitters, and a powder, when a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and a bottle of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, both costing but $1.25, will accomplish the same result, viz: cleanse the liver and blood, regulate and tone the stomach, and impart a healthful action to the bowels and kidneys.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any medicine or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicine for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I feel like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

YOURS TRULY, B. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our po house which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

Druggists and Bookseller.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 302 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago honored several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged into the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER E. SANFORD, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CURABLE DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those Chronic ailments peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. By our system of Diagnosis, Common Sense Medical Adviser (1,000 pages, cloth and gilt), and Medicines, we can treat all those diseases peculiar to females.

SURGICAL CASES.—Many of the operations which we now cause upon most frequently to perform are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Cystoid Disease in the Affections, Strictures, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Position as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousands of cases of every variety of disease peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate its natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, alluded it out as the chief or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhea, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single class of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury these infliet, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read his book, which he mailes free.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Rapid Wealthy, September 28th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th; "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. SANFORD'S
RADICAL CURE
For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of plants, herbs and barks in their essential form, free from every obnoxious contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has sent its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known, has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have seen wafted upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, to considerable expense and personal trouble, spread its good news throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable.
HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & Co.

IT has cured me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering.
GEO. W. HOUGHTON, WALTHAM, MASS.

I FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure.
REV. J. W. GRAY, M. D., PERKINS, IOWA.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.
WM. BOWEN, 226 PINE ST., ST. LOUIS.

AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success.
WM. W. ARMSTRONG,
159 HARRISON AVE., BOSTON.

WE have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly a year and can say candidly that we have sold a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint.
S. D. BALDWIN & CO., WASHINGTON, IND.

THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so remarkable that it seemed to those who had suffered without relief from any of the usual modes that it could not be true. I therefore made it my duty to make it known. Yours truly,
GEORGE F. DINSMORE, DRUGGIST, BOSTON.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of TAN ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Metcalfe Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000).

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

Spirit-Message from J. W. Barron.

The following is a message purporting to be from the spirit of J. W. Barron, given through the mediumship of Mrs. Dr. John S. Drake, of Waverly, Bremer Co., Iowa, on the evening of the 17th of July, 1879, with an urgent request that it be forwarded to the Banner of Light for publication:

I, the spirit of J. W. Barron, formerly cashier of the People's Savings Bank of Dexter, Maine, find myself a personality, a living, moving being; and although a resident of the spiritual state of existence, I am still cognizant of all that transpires in the earth-life with regard to my good name, my honor, and the interest of my well-beloved family—as fully so as when I walked and talked with my friends on the physical plane. I have sought and obtained leave from the gifted and noble spirit who controls the pure-minded medium through whose lips I am now speaking, to come back to earth and appeal to the people of the land, to be heard in my own defence; from the other side of the river whose waters divide the physical from the spiritual world, I come, and claim the right to be heard in vindication of my name. I declare through these mortal lips, in the name of God, that I am innocent of the sin of suicide or fraud.

Happy in the beloved bosom of my family, with a true, loving companion, with our precious God-given children, with a competent support, pleased with my situation, enjoying the confidence of my employers, who were my friends—with no desire for great wealth, respected in the community in which I lived, what motive could I have had in destroying all prospects of future happiness and the enjoyment of the blessings in this life, and my hopes for happiness in the life to come?

Love of life is strong in the human heart; no man cuts the silver chord of life without a great and weighty cause. No such cause existed for my committing such a rash act.

Far from my mind was any thought of death, when, sitting in the bank office at night, and about to leave for my home, I was silently and suddenly set upon by three men, who gagged, bound, beat and cruelly abused me. I fought desperately as men fight for life—fought for more than life, for honor and the defence of the treasures entrusted to my care, and with the memory of my dear loved ones tugging at my heartstrings. With no chance to call for assistance, I was soon overpowered, and borne in the chair to the bank-vault, and told to choose between life and death; either to enable them to gain access to the treasures in the vault and be spared further indignities, or to refuse and lose my life at the hands of the assassins. I chose death to dishonor, and was again most cruelly beaten, and fatally injured. When liable to detection if they remained longer, the cowardly ruffians and murderers fled, leaving me still bound, and apparently dead. When discovered I was unconscious, and too near death for speech, and soon passed away.

My family were overwhelmed with grief and agonized at their loss. But Time, the soother of all earthly sorrow, had somewhat alleviated their distress, and life might have become more endurable to them, had my name been left untarnished, my honor unquestioned; but another blow fell upon their hearts with terrible force.

My spirit had risen from the mutilated physical form to the mystic shores of the bright and beautiful Summer-Land—more gloriously and transcendently lovely than tongue of angel or the pen of the gifted ones of earth can describe. Already the sunlight of an infinite and eternal day of a progressive life was shining brightly and sweetly upon my unfolding and immortal spirit, and thus I might have been still learning and progressing had not the agony of soul of wife and children drawn me down to earthly scenes and sorrows, caused by the cruel aspersions of wicked and designing men, who are striving to brand me as a villain, thereby bringing disgrace and ruin upon my family. Thank God! they could not find any proof that I ever wronged any man, or committed one dishonorable act. These charges, though unproven, were wide-spread, and never fully refuted by the press, and have caused sorrow to my friends, anguish to my wife, humiliation and distress to my children.

Their great unhappiness still holds me to the earth-sphere, and causes my spirit great sorrow. This condition of unrest has brought to my assistance spirits from higher realms, who teach me and assure me that by controlling a medium in earth-life, and sending forth my declaration of innocence, I shall become more calm, quiet and hopeful, and can thus be approached by friends and sympathizers, and be enabled by their help to rise out of this unhappy state, and regain my own proper sphere amid congenial associates and more soul-satisfying surroundings.

And now to all those who believe me to have been a martyr to my love of honor, losing my life in defence of the same, I wish to say, May heaven return to you a thousand-fold the assistance rendered to my beloved ones. It was not a mistaken kindness, for I declare to you I was not guilty. To all believers in spirit-return I appeal to assist me; I entreat you to spread this declaration of innocence as widely as the cruel and utterly false charges have been spread, so they may not remain undenied and unrefuted.

—A man is always wanting some one to tell him how handsome he looks. A woman will just stand before a glass and see for herself.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1879.

The Six-Days Tramp.

The contestants entered for the six-days go-as-you-please race for the Astley belt, which commenced at Madison Square garden, New York city, at one o'clock Monday morning, are thirteen in number, as follows: Weston, who now holds the belt; Rowell, the Englishman who won the belt from O'Leary in the last contest in New York, and took it back to England, where Weston won it; Hazael, Guyon, Ennis, Panchot, Merritt, Hart, Krohne, Dutcher, Taylor, Jackson and Federmeyer. The betting on the start was five to two against Weston; three to two against Rowell; three to one against Hazael; ten to one against Guyon; thirty to one against Ennis and Panchot; twenty to one against Hart, who is a colored man; fifteen to one against Krohne, and fifty to one against Dutcher, Taylor, Jackson and Federmeyer.

News and Notes.

The trial of Caroline C. Goodrich for causing an abortion upon Jennie Potter Clark, (the "trunk mystery" victim,) and Dr. Daniel F. Kimball for being accessory after the fact, was commenced in Boston on Monday. The trial of Allen N. Adams for feloniously procuring the abortion to be performed will not commence until the other trials are finished.

In the Bucholtz murder trial at Bridgeport, Conn., last week, the jury brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. Motion in arrest of judgment was at once made by his counsel.

J. H. Howard, a leading merchant of New Madrid, Mo., and treasurer of the county, was writing at his desk when two strangers entered the office, locked the door, turned down the light and forced Howard to undo the safe combination. They took out $6000, and then, picking up Howard, carried him about 200 yards away and told him to leave. He gave the alarm and a large party started in pursuit but failed to capture the robbers.

Five prisoners have made their escape from the county jail at Bloomdale, Ill. They tied and gagged the jailer, captured the keys and let themselves out. John Hanley, one of the escaped men, is under sentence of death for murder.

Henry Anthony of Newport, R. I., while gurning Sunday near Bateman's point, accidentally shot himself. The ball entered the abdomen and came out at the back.

J. J. Dargan and Joseph H. Earl of Sumter, S. C., went to Augusta, Ga., Saturday, to fight a duel. Dargan was arrested and gave a bond, but Earl escaped. It is believed the parties have gone to North Carolina to fight. Both are lawyers and members of the South Carolina legislature.

Joseph Pecken, who some years since was an opulent stock broker in New York, where he lived in splendid style on Madison avenue, turned up in Montreal, Saturday, in the police court, on a charge of drunkenness. It appears that five years ago he failed in business, and, gathering up all the money he could lay his hands on, over $50,000, fled to Cuba, then to the continent of Europe, where he led a vagrant life at various gambling places. He finally made his way to Montreal about six months ago, penniless, and has been living on his wits ever since.

Two brothers, named Burr and James Mann, living near Kirbyville, Mo., got into a quarrel about a cow, and James shot and killed Burr. A younger brother then went home, procured a gun and shot his brother James through the heart.

Bob Moore (white) was killed by a negro named Thomas, with a razor, near Canneton, W. Va., Saturday. A mob took Thomas from the constables, hung him, and emptied several revolvers into him. After hanging and shooting, they hacked his body to pieces with knives.

The Globe theatre property in Boston has been leased to Mr. John Stetson for ten years, dating from July 1st, 1879.

Asa Simmons of Fall River, Mass., nearly eighty years old, died Sunday of lockjaw superinduced by taking cold in a wound caused by getting a sliver of wood under a finger nail.

Rev. C. R. Seymour of Newburyport has tendred his resignation as pastor of the North Congregational church, to accept a call from Winchester, Mass., at $2,200 salary and a parsonage.

John Ross keeps a clothing store in Brooklyn, N. Y. He has several daughters, one of whom is named Sadrian, aged fifteen. Charles Dodd, of Massachusetts, first mate of a coasting vessel, went into the shop one day when his vessel was unloading at Brooklyn, saw Sadrian, and wooed her. Ross heard a rumor that his daughter had been married to Dodd and intended to accompany her husband when he sailed from Brooklyn. He questioned the girl and she admitted the marriage and showed her wedding ring and marriage certificate. Ross locked her in her room, and then sent for Dodd, quarreled with him, and had him arrested for drawing a knife. Justice Ferry discharged Dodd. Meanwhile Mrs. Dodd managed in some way to communicate with her husband, and it was arranged that she was to escape from the roof on Tuesday night of last week. On that night her father slept in front of her door, and slept so soundly that she stepped oaer him in safety and reached the roof. Dodd was not there, but she made her way alone from one roof to others until she reached the roof of the hotel where he lived. The scuttle was open, and she found Dodd's room without difficulty. Dodd now wants $2000 damages from his father-in-law for assault.

The main entrance to the Charlestown navy yard is to be paved with blocks of compressed asphalt.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20th.

The revival of business in all its branches and in all parts of the country has emphatically recalled attention to our lack of facilities for disposing of our products abroad. The exports of this country are now steadily in excess of our imports, but this gratifying excess is limited by the lack of means to enlarge it. In a few years our trade abroad might be doubled if we had the same means of carrying it on that England has, and then we might obtain better prices and make a demand for labor far greater than now exists. England has such a hold upon the trade of South America and other good markets, through government subsidies and other aid, that it is impossible for private enterprise alone to make any impression against it. Our merchants and manufacturers find no difficulty in selling their goods in competition with England wherever they can find a means to carry them direct and to do business on equal terms. But as it is now they have to refuse sales in many countries because the English monopolists, encouraged by their government, have killed off American competition, and made the establishment of anything like profitable relations impossible. Without the aid of our government to arrest this one-sided system it is likely that the trade of the United States abroad will diminish instead of increase, and that finally our merchants will have to depend upon British agents wholly for sales. Many public men who have heretofore discouraged government aid for such enterprises as will extend our commerce have lately been discussing these things, and an important movement is likely to grow out of it. Last winter a project for a steamship line to Brazil under a liberal postal contract was defeated because of an unreasonable prejudice against subsidizing private enterprise; but now all private interest has withdrawn from the discussion, and it is hoped a liberal policy will be adopted, on a broad basis, so that not only the trade in Brazil, but all other important markets may be freely opened to American competition. Senator Blaine and many other statesman are in favor of a general policy to encourage commerce, similar to that which has given England such an immense advantage in all parts of the world.

A rumor is current that some of the democrats who are afraid of Tilden and opposed to his continued domination in their party, are egging on his prosecution by the government for frauds in the income tax. It is being vigorously pushed, and it is noticeable that certain democrats are chuckling over Mr. Tilden's effort to avoid the issue.

The republicans are delighted at the late speeches of President Hayes, and it is noticeable that he is taking pains to get back into into the party which elected him. His democratic friends are not pleased with his late course.

Last year at this time the greenbackers were boastful and really hopeful. But their tone hereabouts is greatly changed. They begin to realize that they must be crushed between the two old parties, and must fight on one side or the other next year.

Butler's third convention has been held, and yet wise men acquainted with Massachusetts politics say he cannot be elected. The regular democrats will run a ticket against him and fight him hard. The republicans appear to be fuller of fight than ever. Where "Uncle Benjamin" get his foundation for hope, therefore, few can divine. He says he's going to be elected. KNOX.

How to Raise a Moustache.

A lady thus writes to the Philadelphia Times: I noticed in your today's issue that one of our own fair sex is in a great predicament, because her son is unable to raise a moustache. My own husband was in the same unpleasant situation, but by using the following remedy, his moustache commenced to grow vigorously, coming out nice and full. It is because that I am in sympathy with the men that I write this letter: Take a teaspoonful of bay rum, one drachm of turpentine, one drachm of glycerine, and pot in an ounce bottle and fill up with common lard. Apply as hot as can possibly be borne without scalding.

It is sold in our markets almost as freely as wood and coal, at a wholesale price of from a cent and a half to two cents a pound." AROUND HOME.

The fall term of Miss Morgan's school commences to-morrow.

Fordyce P. Cleaves of Kennebunkport, recently a student at Phillips academy at Exeter, has secured a position as teacher in a school in the lower part of Biddeford, near the beach.

The auction sale of the stock of groceries in the store No. 47 State street is postponed from Wednesday, Sept. 24th, to Wednesday, Oct. 1st. In the meantime the store will be open, and goods disposed of at cost by private sale. See advertisement.

The basket of large and handsome apples left at our office by Mr. A. D. Jenness, foreman for John Marston, Esq., at his beautiful island home near little harbor, seemed to touch the printers' palates just about right; we had no difficulty in disposing of them.

Uncle Tom's Cabin at Music hall tomorrow evening, with Yankee Locke as Phineas Fletcher and Gumption Cute, his original characters; Miss Blanche Slader as Topsy; Little Nell as Eva; and Frank L. Howard as Uncle Tom. Popular prices. See advertisement.

There was a meeting in Boston on Monday of the counsel for the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, and of the two cities as stockholders of that road, with the authorities and counsel of the Eastern railroad, to consult in regard to the question in dispute between the two corporations.

As will be seen by the announcement in another column, our citizens are to have an opportunity on Wednesday of this week to visit Boston at low rates. Excursion tickets, good on that day only, and on a special train which leaves here at 7:30 A. M., and, returning, leaves Boston at 5:30 P. M., only $1.50 each.

Miss Alice Nason, an esteemed young lady of South Berwick, Me., on Saturday returned from a drive with a young man, made a change in her dress and left the house, telling her mother that she was going to the barn. Nothing more was seen or heard of her until Monday noon, when her dead body was found in the Salmon Falls river. It is believed she committed suicide.

Mr. Simon R. Marston of this city has been appointed by Gen. Thom to superintend the building of the breakwater between Goat and Great islands at Newcastle. The contractors for furnishing the material for the breakwater commenced blasting for rock at Boatswain's hill, Newcastle, some days ago, but we are informed that blasting at that point has been interrupted, owing to some dispute about terms. Boatswain's hill, according to one Newcastle tradition, was in the long ago the scene of a cruel murder, the boatswain of some vessel being the victim; and for many years after—and up to the present time, for aught we know to the contrary—the shade of the murdered boatswain has haunted the spot, his shrill whistle being sometimes heard sounding high above the roar of the tempest, during great storms. The boatswain's call is an ominous sound, for it is never heard without at least one fisherman being lost the next time the fishing fleet goes out. Perhaps it would be well to blow that uneasy old boatswrin out of his long home, and make him carry his ill luck to other lodgings.

The Nursery for October is on hand promptly to cheer the hearts of the little folks. It contains this month nineteen different pieces, suitably divided into prose and poetry, and presents, besides, a piece of new music. The style of illustration this month differs from the usual form, and is an improvement. Instead of a single frontispiece there are three full page pictures, artistically designed and enclosing poems. The number throughout is fully up to the usual standard of excellence. It also contains announcement of an attractive list of premiums, etc., which liberal offers will doubtless cause a considerable enlargement of its circulation. The Nursery is published by John L. Shorey of Boston.

Joseph White, employed at Kinnear's shoe factory, Dover, fell through an elevator Saturday morning, and was seriously injured.

Potatoes are rotting very badly in some portions of Kennebunkport. Some farmers say that fully one-half are rotten, and that the largest and best are smitten.

Out of three prizes offered at the Maine State fair last week, for best three-year-old stallions, Kennebunkport horses carried off two. The first prize, $15, was taken by D. A. Burnham's "Spangle," and the third, $5, by Henry C. Taylor's "John Morrissey."

At the recent prize shooting match of the Maine rifle club Mr. E. J. Cram of Kennebunk won the first prize, a Stevens pocket rifle, with a score of forty-seven out of a possible fifty at two hundred yards—the best score ever made in the State at a public match.

Another cheap excursion to the White mountains comes off this week over the Eastern railroad, and will be the last of the season. Tickets to Fabyan's from this city, and return, will be sold at $2.25 each, good to go on Thursday, the 25th inst., and to return until Monday, the 29th.

The Unitarians of Maine will hold their annual conference at Rev. Mr. Vinal's church in Kennebunk, beginning Tuesday evening, Sept. 30th, and ending Thursday afternoon, Oct. 2d. It is expected that Rev. Mr. Dole of Boston, and Rev. Dr. Briggs of Cambridge, Mass., will preach.

The York Baptist association held its annual session at Cape Neddick a few days ago; Rev. E. Worth was moderator, and Rev. A. DeF. Palmer, clerk. The attendance was good and the exercises quite interesting. The Baptist church at Cape Neddick has invited Rev. Gilbert Robins to become its pastor.

On Sunday a young man who was out on the river near Dover point, practising in a shell boat, after skimming about in safety for some time was greatly astonished by the shell rolling over and dumping him into the river; but being a good swimmer he did not remain Long in the water, soon reaching the shore in safety, though very moist.

Messrs. Fletcher & Tanton, undertakers, were call upon on Monday to furnish caskets for three persons whose united ages amounted to 255 years, nine months and nine days, as follows: Robert Newson of Kittery, aged ninety-nine years, four months and nine days; Lydia Bragdon of York, ninety-one years and four months; Ephraim Pickering of Newington, sixty-five years and one month.

THE BOAT RACE.

The sailing regatta announced for Saturday, but which was not sailed then as there was no wind, and which in consequence was postponed to Thursday next, will come off this (Tuesday) afternoon, over whichever one of the two courses previously laid out may be decided on as the most practicable; the starting-gun will be fired one o'clock. Should the wind and sea be so heavy as to prevent the boats going over the course already published, the following route will be sailed over:

Starting at the stake-boat, between the boat and Clarke's island to a boat anchored off Fort McClary, leaving it to starboard; thence to a boat anchored just inside of Wood island, leaving it to starboard, to the iron nun buoy (Stileman's rock buoy) just south of Fort Constution, leaving it to starboard, back to the stake-boat, round the stake-boat and repeat. This course gives a distance of eight miles, about a mile less taan the outside course.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Sept. 22; Batchelder, J.

John Barrett and Julia Barrett, charged with keeping a disorderly house, were ordered to furnish bonds in the sum of $100 each for their appearance at the October term of the supreme court to answer to the charge. The pair were up on a similar complaint two or three years ago, and have the reputation of being rather a "hard lot."

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

The winter arrangement of working hours at the navy yard has gone into effect, the men now working eight hours, instead of ten as during the summer.

Chief Engineer William H. Shock, chief of the bureau of steam engineering, paid an official visit to the navy yard Monday forenoon, and received the customary salute.

Naval Constructor Theodore D. Wilson, attached to this navy yard, has been granted leave of absence for one week.

Lieutenant Arthur A. Boyd, who entered the naval service on Oct. 11th, 1862, and is at present attached to the Marion, now at this navy yard, telegraphed his resignation to Washington on Saturday. The cause for this action was the refusal to grant him leave of absence to visit his dying sister, Miss Alice Boyd, at Haydenville, Mass., whither he was called on that day by a dispatch.

WATER.

Nearly every city, great or small, in the United States has been agitated in regard to the supply of water. Let us look to our own city. Here the houses are supplied with the purest spring water, which no one can object to drinking if he may be allowed to drink it by that ancient monopoly, the Portsmouth Aqueduct Company, which digs up the streets and lays them down again in a manner to suit itself, well or badly. If badly laid down the city has to meet the expense of afterwards repairing the streets at its own expense, and private individuals upon private property have the same necessity. The breweries, engines, and other such institutions probably enjoy the privileges of an abundant supply of water upon such terms as that old corporation may dictate.

It is confessed that in case of an extensive conflagration in this inflammable, compactly-built town, the fire department could not have an abundant supply of water, with which to extinguish it. If a stranger promenading the streets desires a drink of water, he can only obtain it as a special favor, and herein lies a text for the temperance reformer. If it may be desired by the citizens that a public fountain should be erected an objection is always raised.

Formerly there were many wells here, affording a sufficient supply of water for ordinary purposes, but some of them have been filled up, and in nearly every other case the pumps are useless, the troughs inverted or filled with sand and dirt. So that a team of oxen or horses coming into Portsmouth, thirsty as they usually are, can find nothing to satisfy their want. Rumor says this is through the influence of the Portsmouth Aqueduct Company; and to this the writer calls the attention of the city government and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Yet there are many streams and springs in vicinity of the head-waters of the aqueduct company running to waste. Now, as a counter-example, let us take our sister-city of Manchester, where water flows abundantly into the principal streets, affording enough to satisfy the thrist of man or beast. AQUA.

New Hampshire Items.

The first snow of the season fell on Mt. Washington Saturday afternoon.

A house in Keene owned by a Mrs. Mitchell was burned Saturday night; loss $800.

J. M. Moore's sawmill in North Conway was burned Saturday morning; loss $500, with no insurance.

Frederick Doucette's house and barn, in Nashua, were burned Sunday; loss $700; insured in the New Hampshire Co.

On Sunday night, at about half-past ten o'clock, fire broke out in Berry's block, Nashua, and that building and Barker's block adjoining were destroyed. Total loss about $15,000. The fire was incendiary.

Naval Affairs.

Assistant Naval Constructor John F. Hanscom, attached to the Charlestown navy yard, has been granted leave of absence for two weeks.

The U. S. S. Wachusett has had the necessary repairs made, at the Boston navy yard, and her provisions and stores are now being put on board, when she will be ready for sea.

The U. S. S. Portsmouth arrived at Fortress Monroe on Saturday, from Halifax.

The U. S. S. Kearsarge is at Charlestown navy yard, receiving some slight repairs.

In the Jaws of a Lion.

I was out after porcupines and lying down one night near a porcupine's hole, waiting for him to come out. I had no gun, but only my hunting-knife and a large knob kerrie with which to knock the porcupine on the nose; for that, as you know, kills him at once. I did not hear a sound until I found the grass near me move and a lion got his paw on me and lifted me up. The brute pressed his claws into me; luckily, my leather belt prevented his teeth from damaging me, and he carried me, holding on my belt and coat. If either of these had given way I should have been laid hold of in a far more rough manner. A lion is like a cat in one thing—he can hold a live creature in his mouth and not damage it, just as I have seen a cat carry a mouse. I knew the nature of the lion well enough to know that if I struggled I should have my neck broken or my head smashed in an instant, so I did not struggle, but quietly drew my knife and thought what was best to do. I thought at first of trying to strike him in the heart, but I could not reach that part of him, and his skin looked so loose that I could not strike deep enough, carried as I was. I knew it would be life or death with me in an instant, so turning myself a bit, I gashed the lion's nose and cut it through. The lion dropped me as I should drop a poisonous snake, and jumped away roaring with pain. He stood for an instant looking at me, but I did not move, and he did not seem to like to carry me again. More yards, licking the blood as it poured from his nose; but there I remained like a stone, and he was fairly afraid to tackle me again. I know a buffalo and an ox are very sensitive about the nose, and a cat, if just tipped on the nose, can't stand it, so I thought a lion might be the same, and so it proved.—Among the Zulus.

Potato Salad.

A lady sends to an exchange the following novel method of making potato salad. It may please the palates of those who object to salad oil: Take cold boiled potatoes and raw onions, about four potatoes to one onion; slice very thin, as thin as you can, put layers in your dish, a thick layer of potatoes, a thin one of onions. On each layer of onions, sprinkle salt and pepper to taste. When the dish is full, moisten with good, sweet cream, stirring them all together. Then pour over strong hot vinegar, in which butter has been melted, stirring again, but not too much. A little practice will teach how much butter, cream and vinegar to use.

Rich Speculations.

A brakeman on a Western railroad placed $40 in a combination, which turned a profit of 3 7-8 per cent., equal to $387.50 per one hundred shares, netting a profit of $193.75 in addition to the $50 he invested. A conductor made $1,276.24 in two combinations. The superintendent of an Eastern railway made $16,310.13 in three combinations. Others have also made large profits. This system of stock speculations consolidates the interests of thousands into one whole, dividing the profits pro rata every thirty day. The combinations handled with the best skill and experience, attain great success in the stock market. From $25 to $10,000 can thus be invested with vast advantage. —There have been many definitions of a gentleman, but the prettiest and most pathetic is that given by a young lady. "A gentleman," says she, "is a human being combining a woman's tenderness with a man's courage."

—At Scarborough, England, a few days ago, the keeper of the aquarium was cleaning out the tank occupied by the octopedes, or devil fish, when he was seized by the leg (fortunately he had sea boots on) by one of the largest of them. The octopus fastened four of his tentacles around the leg of the boot, and with the other four held firmly to the rocks forming the back of the tank. A struggle took place, and finally the keeper slipped his leg out of the boot and beat a retreat.

A Wise Legislator.

He is successful because he has the manly courage to rise above all personal motives or interests and cast his vote and influence on the side of measures which will contribute to the well being of his fellow-men. The good of the many, even though it proves injurious to the interests of the few, is the maxim of the wise legislator. But certain men will never admit the wisdom of this doctrine, any more than some selfish private practitioners will admit the superlative value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, because these remedies have injured their practice. Of course, no man in his right senses will pay a physician $5.00 for a consultation, a bottle of bitters, and a powder, when a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and a bottle of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, both costing but $1.25, will accomplish the same result, viz: cleanse the liver and blood, regulate and tone the stomach, and impart a healthful action to the bowels and kidneys.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, Applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicine for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, H. WILSON LORD.
AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had a clothes on durin that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,
DUNNING BROTHERS,
Druggists and Booksellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1879.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "Plain Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, sent postpaid for $1.50, or "Invalids' and Women's Guide Book," (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Cancer, Tumors, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Cyst (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most prompt and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation, for it is the only medicine of a positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the chief or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single individual lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a sing ineess of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats entirely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every sufferer who has died from strangulation has flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

BEWARE of a man named Sherman, who, taking advantage of my reputation calls him self Dr. Sherman, alias Dr. S. Sherman, alias Dr. S. J. Sherman, pretending to be famous for the cure of Rupture. He is a bold cheat, hoping to mislead and victimize the afflicted. Preserve this advertisement and show it to your afflicted friends. toct20

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 25th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent, on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 26th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Governments bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co. Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

RADICAL CURE

For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of plants, herbs and barks in their essential form, free from every form contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has made its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been waited upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, at considerable expense and personal trouble, spread its good news throughout their circle in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is a remedy of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 90 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Motracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000).

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. Daily Chronicle.

AN EXTRAORDINARY ELOPEMENT.

BY CLINTON MONTAGUE.

Grace Leighton was rich, and a beauty. Nobody else had just such bright eyes, white teeth and cherry lips. Then her hair, so rich and glossy, falling in golden waves around her queenly head, unadorned by bangs, frizzes, or any other fashionable abortion, was simply charming. She was nineteen years of age, and her form was moulded after the model of perfect womanhood.

Grace was spending the summer at a fashionable watering place, under the sharp eyes of a maiden aunt. It was her first season, and of course she became at once the centre of attraction. Such a style of beauty as was her's, pure, fresh, but dazzling in its natural simplicity, brought around her a host of admirers, and the knowledge that she was an heiress did not serve to decrease their number. Most ardent among her suitors were Philip Van Ronsevelle and Florian Delancey.

Philip Van Ronsevelle was a Knickerbocker of the purest extraction. His lineage, by his own saying, rivalled any of the old Jewish genealogies, and could be traced back to old Rip Van Ronsevelle, one of the veritable Rips who built the town of New Amsterdam, in the days of Wouter Van Twiller, when bricks brought from Holland were better than those made from American clay, and cheese could not be manufactured from anything but Dutch milk. The fiercest rivalry existed between him and Florian Delancey.

Young Delancey was a swell of rather more than ordinary pretension. His father was a millionaire having an office on Wall street, whole blocks in Broadway, and interests in every canal and railroad corporation in York State. Of course his style coincided with this putative wealth. He lodged at the largest hotel, drove the finest span, and dressed the most exquisitely of any with the exception of Philip Van Ronsevelle, who somehow or other always contrived to keep pace with him. This was aggravating to the highest degree to the scion of the house of Delancy, and now to madden him the more he found him his rival in love. It was a benefit after all to both of them I think, for it served to raise each of them a grade higher in the scale of humanity. The daily problem of their lives had been which could wear the glossiest tile and gorgeous necktie, or dance in pumps of the finest kid, and their whole minds had been given to it, but now this fresh rivalry gave them something else to think of. Both men were deeply in earnest and entered heart and soul into the contest.

Miss Leighton was cautious, and received their advances coolly at first, but as time passed and their ardor did not slacken she began to be amused. Their daily calls grew to be watched for, and what young lady would refuse to ride behind a pair of handsome grays when invited on a sunny afternoon? She accepted their presents, and in return played the agreeable when they called.

Neither of them, however, had any reason to boast over the other. Whatever impression she had regarding them they were ignorant of; and if she had any preference she kept it to herself. Each felt that his rival had equal ground for confidence, so neither ever counted the day his own.

But things could not remain in this manner for any long time. Philip Van Ronsevelle felt that he could not wait. In fact his purse was in rather a depleted condition, and he knew that a new lease of dissipated life could only be secured by a speedy marriage with the rich heiress, if she would have him. His straightened circumstances made him desperate, and he determined to learn his fate at once. He therefore took advantage of the first opportunity to lay bare his heart to Grace, only suppressing mention of a few private motives which lay at the bottom of it.

Grace blushed and stammered like the girl she was, and Van Ronsevelle's heart was filled with joy, for she had not refused him. He urged as passionately as he dared that she should name an early date for the marriage.

"I fear my aunt," said Grace, tremblingly. "She will never consent, I know, and she already half suspects. What can we do?"

"The heart's affections are something over which the ties of relationship have no control. Your heart is mine. She has no right to keep it from me," replied the lover, so happy that he could hardly restrain himself in his great joy.

"Most true," murmured Grace, "but she will not allow us to be married here. We shall have to do it secretly or she will make us trouble."

"Then flee with me, my loved one," he cried in a burst of ecstacy. "You are rich and I am rich. We can find some spot where we can live in happiness and your aunt cannot alarm us. Dear Grace, will you go?"

"I do not like to offend my aunt, but how can I live away from you? We must manage it some way. Ah, I have it," she exclaimed, blushing prettily. "The coachman is in my confidence. We will agree upon some rendezvous, and disguised in safe attire I will persuade John to take me to the spot in a carriage, and thus I shall be unrecognized. You can meet me there, and from thence we can visit the Reverend Mr. Piper, who was my father's old friend, and invoking his aid we—we—there! What a little plotter I am!"

"You're a little angel, that is what you are," cried Philip rapturously.

"You must promise me one thing, however, "said Grace, soberly," "or I shall be obliged to refuse you after all."

"Ask anything, darling; I shall not refuse you."

"Well, then, you mustn't speak a word when we meet, nor until we are well away. Everything about here has ears, and I would not risk discovery for the world."

"Your request is law to me. It shall be obeyed," he answered with a theatrical solemnity.

They appointed the time and place, and then Philip Van Ronsevelle rose to leave. His rubicund visage was a glow with triumph, and he already imagined himself the possessor of Miss Leighton's fortune.

"There is another thing," said Grace, as he held her hand at parting.

"What is it, my loved one?" asked Van Ronsevelle, with an obsequious bow.

"Only this. The masquerade ball occurs that night, and I have just thought that it may be well for us both to be masked. We shall thus be sure to escape recognition, and it will excite no remark if we are observed. Isn't it a good plan?"

"Capital!" he exclaimed, wringing her hand. "You're a regular schemer. You should write a plot for a novel."

With a kiss pressed hastily on her jeweled hand, he left her. As he went down the broad stairway he came face to face with Florian Delancey. His first thought was to state to his rival his good fortune, but a momentary reflection convinced him of the foolishness of this performance; so with a light bow and a low chuckle he passed on.

Philip Van Ronsevelle passed the intervening time in a fever of impatience, and when the auspicious night arrived he was at the spot assigned at the very instant of time, disguised as instructed, and with all the watchful anxiety of a lover waiting for his companion to appear.

He had not long to wait. Presently he heard the sound of wheels, and in another moment a carriage drove up and halted opposite him. Philip's heart jumped into his throat; his love had not disappointed him. The coachman dismounted and opened the door. Without speaking a word, Philip stepped within, and soon was whirled rapidly away.

It was dark in the carriage, but Philip could distinguished through the gloom the outlines of a figure with a masked face. His heart throbbed wildly and he could scarcely restrain himself from clasping the beloved presence in his arms and giving utterance to a storm of tender eloquence. He remembered his promises, however, and by an effort of will refrained, though his capacity for so doing grew momentarily lesser. Just as he was on the point of giving out a deep bass voice broke the silence with this passionate exclamation:

"Dearest Grace!"

Philip sprung to his feet in amazement, clutching frantically at his shirt collar. "Dearest devil!" he screamed. "What are you here for, and who in thunder are you?"

"And who in the fiend's name are you?" exclaimed the other.

"Florian Delancey! by all that's maddening," yelled Philip.

"Philip Van Ronsevelle! By all that's devilish," roared Florian.

"Damnable wretch, you shall pay for this trick," shrieked Philip, almost beside himself with rage.

"Come on, villain; low-lived Dutchman, you deserve to die," returned Florian, springing forward and attacking his rival with the ferocity of a tiger.

Even cowards will fight desperately when driven to it, and the two maddened men clung to each other like death. Neckties were dislocated, hat crowns stove in, shirt bosoms rumpled, and even the carriage windows were in imminent danger. The uproar frightened the driver, who stopped and called the police. After a struggle the combatants were dragged out and summarily marched off to the station, where they were left to reflect over their discomfiture.

At that very hour Grace Leighton was closeted in her parlor with a gentleman who had known and loved her for years, and whom she had promised to marry. Grace was dressed for the fancy ball, and the young man was to escort her. The eyes of both were red, and their faces were flushed, for they had been laughing immoderately.

"I tell you, George, it was the best joke of my life. Imagine the surprise of the stupid dunces when they discover their mistake. I would give a fortune to see them."

"I fail to see how you could arrange it so nicely. They must have been deeply smitten not to discern the hook under the bait. How was it, Grace?"

"Deeply smitten with my money bags, you mean," exclaimed the girl. That was all they cared for. But I was telling you how Van Ronsevelle came in and the plot I lured him into. Well, after he went out who should come in but young Delancey, and on the same errand likewise. What could I do but complete the snare, and rid myself of them both by a little harmless strategy? It was done easily enough, the only difference being that Florian was to bring a carriage and find me in waiting as he thought, the condition as to silence and disguise being the same."

"Well, I trust you have done no harm. It may be a lesson to them. Ha! ha! I can't but laugh when I think of their looks of chagrin when they discover their mistake. The amusement this has afforded me more than compensates for the pangs I may have felt when I heard that you were taking rides with young gentlemen."

"But surely, George, you were not jealous of either Florian Delancey or Philip Van Ronsevelle."

"A little, darling, but it is all over now," and George Ellsworth pressed her tenderly to his breast.

The following morning the hotel was surprised at the sudden exit of Florian Delancy and Philip Van Ronsevelle, who left in the first train for the city, having been discharged from their temporary prison. But it was a source of much amusement to the guests when the truth at last leaked out. However, they were glad to be rid of two such parasites of society.

Grace Leighton and George Ellsworth were married before the year was out, and they have laughed many times with their children, over the story of the elopement extraordinary.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1879.

The Six-Days Tramp.

At twelve o'clock Monday night the score stood as follows: Rowell 127 miles, Guyon 115, Ennis 102, Merritt 108, Hart 107, Weston 92, Hazael 100, Panchot 100, Krohne 90, Taylor 80, Jackson 98, Federmeyer 81, Dutcher 23. The last named man gave the tramp up as a bad job, at an early hour in the day.

At three o'clock P. M., Tuesday, the score was: Weston 145, Rowell 183, Hazel 156, Guyon 168, Ennis 140, Panchot 145, Merritt 169, Hart 153, Krohne 127, Taylor 97, Jackson 137, Federmeyer 123.

The attendance was not as large as had been expected, and public interest in the match appears to be flagging.

News and Notes.

At Bayou Chico, La., during an election on Saturday, a shooting affray occurred between two men named Fort and Dessman. Neither of the principals were hurt, but two bystanders were shot, Edward W. Grimm being instantly killed and Richard Nash dangerously wounded.

During a drunken row between Abram Brower and John Girard, at Passaic, N. J., Monday, the former threw a stone at the latter, missing Girard, and striking J. King, a young man passing at the time. King died shortly after. Brower was arrested.

Talmage sailed for home from London, on Sunday. He has lectured and preached ninety-six times during the past three months in Great Britian.

The trial of Samuel D. Haines for the murder of James R. Robbins began in the supreme court at Rockland, Me., on Monday. Evidence was introduced showing that near midnight on the 11th of last June, Haines, who was a prisoner in the police lockup, struck Robbins, his keeper, who had fallen asleep, a blow on the head with an iron stove wrench, causing the death of the latter on June 14th. After striking the fatal blow the prisoner escaped, but was recaptured at Islesboro' the 17th of the same month. The prisoner's confession admitting the assault was not put in evidence. The declarations of Robbins having been ruled out, the defence opened, counsel for Haines claiming that the prisoner had no intention to produce death by the blow upon the deceased. Haines was sworn, and declared that he had no intention to kill Robbins. The case was given to the jury about six o'clock P. M., and they, after about an hour's deliberation, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree. The prisoner was remanded for sentence.

Considerable excitement exists in Boston over the disappearance of Charles H. Cutting, travelling salesman for a Boston firm, and a young man of the highest character and fine abilities. It is feared that he was robbed and murdered on one of the sound steamboats, and his body thrown overboard. He was in Providence on business from the 9th inst. to the 11th, and it is known that he took the steamer of the Fall River line on the 12th, since which time no trace of him has been found.

The New York World's Toronto dispatch says it is the general belief there that the coming Hanlan-Courtney race is of the nature of a hippodrome, and arrangements have been made by which the loser is to get part of the $6000 prize. Those who know, say Courtney is ready to admit that he has no chance against Hanlan, and that he entered on this contest simply for the $2000. Hanlan claims it will be a square race, and says that in order to clear Courtney's name and enable the latter to show he is rowing for all he is worth, he will make the fastest five mile time on record at Chatauqua. The Toronto Telegram prints an article saying it is more than probable that Hanlan will not be able to race with Courtney, it being impossible to get him in proper condition, as his health is too poor. It intimates that the race will have to be postponed until next spring.

Diphtheria is becoming such a scourge among children in Europe, attacking the youth of noble families as well as those of humble birth, that the Empress of Germany has offered a prize for the best treatise on the disease and its remedy that may be published within a year.

The present rebellion in Cuba appears to be one of the slaves against the Cuban government, rather than a revolution for the purpose of freeing the island from Spanish dominion. During the late civil war the government made promises of gradual emancipation to the slaves, which have not been carried out, and they have the courage and energy to attempt to work out their own freedom by force. They learned the art of bush fighting during the rebellion, when they made up the main portion of the rebel forces, and even if they are without leaders, organization or outside assistance, can maintain a very long and exhaustive conflict among the swamps and canebreaks, if the example of the rebellion is to be taken as a criterion. We are unable as yet to form a definite idea of the extent of the revolt, but in its weakest aspect it is likely to give employment for all the energy and strength of the Cuban government, and perhaps to demand another army from Spain, which will not be agreeable news to that country, whose treasury is empty and which has found the "ever faithful isle" a bill of expense instead of a source of revenue for the past ten years or more. The probability is that the slaves will not be able to accomplish their freedom directly, but every struggle and disturbance has a weakening effect on the power that holds them in subjection, as well as on the authority of Spain over the island.

—"Here, sergeant, arrest me!" exclaimed an excited individual as he rushed into a New York station house. "I have shot a man; he is, perhaps, dead by this time, and I have come to give myself up." "Well! if this isn't too much," said the indignant officer. "Now you go home I tell you, and mind your own business and wait till I find you."

Gen. Lee asked a straggler one day, whom he found eating green persimmons, if he did not know they were unfit for food. The Truth-Teller.

A colored man known as Uncle Squills was recently circulating around the City Hall with a basket of pop-corn, "warranted to cure dyspepsia in its most aggravated form." He had pretty fair luck for a while, but at length came across an official, who nibbled at the corn and remarked:

"Uncle Squills, I had always supposed you to be an honest man."

"So I is, sah—so I is."

"I'm afraid not. Here you are selling pop-corn under false pretences. You know perfectly well that this corn won't cure dyspepsia."

"Well, sah—well"—stammered the old man, as he scratched his head.

"Come, now, Uncle Squills, own right up that this stuff won't cure dyspepsia," urged the official.

"Well, sah," replied the old man, after a great mental struggle, "I am not dun certain 'bout the dishpepsy business, but fo' de Lawd, I do believe dat dis co'n will turn de wuss case of consumpshun wrong side out in less'n free days by de clock! I'll sort o' weaken on dishpepsy, sah, but I'll stick to consumpshun right frow de season, sale or no sale!"—Detroit Free Press.

THE WEATHER.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 24, 2 A. M.

New England partly cloudy weather, with occasional rains south west, veering to colder north west, rising followed by falling barometer.

AROUND HOME.

A special train leaves this city this morning at 7:30 for Boston; returning, leaves that city at 5:30 P. M. Tickets, good only for these trains, $1.50.

A large excursion party from Salem went through here Tuesday forenoon, over the Eastern railroad, bound for the White mountains. It was under the auspices of the Young Men's Union. On Thursday an excursion to the mountains takes place from this city.

Uncle Tom's Cabin at Music hall this evening, with Yankee Locke as Phineas Fletcher and Gumption Cute, his original characters; Miss Blanche Slader as Topsy; Little Nell as Eva; and Frank L. Howard as Uncle Tom. Popular prices. See advertisement.

Among the passengers on board steamship Devonia, which arrived at New York from Glasgow on Monday, were Prof. Geo. A. Wentworth and wife, of Exeter, G. F. Mosher, Esq., of Dover, (editor of the Morning Star) and wife, and Col. William H. Hackett of Portsmouth. Col. Hackett arrived home on Tuesday afternoon.

On Tuesday several young men went into a saloon kept by a widow near the Boston & Maine depot at Dover, to get a bill changed, and stole $200 in money and a thousand dollar bond. Several persons were arrested on suspicion in Dover, and the city marshal of that place came to this city Tuesday evening, but none of the thieves were found here.

The practice of permitting postal employes to change the address upon misdirected letters and other mail matter, or to write upon a letter addressed to no post-office, "Try —," (naming some office,) has been found to be a hindrance instead of a help in the forwarding of matter to its destination, and it is accordingly strictly forbidden under the new regulations. This prohibition has compelled the department to take a decided position upon the question, which has for a long time occupied its attention, and which, pending the decision of the department, has been left to the discretion of the postmasters and railway postal clerks, and that is whether the matter not addressed to any post-office can be considered mailable. Upon the advice of the general superintendent of the railway mail service, the postmaster-general has decided that matter not addressed to any post-office cannot be forwarded in the mails, but must be returned to the sender if known, for better direction, or to the dead letter office.

THE BOAT RACE.

The adjourned yacht race, which came off in the lower harbor on Tuesday afternoon was a very interesting affair. The weather was all that could be desired, a good breeze springing up from the southward just before noon, as if for the occasion. Six boats entered, though but five sailed over the entire course, the names of which, captains, and the time made, were as follows:

Yacht.	Captain.	Length.	Cor. Time.
Myth,	S. Pillsbury,	18ft., 4in.	1h. 40m. 52s.
Clara,	W. W. Dixon,	18ft., 3in.	1h. 42m. 29s.
Reliance,	E. W. Getchell,	17ft., 3in.	1h. 44m. 14s.
Spot Chicken,	T. Davidson,	19ft., 6in.	1h. 51m. 33s.
No Name,	T. J. Billings,	20ft., 6in.	1h. 53m. 27s.

The first prize, a silver pitcher, was awarded to Capt. Pillsbury, of the "Myth," the second, a clock, to the "Clara," and the third, a compass, to George B. French's boat "Reliance," of this city.

PORTSMOUTH & DOVER R. R.

A conference was held on Monday in Boston, at the office of Richard Olney, Esq., between counsel of the Eastern railroad and the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, Messrs Hatch, Frink, Smith and Foster representing the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, and the cities of Portsmouth and Dover, the Eastern railroad being represented by Richard Olney and President Phillips. No terms of arbitration were agreed upon finally, and the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire acknowledge service of the writ, which begins the suit at law. Notice was served on the Eastern to be ready for trial at the October term of court, and that the last amount ($25,500) of rent which was due should be deposited subject to the joint order of Messrs. Frink and Olney, to await the result of the suit.

Political.

At Spartansburg, S. C., on Monday, T. J. Davis, special deputy collector of internal revenue, was shot by J. B. Panther and had his thigh bone badly broken. Davis was at the time serving a United States bench warrant. Panther was shot in the leg by a negro, who was promptly jailed for attempting to defend the United States official while in the execution of his duty; Panther, who shot the United States official because he was attempting to enforce the national laws, was not arrested. A tyrannical central government will by-and-bye learn that the nation of South Carolina will never submit to be oppressed so far as to be forced to obey the laws and help pay her fair share toward the national expenses.

The New York Sun says the calling of a special term of the supreme court by Gov. Robinson to obtain an immediate decision of the case of Police Commissioner Nichols, in view of the influence this decision must have on the coming election, in which Gov. Robinson is himself a candidate, is a grave mistake—one of the gravest he has ever made. Gov. Robinson should not be blamed at all; he is merely a cat's-paw for Tilden, and Tilden ordered him to call the special term of the court.

Outrages on "knobstick" spinners and their families by the strikers at Fall River are on the increase; one policeman, who has been active in bringing criminals to justice, has been twice shot at, the last time with a heavy rifle. The board of aldermen of Fall River is tied between the republicans and democrats, each party having three aldermen; the three democrats are rumsellers, and have steadily refused to increase the police force of the city, though such increase has been earnestly asked for by the respectable citizens.

Big Dick, of Dartmoor Prison.

Among the Americans captured in privateers or merchant vessels, was Big Dick, a colored man, seven feet in height and otherwise of like proportions. Being orderly in his bearing, he was given charge of the others of his race, of whom these was a large number, and among whom he was known as King Dick, standing as he did head and shoulders above the rest of them. When the massacre occurred, he narrowly escaped the loss of life; a musket ball passing through his clothes in the region of the heart. For ten or twenty years after the close of the war, he could be seen any day in Broad street, Boston, in his familiar dress of blue jacket and trowsers, and a bright red vest, and no visitor to "the hub," as it is called now-a-days, would have failed to get a sight of him, any more than they would of "old Reed," the famous thief-catcher, or "old Wilson," the city crier. While the most orderly of men, he was skilled in what "the fancy" are accustomed to style "the noble and manly art of self-defense," an accomplishment he was ready to impart to others wishing his services. Although never practising it, he would have been a terrible antagonist in the prize-ring; crushing as he might, past recognition, the visage of a Yankee Sullivan, and no human ribs could have withstood, unbroken, his ponderous blows. When Lafayette visited Boston in 1824, attracted by his huge size and stentorian voice in giving him a welcome among the throng on Washington street, he expressed a wish to see him on learning his history, and an opportunity was afterwards given him for doing so. A piece of French gold he bestowed on him in parting, Dick was very fond afterwards of showing, and starvation would hardly have induced him to part with it. Dick, in his latter days, was made the subject of a pamphlet volume in yellow-covered literature, which probably still exists among such reading in Boston. J. H. B.

—A family at Solon, Ill., were astonished the other day by the receipt of a box containing the body of their daughter, who had married a man in Missouri, and died there. Her husband afterward explained that she wanted to be buried at home, and he thought the family would know enough to bury her if they received her.

—A Cincinnati business firm recently had a slight draft on a Columbus (Ohio) party come back to them protested, the notary who handled the case winding up his report as follows: "I found said office locked up. I thereupon stood in front of the door of said office and demanded payment of said draft in an audible tone of voice, and received no reply."

—Miss Calino goes for the first time to view the sea at Dieppe. At her departure for home her sister recommends her to carry back some sea-water in a bottle. She goes down to the shore and fills her vial with water. "Better not fill it up like that, missy," said a sailor, "bekase, it being low water now, when the tide rises it'll burst your bottle." Miss Calino, quite convinced, pours out half the water and departs.

A Hint to Workingmen.

The honest workingmen of the country, many of whom have large and increasing families to support, have been the chief sufferers from the great financial pressure under which we have laboured for the past few years. Diminished wages have not been attended by a corresponding diminution in price of every thing which the workingman needs. Rents, fuel, food, and clothing, are cheaper, but these do not constitute all his necessities. It is sometimes necessary for him to employ a lawyer or a physician, yet the fee rates of physicians and lawyers are as high as they were in "flush" times. Yet cheap medicines are as necessary as cheap rents or fuel. Cheap medicines are not necessarily poor medicines. It must be obvious to every intelligent person that medicines, compounded and put up at wholesale, can be sold at much lower rates than when retailed from the doctor's pill bags. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets have completely restored persons who had spent hundreds of dollars in vainly seeking relief from private practioners, and all at a very slight expenditure.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I feel like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, H. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 3, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleaning all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

Druggists and Bookseller.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1873. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER S. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Diseases of Brain, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases successfully without seeing the patient personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50, or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book," 180 pages, 10 cents post-paid.

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousands of these cases, I have peculiar facilities, and have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a diagnosis of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice and hint to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 45 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co's new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful; enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each subscriber all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Capital Weekly, September 26th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $15 would make $75, or 5 per cent., $50 pays $250, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,100, or 10 per cent. on the stock; during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000; (four times as much as this Company) and which mined, with a twenty-stamp mill, during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 22d.

Who has been responsible for the revival of the bloody shirt in politics will be a question for every person to decide for himself. But that it has been revived is not a question at all, and its revival is most vigorous where it was most deprecated only a short time ago. Late events in the south, the Yazoo affair, the trial in Kemper county, and other like incidents have been seized upon by the radical republicans with great avidity, and worked up industriously in order to solidify the north against the south. Capt. J. M. Wells, a Mississippi carpet-bagger, who wrote an account of the Chisolm massacre, has furnished a large number of his books to republicans here for campaign circulation at very low rates. The republican Congressional committee has also published a pamphlet on the "Great Usurpation," so-called, going to prove that we are ruled by "an oligarchy" and that a majority of Congress are elected by a minority of the people. This is a glowing and sensational array of figures, intended to alarm the timid and arouse the northern prejudice. At the same time Mrs. Chisolm has been prevailed upon to publish her experience in the south, and every other agency is used to bring the bloody shirt issue into prominence. This sudden revival of the southern question in its most radical form at the same time with Gen. Grant's return is looked upon by many as having deep significance. If it don't mean Grant as a candidate it means the Grant policy, which is also Blaine's, Windom's, Conkling's and Sherman's policy. In fact all along the line the conservative republicans seem to have been snuffed out, and the rivalry is as to which one of the leading candidates shall excel in stalwartness. There can be no doubt that the bloody shirt is to be the leading feature in the grand campaign soon to begin, and to end in November, 1880. As I said in the beginning, there is a difference of opinion as to who is responsible for its revival, but none as to the fact. Each party charges the other with forcing it upon the country, but both parties seem prepared to enter the strife upon that line with vigor.

Mr. R. T. Merrick is Mr. Tilden's right hand man in Washington. He says that Mr. Tilden is stronger than ever in New York and the country, and it is all nonsense to suppose that Kelly or any corrupt ring can crush or damage him. There are many democrats, however, who take a different view,—perhaps because they desire to hurt Mr. Tilden, and to drive him off the Presidential course. They say that Kelly will kill off his great rival, and that Robinson will be defeated because he is "Tilden's man Friday." Of course this makes the republicans chuckle and is very injudicious talk for democrats to make; but they say that they can stand defeat in New York this year better than they can stand Tilden in 1880. With him out of the way they say start clean and fair, and sweep the field.

I do not find a wide-spread apprehension among government officers who understand the matter of a serious Indian war in New Mexico. The rampant Utes will be put down quickly. KNOX.

Modern Whaling.

The introduction of petroleum, the consequent fall in the price of whale oil, the destruction of whalers by the rebel cruiser Shenandoah, the loss of many vessels in the Arctic ice-fields in 1871 and 1876, and the decrease in the number of whales, have contributed to reduce the Pacific whaling fleet from 600 vessels in 1855 to forty in 1879. Of these only eighteen are now in the north Pacific, and recently they have made their rendezvous in San Francisco harbor, whereas formerly Honolulu was the port where they discharged cargo, refitted and spent the winter. They employ about 700 men, and the average catch may be set down as 15,000 barrels of oil and seventy tons of whalebone. The whales are scarce and shy now south of Behring strait, and most of the vessels venture in the Arctic sea. In a fair season a vessel will take five whales; the northern right whale yielding 155 barrels and the Arctic ninety barrels of oil, and each about 1500 pounds of bone. If the whales are not found the vessel frequently devotes itself to the walrus, each of which gives twenty gallons of oil and five pounds of ivory; but three out of four killed are lost, and as they are the chief dependence of the Esquimaux for subsistence, some whaling-masters will not kill them so long as there is any hope of finding whales. The introduction of an improved bomb-lance gun will probably make the business less dangerous and more profitable. There are half a dozen whaling stations on the coast of California, where a lookout is kept on shore, and when notice is given that a whale is in sight, men put off in a row boat for the prize. There are twenty-five men at Punta Banda, and twelve at Santo Tomas, in Lower California, and ten at Ballast point, in the American territory, all belonging to San Diego; a company at Monterey, one of twenty-five men at Pidgeon point, and one or two in Mendocino county. Most of the whales taken are the California graybacks, which are neither rich in oil nor easily taken. Some seasons more than half those killed are lost. They migrate when fat to the southward from November to February, keeping near the land, and to the northward from May to October, when lean, running a little further out.—Alta California.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1879.

Work or Go Hungry.

The city of Providence, R. I., began a year and a half ago to dispense its charity on a new plan. Helpless paupers were kept in an almhouse, or aided at home, as before; but all able-bodied applicants for feed or lodging were put at work in a woodyard at fifty cents a day. Unworthy families, who had been assisted by the city for years, dropped out of the charity commissioner's sight, while begging decreased greatly. Tramps began to give the city a wide berth, for they had to pay for their lodging and meals with work in the woodyard, and the station house lodgers during the year numbered only 2,479, against 9,425 for the year preceding. The new system has also been one of economy, the expenditures for outdoor and indoor relief being $13,240, against $19,141 for outdoor relief alone during the preceding twelve months. The woodyard is self-sustaining.

"Reform is Necessary."

A statement has been published in Ohio showing that during the last ten years the loss by the defalcations and thefts of democratic county officers in that State will amount to over $1,000,000. This is distributed between twenty-one counties. The defalcations range in amount from $125,000 to a few hundred. Fairfield county—Ewing's home—has lost $142,-000. Butler county had two defalcations of over $100,000 each, and has lost heavily by a long series of minor peculations. Clermont has suffered to the extent of $47,000; Brown, $40,000; Stark, $42,-000; Hancock, $35,000; Auglaize, $32,-000. These amounts represent actual stealings from the public treasury, overcharges in fees, etc., not being taken into account. In half of the counties controlled by democrats in the State there have been defalcations. During the same period only two or three defalcations in republican counties have occurred, and those were insignificant sums. Of the amount stolen by democratic officers, less than six per cent has been recovered, and of the twenty-three defaulters only five been punished.

The Six-Days Tramp.

The scores of the professional tramps at Madison square garden, New York city, were as follows at twelve o'clock at night on the 23d inst.: Rowell, 215 miles; Guyon, 200; Merritt, 193; Hart, 189; Hazael, 184; Ennis, 175; Weston, 173; Krohne, 160; Jackson, 160; Panchot, 154; Federmeyer, 149; Taylor, 100.

News and Notes.

Rev. David L. Lounsbury, rector of Christ church, Bridgeport, Conn., was shot by his wife as he lay asleep, on the morning of Sept. 24th, and instantly killed. Insanity induced by sickness was the cause of the act.

The jury in the case of Mrs. Goodrich and Dr. Adams, accused of complicity in the murder by abortion of Jennie P. Clark, were on the 24th inst. discharged, failing to agree. They stood eleven for conviction and one for acquittal, all the previous night.

The Hanlan-Courtney rowing match has been postponed on account of Hanlan's illness.

Samuel D. Haines, the murderer of James P. Robbins at Rockland, Me., has been sentenced to State prison for life.

Two negroes, Washington Arnold and Prior Ward, locked arms and deliberately walked into the Missouri river at St. Joseph, Mo., a few days ago. They were swept away by the current and drowned.

Edwin Poulton, about sixty years old, and a long time a resident of Shelburne Falls, Mass., hanged himself in his barn Monday night, Sept. 22d; cause unknown.

The body of a mulatto was found under Jay's stable at New Bedford, Sept. 23d, embedded in manure and badly decomposed. There were two wounds on the head, but no fracture of the skull. The body was identified as that of James Grimes.

At Bucyrus, Ohio, Sept. 23d, George Schwab shot and killed Mary A. Long, aged sixteen years, for refusing his offer of marriage. The murderer then hung himself.

J. A. Knowlton of Brandon, Vt., has had bad luck with the railroad. A short time since he had several fine yearling cattle killed by the cars; and the other day his flock of twenty-two turkeys gathered on the railroad track and were rolling in the sand, when along came a train and cleaned out every bird.

Mme. Raebut Fechter, now living in France, widow of the actor, Charles Fechter, has taken legal steps to secure control of the Fechter estate in Pennsylvania, and to contest the claims of Lizzie Price, with whom Fechter lived five years previous to his death.

The excursion steamer Undaunted, running from Ramsgate, Eng., to the Isle of Wight, was run down on the 24th inst., and all hands, about a hundred in number, lost.

The despatches from India tell horrible stories of the ravages of the famine in Cashmere. It is stated that boat loads of famine-stricken people were taken out into the lake and drowned.

On the night of the 3d of September, at Kiev, Russia, during a furious storm fire broke out at seven places at once, petroleum stores and a powder magazine being selected by the incendiaries. A thick, black smoke covered the town, frequent explosions terrified the people, and it was not till daylight broke, on the second day, that the flames were extinguished. Kiev is one of the oldest and was one of the handsomest cities in Russia, the capital of a district, and having a population of 75,000 inhabitants. It has long been a hot-bed of Nihilism, and its university, which contains 1500 students, is a nursery of revolution. The Russian police have resorted to the most desperate oppression in their efforts to stamp out the enemies of the government. The result is incendiary fires, here, there, and everywhere in the empire. That at Kiev is the last and the worst.

Naval Affairs.

Medical Inspector W. M. King is detached from the Shenandoah and from duty as fleet surgeon of the South Atlantic squadron, and granted sick leave. Surgeon Michael Bradley relieves him.

Lieut. J. W. Graydon is ordered to the Shenandoah, relieving Lieut. W. H. Turner, who is placed on waiting orders.

Ensign F. H. Tyler is detached from the Marion, and placed on sick leave.

Surgeon Thomas Hiland is ordered to the Norfolk navy yard.

The U. S. S. Alaska was at Panama on the 16th of September, and the Vandalia at Aspinwall on the same date.

The U. S. S. Essex sailed from Rio Janeiro Aug. 25th, for Philadelphia.

The school ships Portsmouth, Saratoga, Minnesota and Constellation, with the Hartford, Kearsarge and Marion, are all expected to be at Fortress Monroe early in October, when a drill will take place and the squadron will be inspected by the secretary of the navy.

New Hampshire Items.

Hon. A. Shaw of Lebanon has tendered his resignation as director of the Northern railroad. Mr. Shaw has been connected with the Northern railroad more than thirty years.

Thomas P. Raymond, a tanner and well-known citizen of Boscawen, was found dead in his barn Monday evening, Sept. 22d. His age was seventy-six years, and he probably died from heart disease.

A meeting of the grantees of the Unitarian educational society was held in Concord on Monday, Sept. 22d, with Hon. Zimri S. Wallingford of Dover in the chair. A committee was appointed to prepare a constitution and by-laws, to be reported at an adjourned meeting, and also to report a list of officers of the society.

A desperate cane rush, the first for several years, lasting for nearly two hours, occurred at Hanover between the sophomore and freshmen classes of Dartmouth college on the night of Sept. 23d, resulting in the sophomores securing the cane.

Political.

Grant, in all his travels, never witnessed "Pinafore" till one evening this week! Such a man is too far behind the times to be made President.

The New York democratic State committee organized Sept. 23d, with the Tammany members left out. The Tammanyites present were informed that they were not wanted, and they left.

Blackburn, the recently elected democratic governor of Kentucky, is beyond a doubt the Dr. Luke P. Blackburn who tried to infect the north with yellow fever during the war. The Cincinnati Gazette prints a letter from its Washington correspondent, giving a statement by a former rebel officer in Gen. Price's army in Missouri, of the origin of the yellow fever plot. By this it appears that Dr. Luke P. Blackburn and another doctor were attached to Gen. Price's command, and that then and there Dr. Blackburn proposed the infamous plan for the dissemination of yellow fever, and that Gen. Price opposed it, but that Blackburn went to Richmond to get arms for Gen. Price, and from there went to Bermuda to get the yellow fever seed.

—Senator Conkling's house overlooks Utica, being placed on the highest point of land. The house and grounds are probably worth $40,000. The house is square, with high steps and a portico. The carriage-way in front encircles a flower-plot, and there are beautiful oaks and pines in the lawn.

A Wagnish Soldier.

Gen. Lee asked a straggler one day, whom he found eating green persimmons, if he did not know they were unfit for food. "I am not eating them for food, General," replied the man, "I'm eating them to draw my stomach up to my rations." With SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER handy, even ills resulting from scant rations might have been prevented.

Wealth Easily Obtained.

Jay Gould, combining vast amounts of money with several great capitalists, has frequently made colossal profits in stock speculations, paying millions to each shareholder. The new combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., confers similar benefits on the shareholders who invest small and large amounts, from $25 to $10,000. The money of thousands of customers thus massed in one mighty sum, and operated with the ripest experience and best skill, has secured the most brilliant successes. A hotel keeper in Ohio invested $100 in a combination, which netted $478. Three reinvestments resulted in a total profit of $13,801.18. A Boston gentleman invested $500 in a combination, which yielded a profit of $2,817.04; two reinvestments netted him $8,644.31. A Chicago merchant made $43,510.41 in four months of combination investments. New explanatory circular with "rules for unerring success." Apply to Messrs. THE WEATHER.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 25, 2 A. M

Clear or partly cloudy weather, colder, northwest winds, rising barometer.

AROUND HOME.

The most beautiful rainbow we have seen for years was visible in the east just before sunset on the 24th inst., with another one, larger but not so brilliant and well defined, enclosing it.

Ten passenger cars left this city for Boston at half-past seven o'clock Wednesday morning, 24th inst., carrying a large number of people on the dollar-and-a-half excursion to Boston and return.

It is conceded that the recent State fair at Dover was rather a slim success in many points, though the attendance was all that was expected. Sectional jealousy worked against the fair to a considerable extent.

Notwithstanding his poor endorsement in Maine, the voice of the eloquent Howe Call is now heard in the west, inducing voters, after listening to his arguments in favor of greenbacks, to—vote the republican ticket.

The schooner Daniel Marcy arrived on the 23d inst., with 260 barrels of mackerel; the Gov. Goodwin with 240 barrels; and the Grace Choate with 180 barrels. The schooner Willie Seavey brought in about 7000 lbs of pollock.

Courtland Lydston, a four-years-old son of William T. Lydston, formerly of this city but now a resident of Lynn, Mass., was badly injured in the latter city on Tuesday, the 23d inst., by being run over by a heavy baggage wagon.

The yacht Wm. H. Russell, which sailed several weeks ago with a party of excursionists on board, arrived at Gloucester on the 21st inst., on her way home, and was to sail on the first favorable opportunity. The ladies of the party came home by land on the 22d.

The Portsmouth Cavalry, Capt. Edward D. Coffin, turned out with full ranks on Wednesday of this week for drill, and to have a dinner at Foss' beach, Rye. The day was not so fine a one as they would have liked, but they had a very satisfactory drill and a good time.

For several days past stories have been rife, that a well known gentleman of this city, prominent in the military circles of the State, has been guilty of forgery. His friends—and they are many—firmly assert that he is incapable of such an act, and confidently predict his complete vindication in a day or two.

The York county fair and cattle show opened at Berwick, just opposite Great Falls, on the 23d inst., with a very large and fine display of fruits, vegetables, cattle and manufactured articles, the exhibition as a whole being superior to any previous one given by the York county society, and according to some accounts superior to the New Hampshire State fair at Dover the week previous. The attendance on the opening day was very large.

It was reported about town on the 24th inst. that a collision had occurred that morning near Berwick, between a Boston & Maine passenger train and an Eastern railroad freight train, the latter being run into. But the accounts of that evening reported the accident as occurring at Scarborough, just this side of Portland, three Eastern freight cars being smashed and the Boston & Maine engine Mercury upset and shattered, the engineer, Cotton, being badly bruised and injured internally. No one else was seriously hurt. The tracks were blocked for five hours.

Three steam fire engines had a competitive trial at Newburyport on the afternoon of the 23d inst., two of the machines being second-class ones, viz., The Naiad Queen of Newburyport, and the H. P. MacIntosh of the same city, the former throwing water two hundred and thirty-one feet, and the latter two hundred and thirty-nine feet, six inches. The third engine was a third-class one, the Cocheco, of Dover, and threw a stream two hundred and forty-one feet, seven inches, her playing being "very fine indeed," according to the press reports. Two hundred feet of leading hose were used.

The grand jury of York county have found indictments against the towns of York and North Berwick for having defective highways.

A girl four years old, daughter of Philip Beckman of Scabrook, fell into a tub of hot water on the 20th inst., and was so badly scalded that she died on the 23d.

On Friday, the 19th inst., some sneaking thief entered the dwelling of Mr. Charles Neal, in Kittery, during the absence of the family, and stole $30 which was hidden in an old pot in one of the closets. The money belonged to Mrs. Neal, and was earned by her.

The schooner Baltic, Capt. Spinney, of Frankfort, Me., arrived at the Concord railroad wharf on the 23d inst., from Bangor, with 123,000 feet of lumber for Manchester, where the new Amory mill, now in course of erection, will use up 1,000,000 feet, of which the Baltic's cargo is an instalment.

The schooner H. B. Gibson is this week lying at the wharf back of Downs' store, near the Spring market,—Piscataqua wharf, we believe it is called—receiving an overhauling under the superintendence of Mr. Warren Keen of Kittery, who gets a good share of such work to do, and does it to the satisfaction of his patrons.

The farmers of Epping report the potato bugs as going for the tubes; one farmer, from eight bushels dug, sorted nearly one bushel of fragments, some of them being mere shells, completely scooped out inside by the bugs. The beetles have not yet attacked the brick crop, and it is said the Epping yards will turn out 3,000,000 bricks this season.

Burt & Strong, the extensive shoe manufacturers of Dover, at the present time employ about three hundred and fifty operatives, of whom sixty are women, and turn out from 1200 to 1300 cases of goods weekly, being compelled to run their factory nights to fill orders. Their September sales this year are far ahead of those for the same month last year, and the outlook is bright for the immediate future.

B. W. Hoyt of Epping employs about one hundred hands in his shoe factory, and as many more out who do hand-work at home. One-third of the help are women. Three-fourths of the whole force are permanent residents of Epping and adjoining towns. The capacity of the factory is twenty cases per day. These goods, consisting of a variety of men's and women's wear, principally go west and south.

A lad who left his home in Kittery on Monday evening of this week, and had not been heard of up to Wednesday evening, is the cause of considerable anxiety to his friends. He is fourteen years old, but looks to be about twelve; has dark eyes, wore away a brown straw hat, blue jacket and dark pants, and was accompanied by a small black and white dog. Any information concerning him, left at this office or at the police station, will be thankfully received by his friends.

The Dover widow who was robbed on Tuesday of this week is named Bridget Carbury, and keeps a drinking saloon. Four men entered the place, called for drinks and tendered a five-dollar bill in payment, receiving change therefor. One of them then asked for water to wash his hands, and the woman left the bar-room to get it, at which time the money, amounting to about $200, was stolen. Two of the four men, hailing from Boston and giving the names of John Fiegan and Fred Jordan, were arrested, and identified by the woman, but they had only ten dollars between them. The Democrat makes no mention of a thousand-dollar bond having been stolen, as was at first reported.

Mr. Thomas P. Watkins, an employe of the Eastern railroad, had a narrow escape from being killed at the depot in this city on Wednesday forenoon of this week. He was assisting in the shifting of freight cars, when by some mishap he was thrown from the top of one of the lofty lager-beer cars of the Eldredge Brewing Co., and struck on the track—fortunately striking lengthwise instead of across the rails—and had presence of mind enough to grasp the brake-beam, by which he was carried along until the cars were stopped. Mr. Watkins at first felt no particular inconvenience from the accident, and went on with his work, but soon became faint and had to be taken home. He must have received a rude jar, but our informant did not know if his injuries were serious.

The Dover Democrat, in announcing the death of Miss Alice Nason of South Berwick, whose body was found in the Salmon Falls river on Monday of this week, says: "Our informant states that there were no marks of violence found upon the body; yet the prevailing opinion in that section is that she was not alone when she entered the water. Disappointment in love has been suggested, but is probably incorrect. nate girl has been the victim of foul play, it is hoped the perpetrator may be hurriedly brought to justice." Mr. Hart, the young man with whom Miss Nason had been "keeping company," and from driving out with whom she returned on Saturday evening shortly before her disappearance, is said to bear an excellent reputation, as did also the deceased. The Biddeford Times says that people in the vicinity of the place where the girls's body was found heard screams at about ten o'clock Saturday night, but paid no heed to them.

DAN'L DRUCE.

Saturday evening, at Music hall, will be presented for the first time in this city the drama of "Dan'l Druce, the village blacksmith," a play which has been a favorite in the large cities for several seasons past. Of the principal characters the Boston Post says: "The interest in the play, of course, centres in Mr. Bangs. He pictured to the life the feelings of the man whose home had been broken up by the treachery of another, and whose grief at the loss of his wife and child had been changed into hatred of all the world, and his love for them into the miser's love for gold. Later, when the child deserted by Sir Jasper seems to be put into his way by Providence, the betrayal of the nobler feelings, awakened by the powerful affection for her which springs up in his heart, and the struggle with himself when she is claimed by Sir Jasper, present many opportunities for powerful acting, of which Mr. Bangs avails himself to the utmost. Miss Mayo, who assists Mr. Bangs, was eminently good as Dorothy. The support throughout was good." The Globe says "it would be difficult to imagine a more effective characterization of Dan'l Druce than that by Mr. Bangs;" and the Traveller, that "his assumption of the character is artistic and masterly." Tickets now ready at Preston's.

COCHECO MANUFACTURING COMPANY.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of this corporation was held at Dover on Wednesday of this week. The report of the treasurer shows a very satisfactory condition of affairs, considering the business for the past year, in manufacturing. The loss of sixty thousand dollars by the fire in the printery was fully covered by insurance money collected, so that the only loss was by the delay in stopping the works. The company manufactured twenty-seven million yards last year, printed thirty-one millions, and sold thirty-four millions. The net savings were $103,272.00, from which interest and dividend were paid, $86,000; with $17,270 carried to the reserve account.

The highest expectations (save perhaps in the cost of labor in construction, and land damages) as to the new mill, have been realized, and the wisdom of this outlay cannot be doubted. The report of the treasurer was accepted, and the officers were elected without opposition, as follows:

Zimri S. Wallingford, clerk;
Amos A. Lawrence, of Boston, president;
Howard Stockton, treasurer; and Amos A. Lawrence, John A. Burnham, J. Ingersoll Bowditch, T. Jefferson Coolidge, John McDuffee, John L. Gardner, Jr., and Howard Stockton, directors.

William H. Hackett, of Portsmouth, made a few remarks in allusion to the loss sustained by the corporation in the death, during the past year, of Robert M. Mason, Esq., who had so long been connected with the corporation as a director, and submitted a resolution of respect to his memory, which was unanimously adopted, after which the meeting dissolved.

THE BELLES OF PORTSMOUTH OF FIFTY YEARS AGO.

An unknown friend has sent to me, through the post-office, a printed sheet, yellowed by age, in which are extolled in rhyme the charms of the belles of our city of half a century ago. Included among them are the following: Miss Margaret P—p—t, Misses Adelaide and Corinne B—n, Miss L—g, Misses M—s—n, Misses R—ce, Misses B—r—es, Misses Ann and Sarah ——, Misses Caro and Sarah R—l—t, Misses L—g—n, Misses R—t—s, Miss C—h—g, Misses L—k—n, Miss C—k, Misses Ellen and Hannah ——, Miss Eliza R—ce, Miss Anna D—t—r. The first on the list, of the fairest of them all, after filling her place in a home in the south, rests in its soil; a few, some as wives and mothers, yet survive among us; others have reposed beneath the grass of many summers; the remainder of those on the list are scattered, above and beneath ground, far and wide. J. H. B.

[Communicated.]

PORTSMOUTH & DOVER R. R.

Ed. Chronicle: It is to be inferred, from a paragraph in your paper of Wednesday morning, that the Eastern road has rejected in its turn the same proposition which it made and the Portsmouth & Dover rejected some little time ago; the P. & D., on second sober thought, having seen cause to re-consider its action and propose the same course which it had rejected; it thus appears that each party in the dispute has made the same proposition and each has rejected it. Comical, isn't it? "if you will, I won't; if you won't, I will." Can't a single step be taken by the parties having the city's interests in charge in this matter without covering themselves with confusion? So, notwithstanding each party has adopted the same course, each has thus rejected its own proposition; and we are in, it seems, for a lawsuit. Is an explanation of this state of things to be looked for in the fact that the president of the one road is a director in the other? Can't he decide upon which side to throw the immense influence we have been taught to believe he wields? By the bye, this delay must be particularly wearing to the P. & D. directors in prolonging the suspense and anixety with which they await decision of the amount in dispute, for which they so justly and properly express themselves responsible—in this, anticipating and forestalling public opinion. X.

Goldsmith Maid's Attachment for Her Groom.

Recently, Charley Cochrane, who was for many years the faithful groom for the celebrated trotter Goldsmith Maid, arrived from California, and wishing to see the grand old trotting mare and her colt, called on Mr. Smith, her owner, to obtain his permission to visit Fashion stud farm in New Jersey. Mr. Smith accompanied Cochrane to the farm, and on arriving there remarked: "Charlie, the Maid is very jealous of her colt, is very cross, and will permit no one to approach it." Cochrane arranged that Goldsmith Maid should hear his voice before she saw him, and although they had not seen each other for two years, a loud whinny presently assured the visitors that the mare had recognized the man's voice. Cochrane next showed himself, when a touching scene occurred. The old queen of the turf, who for months would not allow any one to approach her, making use of both heels and teeth if it was attempted, rushed with a bound to her old friend, forgetting even her colt, and rubbed her head upon his shoulder, her nose in his face, played with his whiskers, and showed by her every action that her heart was full of joy to see him. Directly the colt came up to him, and the old mare was delighted when Charley placed his hand on the little fellow. When Cochrane left the place the mare followed him to the gate, whinnying for him even after he passed out of her sight.—Baltimore Sun.

—A Wyoming man won $10 in a wager by eating twenty pig's feet. This was a pig's feat, indeed.

—A young gentleman who has just returned from a tour through the mountains and alone shore, remarks: "It's queer whatever summer-hotel you go to you most always see some boarder that seems to run the hotel."

Dr. Bock, of Leipsic,

Says the nervousness and peevishness of our times are chiefly attributable to tea and coffee. The digestive organs of confirmed coffee drinkers are in a state of chronic derangement. Chocolate is neutral in its physical effects and is really the most harmless of our fashionable drinks. Walter Baker & Co.'s preparations are undoubtedly the best, and may be had of grocers everywhere.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, B. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY,

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poo rhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

Druggists and Booksellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. (Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical associates, whose acquirements rivaled his own, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

HON. B. P. JOHNSON, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of emineent skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to Females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Apoplexy (Fits), Neuralgia, St. Vitus's Dance, Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of a specialist in this department.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases successfully without seeing the patient personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book," (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Club-foot, Bronchotomy, Tumors, Cancer, Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent; sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of the peculiar diseases of woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based on my personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the affections for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Debility, Depondency, Nervousness, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single class of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 45 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 20th, 1879, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $250, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful over adopted." New York Independent Sept. 13th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. SANFORD'S
RADICAL CURE
For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of herbs and barks in their essential form, free from every obnoxious contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has found its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been waited upon by statesmen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, at considerable expense and personal trouble, spread its good news throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and station say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medicinal specifics of the day.

"THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable." HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & Co.

"He cured me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering." GEO. W. HOUGHTON, WALTHAM, MASS.

"FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure. D. W. GRAY, M. D., MUSCATINE, IOWA.

"HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them. WM. BOWEN, 225 FINE ST., ST. LOUIS.

"AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success. WM. W. ARMSTRONG, 159 HARRISON AVE., BOSTON.

"WE have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year and can say candidly that we never sold a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint. S. D. BALDWIN & CO., WASHINGTON, IND.

"THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so remarkable that it seemed to those who had suffered without relief from any of the nauseous medicines that it could not be true. I therefore made it a duty to it before Seth J. Thomas, Esq., Justice of the Peace, Boston. GEORGE F. DINSMORE, DUXBURY, BOSTON.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, showing in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company), and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates will be promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

Daily Chronicle.

A Farmer gives a Lesson in Law.

The average American farmer certainly knows how to look after his interests, and he has a keen wit that is hard to get over. For example:—

Some days ago the conductor of the freight train saw a couple of fine looking ducks on the river near the track. He had a shot-gun in the caboose, and stopping the train for a few minutes, he got off and shot both of the birds. He thought this was something to congratulate him self on, and when he reached his home he invited a little party of friends to partak of the fruits of his prowess. A couple days after this the conductor happened to be stopped at the place where the ducks had been shot. He got out his gun and walked down to the river with the intention of bagging a couple more, if possible. He had scarcely reached the edge of the river before a man, who looked like a farmer, approached him, and said:

"Are you the man who shot those two ducks here day before yesterday?"

"Yes, that was me," said the sportsman, rather proudly.

"Well, those ducks belonged to me. They wasn't any of your wild ducks, but tame ones."

"Oh, psbaw! you can't fool me; I guess I know a wild duck from a tame one."

"Will you pay me for the duck?" said the farmer, coldly.

"No, sir, I won't. You can't prove the ducks were not wild ones."

"All right," and the farmer started off to the nearest village.

"Where are you going? What do you intend to do?" asked the conductor.

"Well," said the farmer quietly, as he leaned against a tree, "I am going to a 'squire to make an information against you for killing wild ducks out of season. If you insist that them ducks were wild, it'll cost you five dollars a duck. If you come to the conclusion they were tame, it'll cost you only two dollars and fifty cents. Now what'll you do?"

The conductor started at his tormentor, scratched his head, said something about ducks generally, and these ducks in particular, and then paid the five dollars. He does not carry a gun in the car any more.

The Old Red Cent.

As the old "red cent" has now passed out of use, and except rarely, out of sight, like the "old oaken bucket," its history is a matter of sufficient interest for preservation. The cent was first proposed by Robert Morris, the great financier of the Revolution, and was named by Jefferson two years after. It began to make its appearance from the mint in 1792. It bore the head of Washington on one side, and thirteen links on the other. The French Revolution soon created a rage for French ideas in America, which put on the cent, instead of the head of Washington, the head of the Goddess of Liberty—a French liberty, with neck thrust forward and flowing locks. The chain on the reverse side was displaced by the olive wreath of peace, but the French liberty was short-lived, and so was her portrait on our cent. The next head or figure that succeeded this—the staid, classic dame with a fillet around her hair—came into fashion about thirty or forty years ago, and her finely chiseled Grecian features have been but slightly altered by the lapse of time.—Boston Journal of Commerce.

A Hint to Workingmen.

The honest workingmen of the country, many of whom have large and increasing families to support, have been the chief sufferers from the great financial pressure under which we have labored for the past few years. Diminished wages have not been attended by a corresponding diminution in price of every thing which the workingman needs. Rents, fuel, food, and clothing, are cheaper, but these do not constitute all his necessities. It is sometimes necessary for him to employ a lawyer or a physician, yet the fee rates of physicians and lawyers are as high as they were in "flush" times. Yet cheap medicines are as necessary as cheap rents or fuel. Cheap medicines are not necessarily poor medicines. It must be obvious to every intelligent person that medicines, compounded and put up at wholesale, can be sold at much lower rates than when retailed from the doctor's pill bags. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets have completely restored persons who had spent hundreds of dollars in vainly seeking relief from private practioners, and all at a very slight expenditure.

A Waggish Soldier.

Gen. Lee asked a straggler one day, whom he found eating green persimmons, if he did not know they were unfit for food. "I am not eating them for food, General," replied the man, "I'm eating them to draw my stomach up to my rations." With SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER handy, even ills resulting from scant rations might have been prevented.

—A green-hide monster—the water melon.

—A lady who has been spending the summer at Lake Chautauqua says that on one of the steamers that passed Fair point at the time when the great Sabbath-school convention was in progress were three women, rather gaudily dressed and wearing diamonds enough to indicate that they had plenty of money. Their conversation was carried on in a loud voice, and attracted considerable attention. In front of Fair point stands a statue of Faith. "See that piece of statuowary," said No. One, "I wonder who it is. It must be Jupiter." "No," said No. Two, "it looks more like Venus." "Well," said No. Three, "anyway it's one of those people in the Bible."—Troy Times.

Portsmouth Chronicle

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1879.

The Old Style Revived.

A few days ago it was announced that the postmaster of Blackville, S. C., a colored man named Nix, had been shot in his office by a man on whose account he was looking over the mails, and that the would-be assassin, though well known, had not been arrested. A special agent of the post office department examined into the matter, and he finds that the facts regarding the shooting of Postmaster Nix are that he was appointed in place of Miss Maher, a young lady of such pronounced democratic sentiments that she would not permit the circulation of republican newspapers and documents, and during a political campaign retained at pleasure or absolutely prohibited the interchange of letters between persons of republican politics. The democratic leaders were entirely free of the post office, took possession of republican documents, and on one occasion warned a person that he would receive such material at the peril of his life.

This return to the condition of things before the war, when southern postmasters exercised a censorship over northern newspapers quite as stringent as that prevailing on the borders of Russia today, and entirely prohibited the circulation of the New York Tribune, was very naturally objected to by the post office detator Butler and other members of the partment, and Miss Maher was removed despite the remonstrances of Sen- South Carolina delegation. Nix, who is a respectable colored man, was appointed, but the democratic inhabitants testified their disapproval of the change by attempting to kill him. The shooting was done through the delivery window of the office, while he was distributing the mail, and although the criminal was perfectly well-known, the town authorities refused to arrest him, or to supply any protection for the post-master.

The post-office department has acted with proper self respect in immediately closing the office, and it is possible in this instance, to teach the citizens of Blackville some respect for the laws of the United States. But it is a roundabout and imperfect way, as it includes the innocent and the guilty in a common punishment, and besides does not reach the hundreds of cases where the victim has no official relations to the United States government, and the matter cannot be reached by shutting off commercial facilities. Another and more comprehensive method is to vindicate the rights of citzenship at the south, and a continuance in its line of conduct will compel the country to find it.

The Six-Days Tramp.

The score at midnight on the 24th was as follows: Rowell 310 miles, Merritt 282, Hazael 276, Hart 271, Guyon 270, Weston 251, Krohne 232, Jackson 230, Ennis 220, Federmeyer 218, Panchot 205, Taylor 150.

Panchot and Jackson withdrew from the race on the 25th, both being in bad condition. The colored boy, Hart, sprained his ankle badly, and it was thought would have to give up further effort.

At noon on the 25th the score was: Rowell 350 miles; Hazael 322; Merritt 322; Guyon 308; Hart 298; Weston 283; Krohne 265; Ennis 263; Federmeyer 247; Taylor 161.

News and Notes.

Mrs. Laura D. Fair, whose chief recommendation is that she killed a San Francisco lawyer when he sought to break from a disreputable alliance with her, has really entered the lecture field. She delivered a discourse in New York the other night, entitled "Chips from California."

Arrangements have been completed and some entries made for an eight-hour go-as-you-please foot race to take place in Biddeford, October 7th. Six hundred dollars are offered in purses. The race is open to all New England, and among the entries are several well-known pedestrians.

Chester Goodale of South Egremont, Mass., eighty-nine years old, grand-father of the famous child poets, was found insensible in his stable, Thursday, having been knocked down with a club, and robbed. It is feared he will die.

Twenty-five Congregational ministers visited J. H. Woodward's home in Milton, Vt., on the 24th of September, to dinner. Mr. Woodward is pastor of the Congregational church, and has been in service for more than fifty years. He was chaplain of the Fifth Vermont regiment during the late war. He captured a Confederate captain on his horse, and was called the "fighting parson."

Because of the new tramp law in Connecticut there are now but 150 prisoners at New Haven jail, against 230 for the same time last year. The smaller towns are committing very few, and a New Haven sheriff says that just before the law took effect discharged tramp prisoners invariably inquired the shortest out to York State.

Monroe Snyder, near Nazareth, Pa., while playing croquet, Sept. 23d, was hit on the head with a mallet and instantly killed.

George F. Thurston, a farmer, of Poland, Me., sixty-one years old, died suddenly at Mechanics Falls on Sept. 22d, after running to catch his horses, which had taken freight.

Margaret Courtney, aged twenty-two years, a servant in the family of James Wrigley, of Worcester, Mass., dropped a kerosene lamp, Tuesday evening, Sept. 22d, and was probably fatally burned.

The Herald of Fall River, Mass., the organ of the operatives, says, in regard to the breaking up of the strike: "The falling market in cotton cloths has somewhat deranged the programme of the spinners now on a strike. It is now only a matter of kind words."

The steamship Garland, from Antwerp for New York, on September 10th at midnight ran down an English barque, the Corinne, which sank in five minutes. Her captain jumped overboard, with his wife and four children. The wife and children and one sailor were lost.

The report that the excursion steamboat Undaunted, from Ramsgate for the Isle of Wight, had been run down and all hands (about 100 persons) lost, was without foundation.

The latest news from Cuba is that the eastern department, comprising Santiago de Cuba, Manzanillo, Holguin, Gibara and Guantanamo, is declared in a state of war, and that twelve owners of plantations have accorded liberty to their slaves. The rumor is very generally current that Martinez Campos will immediately leave his post as president of the Spanish cabinet and return to Cuba.

The U. S. S. Powhatan, from New York, passed in by Fortress Monroe Sept. 23d.

A week ago it was announced that the democratic candidate for Congress in the third district of California had been elected, beating McKenna, the republican candidate, by 137 majority. The latest report says that the 137 majority is on McKenna's side, which gives the republicans the entire Congressional delegation of the State.

New Hampshire Items.

The body of Sewell M. Daniels was found in the rear of a stable at North Conway, Monday, Sept. 22d, and it is considered certain he committed suicide.

Clarence Stone of Fitzwilliam was badly mutilated on Monday Sept. 22d, by the premature explosion of a blast in the granite quarry. Should he recover, he will be blind.

The city council of Manchester has voted to put a steam boiler in the city hall building for heating purposes, the expense not to exceed $1,500.

A man who registered at the hotel in Concord as Wm. E. Jordan of St. Catherines, Ont., was found in an unconscious state at the depot in that place Sept. 24th. In his pocket was found a bottle of laudanum, from which he had evidently taken about half an ounce. He will probably die.

New Publications.

Sarah DeBerenger. Messrs. Roberts Brothers, of Boston, who are the authorized American publishers of Jean Ingelow's writings, have just issued "Sarah DeBerenger," a novel of 415 pages by Jean Ingelow, whose writings have such a wide repute among persons of culture. This author's previous works have always been of a good tone, and belong to the class of writings peculiarly healthful. The book before us furnishes an interesting story, without the objectionable features that are so frequently found in the novel of the period. It is for sale by Willis G. Myers at $1.50, or will be sent by the publishers, by mail post-paid, upon receipt of the price.

The Official Postal Guide of the United States is now issued monthly by Houghton, Osgood & Co., of Boston, under contract with the post-office department, the first monthly number being that for September. The January number will be a book of about six hundred pages, containing carefully arranged lists of all the post-offices in the country, list of money order offices, table of salaries of post-masters, full directions about money orders and registered letters, rates of domestic and foreign postage, times of sailing of mail steamers, rulings of the post-office department, and other useful matter. The numbers for the other eleven months of the year will contain not less than thirty-six pages each, and will report the latest changes in post-offices, interpretations of postal laws, new regulations, and whatever is of interest to postmasters and the public to know in regard to postal matters. It is intended that the small monthly numbers shall be supplementary to the January number. The monthly issue of the Postal Guide will furnish business men and the general public all information concerning postal affairs just as complete and as soon as it is furnished to postmasters; its value therefore, to all merchants, shippers, bankers,—in short to all persons who make any considerable use of the mails, is very evident. It is virtually indispensable. The price of the Postal Guide by the year, post-paid, is the same as heretofore, $1.50, in advance. The large (January) number will be $1; the eleven smaller numbers will be ten cents each. Subscriptions received at the post-office, all post-masters being authorized agents.

AROUND HOME.

The schooner Free Wind, of this port, now lying in Pepperell's cove, lower harbor, is being fitted with a new bowsprit.

A meeting of the Odiorne's point (first settlement of New Hampshire) monument association is called to meet in this city Oct. 3d, to choose officers and transact other business.

Messrs. Foster & Dutton of Waterville, Maine, who are doing the carpenter's work on Hon. Frank Jones' new block on Congress street, have been awarded a similar contract on the Franklin block.

The yacht Wm. H. Russell, Capt. Drown, arrived home on Wednesday, the 24th inst., after an absence of nearly three weeks spent in cruising along the Massachusetts coast. She left Annisquam at about seven o'clock Wednesday morning.

We are informed that Mrs. Libby, wife of Capt. Libby of barque Furness Abbey, on Thursday received a letter from one of the charterers of the vessel, saying that the barque with other vessels has passed Anjier point, Java, on her passage from Philadelphia for Hioga, Japan.

An apple-tree branch in the store of E. R. Laighton & Co., on Daniel street, attracted the attention of all passers on Thursday last. The branch was about two feet long, and bore between ninety and a hundred apples; when cut off the tree, there were on it one hundred and thirty apples, but some were shaken off by the jarring of the saw, and others fell off while the limb was being transported to the store. It was a good show for an "off year,"—in fact it was the most remarkable show of the kind, any kind of a year.

Capt. Edward D. Coffin, of the Portsmouth Cavalry, says the horses used by the company at their drill on the 24th inst. learned what was required of them with a readiness that was surprising. The animals were of course nearly all "green hands" at the business, many of them having never been used in cavalry exercise before; but before the three-hours' drill was ended they would wheel, come into line, etc., at the word of command, almost without guidance by their riders, and seemingly taking as much interest as anybody in the business at hand.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," as played at music hall on Wednesday evening of this week by Howard's combination, drew a good audience and gave decided satisfaction, the applause being frequent and hearty. Some old theatre-goers, who saw Uncle Tom's Cabin played twenty-five or thirty years ago, and have seen it occasionally ever since, say they never saw it better presented than on this occasion, Frank L. Howard making an excellent Uncle Tom, and the Topsy and Eva being first-rate. That the show is a good one and well worthy of patronage is the opinion of everybody we have heard mention it.

Of "Dan'l Druce, the village blacksmith," which will be played at Music hall to-morrow evening, the Philadelphia Ledger says: "The play is deeply emotional, and, as a personator of pathos, Mr. Bangs has few, if any, equals on the stage. His audiences have been exceptionally large for this late period of the dramatic season, and most enthusiastic in their appreciation of the acting of Mr. Bangs, as well as that of Miss Geraldine Maye, who assists Mr. Bangs, a lady well suited to the part assigned her in the play. There is no over-acting, a common fault in such parts as Mr. Bangs is now personating, but all true to life, and so absorbing in interest as to command the closest attention of the audience."

The thousand-dollar bond stolen from Bridget Carbury's liquor saloon in Dover was a registered one bearing four per cent interest. The liquor business of Dover must be in a flourishing condition, when transient persons entering a barroom to get a drink of rum find thousand-dollar bonds and hundreds of dollars in currency lying around where they can easily be stolen.

The Dover Democrat gives currency to a report that work on the Eastern freight depot in that city will certainly commence in November.

We have always supposed that wrought and cast-iron could not be welded together, but we are assured by a friend who is himself a worker in iron, being a skillful moulder, that the feat was accomplished one day this week by Mr. George Trafton, a young blacksmith who carries on a shop at the north end, who got a good weld on two pieces of iron, one cast and the other wrought, the junction being apparently perfect, and sustaining a severe test for strength.

The Cocheco mills at Dover now employ about 1800 hands. Strong, Burt & Moore, the extensive manufacturers of boots and shoes, employ nearly 1000 hands, including the teams at work outside the factory building. The boot and shoe manufacturers of Dover are about to commence on the manufacture of shoes exclusively, and the hands employed in the different departments of boot making, who make that branch a specialty, will have to seek other fields of work.

A youth answering the description of the strayed-away Kittery boy called at the house of Dr. E. B. Goodall in this city on the 24th inst., asking for assistance on his way to Lynn, Mass. He said he was from Portland, and bound to Massachusetts to look for work; but his story did not hang together very well in its details, and he repeatedly tripped himself up in his statements when questioned. Had the fact of a boy being missing from Kittery been known at the time, the lad would have been detained.

FRUIT THIEVES.

Many complaints have been made at the police station since fruit commenced to ripen, in regard to the robbing of gardens. There was no doubt from the first that the annoying thieves were boys, and the police have watched keenly to detect the culprits; but the average boy, when bound on a fruit-stealing excursion, seems to possess an infallible instinct which enables him to avoid a policeman as easily as a cat does a bootjack, and the efforts of the force were without result until last Thursday, when six boys, ranging in age from eight to twelve years, were brought before Judge Batchelder on a charge of stealing fruit from the garden of George W. Haven, Esq., and all pleaded guilty. The magistrate told them that their offence was punishable by law, the same as the stealing of money; they were well scared—and not without reason—and promised all sorts of good behavior; and as this was their first offence, or at least the first time they had got caught, they were allowed to go on probation, the judge explaining to them that the case is still held over them, and that if they offend again they will be brought up for sentence without another trial.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

Mayor Sise appointed Saturday, Sept. 27th, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., to visit Pickering street to examine the premises of A. J. Penhallow, as requested by him.

Albert Jackson asked permission to open Hanover street for the purpose of laying a drain. Granted.

Communication was received from Chief Engineer Marston in relation to repairs that are needed on steamer Moses H. Goodrich, and stating that $800 are needed to make the necessary repairs. Communication accepted and referred to the committee on fire department, with the mayor and chief engineer added, with power.

E. B. Phillips, president of the Eastern railroad, asked permission to lay a second track across Islington street along side the one now leading from the Eastern railroad track to Frank Jones' brewery. The board went into committee of the whole to consult in relation to this matter. The petition was granted.

Committee on bills on second reading reported recommending that the bill in relation to railroad crossing and ordinance in relation to licensing hacks and trucks have a third reading. Report accepted and adopted; bills read a third time and passed, and sent to the common council for concurrence.

Committee on drains reported recommending that the request of Ichabod Goodwin and others for a drain on Winter and State streets be granted. Report accepted. Voted that the board visit the premises Saturday afternoon, Sept. 27th.

Notice was received of service of summons for the city to appear at the October term of the supreme court to defend suits brought by Brainard Dearborn to recover $500, and by Patrick Quill to recover $260, for damages to horse and carriage, the former on Langdon street and the latter on Islington street. Voted that the city solicitor be authorized to defend the city in these suits, and employ counsel if needed.

Committee on claims reported on bill of assessors for extra pay, making no recommendation. Voted that the matter be indefinitely postponed.

Committee on streets reported favorably on request of Mrs. Huntress for a cross walk on Elm street, and that it be built of granite. Report accepted and adopted.

Same committee asked further time in regard to petition of E. H. Winchester. Granted.

Committee on school houses recommended that the new seats asked for in the Walker school be granted; also that necessary repairs on furnace at high school be made. Report accepted and adopted.

Committee on police recommended that six new pails, six new drinking cups and a new stove be furnished police station. Report accepted and adopted.

Voted that the board visit Vaughan street in relation to the petition for widening the same, on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 27th.

AN UNFORTUNATE MISTAKE.

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 25th.

Ed. Chronicle: Referring to the currency of a rumor of a forgery in your paper of this morning, the writer (whose name was supposed to have been intended) entirely and wholly exonerates the gentleman supposed to have been implicated. The name written was genuine—is, with the exception of the second initial letter, identical with the name supposed to have been intended, and that letter was so written as to (with the attendant circumstances) inevitably lead to the mistake. The writer however made no charge of forgery, but simply denied under his own signature having written the name in question, and this on the paper itself. By inserting this you will do simply

JUSTICE.

Wi hout mentioning names, we will say in explanation of the above that a gentleman of the highest reputation for integrity and honor, being an applicant for appointment to a position he is in every way qualified to fill, secured a number of influential signatures to a request that he be appointed; and that one of these signatures, being mistaken by a gentleman who had not signed the request as intended for his name, was denounced by him as being improperly affixed to the document. Other parties to whom the signature was shown agreed that the suspected—or rather, detected—forger was not a fit person for an important trust, and another gentleman received the appointment which the first applicant would probably have secured but for the mistake referred to. This seems a little bit hard, but it is nothing when compared to the sense of wrong which a high-minded and honorable man must entertain on learning that for a week or more his name has been bandied about as being that of a sneak and liar. It may be all right, but it does not at all accord with our ideas of manliness and square dealing, that not one of the several persons who were at the first aware of the damaging stain cast on the gentleman's honor called his attention to the fact, to give him a chance to right himself if possible. An unblemished reputation is of value, and the man who possesses it should not be robbed of it even for a day except on the strongest proof, and after a fair hearing.

There will be a Council Fire kindled at the Red Men's wigwam this (Friday) evening.

PER ORDER SACHEM.

"UNKNOWN."—In its construction Mr. Stevens has exercised good judgment and made a play that carries the audience with it from the beginning to the end. The movement has a sequence that is steadily looked for with interest as the scenes follow each other. In this matter lies the success of the dramatist. It is written with a tendency to the extremely romantic school of the later dramas, and is one of the most thoroughly epigrammatic plays of the day. The language used is choice and many times of an eloquent character. Many truths are told in words of excellent diction and with telling effect, and some of the thoughts are beautifully expressed. The literary merits of this play are of the highest order. But it is difficult to place it in any particular department of the drama. A romantic idyl would perhaps as properly express its status as anything else. There is a strong romance in the story, beauty in the words that give it expression, and with these a fair degree of dramatic force. There are opportunities presented for good acting in at least four of the parts. The leading role, which is taken by the author, Mr. John A. Stevens, is the principal one, but does not entirely overshadow the others, as is the case in most of the dramas of this class. His acting of the part of "Harold," the "Unknown," was excellent and effective, not overdrawn or exaggerated.—Chicago Times.

Mr. Stevens in "Unknown," with elegant special scenery painted expressly for this drama, and a carefully-selected company of artists, is advertised for Wednesday evening of next week at Music Hall. Tickets will be on sale at Dr. Preston's on Saturday morning at nine o'clock.

The Real Mahomet.

"Why do you think the plaintiff insane?" a witness examined as to somebody's mental condition was asked by counsel at the trial.

"Because," replied the witness, "he is continually going about asserting that he is the prophet Mahomet."

"And pray, sir," retorted the learned judge, "do you think that when a person declares that he is the prophet Mahomet, that is a clear proof of his insanity?"

"I do."

"Why?"

"Because," answered the witness, with easy complacency, "I happen to be the prophet Mahomet myself!"

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a specific and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. For sale by all Druggists and respectable Dealers generally.

Mock Oysters.

Take one-half dozen of good-sized ears of corn; put them in cold water, and when it begins to boil set it on the back of the range, and let it simmer for one-half hour; then put the corn in cold water; when cool, wipe the ears with a dry towel, and grate them; then put them through a hair seive to rid them of the shells of the corn; have two eggs well beaten, two tablespoonfuls of cream, two of grated crackers, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper; beat this all well together; have a lump of good butter about the size of half an egg; put it in a frying pan; when hot put the corn mixture in, in tablespoonfuls, allowing space that they do not run together; when there are a nice brown turn them over and fry the other side; it requires about five minutes to cook them; this will make about two dozen oysters; serve them hot.

Dr. Bock, of Leipsic,

Says the nervousness and peevishness of our times are chiefly attributable to tea and coffee. The digestive organs of confirmed coffee drinkers are in a state of chronic derangement. Chocolate is neutral in its physical effects and is really the most harmless of our fashionable drinks. Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which overspread the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in continuation, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief, and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, B. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY,

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our po poo house which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quarter of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not says he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

Druggists and Bookseller.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialities.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of a specialist in this department.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Youths' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently by persons, are those for Scrofula, Hydrocele, Varicocele, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicose Veins, Tumors of Uterus, Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of these diseases, peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single class of cases, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 1000 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment, and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

BEWARE of a man named Sherman, who, taking the name of Dr. Sherman, claims to be the only man in the United States, and calls him elf Dr. Sherman, alias Dr. S. Sherman, alias Dr. S. J. Sherman, pretending to be famous for the cure of Rupture. He is a bold cheat, hoping to mislead and victimize the afflicted. A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 25th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 26th: "Our editor made a net profit of $10,226 from $32 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Governments bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

RADICAL CURE

For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possess the soothing and healing properties of pharoes and balm in their most perfect form, free from every obnoxious contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has won its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been waited upon by gentlemen of national reputation, who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, at considerable expense and personal trouble, spread the good news throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "My wife has used Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medicinal specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me its efficacy. HENRY WELLS, of WELLS, FARGO & Co.

IT has cured me after twelve years of uninterrupted suffering. GEO. W. HOUGHTON, WALTHAM, MASS.

I FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure. D. W. GRAY, M. D., MUSCATINE, IOWA.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics. WM. BOWEN, 225 PINE ST., ST. LOUIS.

AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with the greatest success. WM. W. ARMSTRONG, 159 HARRISON AVE., BOSTON.

WE have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year and can say candidly that we never had a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint. S. D. BALDWIN & CO., WASHINGTON, IND.

THE cure effected in my case by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was so remarkable that it seemed to those who had suffered without relief from any of the many medicines that it could not be true. I therefore made it a duty to it before Seth J. Thomas, Esq., Justice of the Peace, Boston. GEORGE F. DINSMORE, DRUGGIST, BOSTON.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers through out the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Esperanza" Mines, which aggregate 3500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows an everycase BILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already sink show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Mexican Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) from which millet, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Nine Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($970,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an economical and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. New Publications.

Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine. The September number of the reprint of Blackwood opens with part one of "Syria—among the Druses," and has also "Reata, or What's in a Name?" part six; the conclusion of Godfrey's "White Queen;" an able article on the "Prize French Novel;" Rufus Hickman of St. Botolph; and a well-written review of the session of Parliament for 1878-9. Blackwood, as of yore, is published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay street, New York. Single numbers are thirty-five cents. The stories in Blackwood are of a high order, and deserve reading; while the general character of the magazine is of course too well-known to require any comment.

American Poems is the title of a new book just issued by Houghton, Osgood & Co., of Boston, and which has been prepared by Mr. Horace E. Scudder, with special reference to use by young persons either at school or by the domestic fireside. Here is certainly a new idea, and a sound one, in book making. Certain well-known and highly-appreciated poems by Longfellow, Whittier, Bryant, Holmes, Lowell and Emerson are given at length. The book not only affords an excellent selection, but in addition to sketches of the poets referred to above, has copious notes, explaining what, to the young and unlettered at least, would otherwise be not understood, and passed as uncomprehended. It is like the reading aloud of the poems with a pause here and there explaining certain parts which to the listener would otherwise be not understood or appreciated. This we regard as an important adjunct to the school, as well as to the home circle. It will, in the school room, help to create a taste for good poetic reading, while at home it will afford information often otherwise not gained. The notes are full of concise statements of subjects treated; in short, an explanation, needed to properly comprehend the authors' meaning, without which much that is beautiful is lost to the reader. The danger of saying too much in a foot-note seems to have been avoided, and yet there is enough to inform the reader as to the text, and to indicate, if more knowledge of the particular subject is needed, the source whence it may be obtained. The book contains 450 pages, and the scholars who use it will find their love for the writings of these poets of our land increase, as they acquire the needed information which they find by the way as they go through the volume. Mr. Whittier's pleasant poem, "Among the hills," which refers to so many spots between Portsmouth and North Conway, has a place in this volume. It will be an aid to the teacher in whose school the book may appear, but its use by no means need be confined to pupils. Many an adult can profit by its excellent selections and the material information supplied by its editor. The publishers furnish this valuable work at the reasonable price of $1.25, and it ought to find a ready sale all over the country.

The International Review for October contains a review by O. W. Holmes of the Light of Asia, or the Great Renunciation, etc., a work recently appearing in London; the Negro Exodus, by F. R. Guernsey; the Political Situation in France, by A. Talandier; Mr. Blackmore's novels, by Geo. Barnett Smith; Protection and Socialism, by J. Lawrence Laughton; Von Holst's History of the United States, by Henry Cabot Lodge, one of the editors of the Review; and an interesting article entitled the Study and Practice of Medicine by Women, by Dr. James R. Chadwick of Boston. It is an able number. This list of contributors to the International allows the principal topics of immediate interest, treated therein, to be supplied by writers who are especially qualified to present the subjects upon which they write. The Review is furnished by the publishers, A. S. Barnes & Co., of New York, post-paid, at $5.00 per year.

It seems almost a work of supererogation to publish a sketch of our friend John Badger Clarke. Any man who could step into the political circles of Concord, and take the office of State printer and carry it down the Merrimack for five successive years while the angry and disappointed aspirants at the capitol hardly recovered from one surprise before another followed it, would, it would seem, hardly require the columns of the Granite Monthly to place his record before the people of New Hampshire. The fine steel engraving of the Colonel shows a face which betokens determination, in all undertakings. This is not the first time we have looked upon this picture, we opine. The State printer's likeness makes a fine frontispiece for the Septem-her "Monthly," while the Young War Eagle of Epping has spread himself in his sketch of this able son of old Rockingham, who inherited from his mother (who was a Coggswell, and of a race that has in times past been a felt power in the business and politics of New Hampshire,) a liberal share of energy, pluck and ingrain common sense, which has carried the successful proprietor of the Mirror through many vicissitudes of a busy life, and like some of the fine horses over which he loves to draw the rein, caused him to come out ahead of many a competitor. Col. Clarke is one of the ablest men in the newspaper business in New England, and the State does itself credit in electing him State printer, as does the printer in the excellent work he supplies the State, and for the execution of which his establishment has most abundant facilities.

Portsmouth Chronicle

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1879.

The Six-Days Tramp.

The following is the score of the tramps at midnight on the 25th: Rowell 401 miles; Hazael 364; Merritt 353; Guyon 345; Hart 335; Weston 318; Ennis 309; Krohne 304; Federmeyer 284; Taylor 180.

Shortly after midnight a burly, half-drunken ruffian threw a brick at Hazael, barely missing him. The fellow was at once arrested, and said he was Eph Holland, the democratic reformer whose ballot-box-stuffing exploits in Cincinnati sent two democrats (including the "Bounding Banning") to Congress and himself to the Ohio State prison, from which President Hayes pardoned him out.

At noon on the 26th Rowell's score was 420 miles, and the others' as follows: Merritt 404, Hazael 400, Guyon 383, Hart 370, Weston 360, Ennis 339, Krohne 338, Federmeyer 318, Taylor 188.

Rowell was off the track all the forenoon, and was reported as badly broken down. Weston's mind was reported as undoubtedly unsettled, though he was in good physical condition.

At three o'clock it was said that Rowell had gone crazy, and it was openly asserted that he had been poisoned. At that hour he was but eleven miles ahead of Merritt, who had scored 415 miles; Hazael was six miles behind Merritt.

Chronicle Correspondence.

BOSTON, Sept. 22, 1879.

Everybody is talking of the revival of business prospects this fall. It seems to be the one theme of conversation, almost to the exclusion even of politics and religion, in the various circles where these topics are paramount; and arguments are given and facts cited and incidents related on the one side and the other, for those who are so fond of taking the weaker side of a question, that they will even declare and attempt to show that "the times" are as depressed as ever! But the other party seem to have the best of it. I was talking, a couple of days ago, with the head of the well known firm of C. N. Carter & Co., who do an extensive business in ladies' cloaks and suits, both wholesale and retail, and he stated that it was utterly impossible to fill the orders which are coming in unusually early this season, because help could not be secured in sufficient numbers to do the work.

"Skilled help, of course you mean?" was my reply.

"No indeed," was the answer, "we have taken on entirely inexperienced girls, and glad to get them."

I'm afraid I scarcely credited that there could be so great a demand for labor in this city, where the cry has been for so long a time that I can hardly remember any other, that sewing girls were starving for lack of work. But happening to look, Saturday night, at the column of "wants" in the Boston Herald, I found the "female help" department headed by these three ad's, over the names of three of our best firms.

"Wanted—200 experienced cloak makers.

"Wanted—at once, 1000 cloak makers.

"Wanted—600 cloak makers; apply at once."

Now let not every ambitious young discontended woman in the United States come rushing to Boston, on the strength of these calls for cloakmakers, for I have no doubt that the pay is so low as to make it a difficult matter for those unaccustomed to city life, with its petty economies, and to the poor, its pinching poverty, to make both ends meet. But it is something to be very glad of, if there is a prospect that the working women who already swarm in Boston, can be supplied with work, at any price.

But my primary object in visiting the establishment named above, was not to talk political economy, but to get the fashions in cloaks and other garments for my lady readers, for the weather for the past week has made some kind of a wrap or jacket quite necessary. To be sure, those who bought the pretty little walking-jackets of light cloths, which were so popular last spring, may wear them for several weeks yet. Indeed these light cloths, in heavier materials, will be quite as fashionable for the winter as black, which will be good news to those to whom they are more becoming. This is true not only of the jaunty walking-jackets, worn by young girls and by older ladies for business and all unceremonious occasions, but of the much more dignified dolman as well. The dolman is quite the garment for ladies who are no longer girls, filling the place once held by the India shawl. It is a more compact, closely-fitting garment than formerly, however, clinging close to the figure behind, with double-breasted, loose fronts and complete sleeves, the long points of which fall just to the bottom of the garment, which itself is but 36 inches long. These dolmans are profusely trimmed with all kinds of fringes, passamenterie, gimps, silk, etc., which matches the color of the cloth. The most stylish cloths this season have fine stripes or else ribs, running lengthwise, and some of them are very thick, all the better qualities having a long-haired, furry back.

The walking-jacket is also short, 38 inches at most, closely fitted behind, loose and double-breasted in front, and with rounded corners instead of being cutaway, which is scarcely warm enough for winter. The black ones are considerably trimmed, satin and velvet being much used, but the light ones have only stitching and buttons, and are then more economical; another idea, if you want a cheap garment, always get light-cloth, for it will wear prettily, while cheap black cloth wears shabby in no time, and is dear at any price.

Ulsters will be full as stylish as they were last winter, and probably much more so. They are made without belt or cape, fitting the figure closely, with a plait let into the back seam half a yard from the bottom, to give the needed extra fullness. As to prices, walking-jackets cost at retail from $8, upwards; dolmans from $10, upwards, and ulsters the same. It scarcely pays to make over an old garment in these times, even if one really knows how and has the new patterns from which to cut.

I went up into the costume department, and saw some dresses in process of manufacture which I want to write you about, for they were the very embodiment of the new style, but time and space fails me, and I must reserve them for another letter.

After just three months' vacation, the Conservatory of Music hall opens its doors to-day, and I should judge that the school must be large enough this fall to delight the heart of every teacher connected with the institution, from the throng which filled the office one day last week when I ran in to try to get a word with the Doctor, that I might congratulate him on the splendid success which attended the great excursion party which he took to Europe in June, and which returned just a week ago. But that that office was no place for mere news-gatherers, I soon saw, and took my departure after a hand-shake only,—with some disappointment, I confess, for I do love to hear the Doctor talk; he is the most enthusiastic man I ever met, and so brimful of his hobbies,—music always ranking first, of course—that it is the greatest pleasure to spend half an hour in his cosy little private office, with its desk, pianos, two chairs, all of which, with the window seats are running over continually with letters, newspapers, music, manuscript of all sorts, cetcera ad infinitum.

The Redpath Bureau announce such a course of entertainments, with such a wonderful array of famous names, for Tuesday evenings of the coming season, that its tickets are to be sold at auction,—that is, the premiums over the regular prices, are to be auctioneered. Probably the best seats will run up fabulously, people seem to be so fond of spending money nowadays.

The theatres are all in running order except the Globe, which isn't likely to open at all at present prospects, as one party has a lease of ground covered by one part of the auditorium, another of another while a third has that of the long entrance leading to the auditorium, and while they can't come to terms, the property is idle. The Museum is playing to big houses two new comedies, in one of which, "A Fool and his Money," the ancient but inimitable Mr. Warren has full scope for his wonderful powers.

The Park has been running a fairy play, "The Palace of Truth," but reviews for this week that most laughable of all comedies, "Engaged" for the coming week. Chanfrau is playing "Kit" at the Boston, as he has every September within remembrance of man, and the "Ideal Pizarro" is promised soon.

Rose Lisle, as "Zola, the circus rider," is the attraction at the popular Gaiety, and Gus Williams in his new play, "Our German Senator," is coming next week.

We have a cosy new theatre at the South end, called the Dudley street Opera House, but I can't tell you much about it, the manager having forgotten in rush of business, to send in promised tickets.

ROBIN.

News and Notes.

Edmund Dale, Jr., of Limington, aged twenty-one years, shot himself while out gunning, Sept. 23d. He evidently immediately started for home, but died a short distance from the place of the accident. He was found by some neighbors, who heard the discharge of the gun.

F. P. A. Clark, of Glover, Vt., was attacked by a bull one day recently, and was knocked down, hooked and tossed about until the animal was wearied of his sport. Mr. Clark was badly, though not dangerously, hurt.

An old colored wood-sawyer of Emmittsburg, Md., with the appropriate name of Hiram Woodyard, was married one evening recently to Mary Constant, with whom he had been living for nearly thirty years. The wedding took place at the residence of the parties, the wife of their eldest son acting in the capacity of bridesmaid.

In Breathitt county, Ky., 800 persons, in a voting populating of 1800, are under indictment for crime; in Clay county, 530 out of 1600; in Jackson, 154 out of 799. Ten counties with a voting population of 11,584, have 2846 persons under indictment at a single term—over 24 per cent. Only two men have been hanged by law in Kentucky in ten years.

It is now known that had Napoleon III. succeeded in establishing the Maximilian dynasty in Mexico, he had planned the erection of Texas into an independent republic, to stand as a barrier between the United States and the new Mexican kingdom. The moral shown is that the best laid plans of mice and men often miscarry. Not only does the pinchbeck emperor lie in his grave, together with the last scion of his corrupt dynasty, but the imperial rule has passed away from France, likewise, succeeded by the sway of a kingless people.

Hon. Nathaniel Blake of Ashland, Me., eighty years of age, fell down the cellar stairs to the bottom of the cellar, breaking three of his ribs and otherwise injuring him, but is recovering.

Justin L. Gunn was found dead in his house at Bridgewater, Mass., Friday forenoon, having evidently been murdered.

Great Fire in Deadwood.

At Deadwood, Friday morning, a fire broke out in a bakery in Sherman street, which consumed almost the entire business portion of the city. Thousands of people are homeless and in a destitute condition. The loss is roughly estimated at from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. Little or no insurance.

A dense fog prevailed at the time of the accident.

Jordan and Flegan, the two men arrested on suspicion of complicity in the robbery of Bridget Carbury's saloon, were discharged for lack of evidence, and immediately left the city by advice of the marshal. The other two men suspected were traced to Wellesley, Mass., and it is supposed that Mrs. Carbury's thousand dollar bond is a long way off by this time.

George Batchelder, otherwise known as "Jimmy Josey," of Exeter, was instantly killed last Thursday evening by being struck by the train from Boston, while walking on the track in the vicinity of Bradford station, near Haverhill, Mass.

The habit of snuff-dipping, so prevalent in the south, is seemingly on the increase in Dover. It prevails almost exclusively among females, and is to be more detested than tobacco chewing. While injurious to health, it is a filthy practice and should be abandoned. Last evening we saw not less than forty women in the city, shopping, and they invariably called for snuff.—Democrat.

Of the drama which is to be played at Music hall this evening the Baltimore Gazette says: "Dan'l Druce, in the hands of the accomplished actor, Mr. F. C. Bangs, is bound to be one of the marked dramatic successes of the season. The drama is one full of noble sentiment, and appeals to the finer emotions of nature, and Mr. Bangs has made such a clear and thorough study of the character that he has already made it his own."

One of the scenes to be used at Music Hall on next Wednesday evening in the drama of "Unknown," represents East river and Brooklyn Heights by moonlight. An excursion steamer, moving by mechanical contrivance, and containing the Highland Glee Club, who will sing beautiful selections, and a row-boat from which the "Unknown" is thrown into the river, are used in this scene. Another splendid picture will be presented in the view of Greenwood Cemetery. In this scene the latest invention in mound banks is used, with all the necessary stage settings to present a realistic picture. The entire scenery used in the drama is said to be beautiful, such as is seldom seen outside the big metropolitan theatres, and will be something new for patrons of the drama in Portsmouth. Secure seats early. The sale commences at Dr. Preston's at nine o'clock to-day.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Sept. 26; Batchelder, J.

John Crowley and John Caton, drunk, thirty days at Brentwood and $6.90 costs, each.

Alphonzo Caswell of South Hampton was up on two charges of selling liquor, and a charge of keeping a disorderly house. On each of the first two charges he was held in $200, and on the last charge in $400 for examination on Tuesday, Sept. 30th.

WRECK AT BOON ISLAND.

The schooner Planet, of Rockland, Me., Gay master, seventy-nine tons register, started from Newburyport on Wednesday, Sept. 24th, to go to Bangor, and might have reached there had Boon island not been in the way; as it is, her sailing days are over. About half an hour after noon on the day mentioned, there being at the time a dense fog and a very heavy sea running, the western end of Boon island was made out, close aboard and to leeward; an attempt was instantly made to stay the schooner, but the heavy sea caused her to misstay, and she fell off, striking heavily on the south point of the island. She was immediately discovered by the light-keepers, who were at once on hand to lend any possible assistance; but the schooner's crew, four in number, succeeded in launching their own boat to leeward of the vessel, where there was very fair protection from the sea, and with what clothing they could snatch made their way to the island, where they were hospitably entertained by Mr. Leavitt and his assistants. It was fortunate for the crew that the disaster occurred in the day-time and at low tide; for had it been dark at the time, or the tide high, their chance for life would have been very poor. The Planet was an old craft, having been in service for forty years or more; and at three o'clock, two and a half hours after she struck, there was nothing left of her save her keel and a few floor timbers and planks. She was in ballast, and it is said was not insured. The shipwrecked crew, with what few personal effects they managed to save, were brought in on Friday afternoon by Capt. David B. Grogan, the first assistant light-keeper, in the government boat, and were put up for the night at the Seaman's Home. They all belong in Rockland.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, Sept. 24th.

Those of our citizens who attended the fair recently held at Dover, were disappointed in it, and express the opinion that it was a poor show, and far inferior to some State fairs that have preceded it. Will not our "agricultural" fairs become a total failure if horse-racing and "go-as-you-please" pedestrian matches are made the principal attractions? It is time that the fool-hardy feats of walking matches, and the inhuman sport of horse-racing, were prohibited by law. What is greater cruelty and abuse to the dumb animals than is often seen at horse-races, where the poor brutes are urged to their utmost speed, sometimes driven to death, and frequently whipped in a shameful manner? How much longer will the public not only tolerate but sustain such useless and cruel "sport?"

The tally-ho coach from the Farragut house, driven six-in-hand, went to the fair at Dover on Thursday last with a party from the beach.

The grand clam-bake given by the Rye cornet band at Dow's grove on Friday last was a great success. The North Hampton drum corps were guests of the band, and the two musical organizations furnished excellent music. A very large crowd—the largest that ever attended a clam-bake in this town—including many people from other places, was present, and the day was passed most delightfully, in games, swings, and other amusements. There was a potato race, which was won by Mr. Charles M. Rand, leader of the cornet band, Mr. G. H. Jenness coming in second; this "race" caused a good deal of fun. There was a hop on the green to the music of a string band, Mr. Daniel Webster of this town calling the figures most satisfactorily. Tables were set in the grove, well filled with eatables provided by Mr. Thomas Varrell, who was caterer for the occasion, and the throng sat down and took good care of the inner man; the bake was done in a first-class manner. Everything went off pleasantly, and the band are to be congratulated on the entire success of their first clam-bake.

Mr. Joseph J. Jenness, a farmer on the south road, has a gun which it is said was made in this town over a century ago. It has a silver shield set in the breech, on which is inscribed "May, 1775. Joseph Jenness." The weapon, which belonged to the present owner's father, was made by Joel Amee, who lived where the house of J. Disco Jenness now stands, and was the first and only gun ever made in the town. The barrel is richly engraved, and has the maker's name on it. It is quite a curiosity, and will last another century.

Albert E. Salter, Esq., who has resided at Boar's Head for a year past, I am informed has removed to New York, where he will spend the winter, and go from there to China in the spring. He has disposed of his famous trained pig to Mr. Charles E. Batchelder of South Hampton.

Our farmers report the potato crop to be good this year; and the potatoes to be very large and sound.

The Chinamen have made their exit from the beach, and shook the dust of Rye from their feet; they have "got up and got" for China, and we shall probably see no more of these Celestials about here again very soon.

The gunners have begun their fall sport of shooting sea-fowl flying over the ledge, and a good deal of ammunition will be expended during the next month.

STOMACH BITTERS

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most severe in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so surely as the Bitters are adopted, so surely will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines. For sale by all Druggists and respectable Dealers generally.

A jury has been at Littleton taking a view and hearing testimony in the celebrated case of Sargent vs. the town of Littleton, where $30,000 is claimed as damages for highway injury. The jury went back to Haverhill on Tuesday. Great interest is taken in the case, it being one of the most important ever tried in the vicinity. Sargent's testimony was taken at Littleton, he being unable to be moved to Haverhill.

A Hint to Workingmen.

The honest workingmen of the country, many of whom have large and increasing families to support, have been the chief sufferers from the great financial pressure under which we have labored for the past few years. Diminished wages have not been attended by a corresponding diminution in price of every thing which the workingman needs. Rents, fuel, food, and clothing, are cheaper, but these do not constitute all his necessities. It is sometimes necessary for him to employ a lawyer or a physician, yet the fee rates of physicians and lawyers are as high as they were in "flush" times. Yet cheap medicines are as necessary as cheap rents or fuel. Cheap medicines are not necessarily poor medicines. It must be obvious to every intelligent person that medicines, compounded and put up at wholesale, can be sold at much lower rates than when retailed from the doctor's pill bags. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets have completely restored persons who had spent hundreds of dollars in vainly seeking relief from private practioners, and all at a very slight expenditure.

A Waggish Soldier.

Gen. Lee asked a straggler one day, whom he found eating green persimmons, if he did not know they were unfit for food. "I am not eating them for food, General," replied the man, "I'm eating them to draw my stomach up to my rations." With SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER handy, even ills resulting from scant rations might have been prevented.

Money Rapidly Made.

Small and large investments (from $25 to $10,000), in the combinations of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., pay large profits. This new and successful system unites thousands of orders from customers into one immense capital, and is managed with the best skill and experience in the stock market. Profits are shared pro rata by customers every month. Shareholders thus obtain all the advantages of large capitalists. Thousands are rapidly making money, and many have acquired handsome fortunes by this safe and legitimate method, which has been among the most successful of the movements of the Stock Exchange. $25 will make $125, or 5 per cent., $100 will return $500, $400 will net $3,000, etc., according to the state of the market. New explanatory circular with "unerring rules for success," mailed to all applicants by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York city.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever before performed by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and unless with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors; speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one who is afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly, R. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTICURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing results from the use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our possession which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had a clothes on during that time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales came off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not say he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,

DUNNING BROTHERS.

Druggists and Booksellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1878.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1; RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle; CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JOS. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and all other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see our "Plain Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent postpaid) for $1.50 or "Invalids' and Females' Guide Book" (300 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculus (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many hundred cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have succeeded to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate that natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while administering its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single faithful user, who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under a A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Incurable Barrenness, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affection, but steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

A GOOD PLAN

Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled (like one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator.—Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, earnest, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Week ly, September 20th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $15 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $250, or 5 per cent.; $100 makes $1,500, or 10 per cent, on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 11th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2,200 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rates of $10,000,000. Our lines are situated in the Colorado, and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

How to Live Cheaply.

I find, says a female writer in the Golden Rule, by reference to my family expense book, that for the past nine months the whole cost of the cooked provisions for each member of my family averaged $1.69 per week, or twenty-four cents a day. The only rules that govern the family marketing were what we wanted, and prudence, which should always govern the family expenditures, whatever the income may be. Had there been a sterner necessity for economy the expense might have been considerably reduced, and left us plenty to live upon comfortably and healthfully, and to entertain friends occasionally at our table.

Now, somebody will sneering ask how can anybody live decently for one dollar and sixty-nine cents per week for food for each person? So I am going to tell you how it is done in this family. First, we pay for everything we buy, and in that way we can buy whenever the price and article suits us best. Then we are not tempted to buy more than we need or can properly afford, as we should be if payment was a matter of the vague future.

Again, we always take the advice of the publishers of the great dictionary, and "get the best," for the best has the least amount of waste or shrinkage in cooking. And, lastly, we have many ways of gathering up the fragments, so literally that "nothing is lost." As to what we have to eat, I can give you a bill of fare for the year round, varied in minor particulars by the season:—For breakfast, always a dish of hominy or cracked wheat, two kinds of bread and butter, usually cold, and always the fruit or berries of the season. Part of the family have tea or coffee and part drink water, from choice; but water drinking is no economy, for more food is required than if tea or coffee is taken.

For dinner there is always some appetizing soup, of which the variety is nearly endless; then a course of substantial roast beef, or mutton or lamb, or poultry, with one or two vegetables of the season; and lastly, a dessert of fruit or berries, either fresh or cooked. For supper we have many varieties of bread, indeed, except hot bread, which is both unhealthy and fearfully extravagant; fruit again, usually stewed, and some kind of plain cake for those who have not yet entirely outgrown their New England bringing up.

Of course there is always butter and the "cup that cheers." This list only names the unvarying substantials, but my expense book has numerous other items, such as fish, eggs, rice and edible grains of all kinds.

Sailing Ships and Barks.

One of the largest fleets of sailing vessels ever known is now on the way to New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. September 17th, there were 129 ships bound to New York, of which forty were American; September 17th, 380 barks bound to New York, of which thirty-six were American; September 17th, fifty-five ships bound to Philadelphia, of which three were American; September 17th, 150 barks bound to Philadelphia, of which two were American; September 17th, fifteen ships bound to Baltimore, of which one was American; September 17th, 175 barks bound to Baltimore, of which eleven were American. There is a total of 900 vessels bound to these three ports, and about one-tenth of them American. The Shipping List of October 17th, will record the arrival of nine-tenths of these vessels, as about that number is only bound across the Atlantic, and probably a fresh list of at least 800 vessels bound to these ports. It will be seen from these figures that there are ships and barks on the ocean yet, but what a small percentage of these vessels are American. The ships and barks due at Boston are so comparatively small that they are scarcely worth calling attention to for a comparison, but we hope to see this state of things reversed when we fully realize the fact that terminal facilities are necessary for commercial prosperity.—Boston Shipping List.

It is Delicious,

Every one says that has used Walter Baker & Co.'s Chocolate and Cocoa preparations. They have stood the test of a century and have become articles of general consumption. Grocers everywhere keep these goods.

A Hint to Workingmen.

The honest workingmen of the country, many of whom have large and increasing families to support, have been the chief sufferers from the great financial pressure under which we have labored for the past few years. Diminished wages have not been attended by a corresponding diminution in price of every thing which the workingman needs. Rents, fuel, food, and clothing, are cheaper, but these do not constitute all his necessities. It is sometimes necessary for him to employ a lawyer or a physician, yet the fee rates of physicians and lawyers are as high as they were in "flush" times. Yet cheap medicines are as necessary as cheap rents or fuel. Cheap medicines are not necessarily poor medicines. It must be obvious to every intelligent person that medicines, compounded and put up at wholesale, can be sold at much lower rates than when retailed from the doctor's pill bags. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets have completely restored persons who had spent hundreds of dollars in vainly seeking relief from private practioners, and all at a very slight expenditure.

"Billy the Butter" is a Savannah negro who can break an inch board by running his head against it. Therefore when he charged angrily at Mr. Howard with his head down, Mr. Howard naturally thought his life was in danger and hastily fired with a pistol. Probably his fear was well founded, for the bullet glanced off the negro's hard skull, simply stunning him.

IMPORTANT RAILWAY SUIT.

A bill in equity has been filed in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of New Hampshire in behalf of the Nashua & Lowell railroad and David N. Skillings, Francis V. Parker and Francis A. Brooks, complainants, against the Peterboro' railroad, a corporation existing under the laws of New Hampshire, Gen. Geo. Stark and Edward Spaulding of Nashua, New Hampshire, defendants. The bill sets forth at length the fact that the Boston & Lowell and the Nashua & Lowell railroads had a copartnership business arrangement, with certain details of the manner of management, etc., and then recites at length the history of the hiring of the Peterboro' railroad before its construction. The bill denies the right of the Boston & Lowell corporation, existing only by the laws of Massachusetts, to partake or participate in a lease of a New Hampshire railroad; the plaintiffs therefore say it was not competent for the directors of both said corporations by joint vote to commit the Nashua & Lowell railroad corporation to any such liability, it being contrary to equity that said vote was jointly passed as the act of two corporations, or their directors, and not as the act of each corporation alone, and should not be any more valid and binding on one of said two corporations than on the other. And the plaintiffs contend that although the committee was not appointed as a committee of the directors of the Nashua & Lowell railroad corportion, or otherwise than as a committee of the directors of both corportions acting together jointly and on joint account, and although this fact was well known and understood by said committee, and it was also well known and understood by them that as such committee they had no rightful authority to act for the Nashua & Lowell corporation solely or separately, yet their joint agent, Stark, procured the said committee to sign and execute in the name of the said Nashua & Lowell railroad corporation, a contract or indenture for hiring or operating and using the said Peterboro' railroad, dated May 6th, 1872, for the term of twenty years from April 1st, 1873, the said committee assuming to be duly and lawfully authorized so to do, and introducing a statement to that effect into the contract itself, which contract is referred to for greater certainty as to the contents thereof. They claim that Gen. Stark not only procured the execution of the lease on the part of the N. & L. R. R., but also affixed the seal of the N. & L. R. R. thereto without the knowledge of the keeper of the seal as required by the laws; and they claim that the lease is void. Other circumstances are set forth in detail. The complainants ask that the court determine and decree that the seal of the N. & L. corporation, affixed to the indention of May 6th, 1872, was not so affixed by authority of said corporation, and so the indenture is not lawfully and properly under the seal of the corporation as it purports to be, and that said instrument of May 6th, 1872, may be rescinded and declared inoperative and invalid at any time since May 6th, 1877, if not previous thereto.

The Nashua & Lowell railroad company does not ask or intend to have the contract annulled, if the Peterboro' road will consent to take and assume the same share of its burdens and benefits as was assumed and borne by the Boston & Lowell railroad until Oct. 1st, 1878; and the N. & L. R. R., also offers to yield up to the Peterboro' R. R. the possession of its road at any time, and to account to the Peterboro' R. R. Co. for all the earnings of the road since Oct. 1st, 1878, less the actual cost of operating the same. And they ask that the Peterboro' R. R., may be directed by order of court not to set up or enforce said lease as a covenant of the N. & L. R. R., as bear the seal of that company lawfully affixed to it, and for other relief in the premises.

The subpœna in the case is returnable at the November term.
